PREFACE TO THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

In consideration of the length to which the Second Volume of this Grammar was likely to extend it seemed desirable to publish it in parts¹). Those which are still to appear will first complete the Morphology of Nouns and Pronouns, including the history of the Case-Endings. The latter section will be comparatively brief, since the ablaut of the inflexional syllables has been discussed in all its most important points in connexion with the Formative Suffixes. Then will follow the Morphology of Verbs (Stem-Formation and Inflexion), and finally a list of Additions and Corrections to the First Volume, [and an Index to both].

A third and last volume of smaller dimensions will contain the Syntax. In this part of Comparative Grammar very little work has been done, at least very little that can be called scientific, and hitherto no one has tried to give any systematic account of the subject as a whole. For a long while, I confess, I could hardly make up my mind to include it in the present work, but I have been greatly encouraged to make the attempt by the appearance of the fifth Volume of Delbrück's Syntaktische Forschungen (Altindische Syntax 1888), which, though it is not directly concerned with Comparative Grammar, has done a great deal to prepare the way for a general history of Indo-Germanic Syntax. And in my work for the third volume I hope to have the help of O. Behaghel's Grundzüge der germanischen Syntax which has been announced for some time.

I have accepted as necessary one or two alterations in the transcription of Avestic; ṛ instead of ṛ̥ (before r, see vol. I § 558 p. 415), š for all three signs š, ṣ and ṣ̌. As regards these sibilants we ought still, in all probability, to make some distinction between the sounds in such words as hištaiti = Skr. tīṣṭhati (I § 556 p. 410), mašya- = Skr. mārtya- (I § 260 p. 212 f., § 474 p. 350), šyaoṇa- = Protoethnic Aryan cīaytna-* (I § 448 p. 333, § 473, 4 p. 350). I accepted with other scholars the theory which Bartholomae advanced in Bezenberger's Beiträge VII 188 ff. as to the respective value of these three signs in the Zend alphabet, and, so far as I can see, it is not disproved by Geldner's recent edition of the Avesta. At the same time it is certainly not confirmed by the results of Geldner's work, and Bartholomae himself, with Hübschmann and others, now follows him in writing š indifferently in all cases. Thus I had no alternative.

In Celtic Prof. Thurneysen has given me the same generous assistance as in the first volume. My pupil Dr. W. Streitberg has helped me in correcting the proof. To both I may here offer my hearty thanks.

TRANSLATORS' PREFACE.

In the two years that have followed the translation of the First Volume of the Grundriss der vergleichenden Sprachwissenschaft by Dr. (now Professor) Joseph Wright, the difficulty of the task has sensibly diminished. The methods and the nomenclature of the scientific school of Comparative Philology have found their way more and more into the work of English teachers, and it has become far easier to decide what innovations can, and what cannot be reconciled with established usage. Such words, for example, as 'thematic', 'ablaut', 'analogical', 'contamination', 'proethnic' are completely naturalised. The last we have universally adopted as the clearest equivalent of the German ur- prefixed to the name of a group of languages: 'proethnic Greek' is Greek older than the rise of its various dialects; 'proethnic Indo-Germanic', or more simply where there is no ambiguity, 'the proethnic language' is the parent of the various families of Indo-Germanic speech.

On the other hand the new subject-matter of the present volume involves new difficulties. On almost every other page of the original the word Grundform is used to denote the original form from which any particular word has been developed by phonetic change, and considering the frequency of its occurrence we could see no alternative but to adopt it bodily into English. Again some such expressions as 'fertile' (produktiv) and 'extended' (erweitert) were indispensable to describe the history of the different suffixes. The process of deriving a feminine form from the masculine stem of an adjective (Germ. Motion) we have called 'differentiation'. To express the change by which a substantival compound becomes an adjective, or in terms of Sanskrit grammar, by which a karma-dhāraya-compound becomes a bahu-vrīhi German scholars have created a new verb mutieren, i. e. the Lat. mutare; the word 'epithetised' which is used for the first time in this translation is an attempt to describe the nature of the change a little more explicitly. Thus in English blackbird is a simple or 'non-epithetised' compound, Greatheart, rosy-fingered, in Latin magnanimus, in Greek ῥοδοδάκτυλος are 'epithetised' (see p. 92). The ambiguity of the word 'formation' which like the German Bildung does double duty, to denote sometimes an abstract process and sometimes its concrete result, is a source of considerable difficulty, which might well be avoided by using such a term as 'formate' to express the second meaning; and the convenience of words like trans-formate, re-formate afformate (Umbildung, Neubildung, Nachbildung) is at once obvious. But the change is not absolutely necessary and therefore, since this is a book of general reference, it seems fairer to the reader to suggest it in the Preface rather than to introduce it directly into the text; perhaps however we may assume the licence in the following volumes.

A small but perpetually recurring difficulty of which the reader should be warned, has been the translation of the preposition zu in its technical sense, for which we have no exact equivalent in English, except such phrases as 'directly related to', 'connected in accordance with' and these would be, to say the least, a little wearisome, if they appeared twenty times on a page. It really covers several shades of meaning; in 'amāvi zu amō' 'tulī zu ferō' it means used as a tense of; in 'ansātus zu ansa', a derivative of; in 'modestus zu modus', used as a derivative of; in 'Lat. inclutus zu Gr. κλίω', containing the root of; and so on. The nearest English equivalent in the first two cases would be the preposition from, in which there is a more serious ambiguity, used as it is to denote both historical and logical connexion, 'tulī from the root tel-', 'tulī from ferō'.

Sometimes of course the two coincide, but only in the case of words of which the first was in use in the form in which we quote it before the second came into existence. suavior 'comes from' suavis historically as well as logically because it is a special formation in Latin (in place of the Indo-Germanic stem sṷad-ijos-*); whereas the genitive patris can only be said to 'come from' the nominative pater in the logical sense, not the historical, since both are descended from proethnic forms. The rule therefore that we have adopted has been to write from in the logical sense only where there can be no possible doubt that that is its meaning; where there would have been any danger that the reader should infer from it a historical, derivative relation that was not implied in the German, we have used beside. Thus in the examples given above we should render 'tulī from ferō' but 'modestus beside modus' (see p. 418). The line is of course hard to draw, but for safety's sake, we have used beside in all cases of doubt. To do so universally, i. e. to have written always 'patris beside pater' instead of 'from pater' seemed a little pedantic. On the other hand from has of course its proper derivative significance in such phrases as 'ansātus from ansa', where in German von and zu are used indifferently. The German aus connecting a form with its immediate phonetic antecedent, e. g. 'Lat. fissus aus fid-to-s*' we have followed prevailing usage in rendering by for, 'fissus for fid-to-s*'. The reader will find that for is used only in this sense of direct phonetic connexion; to describe an analogical substitution (Germ. für) we have regularly kept to 'instead of'.

In minor matters, such as abbreviations, and details of printing we have followed English rather than German precedent. For obvious reasons however we have retained the order of the original in such phrases as 'Gr. Att. ἱππος' 'Skr. Ved. śray-iṣṭha-' (cf. p. 244), where they occur in a list of forms from different languages. But we have ventured to retain the symbol : which occurs on every page, and denotes that the forms that it connects stand in a definite relation to one another, and this, when it is not otherwise explained by the context, is always one of regular phonetic correspondence; for instance it is invariably used to connect an Indo-Germanic form with the words which represent it in the derived languages e. g. Idg. klu-tó-s*: Skr. śru-tá-s, Gr. κλυ-τό-s etc. A modification of this symbol, for which it was equally impossible to find a substitute, 'cp.' means 'partly related to' 'in some respects to be compared with'; it is employed where the forms compared are not completely parallel, but only to some extent, e. g. on p. 39, § 23 'Skr. án-apta-s: cp. Lat. in-eptu-s'; here the two words are parallel, but not identical, as the Latin form is derived from ap-tó-, the Sanskrit from ap-tó-, see Vol. I § 97, 3 p. 91. Similarly on p. 60, § 34 'Lat. sim-plex: cp. Gr. ά-πλόος' implies that the compounds are parallel, but identical only in their first member; p. 193, § 75 Gr. ήμέ-τερο-ς: cp. Lat. nos-ter', that the use of the suffix is the same in both. It would be difficult to enumerate all the varieties of positive meaning that may be implied by this practically colourless symbol; to remove it altogether would be to re-edit the whole Grammar, not to translate it. The symbol : is also placed at the end of a general statement which is immediately followed by a list of illustrative examples, but otherwise it is not used as a mark of punctuation. On the other hand where the scientific brevity of the original made the connexion of the argument a little difficult to follow, so that sometimes the meaning of a whole paragraph turned on the significance of a comma or a bracket, we have felt less scruple in giving it more explicit expression.

In the first hundred pages and in the sections on the Meaning of the Suffixes, the reader will find a few additions to the text for which the translators are responsible. With Prof. Brugmann's permission we have inserted illustrations from Modern English beside his own from Modern German, where the latter are given to illustrate some general principle. These interpolations are all enclosed in square brackets.

At his request we have departed from Dr. Wright's usage in one important respect by using Old Church Slavonic instead of Old Bulgarian as the name of the language of the Slavonic apostles Cyril and Methodius. We hesitated for some time between 'Welsh' and 'Cymric', but decided on the whole to keep the latter in conformity with the first volume. The Corrections and Additions' of the German edition are embodied in the text, together with several other minor alterations, mainly of misprints, which Prof. Brugmann has sent us. To him we would offer our hearty thanks for his constant help in matters of difficulty. We owe to Dr. Wright's courtesy a list of Corrigenda in Volume I.

The translation is a joint work throughout, but Mr. Conway is everywhere responsible for its final form, as Mr. Rouse will be in the remaining volumes, which we hope will follow the parts of the German edition as they appear, at much shorter intervals than has been possible so far.

The present volume has demanded a year's continuous work and a good deal of anxious consideration from us both. But we shall be more than rewarded if it can do anything to extend the share which English-speaking students can claim in the marvellous increase of exact knowledge which the book itself records. It is the boast of modern discovery to have made the world more thinkable and human life more full of meaning in a thousand ways; and before the century reaches its close, Comparative Philology, that is, the History of Language, will have attained no mean rank in the great sisterhood of sciences whose task is to explore the history of man.

SIGNS AND ABBREVIATIONS.

* prefixed to a form indicates that it is not on record, but only inferred from other forms in the same or kindred languages. Prefixed to a root it implies that that form of the root does not occur in any word of which we have record.

: = 'to be directly compared with'.

: cp. = 'to be in part compared with' (see the Preface, p. XII).

... after a form denotes that its final sounds cannot be exactly determined, (e. g. in mēn-s-r*... p. 186 all that is said of the suffix is that it began with r).

α^x denotes a sound which was either a, e, or o but cannot at present be more closely identified.

A small figure added to the name of a book denotes the edition referred to; e. g. Paul, Princip.²

Hom. A, B, ... Ω = Hom. II. book 1, 2, ... 24.

Hom. α , β , ... ω = Hom. Od. book 1, 2, ... 24.

cp. = compare.

orig. = original, or originally.

esp. = especially.

scil. or sc. = scilicet, i. e. the word which follows it is to be supplied in the preceding phrase.

ib. = ibidem.

loc. cit. = in loco citato.

Pr., O., Mid., Mod. prefixed to names of languages denote Protoethnic, Old, Middle, and Modern respectively.

denom. = denominative (noun or verb).

There remain the usual abbreviations of Gender (m. f. n.), Number (sg. du. pl.), Case (nom. gen. etc.), Degree (pos. comp. superl.), Mood (ind. impv. etc.), Voice (act. med. pass.), Tense (pres. impf. etc.) and Part of Speech (subst. adj. parte. sup(ine) ger(und) etc.).

It is unnecessary to add a list of the abbreviations for the names of the languages. The latter are fully enumerated in the Introduction to the First Volume (p. 4 ff.). Observe only that A. S. = Anglo-Saxon, O.Sax. = Old Saxon.

MORPHOLOGY: STEM-FORMATION AND INFLEXION.

§ 1. All the developements of language denoted by the terms Stem-formation and Inflexion are based upon one common principle, the juxta-position and more or less intimate fusion of elements which were originally independent¹. The units of speech produced by this kind of composition became in later ages the types on which new words were made; and many such standard forms, which were in use long before the dissolution of the proethnic Indo-Germanic community, still serve as models for new words. But this process of blending groups of independent words into single forms has been continually repeated all through the centuries; and thus new types have been successively evolved, to be in their turn the means of further developement. Yet these new types have never brought about any material change in the general method of forming words which had been adopted by the Indo-Germanic language in its proethnic stage. Certain primitive types, which were characteristic of the morphology of this family of languages, remained in constant use wherever they were spoken; and the forms which have arisen in later times, from the coalescence of words grouped in some syntactic relation, have always been cast in the mould of one or other of these prescribed models.

1) See Vol. I § 13. 14.

Brugmann, Elements. I.

It is therefore the business of the grammarian, in this division of his subject, to exhibit these processes of composition, and the new formations to which their analogy gives rise.

In this department of the history of language, the main line of division is that which separates Noun and Pronoun on the one hand from Verb on the other. In dealing with the former class, we have to discuss terminations of Case, and the many different methods by which nouns or pronouns form their stems; in the latter class, we have to consider terminations of Person, and the equally numerous methods by which verbal stems are formed. These two departments, however, constantly overlap. Verbs are formed from noun-stems, as Gr. τιμάω 'I honour' from τιμή 'honour' Lat. plantō from planta ("Derivative Verbs"); and, on the other hand, nouns often contain verbal stems (for example, the so-called participles, gerunds, infinitives, and supines, e. g. Gr. part. δῶσων inf. δῶσειν as compared with δώσω 'dabo'). Forms of this double nature are accordingly discussed in both divisions of Morphology.

In either case we shall begin with those words whose structure exhibits most clearly the principle of composition, which is the basis of the whole formative system of the Indo-Germanic languages; we shall begin, that is, with compounds in the common acceptation of the term, such as Gr. ἵππο-δαμο-ς 'horse-taming' ἀπο-βάλλω 'I cast away'. Last of all will be treated those elements of words whose original independence is now least obvious, i. e. the signs of the cases on the one hand and the personal-endings on the other.

Throughout our discussion we shall consider both the forms as such and the meaning attached to them. Here we shall meet with questions of Syntax, which however includes too many heterogeneous elements to be fully treated in connexion with Morphology.

It is necessary first to offer a few remarks on the general principles of formation whose action can be traced in the history of Indo-Germanic. To a certain extent these will merely repeat in greater detail what has been already said in the General

Introduction (I § 13. 14) to explain the use of hyphens, and of a few special terms, which will be found in this work.

§ 2. When a group of words connected in some syntactical relation is fused into a single form, it is called a 'compound'; e. g. Gr. Διόσκειροι 'sons of Zeus' from Διὸς κοῦροι, Mod.H.G. hungersnot 'pressure of hunger' from Mid.H.G. hungers not, [Eng. commonwealth from common wealth]. The compound — to restrict the term for the moment to those consisting of two members — becomes a simple word when either its first or its second member has lost its connexion in the mind of the speaker with kindred words which are uncompounded, and consequently the comparative independence which it formerly had. This process may give rise to a word which to the speaker's consciousness is absolutely simple, e. g. Lat. nom. sing. qui for quoi*¹⁾ i. e. quo* 'who' + ī (deictic particle, cp. Umbr. po-ei sing. 'qui' pur-i pl. 'qui'), O.Pers. nom. sing. hauv 'this' from ha* = Skr. sá + the particle u = Skr. ú, Lith. bú-k 'be it, as though' which contains the particle -ki -k, Lat. s-ub no doubt for (e)x-ub* (I § 568 p. 425); or else the element in question loses its full meaning, and being used with the same value in a considerable number of words is reduced to what is called a suffix or a prefix; as -heit, a suffix which forms substantives denoting a quality, found e. g. in schönheit, which originally meant 'beautiful condition' (in O.H.G. and Mid.H.G. heit is still an independent word), [Germ. heit = A.S. had Mid. Eng. hōd Mod. Eng. -hood in maiden-hood etc.], Lat. -iter, a suffix used in forming adverbs, e. g. breviter, which originally = breve iter 'short-way' (iter 'way'), O.H.G. ala- ('omni-') an intensive prefix, e. g. in ala-festi 'firmissime', Mod.H.G. stock-, also intensive, e. g. stock-finster 'pitch dark' stock-dumm 'utterly stupid' [cp. Eng. stone-deaf, stone-blind] (see Tobler, Über die Wortzusammensetzung p. 116 ff.). If a word is compounded with itself the process is called reduplication, e. g. Gr. πάμ-παρ 'en-

one of regular phonetic correspondence; for instance it is invariably used to connect an Indo-Germanic form with the words which represent it in the derived languages e. g. Idg. klu-tó-s*: Skr. śru-tá-s, Gr. κλυ-τό-s etc. A modification of this symbol, for which it was equally impossible to find a substitute, 'cp.' means 'partly related to' 'in some respects to be compared with'; it is employed where the forms compared are not completely parallel, but only to some extent, e. g. on p. 39, § 23 'Skr. án-apta-s: cp. Lat. in-eptu-s'; here the two words are parallel, but not identical, as the Latin form is derived from ap-tó-, the Sanskrit from ap-tó-, see Vol. I § 97, 3 p. 91. Similarly on p. 60, § 34 'Lat. sim-plex: cp. Gr. ἀ-πλόος' implies that the compounds are parallel, but identical only in their first member; p. 193, § 75 Gr. ἡμέ-τερο-ς: cp. Lat. nos-ter', that the use of the suffix is the same in both. It would be difficult to enumerate all the varieties of positive meaning that may be implied by this practically colourless symbol; to remove it altogether would be to re-edit the whole Grammar, not to translate it. The symbol : is also placed at the end of a general statement which is immediately followed by a list of illustrative examples, but otherwise it is not used as a mark of punctuation. On the other hand where the scientific brevity of the original made the connexion of the argument a little difficult to follow, so that sometimes the meaning of a whole paragraph turned on the significance of a comma or a bracket, we have felt less scruple in giving it more explicit expression.

In the first hundred pages and in the sections on the Meaning of the Suffixes, the reader will find a few additions to the text for which the translators are responsible. With Prof. Brugmann's permission we have inserted illustrations from Modern English beside his own from Modern German, where the latter are given to illustrate some general principle. These interpolations are all enclosed in square brackets.

At his request we have departed from Dr. Wright's usage in one important respect by using Old Church Slavonic instead of Old Bulgarian as the name of the language of the Slavonic apostles Cyril and Methodius. We hesitated for some time between 'Welsh' and 'Cymric', but decided on the whole to keep the latter in conformity with the first volume. The Corrections and Additions' of the German edition are embodied in the text, together with several other minor alterations, mainly of misprints, which Prof. Brugmann has sent us. To him we would offer our hearty thanks for his constant help in matters of difficulty. We owe to Dr. Wright's courtesy a list of Corrigenda in Volume I.

The translation is a joint work throughout, but Mr. Conway is everywhere responsible for its final form, as Mr. Rouse will be in the remaining volumes, which we hope will follow the parts of the German edition as they appear, at much shorter intervals than has been possible so far.

The present volume has demanded a year's continuous work and a good deal of anxious consideration from us both. But we shall be more than rewarded if it can do anything to extend the share which English-speaking students can claim in the marvellous increase of exact knowledge which the book itself records. It is the boast of modern discovery to have made the world more thinkable and human life more full of meaning in a thousand ways; and before the century reaches its close, Comparative Philology, that is, the History of Language, will have attained no mean rank in the great sisterhood of sciences whose task is to explore the history of man.

SIGNS AND ABBREVIATIONS.

* prefixed to a form indicates that it is not on record, but only inferred from other forms in the same or kindred languages. Prefixed to a root it implies that that form of the root does not occur in any word of which we have record.

✓ = root.

: = 'to be directly compared with'.

: cp. = 'to be in part compared with' (see the Preface, p. XII).

... after a form denotes that its final sounds cannot be exactly determined, (e. g. in mēn-s-r*... p. 186 all that is said of the suffix is that it began with r).

α^z denotes a sound which was either α , e , or o but cannot at present be more closely identified.

A small figure added to the name of a book denotes the edition referred to; e. g. Paul, Princip.²

Hom. A, B, ... Ω = Hom. Il. book 1, 2, ... 24.

Hom. α , β , ... ω = Hom. Od. book 1, 2, ... 24.

cp. = compare.

lit. = literally.

orig. = original, or originally.

esp. = especially.

scil. or sc. = scilicet, i. e. the word which follows it is to be supplied in the preceding phrase.

ib. = ibidem.

loc. cit. = in loco citato.

Pr., O., Mid., Mod. prefixed to names of languages denote Protoethnic, Old, Middle, and Modern respectively.

dimin. = diminutive (adj. or subst.).

denom. = denominative (noun or verb).

There remain the usual abbreviations of Gender (m. f. n.), Number (sg. du. pl.), Case (nom. gen. etc.), Degree (pos. comp. superl.), Mood (ind. impv. etc.), Voice (act. med. pass.), Tense (pres. impf. etc.) and Part of Speech (subst. adj. parte. sup(ine) ger(und) etc.).

It is unnecessary to add a list of the abbreviations for the names of the languages. The latter are fully enumerated in the Introduction to the First Volume (p. 4 ff.). Observe only that A. S. = Anglo-Saxon, O.Sax. = Old Saxon.

MORPHOLOGY: STEM-FORMATION AND INFLEXION.

§ 1. All the developements of language denoted by the terms Stem-formation and Inflexion are based upon one common principle, the juxta-position and more or less intimate fusion of elements which were originally independent¹. The units of speech produced by this kind of composition became in later ages the types on which new words were made; and many such standard forms, which were in use long before the dissolution of the pro-ethnic Indo-Germanic community, still serve as models for new words. But this process of blending groups of independent words into single forms has been continually repeated all through the centuries; and thus new types have been successively evolved, to be in their turn the means of further developement. Yet these new types have never brought about any material change in the general method of forming words which had been adopted by the Indo-Germanic language in its proethnic stage. Certain primitive types, which were characteristic of the morphology of this family of languages, remained in constant use wherever they were spoken; and the forms which have arisen in later times, from the coalescence of words grouped in some syntactic relation, have always been cast in the mould of one or other of these prescribed models.

1) See Vol. I § 13. 14.

Brugmann, Elements. I.

It is therefore the business of the grammarian, in this division of his subject, to exhibit these processes of composition, and the new formations to which their analogy gives rise.

In this department of the history of language, the main line of division is that which separates Noun and Pronoun on the one hand from Verb on the other. In dealing with the former class, we have to discuss terminations of Case, and the many different methods by which nouns or pronouns form their stems; in the latter class, we have to consider terminations of Person, and the equally numerous methods by which verbal stems are formed. These two departments, however, constantly overlap. Verbs are formed from noun-stems, as Gr. τιμάω 'I honour' from τιμή 'honour' Lat. plantō from planta ("Derivative Verbs"); and, on the other hand, nouns often contain verbal stems (for example, the so-called participles, gerunds, infinitives, and supines, e. g. Gr. part. δῶσων inf. δῶσειν as compared with δῶσω 'dabo'). Forms of this double nature are accordingly discussed in both divisions of Morphology.

In either case we shall begin with those words whose structure exhibits most clearly the principle of composition, which is the basis of the whole formative system of the Indo-Germanic languages; we shall begin, that is, with compounds in the common acceptation of the term, such as Gr. ἵππο-δαμο-ς 'horse-taming' ἀπο-βάλλω 'I cast away'. Last of all will be treated those elements of words whose original independence is now least obvious, i. e. the signs of the cases on the one hand and the personal-endings on the other.

Throughout our discussion we shall consider both the forms as such and the meaning attached to them. Here we shall meet with questions of Syntax, which however includes too many heterogeneous elements to be fully treated in connexion with Morphology.

It is necessary first to offer a few remarks on the general principles of formation whose action can be traced in the history of Indo-Germanic. To a certain extent these will merely repeat in greater detail what has been already said in the General

Introduction (I § 13. 14) to explain the use of hyphens, and of a few special terms, which will be found in this work.

§ 2. When a group of words connected in some syntactical relation is fused into a single form, it is called a 'compound'; e. g. Gr. Διόσκουροι 'sons of Zeus' from Διός κοῦροι, Mod.H.G. hungersnot 'pressure of hunger' from Mid.H.G. hungers not, [Eng. commonwealth from common wealth]. The compound — to restrict the term for the moment to those consisting of two members — becomes a simple word when either its first or its second member has lost its connexion in the mind of the speaker with kindred words which are uncompounded, and consequently the comparative independence which it formerly had. This process may give rise to a word which to the speaker's consciousness is absolutely simple, e. g. Lat. nom. sing. qui for quoi*¹⁾ i. e. quo* 'who' + i (deictic particle, cp. Umbr. po-ei sing. 'qui' pur-i pl. 'qui'), O.Pers. nom. sing. hauv 'this' from ha* = Skr. sá + the particle u = Skr. ú, Lith. bú-k 'be it, as though' which contains the particle -ki -k, Lat. s-ub no doubt for (e)x-ub* (I § 568 p. 425); or else the element in question loses its full meaning, and being used with the same value in a considerable number of words is reduced to what is called a suffix or a prefix; as -heit, a suffix which forms substantives denoting a quality, found e. g. in schönheit, which originally meant 'beautiful condition' (in O.H.G. and Mid.H.G. heit is still an independent word), [Germ. heit = A.S. had Mid. Eng. hōd Mod. Eng. -hood in maiden-hood etc.], Lat. -iter, a suffix used in forming adverbs, e. g. breviter, which originally = breve iter 'short-way' (iter 'way'), O.H.G. ala- ('omni-') an intensive prefix, e. g. in ala-festi 'firmissime', Mod.H.G. stock-, also intensive, e. g. stock-finster 'pitch dark' stock-dumm 'utterly stupid' [cp. Eng. stone-deaf, stone-blind] (see Tobler, Über die Wortzusammensetzung p. 116 ff.). If a word is compounded with itself the process is called reduplication, e. g. Gr. πάμ-παρ 'entirely'. Here also either of the two parts may be degraded by a process similar to that which gives rise to a suffix or a prefix; e. g. on the one hand Mod.H.G. mur-mel 'murmur' (Lat. mur-mur), where the termination -mel has the character of a suffix, and or the other hand Skr. ci-kīt- 'comprehending, aware', where ci- is a kind of prefix.

1) It is a moot question whether qoi in the Duenos-inscription is qui or cui; see Zvetaieff, Inscriptiones Italiae inferioris, 1886, p. 80 sqq.

§ 3. No hard and fast line can be drawn between a phrase or group of words connected in some syntactical relation, and a compound.

It is no doubt a fair definition of a compound to say that it is fully formed when the whole becomes in any way isolated from the parts of which it is composed as used independently (I § 13 p. 14). Lat. māgnōpere, for instance, was isolated from its component elements māgnō opere by its vowel contraction; Lat. dēnuō, from dē novō, by the weakening of -ov- to -u- due to its enclitic position; and Hom. πᾶν-ῆμαρ 'all day long' by the circumstance that the neuter πᾶν* (for παντ*) when used independently took a long α from πᾶς πᾶσα. In Gr. Διός-χοιροί, in Lat. plēbiscitu-m, and in Mod.H.G. gross-vater 'grandfather', süss-holz 'licorice' the isolation was caused by the meaning of the whole being more definite and limited than the meaning conveyed by the mere syntactical grouping of the parts [cp. Eng. best man, blackbird]. Again in Attic Greek ἀπο-βαίνω 'I go away' ἐκ-βάλλω 'I throw out' Lat. ab-eō, ē-jiciō the cause (or rather one of the causes) was the restriction of each one of the prepositional adverbs to use within a particular series of combinations. Thus the causes of isolation, and of the accompanying change of a phrase into a compound, are very diverse and quite easy to appreciate. But isolation is a matter of very gradual development; and we cannot fix a point at which the phrase passes into the compound, least of all in ancient languages, where we cannot appeal for help to the consciousness of any living speaker. At every stage in the development of language we find compounds in process of formation; and, naturally enough, it is often impossible to decide whether in any given instance a compound is completely formed or not. Thus opinions may and do differ whether the spelling to be adopted is δίφιλος or διὸ φίλος, παρηκομόωντες or κάρη κομόωντες, and so forth, in Homer (see Ia Roche, Hom. Textkr. 311 ff.), senātūscōnsultum or senātūs cōnsultum in later Latin, and in Mod.H.G. aus himmelshöhn or aus himmels höhn (in Schiller, compare his phrase an ufers rand), möglicherweise or möglicher weise, wenngleich or wenn gleich.

Remark. According to a very common view, if a phrase is included under one accent, it is proved eo ipso to be a compound; but this is incorrect. In that case every syntactical combination of two words where the second word is an enclitic (cp. I § 669 p. 534 § 672 p. 538 and elsewhere) would be a compound, which no one would maintain. Nor can the formation of derivatives from a given phrase by means of secondary suffixes be taken as a certain proof that the group is a true compound (e. g. Gr. Διοσκουρείον from Διὸς κοῦροι). For the need of a derivative often creates a compound where the original is only a phrase; cp. Gr. καλοκἀγαθία from καλὸς κἀγαθός, Mod.H.G. langweilig from lange weile, [Eng. freetrader from Free Trade], Gr. ἐγκέφαλος adj. 'in the head' from ἐν κεφαλῇ, παραθαλάσσιος 'situated by the sea' from παρὰ θάλασσαν, Skt. anv-ṣatyá-s 'consistent with truth' from ānu satyám (cp. § 15), O.C.Sl. obonŭ-polŭnŭ 'situated on the further shore' from obŭ onŭ polŭ (§ 47). Thus a derivative of this kind, itself a true compound, may be formed while the original phrase is only on its way towards becoming one: cp. also Lat. Sacrariēnsēs as compared with sacra via; quartadecumāni as compared with quarta decuma, O.C.Sl. petŭnadeseŭtŭnŭ 'fifteenth' compared with petŭ na desete 'fifteen'; Avest. aspa-rŭra-jan- 'striking horses and men down to the earth' compared with aspa rŭra (a Dual combination, cp. § 27).

Where a compound consists of parts each of which can be used as an independent word, the following are the surest signs that it is a true compound: 1. If the termination of one member of the phrase is transferred to words which are incapable of taking it when uncompounded; e. g. when Gr. διόα-δορος (διός gen. sing.) gives rise to such a form as θιόα-δορος (cp. § 17). 2. If the case-ending or other inflexion of the first member, which was essential to the meaning of the original compound, loses its force in analogical formations; when for instance Ἀρηι-λυκος (Hom.) Ἀρει-θύσανος 'fimbria Martialis' (Aeschyl.) are formed in imitation of ἀρηι-ηρατος ἀρειηρατος 'slain in war'. 3. If the phrase is 'epithetised' (§ 50), as ἀρει-οικος 'having one's dwelling in the air', not 'a dwelling in the air'.

§ 4. It is equally impossible to draw a hard and fast line between a compound and a simple word. One part of a compound is reduced or degraded to a suffix or prefix, or generally to an inflexional element, by losing in some way or other its connexion with the simple word in the consciousness of the speaker. This isolation may affect the meaning only; take e. g. the Lat. suffix -iter in breuiter longiter and the like, which were originally compounds (for breve iter, longum iter, see p. 3 above), the O.Ir. intensive prefix bith- (originally 'world-' ep. bith 'world') in such forms as bith-beo 'semper vivus, immortalis' bid-slán 'semper salvus' etc.; or it may affect only the form, e. g. Mod.H.G. -tel in drittel viertel etc. as contrasted with teil; or it may affect both at once, e. g. Mod.H.G. -lich in weiblich (orig. = 'having woman's form') beside leiche leich-dorn [= Eng. -ly in wife-ly A.S. lic, Eng. lych-gate. The suffixes in hat-red, friend-ship bishop-ric etc. were independent words in Old English]. Isolation is most complete when the simple word passes out of use altogether, e. g. Gr. ποθ-από-; Lat. long-inquo-s prop-inquo-s, the second part of which is the Skr. -añc- 'directed somewhither' (§ 163), Mod.H.G. schönheit, whose second part was still an independent word in Mid.H.G.; the same thing has happened in the first part of a compound e. g. in Germ. ala-, as in Goth. ala-mans pl. 'all men' O.H.G. ala-wār 'quite true' (the only form used independently is alla-, for al-no*). Thus even in the proethnic Indo-Germanic period the temporal adverb e*, seen in such phrases as é bherom* 'I bore' é dʹřkom* 'I saw' (Skr. ábharam ádʹřsam, Gr. ἐγχερον ἔδοξαρον), had no doubt sunk to the level of an inflexional prefix, because it was no longer used except in these combinations with enclitic preterite forms. Sometimes the conscious connexion with the simple word is lost because one member of the compound chances to resemble some common suffix in sound; the compounded word is then treated as equivalent to this suffix, and the whole becomes a simple word: for instance, Gr. καθ-ίζω 'I set down' (ίζω for si-zd-ō*, √ sed-) was associated with verbs in -ίζω, as πολεμίζω, hence the fut. Att. καθιῶ Dor. καθιζῶ; O.H.G. gom-man (gen. gom-mannes) 'married man, man' was associated with simple nouns like eban zeihhan, hence such new formations as gen. sing. gommanes nom. acc. pl. gommana.

But in all these cases the change of function is very gradual; in every period we find compounded words in course of becoming simple inflexional elements. Compare further Skr. úd-añc- 'upwards' praty-āñc- 'backwards' prāñc- 'forwards' and the like (see § 163, and observe their later association with the suffix go-, § 86); Armen. -a-vor in lus-a-vor 'clear' etc., corresponding to the Gr. -γόρο-ς (§ 28); Gr. -ειδής in Θεο-ειδής 'godlike, divine' etc.; Lat. -gn-o- (cp. gen-us) in benīgnu-s, malīgnu-s and similar forms, -ig-ā- (cp. agere) in nāvigāre litigāre flammigāre and so forth (Leo Meyer, Bezzenberger's Beitr. VI 130 ff.); O.Ir. -mār (mār 'great') in ardd-mār 'very high' Mod.Ir. buadh-mhar 'victoriosus' (Glück, Kelt. Namen 77. 80 ff.), O.Ir. -lach (slōg 'troop') in teg-lach 'household, familia' lucht-lach 'the gens in toto, the district community' etc. (Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. II 25 ff.); Mid.H.G. nūt-hart lüg-hart, Mod.H.G. aller-hand gewisser-massen and aller-best aller-meist.

Remark. The reverse process does not often occur, i. e. when an element once a suffix or a prefix is raised in the speaker's consciousness to the dignity of a compounded word; but we find it e. g. in Mod.H.G. leu-mund 'repute, character' (popularly connected with mund 'mouth') = Skr. śrō-mata- (§ 82), brō-sāme 'the crumb of the loaf' (influenced by sāme 'seed') from O.H.G. brōsma, Avest. yurae-ca tāitē, where the latter form was abstracted from yurae-tāt-, and shows how the suffix -tāt- was regarded in the speaker's mind. (§ 102 Rem.). A further example is Mod.H.G. wahn-sinn wahn-witz, whose first part was the prefix wan- pr. Germ. wana-* 'lacking, without'. [So the suffix in Eng. wed-lock has nothing to do with the verb to lock, nor that in cray-fish (from Fr. écrevisse) with fish. Similarly rounde-lay = Fr. rondelet].

It has already been pointed out in § 2 that the transition from a compound to a simple word does not always give rise to an element of the nature of a suffix or prefix. The following conditions are necessary for the production of an element of this kind: 1. the principal member of the compound must be etymologically clear; it must be associated with a kindred word or a kindred group of words: 2. the part so degraded must appear not in isolated words only but in a group of words, and in all of them it must have the same meaning: 3. this meaning must be more or less abstract and general

(Paul Princip.² 294). When these conditions are not fulfilled, the resultant forms may be called obscured compounds. To the speaker's consciousness they may appear absolutely simple words (apart from the endings of declension or conjugation which were ultimately affixed), as Mod.H.G. welt for O.H.G. wer-alt [Eng. world, A.S. woruld], Lat. surgō for sub-regō*. Or even if they produce the impression of a word containing a suffix or prefix, it is only because their initial or final part has become associated with real suffixes and prefixes through some phonetic resemblance, e. g. Mod.H.G. adler for O.H.G. adal-ar ('noble bird of prey'), Mod.H.G. wimper 'eye-lash' for O.H.G. wint-brāwa 'wind-brow', Mod.H.G. albern 'foolish' for O.H.G. ala-wāri, 'very friendly' whose terminations resemble those of such words as sattler, schneider, silbern and the like [cp. Eng. righteous for right-wise, as though its formation were the same as that of duteous plenteous, window from Icel. vind-auga 'wind-eye' compared with meadow fallow, scabbard whose second part is identical with -berk in hau-berk, Mod.H.G. berg-en, not with the -ard of poniard petard etc.]. A third group consists of polysyllabic words like Mod.H.G. bräutigam (O.H.G. brūti-gomo 'bride-man') Lat. ūsūrpō 'I use' for ūsū-rapō* [cp. Eng. nightingale A.S. nihte-gale 'singer of the night', wiseacre = H.G. weissager, watershed whose second part is Mid.E. scheden A.S. sceðdan Mod.H.G. scheiden]. Here the second element has not become clearly associated with previously existing suffixes, while on the other hand such words as these are not conceived as absolutely simple. No general definition can express the way in which the instinct of the speaker regards them; each case must be treated by itself.

Obscured compounds undoubtedly existed as early as the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic; and in its later stages they are nowhere rare. The following examples may be assigned to the proethnic vocabulary: syékuro- 'father-in-law' (Skr. śvāśura- Gr. ἐκνυρό-ς Goth. svaihra), syésor-* 'sister' (Skr. svásar-

Lat. soror etc.)¹⁾, uikṇti*- 'twenty' (Skr. viṣati- Gr. ἥκати εἴκοσι etc.), no doubt also nizdo*- i. e. ni-zd-o*- (✓sed-) 'settling place, nest' (Skr. nīḍá-s Armen. nist etc.), per-ut(-i)* loc. 'last year', connected with Gr. ῥέτος (Skr. parut Gr. πέρσαι etc.), pr-sto*- pr-sti*- per-sti*- 'prominence, something prominent' beside ✓stā- 'stand' (Skr. pr̥sthá-m 'prominent ridge, height, peak, top' L.Germ. and Dutch vorst f. O.H.G. first m. A.S. first fyrst f. 'roof-ridge'), soy* 'this' i. e. so* + the particle u (O.Pers. hauv Gr. ὅν in ὄν-τος), nej* 'not' i. e. ne* + the deictic particle i (Avest. naē-ciš 'no one' Lat. nē Lith. neĩ, cp. § 15). Even where this obscuration is found in more than one language it may often have arisen during the individual development of the languages in question: e. g. Skr. pīḍáyami 'I press' (pf. pīḍē) for pi-zd*-, Gr. πιέω 'I press' for pi-sed*-, originally 'sit upon'; Lat. crēdo O.Ir. cretim 'I believe' beside Skr. śrád dadhami 'I believe, trust' (cp. § 160, 1). Examples peculiar to single groups of languages are: Skr. nēd-tyas- Avest. nazd-yah- 'nearer' for na-zd*-, originally either 'ἐγγίζων, προσήμενος' (✓sed- 'sit') or 'approaching' (✓sed- 'go, move', Gr. ὀδό-ς). Skr. bhiṣáj- 'physician', no doubt to be resolved into bhi-ṣáj- 'conjurator, magician', cp. abhi-ṣajati 'he bewitches, curses'. Gr. ἐκατόμ-βη, cp. Skr. śata-gu- 'having a hundred cows'. δεσ-πότη-ς originally 'lord of the house', δά-πεδο- originally 'house-floor', see § 160, 2. ωκεανό-ς probably to be resolved into ὠ-κεανό-ς 'lying around', and compared with Skr. á-śētē, see § 66. ὅπως ὅπως 'how (soever)', ὅτι ὅτι 'what (soever)' for sfód* πως, sfód τι, cp. H.G. sō hucēo, swie 'howsoever' sō hucē, swē 'whosoever'. Lat. sub super for orig. *(e)ks-upo *(e)ks-uper, cp. Gr. ἐξ-ύπερθε. ap-eriō op-eriō beside Skr. ṛ-ṇóti 'he moves something, makes away with it', with apa 'he makes away with, removes, opens'. pergō for per-regō*. surpuī for sub-rapuī*. prōmō for pro-emō*. noenum nōn for ne-oinom*. superbu-s for super-fu-o-s*, ✓bheu-, cp. Gr. ύπερ-γ-γαλο-ς I § 166 p. 147. Goth. preterite frēt

1) The -sor- in mesor-* seems to have been a root-syllable, but the word appears to have attached itself to nouns like bhrátor-* 'brother' dótor-* 'giver' (§ 119 ff.), just as Gr. καθ-ίζω was associated with ποιεῖν etc. (p. 6).

O.H.G. frāz 'he devoured' from pr. Germ. fra-ēti*, O.H.G. hiutu O.Sax. hiudu 'to-day' beside O.Sax. hiudiga A.S. heódæg for hiu-dgu* = Goth. hia daga 'on this day' (cp. Kluge, Paul Braune's Beitr. XII 376 f.). Mid.H.G. bange adv. 'anxiously' for bi-ango*. Mid.H.G. gunnen for O.H.G. gi-unnan 'to give freely'. Mid.H.G. niht 'nothing' for O.H.G. niwih. Goth. ni valhts 'not a whit'. Mod.H.G. amt, Goth. and-bahti, [Eng. huzzy O.E. hūs-wif.]

Obscured compounds of this kind will be treated along with the rest, although no doubt by this method words will often be classed together which were very differently regarded by the speakers of any given period.

Lastly, it should be observed that the terms Suffix and Prefix, particularly the latter, are sometimes used in the science of language with a far wider sense than that which has been here assigned to them. One of the members of a compound may be called suffix or prefix, as the case may be, simply because it appears with the same meaning in each one of a group of words. Thus we meet with such phrases as 'the compound ἀπο-βαίρω with the prefix ἀπο'.

§ 5. When one member of a compound has become a prefix or a suffix, the group of words which contains it generally creates similar forms, and is thus enlarged by analogy. The more general the significance of such an element, the more readily are words of the same type formed; take for example the extent to which -heit -lich (mann-heit männ-lich) have spread in Mod.H.G., and in Latin the future ending -bō (calē-bō), which is derived from Idg. bhū-ō* (√bheu- 'become').

If a suffix or a prefix at a given epoch can be employed to produce new forms on the analogy of those already in existence, it is called fertile or living, and if not, barren or dead. Suffixes or prefixes which once had great vitality may die out, to be perpetuated only by memory in a certain number of examples, and no longer used for the formation of similar words. Thus the suffix -ti- (§ 99. 100), used in all the Indo-Germanic languages to form nomina actionis, was still fertile in proethnic Germanic, but in the High German period was restricted to a limited group of nouns, such as zucht 'breeding, discipline' ankunft 'advent' geburt 'birth'; its place has been taken principally by -ung (as in schenkung 'donation'), which still maintains its vitality. [In English it has been largely replaced by -ness, e. g. drought dryness, dearth dearness, sloth slowness]. In like manner the same suffix was dead in Latin by the beginning of the literary period (e. g. messi-s, mors stem morti-), and its place had been taken by -tiōn- (as fissiō natiō captatiō), which is fertile even in late Latin. Again, -o-, in Homer still a living conjunctive suffix for verbs in -μι (ἴο-μεν, ἄλλε-ται) came down to Attic Greek only in a few forms which had a future meaning, such as ἔδομαι χέω; in its place we find -ω-, which remained in active use throughout the classical period.

In a historical account of Indo-Germanic morphology this point must always be kept in view; and we are further bound to look for the reasons why one element used in forming words has died out and another taken its place. Thus for instance the suffix -ti- just mentioned fell out of use because it had split into several different forms by phonetic change; cp. Goth. ansti- ga-baurpi- ga-mundi- ga-dēdi- (pronounced ga-dēdi) usstassi- (cp. § 100 under Germanic); so that the unity of the group was destroyed. But language always seeks like phonetic expression for like functions; and thus new suffixes of other and usually fuller form were preferred, and encroached more and more upon the old ones.

An adequate consideration of this aspect of Indo-Germanic Morphology is here impossible. Unfortunately the present position of the science of language precludes such an attempt, and, in any case, regard must be had to the due limits of this work.¹⁾

1) In monographs on Word-Formation full justice has been done to it; see e. g. K. von Bahder in his work 'Die Verbalabstracta in den german. Sprachen', 1880. I may record my complete agreement with the principles laid down in his Introduction (pp. 1-9).

§ 6. In § 2 reduplication was mentioned as one of the factors in the formation of words in Indo-Germanic. This subject also calls for a few preliminary observations.¹⁾

Here too we start from the juxta-position of two originally independent words. The same word is repeated twice or still oftener, to express repetition or lengthened duration of a process, or such ideas as universality and intensity. At every stage of the development of the Indo-Germanic languages, so far as they can be traced, we find this process going on; and it is undoubtedly as old as human speech itself. Now no hard and fast line can be drawn between the mere repetition of a word independently and the new single word arising from the coalescence of the original with its echo, if only because the aim of the repetition is nearly always such that the resulting form has the nature of a compound. Cp. Skr. pība-pība 'drink' (Rgv. II 11, 11 pībā-pībéd indra śūra sōma 'drink, drink the soma, mighty Indra'), divē-divē 'day by day', prā-pra 'on and on', yāthā-yathā 'howsoever'; Gr. πάμ-παν 'altogether', προ-προ-κυνιδόμενος 'rolling on and on' (Hom.), μᾶλλον μᾶλλον 'magis magisque', πλέον πλέον 'more and more'; Lat. mane mane, audī (Plaut. Asin. 229);

jam jam, semper semper, quis-quis, ut-ut, Ital. colpo colpo, piccolo piccolo.

In this way repeated words had been fused into single forms even before the inflexional period of the Indo-Germanic parent language; and there is nothing to prevent our referring immediately to this oldest type of reduplication any words in the descendant languages in which the whole root is repeated; e. g. Skr. gár-gar-a-s 'eddy' dár-dar-ti 'he shatters, breaks up', Gr. βάq-βαq-o-s 'speaking unintelligibly' ἀγ-αγ-σῖν 'lead on', Lat. quer-quer-u-s murmur, O.C.Sl. glagolŭ 'noise, word' for gol-gol-ŭ* (I § 281 p. 224).

Where, however, the reduplication is part of the structure of a simple word, full reduplication (reduplicatio integra) is comparatively rare. As a rule there is hardly more than a suggestion of the repetition, 'reduplicatio mutila', e. g. in the perfect forms Skr. ri-réc-a Gr. λέ-λοιπ-ε 'he has left', Lat. tu-tud-it, Goth. ga-raí-rōþ 'he applied himself', and in Skr. śí-śir-a-s 'cold, frost', O.H.G. fi-faltra 'butterfly'.

It is usually the former of the two syllables which has this abbreviated form. It is then regarded in the speaker's consciousness as a prefix, like the adverb έ, the so-called 'augment' (cp. Gr. έ-γενγον : πέ-γενγα) and other degraded initial elements of compound words (reduplicatio praefixa). This mode of regarding it was supported by the unreduplicated forms which usually existed side by side with it: these the speaker's thought connected into one group (e. g. πέ-γενγα beside γενίγω γενέξομαι γενή etc.). Where the simple form corresponding to a reduplicated form had died out, or if it survived had lost all connexion with it in the mind of the speaker, the reduplication had not so clearly the stamp of a prefix: e. g. Skr. jā-gar-mi 'I watch', Gr. Πι-γᾶς (Πι-γαν-), Lat. me-mor me-moria, Skr. da-dru- A.S. te-ter Lith. de-dervinė 'pustular eruption'.

Less frequently the second element of the reduplicated form is debased (reduplicatio suffixa). The commonest example is what is called 'broken reduplication', e. g. Skr. dar-d-ā- 'eruption on the skin' Lat. derbiōsu-s for der-d-u- (I § 170 p. 150) beside Skr. dar-dar-a 'burst' and the Skr. da-dru- etc. already mentioned,

Gr. μορ-μ-ώ 'bogie' beside μόρ-μορ-ο-ς 'fear', πόρ-π-η 'needle, clasp' beside περόνῃ 'clasp' περάω 'I pierce', Lat. bal-b-u-s beside Skr. bal-bala-karōmi 'I speak stammeringly', gur-g-es beside gur-gul-iō, Lith. mūr-m-iu 'I growl' beside Lat. mur-mur. Here nothing of the nature of a suffix could arise because there were no clearly defined groups of words with which these single forms might have become respectively connected, as was the case in the reduplication of the perfect. Only where there was some accidental phonetic resemblance to an already existing suffix did the element of reduplication assume the character of a suffix; e. g. Goth. val-v-ja 'I roll' (resembling ufar-skad-v-ja): cp. Gr. ἐλ-ελ-ίζω; and this often occurred in examples of reduplicatio integra and of reduplicatio praefixa as well, if the last element happened to sound like some suffix: e. g. Mid.H.G. Mod.H.G. murmeln = O.H.G. murmulōn mur-mur-ōn (Lat. murmur-āre) like lisp-eln schauk-eln hand-eln; Skr. cakrā-m 'circle, wheel' Gr. κύκλ-ο-ς 'circle' A.S. hweowol 'wheel' (Idg. qe-ql-o-*) like Skr. abh-rā-m 'cloud' Gr. ἀθ-λο-ς 'contest' A.S. tung-ol 'star'; Mod.H.G. zittere zittre (for pr. Germ. ti-trō-mi*) like schnatt-ere schnatt-re zimm-ere zimm-re; Mod.H.G. thät (for O.H.G. te-ta, reduplicated perfect) like schau-t'.

Remark. How are the types de-der- (di-der-) and der-d- related in their origin to the full form der-der-? First as regards de-der-, Pott and other scholars may be right in assuming that this is not a phonetic corruption of der-der-, but a mere 'suggestion' of the complete syllable, which was felt to be enough. de-der-, they maintain, is equivalent to der-der- in intention though not in fact, and there is no need to assume that such a form as der-der- preceded it. They point to such words in colloquial French as mé-mère 'little mother' bé-bête 'beastie' Ba-barpe 'Bab' (dimin. of 'Barbara') Cha-chale 'Charlie' as examples of the same principle. In single instances, however, phonetic change may have produced this type of formation, such a form as der-dr-o- becoming de-dr-o by dissimilation. Again, in the process of broken reduplication different agencies may have been at work, and in any case the examples of this kind have not all the same history. Here too dissimilation may sometimes have been the cause; der-d-o- may stand for der-dr-o-. And sometimes der-der-o may have been unconsciously resolved into derd-ero-, and thus being associated with words of the same type as Skr. pat-ara- 'flying', may have given rise to new formations in which derd- was taken as the 'root'.

It should be remembered that we are here discussing only the ultimate origin of these different kinds of reduplication. When for instance such a form a de-der- had once been evolved it became a creative type, and the later examples (e. g. all extant reduplicated perfect forms) are — directly or indirectly — mere analogical formations, made on the model of those in which the genuine process of development had taken place.

We have still to mention one more resemblance between these forms and compounds in the strict sense. In reduplicated words, as well as compounds, the real nature of the form may be obscured in some way or another, especially by phonetic change, and the result is a word which the speaker supposes to be absolutely simple (disregarding of course derivative suffixes, and any case-endings that may be in existence at the time); e. g. Skr. sēd- (in the perf. indic. 1. pl. sēd-imá opt. 3. sing. sēd-yá-t = Avest. ha-zd-yā-ḥ etc.) Lat. sēd- (in sēd-imus sēd-are) for Idg. se-zd-* i. e. se-sd-* from $\sqrt{sed}$ 'sit'; Lat. ser-ō 'I sow' for si-sō* cp. Gr. ἴημι for si-ση-μι*, $\sqrt{sē}$; Mod.H.G. beb-t = O.H.G. bibē-t, Skr. bī-bhē-ti 'he fears'; another example which must be as old as the proethnic period is the perfect stem ēd-* (1. pl. Skr. ad-imá Lat. ēd-imus Goth. ēt-um, Lith. part. ėd-ęs) for e-ed-* from $\sqrt{ed}$ 'eat'.

§ 7. Lastly, we must consider Vowel-Gradation (Ablaut, see I § 307 ff. p. 244 ff.) as a factor in the formation of Indo-Germanic words.

This appears in elements of all kinds: in root syllables, e. g. i- ei- 'go' Gr. ἵ-ευν ἑλ-μι; in suffixes used to form noun-stems, e. g. -tr- -ter- Gr. πα-τρ-ός πα-τέρ-ες, or verb-stems, e. g. the present suffix -nu- ney- Skr. ci-nu-más ci-nō-mi; in case-endings, e. g. the genitive ending -s -es -os Skr. sūnō-ṣ O.C.Sl. nebes-e (for -es*) Gr. νεφέ-ος; in personal endings, e. g. 3. sing. -ti -tai Gr. δίδω-σι δίδο-ται; and in the reduplicatio praefixa, e. g. Skr. pres. imper. act. ci-kiddhi indic. med. (intens.) cé-kitē from cit- 'perceive'.

We saw in vol. I (loc. cit.) that vowel-gradation, a mechanical consequence of shifting accent, has quite as little to do with morphological differences of function as any other phonetic variations which arose within a given group of forms through the action of what is called phonetic law. For instance, the o-form of ablaut which appears in the root-syllable of perfect forms like de-dork̑-e* le-loiq̑-e* (Gr. δέδορκε λείλοιπε), as distinguished from derk̑-* leiq̑-* and d̑rk̑-* liq̑-* in other forms of the verbal system, had originally no more connexion with the meaning of the perfect, nor had the e-form of ablaut, found in the formative suffix in the accusatives p̑o-ter-ŋi* m̑a-ter-ŋi* (Gr. πατέρα μητέρα) etc., as distinguished from -tr- -t̑- in other cases, originally any more connexion with the notion conveyed by the accusative, than (say) the σ of the second persons οἶσ-θα ἴσ-τε, as contrasted with the δ of the 1. and 3. persons οἶδα ἴδμεν οἶδε, had to do with the distinction of persons. But the arbitrary phonetic differences produced by ablaut in the various groups of forms often acquired in time a special meaning, the particular phases of ablaut becoming closely attached to the particular idea conveyed by the whole word, and appropriated to this or that function in connexion with it. This is most clearly seen when such formative elements as had served, either solely or primarily, to distinguish the meaning of a particular form from that of other members of the same group, have been lost, thus leaving only the ablaut to indicate the meaning; e. g. Mid.H.G. 1. pl. pres. binden 'we bind' pret. bunden 'we bound' = Goth. bindam bundum, Idg. present stem bhendho-* preterite stem h̑ebh̑ndh-*; Goth. acc. aúhsan dat. (loc.) aúhsin (nom. aúhsa 'ox') = Skr. ukṣāṇ-am (ukṣāṇ-am) ukṣāṇ-i; Goth. acc. fadar brōþar dat. fadr brōþr cp. Gr. πατέρα πατρο-ί. Thus even in proethnic Indo-Germanic the vowel-grade -tēr- e. g. p̑atér* 'father' (Gr. πατήρ) had become in the nom. sing. the chief exponent of the special meaning of the case, as opposed to the voc. sing., Gr. πάτερ, and differences of ablaut like δέχοιτο δόακοι, λείποι λίποι had become connected with different kinds of action (continuous as opposed to momentary). In the same way other phonetic differences which had arisen accidentally became the exponents of different meanings. For example, in the masculine i-declension in Old High German it so happened that the whole plural had come to have the modified vowel: gesti etc. as opposed to the sing. gast. The cases of the plural had originally been sufficiently distinguished from the singular by other means. But later on final -e was lost in Upper Germany, and partly so in Central Germany: and hence the modified vowel became, and still is, the sole sign of the distinction of number in the nom. and acc.: sing. gast pl. gest (gāst). Afterwards on this analogy täg was formed as a plural for tag, and ārm for arm etc.

In this way a definite phase of vowel-gradation in the Indo-Germanic languages has often become the mark of some definite meaning; so that the relations of Ablaut are of special importance in any account of their morphology.

In accordance with what has been previously said (I § 310) we distinguish 'Strong' and 'Weak' forms in the elements of which words are built up. The weak form shows the vocalism of the Lower or Weak Grade of Ablaut, the strong form that of the Higher or Strong Grade, and in each class again there are differences, which in forms of the strong grade may be very considerable (cp. e. g. I § 311).

The simplest of all the phenomena of vowel-gradation are those which appear in the terminations denoting case and person.

In the formation of stems, especially those of nouns, very complicated relations have sometimes arisen, chiefly because the original differences of gradation have been readjusted in course of the various processes of 'levelling' which the forms have undergone in one direction or another. Some such readjustments must have taken place soon after the differences in gradation had first appeared, i. e. long before the protoethnic language had broken up; and since then the process has been continually repeated. In this branch of our enquiry we can scarcely hope for anything like complete success in investigating the original distribution of the different phases of Ablaut.

Yet in a considerable number of groups of forms we have attained to a fair degree of certainty, and can even now reproduce, in all essential points, the vowel-gradation shown by the stem at the period of the first separation of the tribes. In many classes of noun-stems the formative suffix had Strong-Grade vocalism in the nom. acc. voc. loc. sing., in the nom. acc. du., and in the nom. (no doubt also acc.) pl., e. g. Gr. πα-τήρ πα-τέρ-α πά-τερ πα-τέρ-ι, πα-τέρ-ε, πα-τίρ-εξ πα-τέρ-ας; and in the other cases that of the Weak Grade, e. g. πα-τῆ-ός, πα-τῆ-ων πα-τρά-σι. And similar distinctions hold good to some extent in the stem-syllable of root-nouns, e. g. Skr. pāt pād-am pād-as as opposed to pad-ē pad-ás etc. The terms used to distinguish these forms are Strong and Weak Cases respectively; a more detailed account is reserved for the sections dealing with Case-formation. In the verbal system, the three singular persons of the active generally had the strong form, and the plural and dual of the active with the whole of the middle had the weak form; and indeed this difference appears equally in root-syllables, e. g. Gr. ἐλ-μι ἔ-μεν, in suffixes of Tense, e. g. Gr. δάμ-νῃ-μι δάμ-να-μεν, and of Mood, e. g. Gr. εἰ-ῖν-ν εἰ-λ-μεν (*ξσ-ιη-ν *ξσ-ι-μεν).

§ 8. We have seen in the foregoing pages that the Indo-Germanic formative system in all its branches is really based upon composition. This being the case, the task of systematic morphology is to exhibit, first the processes of composition which gave rise both to what are usually known as compounds, and to all formations containing elements of the nature of suffixes or prefixes; and secondly, the developement of the analogical formations which are associated with these. It is clear however that this task can only be very imperfectly accomplished.

The furthest point to which we can trace the past history of Indo-Germanic speech, without entering upon a region of the merest conjecture, is an epoch when, so far as we can judge, many elements originally independent had become so completely lost in composition as to show no vestige of their original character either in meaning or in form. The instinct of the language for the particular kind or kinds of composition by which these elements had assumed the shape in which we find them had by that time completely died out, and it is hence very probable that there had already been a good deal of shifting and displacement. It is therefore impossible for us to say whether any given formative element ever existed independently in precisely the form which it has when we remove it from its surroundings, or whether one or other of its sounds may not have been a later accretion which originally formed no part of it (cp. Mod. HG. -keit, I § 14 p. 16, [Eng. -ology in ge-ology, cp. theo-logy], Lat. -cētū-m in būcētū-m busticētū-m, which was abstracted from such forms as nuc-ēū-m ūlic-ētū-m). By that time, too, hundreds of complex forms may have become simple units both in use and in appearance, so that, strictly speaking, we cannot be sure that any one formative element which we regard as a unit in morphology was really a simple form to start with. In modern times we are not in a position to determine what the actual processes of composition may have been — they were certainly many in number — whose work began and ended before the proethnic community was dissolved: all that can be done is to accept as data their after effects, direct and indirect. I would take this opportunity of once more calling attention to a point on which I have already laid stress (vol. I p. 17 f.). The formative elements which date from the proethnic period we call by such names as 'root', 'suffix', 'prefix'; but this does not imply that they were originally independent words. Thus the division of a word by hyphens, e. g. seq-e-tai* (Gr. ἐπ-ε-ται Skr. sác-a-tē), merely indicates the parts which the speaker probably regarded respectively as the kernel of a whole group of forms (seq-), or as a formative element used in different words with the same special function (-e- and -tai).

Among the forms that serve to show the method of formation which prevailed in the parent language there are comparatively few in which we can feel sure that our analysis actually agrees with the original process of composition, so that the hyphen really marks the point where the word originally divided. We feel most confidence in analysing reduplicated formations like Skr. dár-darti; next, in the case of the augment, e. g. é-dṛkōm* 'I saw' (Gr. ἔ-δρακον); and the same may be said of some of the personal endings, as -mi -mai, -ti -tai, e. g. ei-mi 'I go' (Gr. εἶ-μι), since these are no doubt connected with me-* 'I' to-* 'the, that'.

The case is different with later compounds formed after the first division of the language had taken place; e. g. Skr. ekacittī-bhuvanti 'they become of one mind' Lat. calē-bō for calē fuō*. Here, unless the contrary is expressly stated, our hyphens always imply the assertion that in the case of the oldest examples of any formation which gave the type for the whole group, each of the parts thus separated was once really an independent word.

Remark 1. Of late years much labour and ingenuity has been spent in the attempt to determine the original form of Indo-Germanic 'roots', especially since the publication of de Saussure's suggestive Mémoire sur le système primitif des voyelles (Leipz. 1879). This subject, important as it undoubtedly is, I must dismiss with only a reference in passing, because of the grievous uncertainty of the theories hitherto advanced; nor do I wish to suggest to the beginner that he need at the outset give any special attention to the question. I still feel wholly uncertain whether Idg. aḡe-nḡo-* (Gr. pres. ἄγε-τε ἄγο-μεν, subst. ἀγέ ἀγός-) was earlier or later than aḡ-* (Gr. ἰπ-αχ-τός-) and Idg. ḡenā-* (Skr. jani-tár-) than ḡen-* (Skr. ján-man-), whether the shorter form came from the fuller or whether the latter was derived from the former by the addition of -e- -o- and -ā-. The relation of Idg. plē-* (Lat. plē-nu-s) to pel-* (Goth. fil-u Skr. pī-par-tī) is also quite obscure. plē-* may be regarded as standing for an older form pelē-, and its -ē- as an element not originally belonging to the root. But we may equally well regard pelē- as the original simple root-word from which all shorter forms have been derived. The authorities are cited by Hübschmann, Das indogerm. Vocalsystem p. 181 ff., Johansson, De derivatis verbis contractis linguae Graecae p. 82 sqq. 93 sqq., Bezzenger, Götting. gel. Anz. 1887 p. 417.

Remark 2. Another question much discussed is that of the so-called 'root determinatives'. Certain consonants frequently appear as the final sound of roots in a larger or smaller number of the words which belong to them. E. g. -dh- in Skr. rā-dh-a-ti 'brings about, prepares, satisfies' Goth. ga-rē-d-an 'to reflect upon something' O.C.Sl. ra-d-iti 'to reflect upon, care for' beside Lat. rē-rī, ra-tiō Goth. ra-þjō 'ratio'; Gr. πύ-θ-ω 'putrefy' beside πύ-ορ 'pus'; O.C.Sl. i-ti-q 'I go' beside Gr. εἰ-μι 'I go'; further, in the suffixes -dh-ro- -dh-lo- -dh-mo- (see § 77). -s- in kley-s-* 'to hear' Skr. śru-ṣ-ṭi-ṣ 'courtesy, readiness' part. śrō-ṣ-a-man-ā-s O.Ir. cluas 'ear' (I § 516 p. 377) A.S. hlū-s-t 'hearing' O.C.Sl. slu-ch-ū 'act of hearing, hearing' beside kley-* Skr. part. śru-tá-s Gr. κλυ-τός etc., and in ten-s-* 'extend, stretch out' Skr. ṭṣáyati 'he pulls this way and that' vi-tasti-ṣ 'span' O.H.G. dinsan 'to drag, trail' Lith. tesù 'I stretch' beside ten- Skr. fut. taniṣyá-ti Gr. τενει etc. The use of this -s- became widely extended in the Aorist and Future and also in Desiderative formations; it may also be etymologically connected with the -es- in Gr. ξέν- (ξένω 'I scrape, smooth' aor. ξέσα-α) beside ξέν-υ- (ξένω) and ques- (Lith. kas-aũ 'I scratch' O.C.Sl. čes-ati 'to comb, curry'); in σβέν- (σβένου 'to quench') beside σβέν- (ξ-σβέν 'was quenched') and seg- (Lat. sēgni-s etc.); in ves- (Lat. ves-ti-s) beside ey- (Lat. ind-uō Lith. au-nū aū-ti), and many similar forms. -eŭ- -u- may sometimes be regarded in the same way, e. g. in sreŭ- 'flow' (Skr. śrāv-a-ti Gr. ῥέει) beside ser- 'move forward' (Skr. śār-a-ti 'goes, flows' Gr. ῥέ-μῃ 'haste, impulse'). There need be no hesitation in assuming that in such instances we are dealing with elements which were not originally integral parts of the primitive word, or 'root', and that therefore, in parallel forms which we find without them, they have not been lost, but simply never existed. The name we give them — determinatives, formative suffixes, or what not — is a matter of no importance. Their origin and their original value are obscure. Where, as -s- in the aorist, they have a definite grammatical function, they may be named accordingly. Thus I describe -s- in ῥέεικ-σ-α as an aorist-suffix, although I take it for granted that this element had originally nothing to do with the meaning of the aorist; but in doing so I imply no more than in calling e. g. -mini in Lat. legimini (= λεγο-μενοι § 71) a suffix of the second person plural.

FORMATION AND INFLEXION OF NOMINAL (AND PRONOMINAL) STEMS.

§ 9. Our discussion so far has led us to the conclusion, that in the Indo-Germanic languages the first step towards a complete inflexional system is to be seen in the nominal compounds whose first member is an uninflected stem, and reduplicated nouns in which neither of the two members has sunk to the level of an inflexional element; that is, if we consider them apart from their case-suffixes and from any further derivative elements or other particles which may have become attached to them. It seems appropriate, then, to begin our account of the Morphology of Nouns, by treating first of Compound Words and of Reduplicated Forms.

COMPOSITION OF NOUNS (NOUN-COMPOUNDS).¹⁾

THE COMPOUNDS CONSIDERED IN RESPECT OF THEIR FORM.

§ 10. We may distinguish four classes of compound forms:

I. Compounds whose first part is the stem of an inflected noun or pronoun, e. g. Gr. μυρο-γενής compared with μύρο-ς;

Germanic languages accessible to our investigation, and only appears in compounds, e. g. Gr. ἄ-βατος:

III. Compounds whose first part is an old adverbial word (with or without case-ending), which was also used uncompounded, e. g. Gr. ἐπί-θετος compared with ἐπί (ἐπὶ);

IV. Compounds whose first part is either a case-form which when it first entered into composition was a living member of some case-system, or an adverb which had only become such during the development of the separate languages, and had the force of an adverb at the time when it was compounded; e. g. Gr. Διός-χονροι and παν-αόλος.

No differences in principle are implied by this classification. It is chiefly intended as a convenient means of survey. In the course of the development of the different languages, the boundaries of the various classes often wavered considerably, and here and there new formations arose which departed widely from the type originally proper to their particular class.

Class I and IV are often contrasted as 'genuine' and 'spurious' compounds. The latter are also called Juxtaposita.

Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

§ 11. Class I. This type of formation was certainly represented by a large number of examples in the Indo-Germanic period, although there are not many compounds which occur simultaneously in different branches of the derived languages, and therefore may reasonably be classed here. Several have a numeral for their first member; e. g. Skr. dvi-pád- Gr. di-novs Lat. bi-pēs A.S. twi-fēte 'two-footed'; Skr. tri-dant-tri-dánt- Lat. tri-dēns 'three-toothed'; Skr. śata-pád- Lat. centi-pēs 'hundred-footed'. O.Pers. hama-pitar- Gr. ómo-pátωρ ómo-pátριος O.Icel. sam-feðr 'having the same father, a common father'; Gr. ómo-γνιος Goth. sama-kunja- see I § 142. p. 128. Avest. pouru-nar- Gr. πολυ-άνωρ 'rich in men'; Skr. puru-dásas- 'rich in wondrous deeds' Gr. πολυ-δῆρεια πολύβουλον, πολύμητιν (Hesych.). Gr. ώκί-πους Lat. acu-pedius 'swift-footed'; Skr. aśu-pátvan- Gr. ώκυ-πέτης 'swiftly flying' Lat. acu-piter*, which popular etymology changed to accipiter, as though from accipiō, and even to acceptor. Skr. nṛ-mānas- 'having the mind of a man', Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης. Skr. navājá- i. e. nāva + ajā- 'driving ships, seaman', Lat. nāvigō 'I navigate' from nāv-igo-* 'driving ships'. It is to be noticed that these formations scarcely ever correspond exactly; we have usually to suppose that analogy has modified the forms in the separate languages (e. g. Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης instead of ἄνδρα-*, see § 29).

§ 12. The termination of the first member.

Stems in -o- had -o-, cp. Gr. ἵππο-δάμος 'taming horses', (Hall. Dēvo-gnāta (dēvo- 'god'), Goth. garda-valdunds 'master of the house', Lith. gera-dėjis O.C.Sl. dobro-dějĭ 'benefactor'. Whether -e- occurred as well as -o- (cp. Gr. ἄγέ-λαος beside ἀγός-, see § 29. 30) is doubtful. The final vowel of the stem seems to have remained unchanged even where the second part of the compound began with a vowel: Skr. Ved. yuktá-aśva- 'who has horses yoked', O.C.Sl. bělo-okŭ 'white-eyed' (cp. also Pruss. dago-augis 'young sprig of a tree' deina-algenika-mans dat. pl. 'to day-labourers'), see I § 600 p. 453.

Stems in -a-, in compounds formed in the separate families of language, sometimes end in -ā-, and sometimes have the same form as the o-stems. The former is frequent in Aryan and Greek, rare in Latin and Lithuanian: Skr. urvarā-jīt- 'gaining arable land' Avest. daēnā-vazah- (proper name) from daṣṇa- 'law, faith', Gr. βουλῆ-γόρος 'giving counsel', Lat. fabā-ginus 'proceeding from beans', Lith. sziksznó-sparnis 'bat' (properly 'leather-winged creature'). The -o- form is not uncommon in Aryan and Greek; it preponderates in Latin and Lithuanian; and in Keltic, Germanic and Slavonic it is the only form found: Skr. Ved. ukha-chíd- 'breaking the pot' from ukhá-, Avest. gaḍa-para- 'wielding a club' from gaḍa- (= Skr. gadā-), Gr. ἑλο-τόμος 'felling timber' from ἑλῆ, Lat. ālī-pēs from āla, Gall. Teuto-bōdiacī beside O.Ir. tuath f. 'people' ground-form teutā*, Goth. airþa-kunds 'of earthly origin' from airþa, Lith. galvā-raisztis 'headband' from galvā, O.C.Sl. glavo-boliže 'headache' from gluva. From these data I do not venture to draw any definite conclusion for the proethnic period. It seems to me, however, improbable that the transition from -ā- to -o- took place independently in all the different languages. Indeed it is certain that the latter was the regular form in proethnic Indo-Germanic when the compound consisted of an adjective + a feminine substantive: Skr. priya-bhāryā 'beloved wife', Gr. ἀκρό-πολις 'upper part of a city', O.Ir. sen-mathir 'old mother, grand-mother' from seno-* (cp. however § 39), O.H.G. junc-fromwa 'young lady' for juugo-*, Lith. jaunā-martė 'young woman' sen-motė 'old mother, grand-mother' for sena-* (cp. O.Ir. sen-mathir), O.C.Sl. plūno-luna 'full moon'.

Stems in -ī- and -ū- had -ī-, -ū- before consonants and ī-, ū- before sonants. Skr. dhī-jāvana-s 'exciting devotion, inspiring', bhrū-kuṭi-ṣ 'frown'. Skr. śrīy-aditya- (man's name) from śrī-, Gr. σῦ-αγχος 'choking swine' from σῦ-ς. Compare Skr. instr. pl. dhī-śú beside instr. sing. dhīy-ā.

Stems in -i-, -u-, nasals, liquids, and such of the stems in explosives as were declined with vowel-gradation had regularly the weak form of ablaut, from the proethnic period onwards, in compounds as well as in derivatives (e. g. Gr. βαρυ-δαίμων like βαρύ-της, Skr. pity-dēva-s like pity-tva-m).

Stems in -i- and -u- had -i-, -u- before consonants. Skr. tri-pád- (Gr. τρί-πους Lat. tri-pēs A.S. ðri-fēte 'three-footed', Gall. tri-garanus 'with three cranes', Lith. tri-kójis 'creature with three feet' O.C.Sl. trǫ-zabŭ 'trident, three-prong'. Skr. agni-dhāna-m 'receptacle for fire', Lat. īgni-fer. Proper names containing uesu-* 'good': Skr. vāsu-rōciṣ- Avest. vohu-raocah-, Gall. Visu-rīx (woman's name) O.H.G. Wisu-rīch. Skr. paśu-pā-s 'cattle-keeper' Goth. faihu-friks 'covetous' Gr. ἡδύ-(F)επής 'speaking sweetly' Skr. svādu-rātī-ṣ 'bestowing beautiful gifts', Lat. manu-festus, Gall. Catu-rīges ('battle-kings') O.Cymr. Cat-mōr, O.H.G. Hadu-mār, Lith. virszū-kalnīs 'mountain peak'. Before sonants we find sometimes -i(i)-, -u(u)-, sometimes -i-, -u-, cp. I § 120 p. 111 ff. The first form is certainly original in such words as tri-* 'three', dru-* 'wood': cp. Skr. Ved. trī(y)-aruṣa- 'marked with red in three places', Gr. τρι-οῖος 'three-branched', Lat. tri-ennium, Gall. Tri-obris, O.H.G. dri-ortēr 'triangulus'; Skr. Ved. drú(v)-anna-s 'having wood for food', Gr. Δρυ-οψ. Cp. further Skr. Ved. hári(y)-aśva-s 'having golden-yellow steeds' kṛṣṭi(y)-ōjas- 'vanquishing the nations' beside ahy-ārṣu-ṣ 'falling upon dragons', puru(v)-anīka-s 'having many semblances' madhu(v)-ād- 'eating sweet things' bāhu(v)-ōjas- n. 'strength of arm' beside pulv-aḡhā-s 'harming much' (examples with -y-, -v- — which alone occur in classical Sanskrit — are rare in Veda; see Edgren, Journal of the Amer. Orient. Soc. XI 71); Gr. βρωτ-άειρα fem. 'nourishing men', πολυ-ιππος 'rich in horses'; O.C.Sl. has an isolated example, medv-ědi 'bear' ('honey-eater') from medŭ = Lith. medūs 'honey'.

Stems in -n- may have sometimes had forms in -ŋ-, before consonants, and forms in -u- or -ŋn-, before sonants. -ŋ- may be inferred from Greek compounds like κρή-δεμρον 'head-band' for κρη(σ)-α-*, ὀνομά-κλυτος 'with famous name' (I § 224 p. 192). We may set beside them Lat. nōmen-clātor nōmen-culātus and Skr. compounds like śirṣa-bandhanā f. 'head-band' nāma-dhā-s 'name-giver', and also vṛṣaṇ-vasu-ṣ 'strong as an ox' (cp. vṛṣaṇ-vant- and vṛṣaṇ-yāti- for vrṣṇ-* I § 225 p. 192). As examples of -n- before sonants might be given Gr. ἀρν-ωδός 'singing for the prize of a lamb' (late), κυρ-ᾠπς 'dog-eyed', Lith. szūn-obūlei pl. 'hawthorn' ('dog-apples'), and for -ŋn- Ved. vṛṣaṇ-aśvā- 'having stallions for steeds, drawn by stallions' (said of a chariot). Yet it is very uncertain whether those forms are the direct representatives of original types. What we most commonly find is a substitution of o-stems for the stems in -n-, and this mode of representing the n-stems in composition appears to me undoubtedly proethnic. Gr. zīō-κράνον 'capital of a column' from κίων, ἀκρο-θέρον 'anvil-block' from ἄκρον, αἶμο-βαφής 'dipped in blood' from αἷμα, Lat. homi-cūda, sangui-sūga, numi-clutori (inser.), Mid. Ir. talam-chumscugud 'earthquake' from talam gen. talman (§ 37), Goth. guma-kunds 'of the male sex' from guma gen. gumins, auga-daúrō n. 'window' ('eye-door') from áugō gen. áugins; Skr. compounds like śīrṣa-bandhana may also be classed here, and all the more confidently because such forms as Skr. ukṣā́nna- = ukṣa-anna- 'devouring oxen' (from ukṣan-) Avest. zrvāyu- = zrra-āyu- 'specified time' (from zrvan-) clearly show the type of the o-stems (cp. yuktáśva-). This substitution of o-stems for stems in -n- is obviously connected with a similar change in the final members of compounds, as Skr. tri-parva-s 'with three edges' from párvan-, priyá-dhāma-s 'occupying a charming position' from dhāman-, Gr. ἄ-πειρος 'boundless' beside ἀ-πέριον (stem πεύρον-*), ἄρ-αιμος 'bloodless' beside ἀρ-αἷον, Lat. ex-sanguis for an older ex-sanguo-s* (see § 93, under Italic) from sanguen, sublimu-s, later sub-līmi-s (properly 'reaching up to the lintel') from līmen.)

Stems in -m-. Skr. sa-kṛt 'once' Gr. ἀ-πλόος 'single' Lat. sim-plex, Idg. sm-, from sem- 'unus' Gr. εἷς neut. ἐν. Gr. δα-πεδον 'floor in a house', then 'ground' generally, for dm-, from dem- 'house', see § 160, 2.

The Indo-Germanic type of formation in r-stems is shown in Skr. pity-śrávaṇa-s 'gaining glory for one's father' and pitr-artham 'for one's father's sake'. Cp. also Gr. τετρα-γῶς 'containing four measures of land', from the Idg. stem getuer-* (τετρα- = Idg. getur-*, cp. I § 285), Goth. brōþru-lubō 'brotherly love' (? see § 40) and Gr. πατρωνίμιος-ς 'named from the father', ἀνδρο-άγρια 'spoils of an enemy'.

1) No inference can be drawn from such Germanic examples as Goth. hauh-hairta- 'haughty' beside hairtan- n. 'heart'. For even granting that stems like these had always been n-stems, the a-inflexion must in any case have been forced upon them by the analogy of the strong declension of adjectives. Cp. Leo Meyer, Got. Spr. p. 247.

Stems in -nt- had -nt-: Skr. bṛhad-rathá- 'having a great car', Idg. bhṛghnt-*.

Stems in -s-. Gr. μῦσ-φόρος 'killing mice', Lat. mūs-cipula 'mouse-trap', Idg. mūs-*. Stems in -es- no doubt had -es-: Gr. σάκεσ-φόρος 'shield-bearer', Goth. sigis-láun 'prize of victory', Skr. rajas-túr- 'hastening through the sl.y'. -s- no doubt occurred as well, cp. Skr. mandhātár- 'thoughtful, devout person' for manz-dhatar-*, beside mánas- Gr. μένος. The use of -o- stems in their place, which is found in Greek, Latin, Keltic, and Slavonic (§ 29. 34. 37. 47, cp. also the Germanic, § 40 Rem. 5) may be an independent development of the separate languages.

§ 13. The action of analogy produced many changes in what we must assume to have been the original forms of the initial members of compounds.

On the one hand, we find one kind of stem taking the place of another, e. g. a stem in -o- replacing a stem in -i-, as Slav. gosto- instead of gosti- (§ 47). We have just seen (in § 12) that changes of this kind arose even in proethnic Indo-Germanic. Thus it may well be the case that dwi-* 'two' (beside nom. acc. du. dwiōu*: Skr. dvāú etc.) was formed in this period to correspond with tri-* 'three' (cp. e. g. dwi-pod-* 'two-footed' beside tri-pod-*) just as Gr. διὰ-ρόοιοι was modelled on τριὰ-ρόοιοι, πεντά-πους (for πεντί-πους) on ἐπτά-πους, and so forth; a different explanation of dwi-*, which does not seem to me convincing, is given by Bartholomae (Ar. Forsch. III 39). In the development of the separate languages the use of -o- as the connecting link in compound words was especially frequent; hence this ending has been called the 'vowel of composition' ('Compositions-vocal').

On the other hand, the stem is sometimes replaced by a case-form (the compound thus passing into Class IV). Of this kind are new formations like Skr. agrê-gá-s (loc. sing.) beside the more archaic agra-gu-s 'going at the head', Gr. Πυλογενής (loc. sing.) 'born in Pylos', Mod.H.G. befehls-haber lands-mann (gen. sing.) for the older forms befelch-haber land-mann. In this class also a few examples may be proethnic, cp. Skr. aṣṭā-pad- aṣṭā-pada- Gr. ὀκτωί-πους 'eight-footed', Lat. octō-jugis (Goth. ahtáu- seen in ahtáu-dōgs 'eight-day' (adj.) for ahtō-*, following the uncompounded ahtáu) with the form of the nom. acc. du., and similarly, with the form of the nom. acc. sing., Gr. ἐκατό-πους -πῆδος Lat. centum-peda beside the more archaic Skr. śata-pād- Lat. centi-pēs -peda (cp. also Goth. handa-faþs 'centurio', Lith. szimta-kójis 'hundred-footed').

Remark. Cp. the occurrence of the -ō- of the nom. acc. du. in the case-endings Skr. -ā-bhyām Lat. -ō-bus (duōbus). Skr. aśīa- (seen in Ved. aśīa-karṇā- etc.) and Lat. octi- (seen in octi-pēs etc.) do not represent the Idg. stem okto-*, from which the dual was formed, but they follow the analogy of sapta- and septi-, cp. Gr. ὀκτα- beside ὀκτω- in imitation of ἑπτα-.

The same substitution of case-form for stem is seen in certain derivatives formed by means of suffixes; examples of this are Skr. tad-īya-s 'belonging to that' tad-vant- 'provided with that' (tá-d nom. acc. neut.) ki-yú-ṣ 'desiring what?' (ki-m nom. acc. neut.), Skr. divā-tana-s 'diurnus' (divā instr. sing. 'by day', § 69), Skr. uccāis-tard-m 'higher' (uccāiṣ instr. pl. 'high', § 75), Gr. μυχόι-τατος 'furthest back in the corner' (μυχόι loc. sing. 'in the corner, within', § 75), Gr. ἰγίος 'powerful' (l-yi instr. sing. 'with power, with might'), Lat. extrē-mu-s (extrē-* adv., § 72. 2), Goth. jái-n-s 'that' (m.) (ioi* loc. sing., § 66).

§ 14. Class II: Idg. u-* un-* 'un-', connected with ne-* nē* 'not' (Skr. ná ná etc.): Skr. a-mṛta-s á-martiya-s 'immortal' an-aśvā-s 'without horses', Armen. an-gēt 'unknowing', Gr. ἄ-μφοτος ἀ-μφοδω- (cp. I § 120 p. 111) ἀν-ιππος, Lat. in-somnis (Skr. a-svapnā-s 'sleepless'), O.Ir. ē-tromm 'not heavy, light', O.H.G. un-ende n. 'endlessness' (Skr. an-antā-s 'endless'), cp. I § 227 p. 194; and the parallel form ū-* 'un-' = (Ir. vā- vη- etc., see I § 253 p. 207. Idg. dus-* 'mis- ill-': Skr. dur-manus- 'illwill, malevolence', Armen. t-gēt 'unknowing', Gr. δυσ-μεής 'ill-disposed', O.Ir. do-chruth 'deformed, ugly' (from cruth 'form', the c being changed to ch on the analogy of so-chruth 'beautifully formed', see I § 658 p. 510 f.), O.H.G. zur-lust 'wilfulness, illwill'.

These initial members of compound words may once have been independent adverbial words which were restricted even in the proethnic period to use in composition; just as Idg. su* 'well' and sēmi* 'half', which in Aryan still occur as independent words, in the other branches of Indo-Germanic only survived in compounds.

§ 15. Class III. This class may be split up into numerous subdivisions; only a few of them can be noticed here.

Adverbs used in the separate languages as verbal prepositions are compounded with verbal nouns. Idg. ēpi-dhato-s* 'added': Skr. āpi-hita-s 'shut, enveloped' Gr. ἐπι-θετος 'added'. Idg. āpo-qiti-s* 'expiation, punishment': Skr. āpa-citi- Gr. ἀπό-τισις. Idg. ni-zdo-s* 'place for sitting down' (✓ sed-): Skr. nīdā-s, Arm. nist, Lat. nūdu-s, O.Ir. net, O.H.G. nest, see I § 590 p. 447. Idg. peri-srouo-s* 'a flowing round': Skr. pari-srāva-s, Gr. περιρροος. It was not before the period of separate developement that adverbs of this kind were closely united with the finite verb, as in Gr. ἐπι-τίθημι, and it is clear that the older practice of compounding them with nouns gave considerable impulse to this tendency.

Remark. The group of purely verbal compounds then reacted upon the class of nominal compounds. It is true enough to say that e. g. Gr. ἔξοχος 'eminent, prominent' is not a compound of ἐξ and ἄχος, nor Goth. aflēts 'remission, forgiveness' a compound of af and lēts, but that those words are simple derivatives from the verbs ἐξέχω and aflēta (J. Grimm, D. Gr. II [1878] 694, Zacher, Zur griech. Nominalcomp. 8); and there is after all good reason for adopting Zacher's name for them, 'pseudo-compounds'. But it must not be forgotten that in creating such forms the language is merely adding new examples to old classes, whose types have come down from the proethnic period, and that by far the greater number of the so-called compounds in the Idg. languages were certainly not formed by any real process of composition, but merely through analogical imitation of old typical forms; that is to say, they are only 'pseudo-compounds'.

Adverbs, used in the separate languages as prepositions governing a case, are compounded with nouns which are found governed by them; ἐγκέφαλος = ἐν κεφαλῇ ὄν. In the proethnic period, when this group of forms began to develop, prepositional phrases like Skr. ānu satyām 'conformably to truth' Gr. ἐν κεφαλῇ 'in the head' Lat. ante portam can hardly, as yet, have become a recognised construction. The need of derivatives, however, had already given rise to compounds, exactly in the same way as in Mod.H.G. lang-ueilig is derived from lange ueile, in Lat. Sacrariēnsēs from sacra via etc. (cp. § 3 Rem. p. 4 f.). Then, the more firmly the prepositional construction established itself in the separate languages, the easier was it to form corresponding compounds, and the more freely were they coined. Skr. apī-karṇā-m 'that which is situated by the ear, the region of the ear', Gr. ἐπί-γαιος adj. 'on the earth'. Skr. upāri-martya-s 'rising above mortals', Gr. ὑπερ-άνθρωπος ὑπερ-ήνωρ (the same). Lat. inter-callum 'that which is situated between two palisades (inter callos), intermediate space', Skr. antar-hastā-s adj. 'in the hand'. Goth. uf-áiþeis 'under an oath, bound by an oath', Skr. upa-kukṣā-s 'reaching to the armpit'. Lith. pér-gulcė f. 'that which is laid over or around the head, cow', Gr. περ-κέφαλον περ-κεφαλαία 'head-covering'. It is noteworthy that Sanskrit and Greek agree in using as adverbs the acc. sing. neut. of these adjectival compounds, e. g. Skr. praty-ākṣa-m from praty-ākṣa-s 'lying before the eyes', ati-mātrā-m from ati-mātrā-s 'exceeding the proper measure', Gr. εμ-πέδον from εμ-πεδος 'situated on the earth, firm', ὑπερ-μορον from ὑπερ-μορος* 'beyond destiny'.

The negative particles ne*, nei* (cp. O. Brugmann, Über den Gebrauch des condicionalen NI in der älteren Latinität, 1887, p. 32 f.), mē* are compounded with the pronominal stems qi-* qo-. ne: ná-ki-ś 'no one, nothing, not' (ki- instead of the regular ci-, see I § 448 Rem. p. 333). nei*: Avest. naē-ci-ś 'none', Lith. nė-kas O.C.Sl. ni-kŭto 'none'. mē* (prohibitive) Skr. mā-ki-ś, Gr. μή-τις.

§ 16. Class IV. Compounds of this kind do not appear in any great numbers until the later periods of the history of the languages. Of these, too, by far the greatest number are due to no real process of composition, but merely to the analogy of already existing types. The following may be regarded as formations which had the character of compounds as early as the proethnic period.

The words for the tens from thirty upwards, as Gr. τριᾶκοντα, τετρακάκοντα, which have a nom. acc. pl. neut. as their initial member.

Idg. duō-dekṃ* duyō-dekṃ* 'twelve': Skr. dvā-daśa duvā-daśa, Avest. dva-dasa (with a instead of ā, following dva), Gr. δω-δεκα δυω-δεκα, Lat. duo-decim (with o instead of ō, following duo); compare Skr. dvādaśama-s Lat. duodecimū-s 'twelfth'. Idg. trētez-dekṃ* 'thirteen': Skr. trāyō-daśa, Lat. trēdecim (I § 594 p. 450), Mid.H.G. dri-zehen (the sounds at the junction of the two words have been modified on the analogy of the two uncompounded forms, for -zd- would have become -st- in Germanic).

Remark. We may generalise so far as to assume that in proethnic Indo-Germanic there already existed compounds for all the numbers 11—19. Yet it must be noticed that the names of the numbers up to nine are not all genuine case-forms, e. g. Idg. penqe* 'five' seen in Skr. pāñcadaśa Lat. quindecim Goth. fimftahun.

Possibly there were also in the Indo-Germanic period compounds containing case-forms of diu-* 'heaven'; cp. Skr. divō-rūc- 'shining from heaven' Gr. Διός-δοτος 'given by Zeus', Skr. divi-jā-s divi-jāta-s 'born in heaven'. The Greek compound δεσπότης 'master of the house', whose first member was the Idg. gen. dem-s* (I § 204 p. 171 and § 160 below) may also have been inherited from the parent language.

To this class also belong such forms as Skr. tad-vaśā-s 'having a desire for that', Gr. ποδ-από-ς 'whence coming?' with the form of the nom. acc. sing. neut. See I § 228 p. 195 and § 163 below.

§ 17. The forms of this class, like those of Class I, gave rise to many analogical innovations. The most noteworthy of these is that the case-ending of the first member of the compound ceased to be regarded as a case-ending, and was used in composition with nouns which could not be joined with it uncompounded: e. g. Gr. ῥεόδοτος (beside ῥεός, gen. ῥεῶ) on the analogy of δοσ-δοτος, Mod.H.G. hilfstruppen 'auxiliary force' (beside die hilf, gen. der hilf) on the analogy of forms like hungers-not. See § 24. 32. 44. 47.

§ 18. Compounds of all classes have been used from the earliest period as personal names¹⁾, and it must be assumed that even in the parent language this was the commonest method designating of persons.

It remained in living use amongst all the Indo-Germanic peoples except the Italic²⁾. Examples are: Skr. āśca-mēdha-s (āśca 'horse'), dur-mitrā-s (duṣ- 'mis-'), upa-diṣṭa-s (upa 'hither, this way'), divō-dāsa-s (divās gen. of div- 'heaven'): Gr. Ἰπποναξος, Ἀδύκτος, Ἰπποδύκτος, Ἀγρί-λινος; Gall. Dēco-gnāta (dēco- 'god'), Su-carus Su-caria O.Bret. Hu-car Ho-car (su- 'well', Skr. sá, su-, cp. I § 573 p. 430), Ro-smerta (r-: Gr. ῥο): Goth. Austro-rablus with Latinised termination (austro- 'east'), O.H.G. Wolf-hoto (wolf- 'wolf'), O.H.G. Un-forht (un-: Gr. α-); Lith. Vaisz-nor-s, Nor-buta-s, But-vila-s (vaisza-s* or vaiszu-s* 'guest' cp. vaiszinā 'I receive as a guest, entertain', nora-s 'will', būta-s 'house')), Pruss. Buti-bibes (buta- 'house') Austi-gaudis (austa- 'mouth') Na-bute (na 'after, in accordance with'), Serv. Vuko-mir (čuk O.C.Sl. člūkū 'wolf'), Ljubo-mir (O.C.Sl. ljubū 'dear').

These compounds had in many respects a peculiar history.

Amongst the Greeks and the Germanic peoples, it was a custom to insert in a child's name one of the words which were found compounded in the name of the father or the mother:

1) See in particular A. Fick. Die griech. Personennamen nach ihrer Bildung erklärt, mit den Namensystemen verwandter Sprachen verglichen und systematisch geordnet, Göttingen 1874.

2) And perhaps the Armenians. On the subject of personal names in Armenian I have received communications from Prof. Hübschmann, and I am satisfied that in the present state of our knowledge it can neither be affirmed nor denied that this people retained any genuine Indo-Germanic compound names. In the case of geographical names, however, the old principle of nomenclature may be said to be still fully in force.

3) In Lithuanian this mode of forming family names is now obsolete.

e. g. Δίνο-χοάτης son of Δίνο-κλῆς, Εὐ-χοάτης son of Εὐφρ-χοάτης, Ἰνδορό-ριζος son of Νίξο-κλῆς; in the 8th century A. D. we have Walt-bert son of Wald-ram, Wald-bert and Wolf-bert sons of Hram-bert, Wine-gaudus son of Wine-burgis (Stark, Die Kosenamen der Germanen, p. 159)¹). This explains the fact that words of the most heterogeneous meaning were often combined to form one name, as (Gr. Ἰππό-λᾶς, Ῥόδι-πιπτος, O.H.G. Wolf-dag, Fridu-gundis.

One of the two compounded words was sometimes used alone as an abbreviation for the whole name (these are called 'Kurznamen' 'short names'), and suffixes expressing endearment were often added at the same time to this single stem. This practice of abridgement, which shows the same kind of linguistic thrift as we see e. g. in Mod.H.G. bain = eisenbahn, lager = lagerbier, soda = sodawasser, kilo = kilogramm, ein viertel neuen = ein viertel liter neuen weines, in London slang phrases such as zoo = zoological garden, pops = popular concerts, bus = omnibus, and in Gr. πᾶ, μᾶ from παῖς, *μάτηρ*², may be regarded as unquestionably belonging to the praeternic period. Skr. dēva-s dēvaka-s dēvika-s dēvija-s dēvala-s dēvila-s = dēva-datta-s dēva-kṣatra-s dēva-śravaras- etc. Gr. Ζεῦς Ζεῦλις = Ζεῦς-πιπτος Ζεῦσι-δάμης Ζεῦσι-θεος etc. Gall. Toutus Toutius Toutillus = Touto-bocio (O.Cymr. Tut-ri (cp. Gall. Toutio-rīx) etc. O.H.G. Wolfo Wolfilo (Goth. Vulfila) Wolfig = Wolf-brand Wolf-bragt Wolf-gang etc. Pruss. Bute Butil Buteko = Buti-labes etc. Serv. Vuk Vukoj Vukel Vukolin = Vuko-voj Vuko-mir etc. (vuk = O.C.Sl. vlākū 'wolf'). This shortening was also effected by dropping the first member of the compound,

1) In Greek the influence of the father's name may be observed even in names consisting of single stems, the formative suffix being taken over to the new name, e. g. Βράχ-υλλος son of Βράθ-υλλος, Μαρμεν-ίαςκος son of Φιλ-ίαςκος. See J. Baunack, Stud. auf dem Gebiete des Griech., I 1, 57.

2) The psychological side of this practice of abbreviation has been examined by Behaghel (Die Deutsche Sprache, p. 68 f.). It springs from the general tendency to leave unspoken whatever can be understood, or is at once suggested by the immediate context.

e. g. Gr. Κλῆριτος = Ἀνάκληριτος (a bishop in the first century), Vulfus = Hun-ulfus, Scirorum primas. saec. V, Jornandes c. 54.

Where this kind of abbreviation took place the feeling for the etymological structure of the compound was sometimes lost, and so the initial consonant or consonants of the second member remain in the curtailed form. Gr. Νίχο-μας = Νίχο-μίδης, Δημο-σθᾶς = Δημο-σθένης, Εὐ-χοις = Εὐ-χορηστος, Πολυ-ξῶ = Πολυ-ξέρη. O.H.G. Adul-bo = Adel-bero and Adel-boldus, Sibo = Sibold Sigi-bald, Rat-po = Rat-poto, Thiemo = Thiet-mārus, Ercam-bius = Ercam-bertus.

Remark. I do not know what view to take of the frequent strengthening of a medial consonant in abbreviated names in Greek and in Germanic; e. g. Gr. Ξενώ, Ἀγαθῶ, Δικκώ. Καίλο-ννώ, Κλειό-μμυς, Θεο-κκώ, Νίχο-ττω, Κίσο-θθίς, O.H.G. Itta = Ita-berga, Sicco = Sige-rich Sigi-bertus Sig-fridus, Aggo = Ago-bardus. Cp. Fick, Die griech. Personennamen p. LIX sq. and Bezzenberger's Beitr. III 277 f., Baunack, Studia Nicolitaina (Lips. 1884) p. 47 f., and Studien auf dem Gebiete des Griech. I 1, 60, Stark, Kosenamen p. 19 ff.

The student should compare the examples of abbreviated names in other languages collected by R. Mowat, in his essay De la déformation dans les noms propres (Mém. de la Soc. de Ling. I, 171 ff.).

§ 19. Accentuation of Compounds. In languages where the free Indo-Germanic accentuation can still be observed, the position of the accent in compounds varies considerably in many ways, and it is certain that even in the proethnic period a complicated system had been developed. Certain principles, however, can be everywhere recognised, and must probably be assumed as holding good for that period.

1. Where the meaning was not 'epithetised' (§ 50) the compounds of Class I (see above) were usually oxytone if the second member was a nomen agentis: Skr. radhra-cōdā-s 'driving on the weary' (cōdā-s 'driving on') āśva-hayā-s 'driving on the steeds' (hayā-s 'driving on'), Gr. ψῆχο-ποιμπός 'conducting souls' (ποιμπός 'conductor') παιδο-τροφός for παιδο-τροφός* (I § 676 p. 542 f.) 'nourishing children' (τροφός 'nourisher'). On the other hand, where the meaning was 'epithetised', the first member usually bore the accent, no matter of what parts of speech the word was compounded: Skr. hári(y)-aśva-s 'having golden-yellow steeds' hiraṇya-kēśa-s 'golden-haired', Avest. stehr-paēsah- 'adorned with stars' = pr. Ar. stf-μαῖśas-* (I § 260 p. 212, § 288 p. 229 f., § 674 p. 539), Gr. βαθύ-κολπος 'with deep, full bosom' κλυτό-πυλος 'having glorious steeds' χαλκό-πους 'bronze-footed' (as regards instances like εὐρύ-ρέιθρος 'with wide stream' for εἰρύ-ρειθρος*; see I § 676, 2 p. 541 and Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 43 ff.), A.S. fyðer-fēte 'four-footed' for pr. Germ. fīpur-* (I § 529 p. 384 f.) like Skr. cātuṣ-pad-. Thus we find existing side by side forms like Skr. rāja-putrá-s 'king's son' and rāja-putra-s 'having kings for sons', Gr. παν-τρόπος 'turning all' (cp. τροπός 'turner, strap by means of which the oar is turned') and πολύ-τροπος 'of many wiles' (cp. τρόπος 'a turn') with many similar examples.

Remark 1. The exceptions to these rules still need careful investigation. Thus for example, Sanskrit compounds of -pati- 'lord', though they belong to the immutata or unepithetised class, accentuate the first member, as ganā-pati-ś 'lord of a troop' pūr-pati-ś 'lord of a stronghold', and the d of Goth. -fadi- in hunda-fadi- 'leader of 100 men' points to the same accentuation, pr. Germ. hundá-fadi-* (I § 530 p. 386 f.). May not this substantive have been originally a nomen actionis meaning 'rule, lordship' (cp. § 149), so that the compounds in question would originally have been mutata (epithetised)?

2. Compounds with y-* yu-* 'un-' accented this prefix if they were the same part of speech as their final member. Skr. á-kumāra-s 'non-boy, matured youth' (kumār-á-s), á-dīrgha-s 'not long' (dīrghá-s), á-kṣita-s 'imperishable' (kṣitá-s), án-andha-s 'not blind' (andhá-s). Gr. á-dōra 'gifts that are no gifts' (dōra), á-δηλος 'not plain' (dēλος), á-yδιτος = Skr. á-kṣita-s, án-alros 'insatiable'.

Remark 2. If the phonetic law for y̐, which was laid down in I § 226, is correct, Skr. án- and Gr. án- must once have been regular even where the next part of the compound began with a consonant. In that case the unaccented a- ā- of epithetised compounds like Skr. a-/amás- 'without darkness' Gr. á-/δ(f)ής 'fearless', must have passed into more general use, thanks no doubt to the fact that before a sonant every yu-*, accented and unaccented alike, regularly became an- án- (cp. án-andha-s and an-énás- 'sinless', án-alros and án-αιδής 'shameless').

3. Compounds consisting of adverbs + participles in -to-, abstract substantives in -ti-, or similar verbal nouns (Class III), had the accent upon the adverb, just as the corresponding forms of the finite verb in a principal clause threw back their accent upon the adverbs which qualified them (cp. I § 669 p. 534). Skr. prá-tta-s 'given up' Gr. πρό-δοτος 'abandoned', Skr. prá-tti-ś Gr. πρό-δοσις; A.S. frá-coð Goth. frá-kunþs 'despised', O.H.G. frá-tal 'transgression'. In Greek the accentuation followed new rules; thus we have ἀπο-τελεύτητος instead of ἄπο-τελευτᾶτος*, ἀπό-τισις, for ἄπο-τισις*, cp. εἰρη-ρέεθρος above, 1.

4. Cumulative numerals (Dvandva) had the accent on the first number, as Skr. dvā-duśa Gr. δώ-δεκα 'twelve'.

Aryan.

§ 20. In the proethnic period of Aryan the existing types of formation underwent no important changes.

In certain forms, as Skr. áśva-magha-s, we find -ā- where we should expect -a-. These no doubt arose by analogy in proethnic Aryan, if they are due to the influence of Indo-Germanic stems in -ā-, or if they contain the form of the instr. sing. See § 22, with the Remark.

Examples of compounds which accurately represent the Indo-Germanic types are: Skr. vīra-hán- Avest. vīra-jañ- 'slaying men'. Skr. áva-hata- Avest. O.Pers. ava-jata- 'beaten off, struck down, killed': cp. Lat. au-. Skr. dūrē-śruta- proper name, Avest. dūraē-srūta- 'far-famed', containing the loc. sing. of the stem dūra-.

§ 21. In Sanskrit, nominal compounds were freely developed. In the Veda and the Brāhmaṇa compounds containing more than two members appear but rarely; but in the classical language, especially in the artificial style, stem-compounds (Class I) consisting of several members are quite common, e. g. sakala-nīti-śāstra-tattva-jñā-s 'knowing (jñā-) the essence (tattva-) of all (sakala-) manuals (śāstra-) of deportment (nīti-)'. Later poets created compounds which were absolute monstrosities; see the examples given by Justi, Über die Zusammensetzung der Nomina, p. 17.

o-stems. aśva-yúj- 'yoking horses': Gr. Ἰνπό-ζυγος. Ved. yuktá-aśva-s and yuktáśva-s 'for whom horses have been yoked'; in classical Sanskrit only the contracted form occurs. No satisfactory explanation has been given of the -ā- in Ved. úśvā-magha-s 'rich in horses' gūrtā-vasu-ṣ 'possessing agreeable things' and other similar examples.

Remark. Cp. -ā- beside -a- in Iranian (§ 25) Here we may conceivably have either 1. the feminine -ā- (cp. Gr. θανατη-φόρος; beside θανато-φόρος § 29); 2. Ar. ā = Idg. o in open syllables (I § 78 p. 69); 3. the effect of some principle of rhythm (cp. Avest. acc. ver^hprā-jan-em beside gen. ver^hpra-yn-ō nom. ver^hpra-ja-jā); or 4. the instrumental in ā taking the place of the stem. The origin of the ā need not, of course, be the same in every instance. Cp. also Skr. úśrā-rant- and the like, § 127.

a-stems. Ved. jiyā-vāja-s 'having the speed of the bow-string': Lith. gijà 'cord'. Parallel to these are forms with -a-, Ved. ukha-chīd- 'breaking the pot (ukhā-)' etc., see § 12 p. 24 f.

ī-, *ū-*stems. śacī-vasu-ṣ 'powerful', tanū-tyāj- 'abandoning life and limb'. Cp. § 12 p. 25.

i-, *u-*stems. tri-pād-, paśu-pā-s, tri(y)-aruṣa- etc. (§ 12 p. 25 f.). Cp. also dyu-kṣa- 'dwelling in the light of heaven' beside div-īt- 'going to heaven' (cp. instr. pl. dyū-bhiṣ: instr. sing. div-ī): nom. sing. dyāú-ṣ, Gr. Ζεύς.

Nasal stems. nāma-dhā-s etc., see § 12 p. 26 f. sa-kṛt Gr. ἀ-πλόος, see ibid. p. 27.

r-stems. pitṛ-śrāvāṇa-s 'bringing honour to a father', pitṛ-artham 'for a father's sake'. Cp. § 12 p. 27 f.

nt-stems. bṛhāt-kētu-ṣ 'having a lofty banner': acc. sing. bṛhānt-am. Cp. § 12 p. 28.

es-stems. rajas-tūr- 'hastening through the atmosphere'. The -ō- in rajō-mēgha-s 'cloud of dust' vacō-vīd- 'skilled in hymns' (vācas: Gr. ἔνος), like the -ō- of the instr. pl. (rájā-bhiṣ), is taken from the nom. acc. sing. in -ō (rájō), see I § 591 p. 417 f., and § 24 below.

It is not uncommon to find the types of Classes I and IV confused, a case-form taking the place of a stem. Examples are given in § 24.

§ 23. Class II. á-gata-s 'not gone, untrodden': Gr. ἄ-γατος 'untrodden'; án-ápta-s 'not reached, not reaching to, unskillful': cp. Lat. in-eptu-s. duṣ-para-s 'hard to make one's way over, hard to pass': Gr. δύσ-πατος, the same. The opposite of the latter form, sú 'well', was not restricted to use in compounds until the post-Vedic period (as in su-śrávas- 'famous'); cp. § 20.

Class III. prá-tata-s 'outspread' prá-tati-ṣ 'an outspreading': Gr. πρό-τασις 'a stretching forward, assertion'.

ánti-grha-m 'the space over against (before) the house': Gr. ἀντι-θρόνον 'the space over against (before) the door'. anu-ṣatyá-s 'conformable to truth (ánu satyám)'. pari-hastá-s 'placed round the hand (pári hástam)'. á-dēva-s 'going to the deity (dēvám á)'.

divō-já-s 'child of heaven' (gen. of div-). dāsyah-putra-s 'son of a slave-woman' (gen. of dāsī). bráhmaṇas-páti-ṣ 'lord of prayer', śubhás-páti-ṣ 'lord of adornment' (gen. of bráhmaṇ-, śubh-). yudhi-ṣṭhira-s proper name, 'firm in battle' (loc. of yúdh-). divá-kírtya- 'to be repeated by day' (instr. of div-).

This group of forms was considerably enlarged because case-forms were sometimes substituted for stems in compounds of the type of Class I; e. g. divi-kṣít- 'dwelling in heaven' (loc. of div-), apsu-kṣít- 'dwelling in the waters' (loc. pl. of ap-), agrē-gá-s 'going at the head' (loc. of agra-, agra-ga-s is also found), rājam-bhará-s 'carrying off booty' (acc. of rāja-), agnim-indhá-s 'kindling fire' (acc. of agni-). In such compounds as these there can have been no transition from a phrase to a compound word, but merely an analogical imitation of compounds already in existence; for at the time when these were formed, their final members were no longer in use as independent words.

The same holds good of all such 'epithetised' compounds of this class as had that meaning as soon as they came into existence; ep. vāyās-kāma-s 'having desire for wealth' (gen.) from kāma-s 'desire', dūrē-antas 'ended, ending in the distance' (loc.) from ānta-s 'end' (compare dūrē-śrutas, a proper name, 'far-famed'), śatām-ūti-ś 'furnishing a hundred (acc.) aids' from ūti-ś 'help' (with the simple stem: śatū-vāja-s 'furnishing hundredfold sustenance').

It often happened that the case-ending of the first member was used in new formations after it had ceased to be recognised as such, so that one part of the new compound shows a case-form which does not appear when the word is independent: thus vānas-pāti-ś 'lord of the wood' (stem vāna-, gen. vānasya-) is formed on the analogy of compounds ending in -as-pāti-ś, whose first member was the genitive of a consonantal stem, as brāhmaṇas-pāti-ś; vasun-dhara-s 'concealing treasure' instead of vasu-dhara-s* (ep. vasu-dhāra-s) from vāsu n. 'treasure', on the analogy of forms like dhuran-dhara-s 'bearing a yoke' (acc. dhur-am) kulan-dhara-s 'sustaining one's family' (acc. kula-m).

A further consequence of the dull appreciation of these case-forms was their use in new formations without their proper meaning, i. e. as though they were simple stems. Thus e. g. apsu-, loc. pl. of ap- 'water' (apsu-kṣīt-, see above), was used in place of ap- in apsu-yogá-s 'the binding effect of water' (Ath.-Vēda X 5, 5 beside sōma-yogá-s 'the binding effect of soma'), ep. the adjective apsavya-s 'situated in the water', which was formed from ap-sú as madhavya-s from mádhu ('sweet draught').

In imitation of old pronominal compounds like tad-vaśá-s, containing the neuter element -d (§ 16), neuter pronominal forms in -m were made to serve as the initial members of compounds, as idá-rūpa-s 'having this form' beside masc. ayám 'this', kin-kāraṇa-s 'having what cause?' beside masc. ká-s 'who?' (cp. the parallel Vedic form kád-artha-s 'having what purpose?' kad- = Lat. quod).

From the protoethnic Aryan period onwards combinations of two dual forms were common; e. g. mitrā várūṇā, 'Mitra and Varuṇa', properly 'Mitra and the other (sc. Varuṇa) and Varuṇa and the other (sc. Mitra)'. Each dual form was inflected independently. Side by side with them, however, we find mitrá-várūṇābhyām mitrā-várūṇayōṣ, which should be compared with such forms as drā-daśabhiṣ trayō-daśabhiṣ. In these the process of composition is complete, and the same may be said of the new compounds formed on the model of those whose first member is a dual form ending in -ā, as agnāviṣṇū 'Agni and Vishnu' (Ath.-Vēda) instead of agnī-viṣṇū (cp. agnī-śōmā in the Rig-Veda); which is shewn also by the substitution of -a- for -ā, as the termination of the first member, on the analogy of Class I: as parjanya-vātā beside parjanya-vāta 'rain-cloud and wind'. Cp. also the derivatives in -vant-, mitrā-várūṇa-vant- 'accompanied by Mitra and Varuṇa'.

The compounds pitā-putrāu 'father and son' mātā-pitara 'mother and father' hōtā-pōtārau 'summoner and purifier' must have been preceded by older phrases such as pitā putrah, mātā pitā, hōtā pōtā, which did not receive the dual inflexion until the process of composition was complete. Cp. O.C.Sl. bratū-sestra § 47.

When anyō-'nyam and paras-param 'alter alterum' had become compounds, the inflexion of the initial member was dropped and the form of the nom. sing. masc. was applied to all the cases; hence e. g. anyōnyām 'altera alteram' instead of anyā anyām*, tayōh . . . kāmō 'bhūt . . . anyōnyam prati (Xala 1, 17) 'eorum (in eis) amor enatus est alterius in alterum' instead of anyasya anyam prati*. Cp. Gr. ἀλλήλων § 32, Mid.H.G. ein-ander § 44 and Lith. kūts kūta § 46.

Class I. Stems in -o-. Avest. ver^hpra-ja- 'victorious': Skr. vr̥tra-hān-. Avest. yuxta-aspā- and yuxtāspa- 'for whom steeds have been yoked': Skr. yuktā-aśva yuktāśva-. Avest. srīraoxšan- (proper name) = srīra + uxšan-. O.Pers. xšaša- pāvan- 'guardian of the land, satrap': Avest. xšaṣra- Skr. kṣatrá- 'lordship, kingdom'. O.Pers. xšayāršan- (proper name) = xšaya- + aršan-. Sometimes -ā- is found in place of -a-, as Avest. ašā-dā 'giving what is pure', acc. ver^ēṣrā-janem beside nom. ver^ēṣra-ja-, O.Pers. ariyā-rāmna- (proper name), perhaps also upā-maršiyu- 'dying by suicide' (cp. Avest. xwā-daēna- 'having one's own faith'); on this point see § 22 Rem. In Avestic -ō- is often found instead of -a-, the form of the nominative being used instead of the stem (cp. the Author, Curt. Stud. IX 269, Bartholomae, Die Gāpā's 81); e. g. daēvō-dāta- 'made by the demons' (beside daēva-yāza- 'demon-worshipper'), even where the o-stem was neuter, as xšaṣrō-dah- 'bestowing lordship' (nom. xšaṣre-m). This -ō- spread still further; see below.

Stems in -ā-. Avest. daēnā-vazah- (proper name), from daēna 'faith'. At the same time we have forms with -a-, Avest. gaḍā-vara- 'wielding the club' (gaḍā-) etc. (see § 12 p. 24 f.) and with -ō- instead of -a-, compounds like daēnō-disa- 'teacher of the law'.

Stems in -i- and u. Avest. aži-ciṣra- 'sprung from the serpent', ṣri-ayara- 'space of three days'. Avest. pouru-nar- 'rich in men', urv-āpa 'with broad stream', per^ēṣu-ainika- 'with wide front', O.Pers. parūv-zana- (read paruzana-) 'rich in people'. Here too we sometimes find in Avestic the form of the nominative in place of the simple stem: e. g. nasuṣ-pacya- 'burning of corpses' or 'arising in the burning of corpses', bazuṣ-aojah- 'strong-armed', varəhuṣ-data- 'well made'.

Nasal stems. Avest. ašava-frazanti- 'pious offspring' from ašavan-. Forms with -ō- instead of -a- on the analogy of the o-stems: Avest. bar^ēsmō-zasta- 'holding twigs for offering in the hand' from bar^ēsman-. Avest. zem-fraṣah- 'encompassing the earth' from zam-.

Stems in -r-: Avest. stehr-paṣah- 'adorned with stars'. ner^ē-bar^ēzah- 'man's height': Skr. ny-bāhū-ṣ 'man's arm'. Compounds in which the strong form of the stem is inserted: nar^ē-gar- 'devouring men', atar^ē-carana- 'belonging to fire', with others like them; cp. dat. abl. pl. star^ē-byō beside ner^ē-byō. The form of the nom. sing. has replaced the simple stem in atarš-ciṣra- beside atarš- ciṣra- 'sprung from fire, combustible'.

Stems in -nt-. Avest. raçvas-ciṣra- 'of splendid family' (-sc- for -tc-, see I § 473 p. 349) from raçvant-. O.Pers. dāraya-vau- (proper name) 'possessing property' (gen. dāraya-vahanš) for dārayad-vahu-*: cp. Skr. dhārayat-kṣītiṣ 'sustaining the races of mankind'; cp. Hübschmann, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 603 f.

Avest. ōiš-pati- 'lord of a village': Skr. viś-pāti-ṣ. zarz-dāh- 'giving the heart' with -zd- for -d + d- (cp. I § 476 p. 351), from zarzd-: Skr. hṛd-.

As examples of the nominative used in place of the simple stem we may notice here Avest. vārš-aṣša- 'the desire of the hymn' (stem vāc-), afš-ciṣra- 'sprung from water' awčz-dāta 'resting in water' (stem ap-), kerfš-xwar- 'eating flesh' (stem kehrp-).

Stems in s-. Avest. vacas-tašti- 'preparation of words, text', temas-ciṣra- 'sprung from darkness', uogaz-dastema- 'most helpful'. Compounds with -ō-, which was taken from the nom. sing., are ayō-zaya- 'with iron weapon' ayō-ver'ṣra- 'with offensive weapon of iron' ayō-aṣra- 'iron arrow' (Skr. ayō'gra- 'pestle') from ayah-: Skr. āyas-. O.Pers. vahyaz-dāta- (proper name), like Avest. vaiñhaz-dāh- 'giver of the best', beside the comparative Avest. vaiñhah- 'better': Skr. vásyas-.

Remark. The student should compare the Avestic use of the nominative form instead of the stem in derivatives made by formative suffixes and even in the simple cases: srivō-tara- 'more beautiful' (sriva-), spentō-tema- 'most holy' (spenta-), like daxrō-dāta; huđānuš-tema- 'wisest' (hu-đānu-) like nasuš-pacya-; dat. abl. rāz-bjō from rāc- like vārš-aṣša-. Cp. § 13 p. 29.

§ 26. Class II. Avest. a-γru- 'not pregnant, virgin': Skr. á-gru-; O.Pers. a-kšata- 'uninjured': Skr. á-kṣata-; Avest. an-ašaran- 'impious': cp. Skr. án-ṛta-. Avest. duš-manah- 'thinking ill' Skr. dur-manas- Gr. δυσ-μενής. The Idg. su* 'well' (Avest. hu-ber'ta- O.Pers. u-barta- 'well born, well cherished': Skr. sú-bhṛta-), the opposite of Idg. dus-*, appears in Avestic, just as in the Veda, as an independent word (hu).

Class III. Avest. upa-yata- 'subactus, married': Skr. úpa-yata-. O.Pers. fra-tarta- 'drawn away': cp. Skr. prá-tīrṇa-.

Avest. paiti-biši- 'directed against the enemy, conquering the enemy'. antar-daéyu- adj. 'within the country'. pairi-daéyu- 'lying around the country'. upāpa- 'adj. in the water'.

§ 27. Class IV. The use in Avestic of the form of the nom. sing. instead of the simple stem, as in daəvō-dāta, has been spoken of in § 25 p. 42.

The Avestic adjectives aərōmainyava- and spəntōmainyava- were no doubt formed from the phrases aərō mainyuš 'the evil spirit' and spəntō mainyuš 'the holy spirit': cp. Skr. pitāmahi § 24, (Gr. Νεῖαπολίτης; § 32. O.Pers. aura-mazdā (with acc. aura-mazdām) 'Ormuzd' should be regarded merely as a concretion of two nominative forms, not a compound of two stems (aura- 'lord', mazdah- 'wise one'): Avest. ahurō mazdā.

Avest. drujīm-vanant- 'overcoming the fiend' (acc. of druj- f.). vīren-jan- with the acc. sing. beside vīra-jan-, see § 20. ahūm-mer'nc- 'life-destroying' with the acc. sing., beside ahu-mer'c-. vīspa-hīsant- 'able to do everything' (acc. pl. neut. of vīspa-). dūraē-frađāta- 'made in the distance' (loc. of dūra-). raḫae-štar- 'standing in the chariot (loc. of raḫa-), warrior': cp. Skr. saṃyē-ṣṭhar- 'standing on the left', -sthar- for st-tar-*, see I § 316 p. 255. Epithetised compounds: dar'yem-jīti- 'having one's life long (acc. sing. neut. of dar'yā- used adverbially), long-lived'; z'mas-ciḫra- 'having an earthly origin' (z'mas- gen. of zam-); aḫraē-raḫa- (proper name) 'whose chariot is at the head' (loc. of aḫra-).

Avest. aəvan-dasa- 'undecimus' from aəvan-dasa-* 'undecim': the first half of the word is no doubt aəvem, the form of the neuter and of the masculine alike.

Combinations of two dual forms occur in Avestic as in Sanskrit (§ 24 p. 41), e. g. ahura miḫra and miḫra ahura 'Ormuzd and Mithra', āpa urvairē 'water and plants' (ap- 'water', urvair- 'plant'), pasu xīra 'cow and man'. But the fusion of these elements is not by any means so close as it is in Sanskrit, since the first member always retains its own inflexion, e. g. dat. ahuraēibya mīpraēibya. Cp. Bartholomae, Bezzenberger's Beitr. X 267 ff., XIII 57 f.

Armenian.

§ 28. Class I. Here the Indo-Germanic differences in the termination of the stem of the first word were largely obliterated. Where the second member begins in a consonant we find an -a-, the so-called 'vowel of composition', whose origin is as yet unexplained.

Compounds in which the second member begins in a sonant: dr-and 'door-post, threshold' from dur-*, pl. durē. hair-anun 'having one's father's name' from hair, gen. haur. skesr-air 'mother-in-law's husband, father-in-law' from skesur, gen. skesri. hing-ameay adj. 'of five years', from hing.

Compounds in which the second member begins in a consonant: dr-a-kiç 'door-companion, neighbour'. lsn-a-goin 'whitish' from lsun, pl. lusun-ē, 'λευκώματα' and goin 'colour'. lus-a-vor 'clear' from lois, gen. lusoy, 'light', -vor being a suffix which corresponds to the Gr. -φόρος 'bringing'; a later compound is lus-a-ber 'light-bringing, enlightener' (cp. I § 485 p. 358 for an account of Idg. bh). ms-a-ker 'eating flesh' from mis, gen. msoy, 'flesh'. mī-a-cin 'unigenitus', from mī, gen. mīaĵ, 'one'. Combined with the termination of stems in -iō-, -a- became -e-, e. g. age-vor 'wearing a tail' from agi. This -a- was even introduced into compounds whose first member was the case of a noun; see below. Class IV.

Remark 1. This vowel of composition, -a-, no doubt formed the original ending of some one form or set of forms when used as the first member of a compound, and then became general. Phonetic laws, however, forbid our assuming that this represents the Idg. suffix -o-. I conjecture that it first occurred in words borrowed from the Iranian (e. g. bar-a-pan 'doorkeeper' = O.Iran. dāra-pāna-* or dāra-pāna-*), and thence spread further by analogy. Compare the -o- borrowed from the Greek in Latin compounds like albo-galērus, § 34.

Remark 2. It is not clear whether such compounds as stin-di 'sucking the breast, suckling' (stin, gen. steun, 'woman's breast') aku-kal 'in one's eye, visible' belong to Class I, but have never had the composition-vowel -a-, or whether they contain case-forms (Class IV).

Class II. an-ban 'carens ratione et verbo': ep. Gr. ἄ-φανος; an-kin 'without a wife, widower': ep. Gr. ἄ-γυνος; an-anun ἄν-όρρυνος; an-arg 'unhonoured'. t-gēt 'not knowing' (beside an-gēt): Skr. dur-vēda- 'unlearned'; t-zōr 'not mighty, weak' (beside an-zōr). Its opposite, h- = Skr. sú 'well', is found only in composition; e. g. h-zōr 'excellent in strength, mighty'.

Class III. Excluding ni-st, which has become a simple word (§ 15 p. 30), I know of no compounds containing prepositional words that are certainly proethnic. I strongly suspect that ham- 'with, together' (e. g. han-dart 'quiet, soft': ep. Skr. sa-dhyta-; han-dēs 'proof': ep. Skr. sa-dēśa- 'information') was borrowed from Iranian (Avest. ham-).

Class IV. haur-elbair 'father's brother', haur gen. sing. of hair. diuç-azn 'divine race, he who is of divine race, demi-god, hero', diuç gen. pl. of dev, which was borrowed from Iranian. The vowel of composition, -a- (see above, Class I), is inserted e. g. in arñ-a-kin 'husband's wife', arñ gen. sing. of air; mešs-a-sēr 'loving sins', mešs acc. pl. of meš.

air-ev-ji 'man and horse, knight' sometimes inflected both of its parts, e. g. gen. arñ-ev-jiōy, sometimes only the final noun, gen. air-ev-jiōy; ep. Mod.H.G. der wert deines grund und bodens, 'the value of your estate'.

Greek.

§ 29. Class I.

Stems in -o-, where the second member began in a consonant, had -o-: ἄγο-νόμος 'dwelling in the country' (ἀγρό-ς). It must be left an open question whether the -ε- in such compounds as Ἀγέλαος (from ἀγός- 'guide') ἀρχέ-πολις (from ἀρχός- 'governor') was derived from Indo-Germanic stem-forms in -e-, or whether it was substituted by the Greeks for an older -o- in consequence of the association of the first member with a verbal stem (for which see § 30).

Where the second member began in a sonant, elision was the rule (I § 600. 603 p. 457): ἰππ-αγωγός 'transporting horses' (ἵππο-ς). This elision dates from the proethnic period of Greek, and the type then established gave rise later to such forms as καλὴ βῆ 'ill condition' (ἔχω for σεχω*, I § 564 p. 421) γυλ-εργός 'doing work' (εργῶ for εργῶν*, I § 164 p. 145), by the side of which we also find phonetically regular forms like ῥαβδουλῶν 'holding a staff' (for ῥαβδον-(α)οῶν*) κακο-εργός κακοῦργός 'doing evil'. Forms like αράχνο-ῥαίς 'woven by spiders' (Philo) are obviously new formations of a later date; cp. Lat. multi-angulus § 10. 11. galinga-apaústaílus § 40.

The stem-final -ο-, as we shall soon see, was extended from ο- stems to others of the most widely different classes; monosyllabic stems were least affected by the tendency (e. g. χερῶν, πυλῶν; see below).

-α- (Ion. Att. -η-) often appears instead of -ο-; e. g. θάνατο-γενής beside θάνατο γόρος 'death-bringing' (θάνατο-ς), ῥαβδουλῶν 'rain-born' (ῥαβδου-ς).

Remark. This -α- appears side by side with -ο- even where the latter was due to form-association, as ἀντιδ-η. φάρος beside ἀντιδ-ό-δουπος stem ἀντιδ-; see below.

As regards the origin of this -α-: the wide extent of its usage is certainly due to the action of analogy, and it is conceivable that its origin is to be found 1. in forms like νεκ-γενής (νεκ-γενής); ὀλιγ-πελῶν, which contained adverbs like Dor. ἀμᾶ ἀμῶ, κενῶν (Westphal, Meth. Gramm. II 8 f., Mahlow, Die lang. Voc. A F O 131 f.); 2. in a number of instances where ā- and ο- stems existed side by side; 3. in such compounds as εὐκλ-φόρος βουλῆ-φόρος, εὐδουλ-γενής, μοιρῆ-γενής, the terminations -ηφόρος -ηγενής being regarded as indivisible and thus coming into general use; just as in Attic, compounds like ῥαβδουλῶν (ῥαβδου-) and compounds like κακοῦργος (κακί-), being virtually analysed ῥαβδου-λῶν; κακ-οῦργος, gave rise to new formations, πολι-οῦργος; παν-οῦργος; and the like; and just as feminines from n- stems, such as τίκτω i. e. τεκταν-ει* (from τίκτω), suggested new formations like λύκ-ωσα (from λύκο-) (§ 110). I feel certain that a great part at least of the instances where -α- is found in place of -ο- are to be explained in this last way. Cp. also -η-ει; (-α-φει-) in § 127.

Stems in -α-: followed by those whose nom. sing. ends in -ιά (§ 109). νικη-γόρος 'bringing victory' (νίκη). ἰδριᾶ-φόρος 'bearing a water-vessel' (ἰδρία). Ion. μοιρῆ-γενής 'born to good fortune' (μοῖρα for μοιρά*). By the side of -α- there are a few instances of -α-; as Ἰλιά-θροος, τίμι-υρός for τίμα-ορος* 'guarding a man's honour, protecting, helping' (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 263, XXVIII 132); the historical relation of -α- to -ᾱ- is obscure. -ο- frequently appears instead of -α-: Νιζό-μαχο-ς: νίκη; πολίτο-φθόρος 'destroying the citizens': πολίτη-ς; Dor. ἑστιο-πάμων 'house-owner': ἑστιά; ἄελλό-πος 'storm-footed': ἄελλα. The influence of *ο-*stems is seen also in the loss of the final vowel of the stem when the second member begins in a sonant, e. g. Νίξ-ιππος. Cp. § 12 p. 24 f.

Stems in -ῑ- and -ᾱ-. An original type of formation may be preserved in such compounds as σύ-αγχος 'choking swine' (σῦ-ς). Cp. § 12 p. 25. Where the second member begins in a consonant we find the vowel short, thanks to the analogy of the preceding group: e. g. σν-γορβός 'swineherd'; in the same way we have loc. pl. σν-σί for σῆ-σι* following σν-ός σν-ῖων etc., see § 160, 4. Some forms insert -ο-: ῑ-ο-μουσία 'swine's music' σν-ο κτόνος 'killing swine', ἰχθυ-ο-μάγος 'eating fish' beside ἰχθυ-βόλος 'striking fish': ἰχθυ-ς.

Stems in -ῑ- and -ᾱ-. μαντι-πόλος 'busied with prophecy': μάντι-ς. βοιτι-άνειρα f. 'nourishing men': βῶτι-ς* 'act of nourishing'. ἄστυ-γίτων 'living near the city': ἄστυ. πολυ-ανθής 'with many blossoms': πολί-ς. Cp. § 12 p. 25. With -ο-: γν-σι-ο-λόγος 'investigator of nature': γίσι-ς.

ναυ-πηγός 'shipbuilder' for nāu-* (I § 611 p. 461): cp. Skr. nāu-carā-s 'going by ship'. From such forms ναυ- came to be used even where the following member began in a sonant, e. g. ναύ-αρχος 'ship's commander', instead of νᾱ(f)- (cp. Lat. nāv-igō § 11), which is contained in Νεαρχος if this is for Νεᾱρχος, from Nη-αρχος* (cp. I § 611 ad fin.). Examples of inserted -ῡ-: νη-ο-σώος 'preserving ships', which may be compared with βο-ό-κληψ 'cattle-thief' (βο-η-νόμος 'pasturing cattle') beside βου-νόμος; hence the correspondence of νηο-βουο- with the Skr. forms nāvu- gavu-, which appear as the initial members of compounds, is an accident.

Stems in -ᾱ-. With α = Ing. ἡ: ὀνομά-κλυτος 'with famous name'. We should no doubt compare κυνάμια 'dog-fly'; the regular form would be κτα-μνια*; the -ν- came from forms like κνν-ός κνν-ηγός; κτα-* = Skr. śvata- (instr. pl. śvā-bhiḥ) Idg. kuuṇ-*. It is questionable whether such compounds as κνν-ῶπις 'dog-eyed' are the immediate representatives of any original type of formation.

With -ο- instead of the n-suffix: e. g. κίό-κράνω-ν 'capital of a column'. See § 12 p. 27.

Compounds in which we have a strong form of the n-stem are a new formation in Greek. If their second part began in a consonant, -ο- or -ᾱ- was inserted. φρεν-ο-μανής 'mad'. κίον-ό-κράνον beside κίό-κράνον (see above). ῥην-ο-φορεύς 'bearing a sheepskin'. ἄγων-ο-θέτης 'director of a contest'. λιμεν-ή-οχος 'closing in the harbour' (cp. πολι-ᾶ-οχος) beside λιμεν-ο-σκόπος 'watching the harbour'. ἄκτιν-η-βολία 'the shooting of rays' beside ἄκτιν-ο-βολία. Probably the only example without -ο- (-ᾱ-) is φρέμ-πᾶρος 'with impaired understanding' Hesych. (the correct spelling is due to Lobeck), which appears beside φρεν-ο-μανής and the like as μελαγ-χροιής μελάγ-χρους beside μελαν-ό-χρους 'with dark skin' (μελάς gen. μέλαν-ος, compar. μελάν-τερος), cp. also χέρ-ηψ beside χερ-ό-νιπρον p. 50. Where the second member begins in a sonant: φρεν-ώλης 'distracted in mind'; τεκτόν-αρχος 'presiding over the artificers'; ἄγων-άρχης 'director of the contest'.

ᾱ-παξ 'once': Skr. sa-kṣt 'once', Idg. seṃ-*. χθον-ο-τροφής 'nourished by the earth', beside Skr. kṣam-, a new formation like κίον-ό-κράνον; as to ν instead of μ see I § 204 p. 172 and below, § 160, 2.

Stems in -r-. Whilst the Indo-Germanic type was faithfully followed where the second member began in a sonant, e. g. πατρ-ωνίμιος ἀνδρ-άγρια (§ 12 p. 28), where this began in a consonant it was the rule to insert -ο-, as πατρ-ο-φόνος 'patricide'. This was preceded by a form πατρα-φονος*, cp. loc. pl. πατρά-σι and Skr. pitr-śrātama-s. Thus we still find τετρά-γνος = Idg. qetuy-*, where a was preserved by the parallel compounds with ἔπτα- etc.¹⁾ The strong form of the stem is often found instead of the weak, as ἄστερ-ο-ειδής 'star-like' from ἄστήρ ἄστέρος; this is regular in nomina agentis such as λαμπτήρ-ο-φόρος 'bearing lights' (λαμπτήρ) ῥήτορ-ο-διδάσκαλος 'teacher of rhetoricians' (ῥήτωρ); the original type is shown by Skr. hōtṛ-ṣádāna-m 'seat of the offerer' (hōtār-); see § 120. Monosyllabic ρ-stems sometimes have and sometimes have not -ο- or -ᾱ-: χέρ-νιψ 'water for washing the hands' and χειρ-ό-νιπτρον χειρ-ό-νιπτρον 'wash-hand basin' (for the etymology of χείρ cp. § 132), πυρ-καίή 'burning-place' and πυρ-ο-ειδής 'fire-like' πυρ-η-τικός 'producing fire'.

1) I no longer compare the first part of the pl. ἑνδρι-τέλα with Skr. ṣṭ- (G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 23), but I regard the word as a new formation.

Stems in -nt- show here as in their declension (§ 125. 126) their strong instead of their weak form. δρακοντ-ό-μαλλος 'with snaky locks', the weak form of the stem being δρακατ-*. ὀδοντ-ο-φνής 'sprung from teeth'. γίγαντ-ο-φόνος 'killing giants'. παντ-ο-μῖσής 'all-hateful'. Before sonants: πάντ-αρχος 'all-governing'.

Stems ending in other explosives. πυγ-μάχος 'pugilist'. ποδ-ώκης 'swift-foot, swift-footed'. These usually have -ο- or -ᾱ-: φλογ-ο-ειδής 'flame-like'; νιφ-ό-βολος 'pelted with snow'; ἀσπιδ-ό-δουπος 'clattering with shields' ἀσπιδ-η-φόρος 'shield-bearing'.

Stems in -s-. μῦσ-φόνος 'killing mice': Lat. mūs-cipula.

es-stems have -εσ- in poetic diction, as ἔπες-βόλος 'hurling words, speaking boldly', ἐγχεσ-φόρος 'spear-bearing'. At the same time we find -ο- instead of -εσ-, sometimes even in Homer, and regularly in prose: ἑρο-κόμος 'spinning wool', ἐπο-ποιός 'epic poet', ἄληθό-μαντις 'prophet of truth'; similarly ψευδ-ἄγγελος 'messenger of falsehood', where the second part begins in a sonant. -ο- for -εσ- no doubt arose from the similarity of the nominative forms, ἔπος: ἵππο-ς. Examples with -ᾱ- instead of -ο-: ξίφη-φόρος 'sword-bearing' (beside ξίφο-φόρος), θύη-πόλος 'busied with sacrifice'.

mation modelled upon τετράποδα (Iw. Müller's Handbuch II 70 Rem. 1). Of course it is conceivable that this form arose at a time when πατρα-φονος* was still spoken and that afterwards the -α- in ἀνδρα-ποδ- remained because it was supported by the -α- of τετρα-ποδ-. Cp. also Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 298.

Stems in -ασ- were treated in much the same way. σελασ-φόρος 'light-bringing', κερασ-φόρος 'horn-bearing' (cp. Skr. jyōtiṣ-pakṣa-s 'winged with light', § 134, 2). At the same time we find forms with -ο- -α-, as κερο-φόρος, κρεο-δόχος and κρη-δόκος 'holding or containing flesh'. There is no example amongst -es-stems analogous to Hom. κερα-ο-ξός 'worker in horn' (with regard to the apparently similar Hom. ἐλεό-θρεπτος beside τό ελος see p. 34 ff. of R. Schroeter's treatise cited on p. 22).

§ 30. From the phrase καλὸς καγαθός was formed the abstract substantive καλοκαγαθία 'character of a καλὸς καγαθός'. Cp. O.C.Sl. osmo-na-desetŭ § 47 and the use of the bare stem in Mod.H.G. phrases like freund- und verwandtschaft, gold- und silberschmid.

In Greek, as in Germanic and Slavonic (§ 41. 47), a large number of compounds came to be regarded in a new way. Their first member now appeared to the popular consciousness to have a verbal instead of a nominal force. This gave rise to many new formations in which real verbal stems were employed as the initial members of compound words.

Thus τανύ-γλωσσος, whose meaning originally was 'with outstretched (adj. τανύ-ς* = Skr. tanú-ṣ) tongue', was explained to mean 'stretching out the tongue' (and compared with τάνυ-ται), φιλό-ξενος 'to whom a stranger or guest is dear (φίλος)' was explained as 'loving one's guest' (and compared with φιλέω), φυγο-πόλεμος 'unfriendly (φυγο-ς*: cp. Lat. lūci-fugu-s) to war' as 'fleeing from war' (and compared with ἐφυγον), and so forth. Hence arose new formations like μισό-ξενος (first modelled upon the form φιλό-ξενος, cp. μισέω: φιλέω) 'hating a stranger', φαινο-μηρίς 'showing the hips' (φαίνω), ἐθιλό-πονος 'willing to work' (ἔθελω). As to the -ε- of Ἀγέ-λαος, ἄρχε-καλος etc. see § 12 p. 24, § 29 p. 46. If this is not the e-form of the suffix, and so derived from the pre-Greek period, we must assume that it was borrowed from forms like ἄγε-ι ἄγε-τε when the first part of such compounds came to be regarded as a verbal stem.

New formations of all kinds were introduced by compounds like τερψί-μβροτος τανυσί-πτερος ἀρκεσί-γυιος, the initial members of which were abstract nouns formed with the suffix -ti- (§ 100) τέρψ-ις 'delight' τάνυσι-ς 'outspreading' ἄρκεσι-ς 'help, strengthening', because these were associated with the aorists in -σ- (ἔτερψα ἐτάνυσα ἤρκεσα), and were consequently regarded as having a verbal force, 'delighting men' 'spreading the wings' 'strengthening the limbs'. The new verbal signification was all the more easily established in these forms because of compounds like φυγο-πτόλεμος, whose first member had been identified as an aorist-stem at an earlier stage of Greek. Thus in the first place, where the abstract noun and the σ-aorist showed different grades of ablaut in the root-vowel, that of the latter was introduced: by the side of στασί-αρχος (στάσις) arose Στησί-χορος 'bringing on the chorus' (on the model of ἔστησα); φθισί-μβροτος 'destroying men' (on the model of ἔφθισα) as contrasted with φθίσις. Next, the connexion of these aoristic compounds in the mind of the speaker with such others as λειπο-ψῦχέω φυγο-πτόλεμος ἀρχέ-κακος φυγ-αίχμης led to an imitation of the ending seen in the initial members of these latter forms. Hence compounds like λειψό-θριξ 'having lost one's hair' περσέ-πολις 'destroying cities' Στησ-αγόρης (contrast στασί-αρχος from στάσι-ς). But on the other hand the -ι- of compounds in -σι- crept into compounds whose initial member was the stem of a present or a strong aorist. Hence such forms as ἀλέξι-κακος 'keeping off harm' (ἀλέξω) λαθι-κηδής 'forgetting care' (ἔλαθον, cp. λησί-μβροτος). This process of mutual assimilation may have been aided by the double type of the σ-aorist, ἔδειξα and ἔξον existing side by side. Many other new formations were caused by the association of these -σι- compounds with those of Class IV whose initial member was a loc. pl. in -σι, as ὄρεσί-τροφος 'reared on the mountains'; see Osthoff, Verb. i. d. Nominalc. 193 ff. Lastly, we must notice certain other new formations: Πρωτεσί-λαος (beside Πρωτό-λαος, from πρῶτος 'first') formed on the model of Ἀγεσί-λαος Ἀρκεσί-λαος and the like, and Ερμησί-λεω;

Ἐπιτησι-ἀναξ Ἐπιτήσ-ανδρος (from Ἐπιτής) modelled on such forms as Ἀγῆσι-λαός Ἡγῆσι-ἀναξ Ἀγῆσ-ανδρός.

§ 31. Class II. ἄγνωτος 'unknown': Skr. á-jñātas Lat. īgnōtus for in-gnōtus* (I § 506 p. 370); ἄρδρος 'waterless': Skr. an-udrā-s. On the analogy of forms like ἄπρος 'sleepless' ἄαιρος 'wineless', in which the hiatus was due to the loss of some consonant (the older forms were ἀσιπρος*, ἀσαιρος*, though the latter can hardly have been developed regularly from a pre-Greek form μ-μοῖνο-*, see I § 225 p. 193), there were formed several other compounds like ἄοδμος ἄοζος (with ὀδ- cp. Lat. od-or; ὀζος = Goth. asts) by the side of the forms ἄρ-οδμος ἄρ-οζος which are also found. δύσχερος 'hard to bear'; cp. Skr. dur-bhara-s 'hard to bear, to nourish'.

Class III. ἐπόθετος 'placed under' ἐπόθεσις 'groundwork, foundation': Skr. upa-hitā-s 'placed under, situated' Lat. sub-ditus sub-ditiō (sub- for x-ub-*? see I § 568, 2 p. 424, II § 2 p. 3).

πρὸς-έσπερος 'towards evening': Skr. prati-dṛṣā- 'towards evening'. παρά-βατος 'situated near one's staff', παρά-νομος 'contrary to law'. ἀνά-λογος 'corresponding to λόγος'. ἐγ-κέφαλος 'being in the head, brain'. These compounds generally end in the suffix -ος, as ἐπ-ασπίδ-ος παρά-θαλάσσι-ος ἐν-αγών-ος; see § 63.

οἷ-τις 'no one' beside μή-τις, no doubt took the place of an Idg. form ne-qi-s* at the time when ne* was driven out of use by οἷ, a form whose origin is still obscure (cp. § 15 p. 31). Later arose οἷδ-εις 'no one' and the like.

§ 32. Class IV. By the side of δώδεκα (§ 16) arose ἐν-δεκα 'eleven' (ἐν- nom. acc. neut.), τρεῖς-καί-δεκα 'thirteen', τετταρες-καί-δεκα 'fourteen' (nom. pl. masc. fem.); another word for 'thirteen' is the Att. τρίσ-καί-δεκα (acc. pl.), note also the form τρεῖςκαίδεκατος 'thirteenth', and others of the same sort.

From Νεῖα πόλις (Newtown) were formed gen. Νεῖας πόλεως and Νεᾶπόλεως, and further Νεᾶπολίτης. Similarly τρίτη μέρη 'making the third part' was probably based on τρίτη μέρη.

Διός-ποτρες 'sons of Zeus', hence Διοσχοῖραιον, Διός-δοτος 'given of Zeus', properly 'one given belonging to Zeus' (gen.

of Ζεύς). νεώσ-οικοι 'ship's houses, arsenal' (gen. of ναῦς). νόσ-κύαμος 'pigs' bean' (gen. of ῥς). Πελοπόννησος for Πέλοπος νῆσος 'island of Pelops' (cp. I § 565 p. 422 f.). διτ-φίλος or διτ φίλος 'dear to Zeus' (loc. of Ζεύς). δοῦρι-κτητος 'won in battle' (loc. of δόρυ). ἐαρί-θρεπτος 'plucked in spring' (loc. of ἔαρ). Ἀλκιμέδων 'ruling in might' (loc. ἀλκ-ί). κηρεσι-φόρητος 'driven or impelled by the Kêres' (loc. pl. of κήρ). πᾶσι-μέλων 'of interest for all' (loc. pl. of πᾶς). Ἴφι-μέδουσα (proper name) 'ruling with might' (instr. of ῖ-ς Lat. vī-s). παν-ῆμαρ 'the whole day' (acc. neut. of πᾶς). νουν-εχόντως 'in an intelligent way' (acc. of νοῦς).

This group of forms was considerably enlarged by the employment of case-forms instead of the first stem of the original stem-compounds (Class I). Among mixed formations of this kind are compounds whose final member has survived only in forms belonging to Class I, and no longer exists as an independent word, as πυλαι-γενής 'born in Pylos' (loc. of Πύλος), δοῦρι-μαχος 'fighting with the spear' (loc. of δόρυ), Ἴφι-κράτης proper name (cp. Ἴφι-μέδουσα above), νουν-εχής 'having intelligence, intelligent' (cp. νουν-εχόντως above), δικασ-πόλος 'administrator of justice' (acc. pl. of δίκη, cp. I § 204 p. 171).

As these words were formed not by any real process of composition but on the analogy of already existing compounds, so also were those which never had any but an 'epithetised' meaning; e. g. ἀερί-οικος 'having one's dwelling in the air' (ἀέρι-ι).

When the termination of the first member was a case-ending whose true character was no longer clearly perceived, it often happened that it was applied to stems with which it properly had nothing to do, as θεός-δοτος 'god-given' (also θεό-δοτος, from θεό-ς) on the analogy of διός-δοτος; Λυκόσουρα a town in Arcadia ('Wolf's-tail', from λύκο-ς) on the analogy of forms like Κυνός-ουρα ('dog's tail'); ποσειτρόφος 'nourishing grass' and ποισίχροος 'grass-coloured' (from πόα ποίη 'grass, herb') on the analogy of forms like ὄρεσι-τροφος and ἀνθεσι-χρως (with loc. pl. of τό ὄρος 'mountain' and τό ἄνθος 'blossom').

A further consequence of the obscuration of the case-ending of the initial member, was the use of this ending in new formations as though it were only the ending of a simple stem, and therefore with no trace of the function properly belonging to the case: e. g. ἀταλά-φρων 'with untroubled mind' (cp. ἀταλά-φρονέων, ἀταλά φρονέων, acc. pl. neut. of ἀταλάς), ἀρετ-θύσανος 'fimbria Martialis' (cp. ἀρετ-γατός 'slain in war', loc. of Ἄρεθς), πυρ-ήκης 'with fiery point' πυρ-ίπνοος 'breathing fire' πυρ-ίπαις 'fire-child' (cp. πυρ-ίκατος 'burnt with (in) fire', loc. of πῦρ), Ἀιδι-πός Ἀιδι-φρων (cp. Ἀιδι-μήδων), χολο-βόρος 'consuming gall' or 'consuming like gall' (cp. χολο-βατός 'dipped in gall' beside χολό-βατος χολο-βαγής), κρησι-φόρος 'death-bringing' (cp. κρησι-φόρητος p. 54), ἰχθυσι-λυστήρ 'fish stealer' (ἰχθύς) etc.

Remark 1. Compounds containing real stems in -ι-, as παντ-όλος, may also have given the appearance of simple stems to initial members of compounds which were locatives ending in -ι- like πυρ-. And in discussing those forms which contain locatives pl. in -ι-, stem-compounds like τετυ-βόρος ἀρετ-ήκης τετυ-πίτος (see § 30 p. 52) must not be forgotten. Compare also the fact that the abbreviated form Ἡε- was made from Ἡε-γίγνα Ἡε-γόντ and the like, whose initial part was the loc. ἦε 'early', no doubt on the analogy of Ζε-: Ζε-βόρος; and in the same way the abbreviated form Ἰε- was made from Ἰε-άρεσκα and like, which contained the instr. ἱε-.

It should be observed, however, that a large proportion of the new formations we are now considering are only found in late poets whose diction contains much that is artificial.

The form παν-, found in use as well as παντ(-ο-), is the neut. πάν which stands for *παντ, and was used originally with the force of an adverb in compounds like παν-αίολος 'all-gleaming' πάν-σοφος 'all-wise' πάν-πρωτος 'quite the first, the very first'. From these forms it spread to others with the same meaning as παντ(-ο-), e. g. Παν-έλληνες 'the united Hellenes' πάν-δημος 'concerning the whole people' πάν-μηνος 'lasting through all the months'. παν-εργος 'clever in any business' followed the type of forms like κατ-εργος i. e. κατ(ο-)/εργός.

Remark 2. In some combinations, παν- may possibly be the regular phonetic representative of the stem παντ- (cp. χρε- beside χρε-ο- and the like). So much may be admitted; but it seems to me improbable that this was generally the origin of the form.

Other examples with adverbs: ἀταλά-ρεΐτης 'flowing quietly'

(acc. pl. neut.), ἀμα-τροχιά 'collision of wheels' (instr.), παλαι-φατος 'told from of old, foretold' (loc.).

ἐγ-χειρί-θετος 'placed in the hand'; ἐμ-πυρι-βήτης 'standing in the fire' derived from the phrases ἐν χειρὶ θεῖναι, ἐν πυρὶ βῆναι.

ἀλλήλους 'each other', which was used as readily of two single things or persons as of two pairs or two larger contrasted groups, must imply a proethnic Greek phrase ἄλλος-ἄλλον*, du. ἄλλω-ἄλλω, pl. ἄλλοι-ἄλλους*. ἄλλᾱ-ἄλλᾱ* arose by contraction in the combinations ἄλλᾱ-ἄλλᾱν* ἄλλα-ἄλλα*, and then spread through the other cases. Next the dual and plural inflexion was used even where only two single things were spoken of. Lastly -ἄλλ- became -ᾱλ- Ion. -ηλ- (cp. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 294 f.). A more detailed discussion may be found in Fleckeisen's Jahrb. 1887, p. 105 ff.

Similarly we have αὐτοσ-αυτό- (also αὐσ-αυτό-) in the Delphic dialect and elsewhere. Originally the phrase αὐτοσ-αυτοῦ was used only in reference to a nom. sing. masc. in the sense of 'ipse sui', with the parallel forms αὐτᾱ-αυτᾱς* etc. But when the phrase passed into a single word, the first member became incapable of inflexion, and the form of the nom. sing. masc., as occurring most frequently, was used throughout. Hence e. g. Delph. inscr. κυριεύουσα αὐτοσαντᾱς and κυριεύοντες αὐτοσαντῶν, Heracl. inscr. μετ' αὐτοσαντῶν.

The genuine forms ποδ-από-ς ἄλλοδ-από-ς, whose etymological structure had become obscured (§ 16 p. 32), gave rise to new formations like ἡμεδαπός 'born in our country, countryman' παντοδαπός 'of all sorts or kinds, manifold', as though the second member of the compound were -δαπο-. The same δ occurs in ὅστις ὅτι 'who (whoever)' for σφό-δ τις*, σφό-δ τι*, see § 4 p. 9.

τοῦτο = τό ὦ το*, where ὦ is a particle = Skr. ú. The forms masc. ού-* and fem. αὐ-* = Idg. só u*, sá u*, date from the pre-Greek period and perhaps these were pronounced as monosyllables sóm* sám* even in proethnic Indo-Germanic: cp. masc. Skr. só, O.Pers. hauv. Then the neuter τό was added to these with the force of an adverb (cp. O.C.Sl. kŭ-to 'who?') giving the forms οὔτο* αὐτο* (for αὐτο*, by the regular change,

I § 611 p. 461) and a new formation τοῦτο (instead of τοδ-υ-το*). Then these forms, whose ending was invariable, were influenced by other pronominal forms whose endings were inflected, and thus we have finally οὗτος αὐτᾶ etc. Cp. Delbrück, Synt. Forsch. IV 139 f., Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 257 f., G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² p. 396.

The phrase ἐμavτόν = ἐμέ αὐτόν 'me ipsum' gave rise in Attic to the new formations ἐμavτοῦ ἐμavτιῶ, while in Ionic ἐμewντοῦ = ἐμέο αὐτοῦ (cp. τῶντό = τὸ αὐτό) produced ἐμewντιῶ and ἐμewντόν.

Italic.

§ 33. In the Italic group, especially in Latin, the practice of compounding noun-stems by the method of Class I survived in popular speech, though only to a small extent. Amongst the Romans it received an artificial stimulus and attained a certain degree of importance through the close adherence of Latin poetry to Greek models. But eminent stylists and grammarians of the classical period recognised the spurious character of words coined on Greek types, and protested against encumbering the language with new formations of this kind. The developement of the Fourth Class of compounds, however, was by degrees extended all the more widely for this restriction in Class I. As regards Classes II and III, Italic stands in the same position as the other branches of Indo-Germanic.

§ 34. Class I. We may discuss the Latin forms first.

Stems in -o-. Where the stem-final of the first member was not entirely lost before an initial consonant in the second part, it took the intermediate form of the irrational vowel. Accordingly it usually appears as -i-, e. g. belli-ger (beside bellum); before labials and before l as the sound intermediate between u and i, e. g. centu-peda centi-peda, māgnu-ficus māgnificus, cunu-ligus. Where -o- appears instead, as in albo-galērus Ūno-mammia sexcento-plagus (Stolz, Die lat. Nominalc. 19 ff.), we must assume that it is due to the influence of words borrowed from the Greek, or sometimes to the influence of Gallic (cp.

the Armenian -a- in compounds, which — if our conjecture be right — was borrowed from Iranian, § 28 Rem. 1 p. 45)¹). The final of the stem has completely disappeared in prīn-ceps from prīmo-, oin-vorsei (S. C. de Bacch. 19) from oino- ūno-, and some other instances; see I § 633 p. 474. Where r, following a consonant, preceded the final vowel of the stem, it sank with the latter to r, perhaps as early as the protoethnic Italic period, whence the er which appears in the historical period of Latin; e. g. sacerdōs, which was directly preceded by the form sācr-dō(t)-s* (see vol. I loc. cit. and Stolz, Wien. Stud. IX 304 f.); such words as sacru-fex sacri-fex, agri-cola were formed afresh at later period²), just as ācri-tās took the place of acertās*, which would have been the regular form, and facili-tās arose by the side of the older form facul-tās. Where the second part began in a sonant, the vowel was elided, as somn-ambulus, rēm-ex, māgn-animus, flex-animus (touched to the heart³); such forms as multi-angulus (beside mult-angulus) came into use later on by analogy (like Gr. ἀραχνο-ὄψις, § 29 p. 47) see I § 604 p. 458.

Since compounds like albo-galērus cannot count as genuine Latin formations, we are left in doubt whether the -i- (-u-) of historical Latin stands for Idg. -o- or -e-. The probabilities however are in favour of the former. Cp. § 12 p. 24.

Stems in -iō- regularly show -i-, as medi-terrāneus from mediu-s, offici-perda from officiu-m. Cp. capis I § 135 p. 122, also Goth. arbi-numja § 40 and the remarks on the gradation

1) The -o- of ho-diē must be regarded as of genuine Latin origin, if Danielsson (Stud. gramm., Upsal. 1879, p. 51 sq.) is right in his explanation of the word; he supposes that an old form hō-diē* (Class IV) was re-modelled on the analogy of Class I (cp. multi-modis § 36), and that the o was preserved from being weakened to -i- or -u- by its position in the accented syllable. But perhaps we ought rather to derive ho-diē from an instr. sing. hō*, with its ō shortened on the analogy of modo and similar words (cp. quo-que). A third derivation is suggested by L. Havet, Mém. de la Soc. de Lingu. IV 229 sq.

2) sacerdōs was not transformed into sacridōs*, because its component parts had ceased to be clearly recognised.

of the suffix -io- which will be found in § 63. If this -i- stands on the same footing as the -r- of sacr-dōs* (see above), the derivative sociē-tās (from sociu-s) must bear the same relation to the above mentioned compounds as sacri-fer to sacer-dōs. Med-amna 'Μεσοτοραμία' follows the analogy of māgn-animū-s (see above). trit-aro-s then might be referred either to a form tritjo-* (cp. tertiu-s, Avest. pritya- etc.) or to trito-* (cp. Gr. τοίτο-ς).

-i- corresponds in Latin to the -o- which serves in Greek as the 'vowel of composition' after most consonantal stems, cp. e. g. ὀδοντ-ο-γενής, 'sprung from teeth' and dent-i-frangibulus. It seems probable that the Lat. -i- here sometimes represents the Idg. i of i-stems (cp. īgni-fer from īgni-s), especially when we consider how frequently the consonantal stems pass into the i-declension, e. g. nāv-i-s and dent-i-bus dent-i-um § 93 (Italic). Then e. g. nāv-i-fragus (beside the older nau-fragus) will have been formed from nāv-i-s, that is from an i-stem.

Stems in -a-. -a- is hardly to be found except where the second member has sunk to the level of a suffix: fabā-ginus, cp. fabalis fabā-reus; olā-ginus -gineus. Elsewhere the forms are treated like the o-stems. tubi-cen: tuba; aqui-dūcus: aqua. tubu-lāstrium and tubi-lāstrium: tuba. -o- (a Grecism): viocūrus: ria; blatto-sēricus: blatta (cp. holo-sēricus). glōri-ficus: gloria like offici-perda. The i of tibi-cen (: tibia) has not been explained; is it parallel to Skr. śacr-tasū-ṣ?

Stems in -i- and -u-. angui-cornis: angui-s. tri-dēns: dat. tri-bus. morti-fer: gen. pl. morti-um, Skr. mṛti-ṣ. The disappearance of the final -i- of the stem in fūn-ambulū-s from fūni-s is to be explained as due to the analogy of o-stems; fūni-ambulū-s was a later analogical formation like multi-angulū-s (p. 58); cp. also sēm-ermis sēm-ustus beside sēmi-erimis sēmi-ustus from sēmi- = Skr. sāmī 'incomplete, half'. -u- occurs in u-stems only before labial sounds, as in acu-pediū-s (cp. Gr. ὠκύ-ς 'swift') manu-festus (manu-s), and since in such instances i is sometimes written as well as u (moni-festus) the sound must have been intermediate between u and i (I § 49 p. 41 f.). Thus the u-stems also were treated in the same way as those in -o.

nau-fragus, like Gr. ναυ-πηγός, is no doubt a complete, not a syncopated form; nāv-igō is of the same kind, cp. § 11 p. 24; nāv-i-fragus and nāv-i-ger are new formations. Similarly we have bū-caedu and bov-i-cidium: cp. Gr. βου- and βο-ο- § 29 p. 48; yet we must notice, first, that bou- was probably borrowed from Oscan (I § 432 Rem. 1), and secondly that the meaning 'great' in bū-mammus etc. points to Greek influence.

Nasal stems. nōmen-clātor like Gr. ὀνομά-κλυτος? homi-cida (acc. homin-em): Goth. guma-kunds 'of the male sex' (guma, gen. gumins), sangui-sūga (sanguen), inscr. numi-clatori. See § 12 p. 27. With the last group we should probably compare nūncupō for nōmi-cupō*, cp. princeps p. 58. There is a third group, the largest and the latest formed, consisting of words like imāgin-i-fer germin-i-seca Aniēn-i-cola aquilōn-i-gena, cp. Gr. φρεν-ο-μυνής etc. (§ 29 p. 49).

sim-plex: cp. Gr. ἀ-πλόος, § 12 p. 27. We must also mention here septem-fluos decem-peda nūn-dinae, beside which are found septi-rēmīs sept-en-nis, dec-en-nis (cp. octi-pēs oct-en-nis from octō).

Stems in -r-. frātr-i-cida sorōr-i-cida, cp. Gr. πατρ-ο-φόνος ῥητορ-ο-διδάσκαλος (§ 29 p. 50).

Stems in Explosives. dent-i-frangibulus serpent-i-gena. ped-i-sequos frond-i-fer. vōc-i-feror. rēg-i-fugium.

Stems in -s-. nas-turtium mūs-cipula. iudex for iouz-dic-s*, jū(s)-stitium, and beside it jūr-i-dicus. Stems in -es- show -i- and -er-i-: foedi-fragus volni-ficus and foeder-i-fragus mūner-i-gerulus. The forms with -i- only are no doubt due to the similarity of the nominative terminations of the two stems, foedus: haedu-s. Nouns in -ōs -ōris (§ 133): labōr-i-fer odōr-i-sequos; the form rūmi-ficō by the side of rūmor, implies, as does also rūmus-culu-s, an older word rūmus -eris* or -oris (cp. decus beside decor), cp. also horri-fer -ficus beside horror. The form cini-flō, from cinis -eris, is due to the nominative-ending -is (cp. angui-s), since we could hardly derive it phonetically from a form like cinis-flō*: cp. the new formations cucumī cucumim beside cucumis -eris, and another word which must also be explained by reference to the form of the nominative, lapi-ctīa from lapis -idis.

Remark. We must no doubt assume the loss of -i- through syllabic dissimilation in the following: rudīāre, for ru[ī-ē]iāre*, arcubū ('qui excubabant in arce') for ar[ī-ē]ubū*, cordelium for cor[ī-ē]lium*. See I § 643 p. 452. The monosyllabic stems contained in pelluriae for ped-luriae* (I § 359 p. 250), sōl-ctium (beside sōl-ctīer) and other such compounds may or may not have dropped an -i- (I § 633 p. 474). With pilluriae compare molluriae for mon-luriae*.

In the monuments of the Umbro-Samnitic dialects this class of compounds is very scantily represented. If we disregard compounds containing numerals, and uncertain instances like the Osc. locfrīkūniss, whose initial part is mutilated (Pauli. Altit. Stud. II 118), there remains only the Osc. med-dis, whose first part is the same as the Umbr. mei-s mers 'ius, fas' (§ 132. 163).

du- for Idg. dui-* 'two' is peculiar to the Italic languages: Lat. du-plus du-plex du-centi du-bius (I § 170 p. 150), Umbr. du-pla 'duplas' du-pursus 'bipedibus'. I regard it as a new formation of proethnic Italic, suggested by quadru-: Lat. quadru-plus -plex -pēs, and in early Latin quadru-centi* for quadringenti (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 253); quincu-plex etc. are formed on the same model. Umbr. petur-pursus 'quadripedibus' was a new Umbrian formation.

§ 35. Class II. Lat. in-jugis: Skr. a-yuga-s Gr. ἀ-ζυγος 'unyoked'; in-eptus: cp. Skr. án-āpta-s 'unattained, unskilled'. Umbro-Samnitic has an- 'un-', which seems to correspond to Gr. α- = Idg. ǵ-* (I § 253 p. 207): Umbr. antakres 'integrīs' Osc. an-censo fem. 'incensa, not valued'.

In Italic, Idg. ne* 'not' was also restricted to use in compounds, as Lat. ne-fās.

Class III. Lat. com-mōtus Umbr. comchota 'commota'. Lat. con-ceptus Falisc. cun-captum 'conceptum'. Lat. con-ventiō con-tentus Osc. kūm-benniei gen. 'conventus'; O.Ir. com- e. g. ro co-scad 'correptus est'. Lat. per-emptus per-versus Umbr.

per-etom 'peremptum': Skr. pari-vṛtta-s 'turned about' Lith. pér-versta-s 'reversed, changed'. Lat. ab-ditus: Gr. ἀπό-θετος 'set aside, secret', ab-ductiō: Mid.H.G. abe-zuht 'a drawing away'. Lat. por-tentum por-rectum Umbr. pur-ditom 'proditum': no doubt to be compared with Gr. πάρα (Stolz, Arch. f. lat. Lexicogr. II 498 f.).

Lat. inter-mē(n)stris inter-mēnstruos Umbr. anter-menzaru 'intermenstruarum', cp. Lat. inter mēnsēs. Lat. amb-urbium, Osc. am-vīanud abl. of the stem am-viano- 'that which lies on both sides of the way', hence 'vicus, platea' (cp. Bücheler in Nissen's Pomp. Studien 499). Lat. per-nox per-dius (per noctem, per diem); per-fidus (per fidem fallere). sub-jugu-s (sub jugō). ante-novissimus (ante novissimum).

Idg. ne* 'not', as has been said above (Class II), was restricted in Italic to use in composition, as Lat. ne-fās.

Lat. ad-modum. in-vicem. af-fatim 'to satisfaction'. dē-nuō for dē novō I § 172 p. 152. ilicō for in slocō* 'on the spot'. I § 81 p. 73. pro-fectō for prō factō* properly 'as good as something done' I § 682 p. 549. Many such phrases were reduced to single words largely through the enclisis of the noun and the isolation caused by phonetic change.

§ 36. Class IV. In Umbrian desen-duf corresponds to the Lat. duo-decim (§ 16 p. 32), cp. Gr. δέκα δύο beside δώδεκα. Lat. ūn-decim, explained in I § 633 p. 474 as standing for ūnu(s)-decim*, may contain other case-forms; according to Wackernagel (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 284) it stands for ūnum-decim*, cp. Gr. ἑν-δέκα.

Lat. Jū-piter Juppiter is said (no doubt correctly) to be = Gr. Ζεῦ πάτερ, and is therefore a vocative used as nominative (I § 612 p. 463), Umbr. Iu-pater. Lat. Diēs-piter, gen. Diēs-pitris; an analogous form is Mars-piter, also Māspiter (I § 269 p. 217). The words postrī-diē cottī-diē (cottī- for quettī-*, see I § 419 p. 307, § 431 p. 320, originally meaning 'on which-soever day of a series'; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 147 gives a different explanation), and merī-diē (properly 'in the clear day', from meru-s, see Stowasser, Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. I 273 ff.) contain two locatives. The nom. merīdiēs is like the Mod.H.G. die mitternacht 'midnight', which comes from the gen. dat. mitter nacht 'at midnight', and cottīdiānu-s merīdiānu-s like mitternāchtig.

We have a group of words which did not become compounds until the literary period of Latin: holus atrum, rōs marīnus, fēnum Graecum, jūs jūrandum, rēs pūblica, alter uter etc.: gen. holusātrī beside *holeris ātrī*¹⁾, rōsmarīnī beside rōris marīnī, alterutrīus beside alterius utrīus and so forth (Neue, Formenl. I² 590 f.).

Sacraviēnsēs from sacra via, quartadecumānī from quarta decuma (legiō).

In some cases the initial member follows the analogy of Class I: Aquiflaviēnsēs from Aquae Flaviae; equiferī 'wild horses' ovifer 'wild sheep' instead of equos ferus and ovis fera, influenced no doubt by the type of Greek compounds like αἴγ-αγρος 'wild goat' σὺ-αγρος 'wild boar' (cp. the Author, Rhein. Mus. XLIII 404); multi-modīs, omni-modīs instead of multīs modīs, omnibus modīs (Danielsson, Studia grammatica, Upsal. 1879, p. 51).

In the literary period of Latin, phrases like aquae ductus and aquae ductiō, agrī cultūra, plēbis scītum, fidet commissum, capite cēnsī, jūre cōsultus etc. became compounds. Then, by a transition to Class I, aqui-ductus, cp. aqui-dūcus ὑδραγωγός. pater-familiās, like Mod.H.G. mutter-góttes, 'mother of God' leib-brót 'loaf of bread' (O.H.G. leip prōtes) Pol. štuka-mięsa 'piece of meat'.

quot annī*, quot mēnsēs*, originally relative clauses (cp. Gr. ὀσημέραι 'daily'), in course of time ceased to be regarded as such, and then the compounds quotannīs, quotmēnsibus were formed, like his annis (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 146 f.). Cp. Lith. kas-vākara § 46.

1) The i of the form holisātra (Apicius) was due to the analogy of compounds of Class I like multi-sonus; for the formation is too late to admit of the supposition that it was caused by the natural course of phonetic change, as in the second syllable of ilicō for inslocō* (I § 81 p. 73.)

breve iter, longum iter became breviter, longiter, and so forth. Thus arose the adverbial suffix -iter -ter. See Osthoff, Archiv f. lat. Lexiogr. IV 455 ff.

nu-dius tertius 'the day before yesterday', properly equivalent to 'nunc dies tertius' (nu = Skr. nū Gr. ν etc.). Hence nudius-tertiānu-s 'belonging to the day before yesterday'.

male-volēns, male-dicēns (from which were formed malevolentissimus, maledicentior, cp. Mod.H.G. tieffühlendst, freigelegener). bene-volēns. Derivatives of these are malevolentia benevolentia, and on their analogy were formed malevolus benevolus, maleficus beneficus for the older forms mali-volus beni-volus, mali-ficus beni-ficus (Class I, cp. benignus for beni-gnu-s*, I § 619 p. 466 f.). A compound found in Tertullian, altēgradius = altē gradiēns, shows the same type as male-volus.

In later Latin, as we have already seen (§ 33 p. 57), this class grew more and more extensive. Especially where the inflexional differences of the cases had disappeared, and the first member of the compound consequently lost its proper meaning as a case, compounds of Class IV came more and more into favour. By far the greatest part of the nominal compounds now found in the Romance languages belong to this class. This disuse of Class I, in favour of Class IV is most clearly seen in 'epithetised' compounds, as French rouge-gorge 'red-gullet' pattepelue 'hairy-paw' i. e. 'fawner, sneak'. See A. Darmesteter, Traité de la formation des mots composés dans la langue française etc., Paris 1875.

Old Irish.

§ 37. Class I. The final vowels of the stem of the initial members were accurately preserved only in Gallic. In Irish they suffered syncope and disappeared (I § 634).

Stems in -o-. O.Ir. ech-rad fem. (collective) 'horses': Mod. Cymr. eb-rwydā 'quick' Gall. Epo-rēdia, pr. Kelt. ekyo-rēda-* (as to the second part, see Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. II 24), beside O.Ir. ech

'horse', Skr. āśva- Gr. ἵππο- etc. O.Ir. dag-duine 'bonus homo', from dag 'bonus'¹⁾: Gall. Dago-vassus. O.Ir. Doman-gart: O.Cymr. Dofn-garth, Gall. Dubno-rîx Dumno-rîx, from domun 'world': doman- for domno-* through the intermediate stage domu-*, see I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469. Gall. vergo-bretus name of a magistrate amongst the Aedui, = 'cuius iudicium efficax est', beside O.Cymr. guerg 'efficax'; Nerto-mārus from nerto- 'strength, might'. In Irish the change of t, c to p, ç (th, ch) at the beginning of the second member indicates that the first originally ended in a vowel (I § 514 p. 375 f., § 658 p. 510), as fîr-threbaire 'true wisdom' from trebaire, nocht-chenn 'bare-headed' from cenn. The same is true of the f̊ in such compounds as find-folt 'white hair' from folt, and the s̊ in compounds like macc-slabrad 'plaything' from slabrad 'chain' (I § 576 p. 431, § 658 p. 510). Where the second member began in a sonant, -o- disappeared in proethnic Keltic: e. g. O.Ir. find-airgit 'white silver' (cp. Gall. Vindo-magus) fîr-aingliu 'veros angelos'; so in Gallic we find Art-albinnum beside Arto-briga as compared with O.Ir. art 'stone'; here too should be classed compounds like Mid.Ir. (h)uasal-athair 'patriarch' (august father), if the elision of -o- in this position was later than the loss of initial p- (I § 339 p. 268).

Remark. In Gall. -u- is sometimes found instead of -o-, e. g. Virdumārus and Virdo-mārus, Adiatu-māru-s and Adiuto-rîx, and sometimes -u-, as Reita-genus (Esser, Beitr. zur gallo-kelt. Namenskunde I 5. 6 f.). These differences are due in part to an inexact representation of unaccented vowels in writing, but in part also to dialectic variation.

O.Ir. aili-thir 'stranger, pilgrim' from alio- and tîr 'terra'. nûe-litridi acc. 'novos, recentes litteratores': cp. Gall. Novio-dûnum 'Newtown'.

Stems in -a-. It may be assumed that -o- was regularly found even in proethnic Keltic (§ 12 p. 24 f.). Gall. Teuto-bōdiacī Touto-bociō beside O.Ir. tuath f. = Goth. þiuda f. 'people', common ground-form teutā*, so that no doubt O.Ir. Tuath-char and

1) With this combination of adjective and substantive, and wit' to be mentioned below compare § 39.

Brugmann, Element. II.

O.Cymr. Tut-ri originally had -o-. O.Ir. dal-tech 'forum' (house of assembly) dal-suide 'forum' ('seat of assembly') from dāl f. O.Ir. briathar-chath 'battle of words' for brētro-* through the intermediate stage brēty-*, beside briathar f. 'word' for brētra-* (I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469, § 634 p. 475).

Stems in -i-. O.Ir. muir-bran 'mergus' ('sea-raven') from O.Ir. muir n. 'sea' for mori*: Gall. Mori-tasgus Mori-dūnum. In these and other words the palatalisation of the last consonant of the first member is an obvious trace of the -i- which once stood before it (cp. buaid-lia 'fornix', properly 'triumphalis lapis' from buaid n. 'victory', sain-chenelæ 'proprium genus').

Stems in -u-. O.Ir. cath-buadach 'victorious in battle' cath-lach 'battle-host, assembled fighting men' cath-charpat 'battle-chariot' from cath 'battle': Gall. Catu-slōgus (= cath-lach) Caturīgēs, O.H.G. hadu-. bith-beo 'semper vivus', from O.Ir. bith 'world', which when used as the first member of a compound took the meaning 'everlasting, ever' (cp. § 4 p. 6): Gall. Biturīgēs. fid-bocc 'ligneus arcus', from fid 'wood, tree', O.H.G. witu 'wood'.

To determine the chronology of the loss of the final vowel in the first member, we have the evidence of such forms as the nom. pl. gnīmartha beside sing. gnīm-rad 'act, deed', compared with the u-stem gnīm, cp. ech-rad above. Since -ar- came immediately from -r-, and this came from -rē- (I § 634 p. 475), the stem-final of the first member must have already disappeared before the process of samprasāraṇa began. Indeed, even in Gallic we find Lūgdunum for Lugu-dūnum (Dio Cass. XLVI c. 50 τὸ Λουγούδουνον, νῦν δὲ Λούγδουνον καλούμενον).

Stems in -n-. For these the form in -o- is substituted, as in Gr. κτῶ-χρᾶνον (§ 12 p. 27); e. g. Mid.Ir. talam-chumscugud 'earthquake' from talam, gen. talman, f. 'earth'.

Stems in -r-. The examples of these stems are not free from difficulty. O.Ir. athar-gein 'procreation (of the father)' māthar-marbthach 'matricide' māthar-lach 'matrix', the -thar being no doubt for -tr-o-* (cp. Gr. μητρ-ο-κτόνος). athr-amil 'patri similis' mādr-amil 'matri similis' beside forms like sain- šamail šain-email. Where the final member begins in a sonant: uthir-oircnid 'patricide'. sethar-oircnid 'murderer of a sister' is no doubt modelled on forms like máthar-marbthach, where the gen. sing. determined the type.

Stems in Explosives. All of these must have had -o-. O.Ir. carat-rad 'friendship' from cara, gen. carat; compare Gall. Carent-o-magus. Mid.Ir. oiged-chaire 'friendship between guest and host' from oegi, pl. oegid 'guest'. O.Ir. rīg-thech 'king's house' rīg-fáith 'royal poet' from rī, gen. rīg, 'king', cp. Lat. rēg-i-fugium. Cp. also Gall. Cinget-o-rīx beside Cinges gen. -etis O.Ir. cing, acc. cingid, 'vir fortis, heros'; Gall. Brig-o-banne and Brig-o-gilum* (whence the modern Brigueil and Briulles-sur-Bar), beside O.Ir. bri, gen. breg, 'rising ground'.

Stems in -es- show in Irish the same type as Gr. εἶπος-ξόμος. O.Ir. tey-lach 'household, familia' (O.Cymr. teulu 'familia'), beside tech n. 'house' = Gr. στέγος, tecnate 'domesticus, familiaris' for tech-gnate* (the spirant having been assimilated to the initial consonant of the second member) a derivative from tech-gnath* (gnath 'consuetus'). O.Ir. leth-cholba 'the pillar by the side, the second pillar', led-marb 'half dead', from leth n. 'side, half'. It is probable that Gallic names like Cartis-mandua Civis-marus (see Zeuss² 785. 853) represent the same type of compound as Gr. ἑπεσ-βόλος; yet it is at least possible that a vowel has fallen out after the -s-, cp. e. g. gen. Viscari for Visu-cari*.

§ 38. Class II. Idg. un-* 'un-' appears in Irish in different forms according to its phonetic surroundings. ē- before t, c: O.Ir. ē-tromm 'not heavy, light' ē-cain 'indecent'; but in Cymr. an-, as annheilung 'unworthy': O.Ir. ētualng-ithe 'indignatus', cp. Mod.Cymr. cant: O.Ir. cēt 'hundred', I § 243 p. 201. in- for en-* before d, g (cp. I § 520 p. 378): O.Ir. in-derb 'incertus' in-gnad 'insolitus'. an- before vowels, Idg. un-* I § 243, 4 p. 202: O.Ir. an-eolas 'inscientia', beside eola 'gnarus', an-se 'heavy' beside asse 'light'. By analogical transference an- came to be used before explosives, even in O.Ir.: an-cretem 'infidelitas', an-dach 'nequitia', an-glan 'immundus'. Further examples of this

do- du- in do-chruth 'deformed' etc.: Skr. duṣ-, cp. § 14 p. 29. The opposite of this, so- su- = Idg. su-*, is kept in Keltic (as in Armenian, § 28 p. 46) only in composition: O.Ir. so-nirt 'good in strength, strong' from nert 'strength', su-thain 'everlasting' from tan 'time'.

Class III. O.Ir. cuim-rehta 'alligatus' beside con-riug 'alligo': cp. Lat. com-ēsus. es-arte 'caesus, expalmatus' beside es-arcon 'excisio': cp. Gr. ἑξ-αίρετος 'selected'. etar-scarthi 'divisa': cp. Lat. inter-fectus. acsiu 'act of seeing' dat. acsin beside the pres. ad-chiu: cp. Lat. ad-emptiō.

O.Ir. ess-amin Mod.Cymr. eh-ofyn 'fearless' Gall. Ex-obnus Ex-omnus, from pr. kelt. ex 'out' = Lat. ex and (O.Ir.) omun 'fear'. Gall. Ambi-rēnus ('around the Rhine'), Ad-lēdus ('by the iver Ledus'), Are-morica ('before the sea').

O.Ir. ro-, an intensive particle, as ro-mōr 'very great' ro-chain 'very beautiful', stands for pre-Keltic pro-* (I § 339 p. 268): cp. Gr. πρό-καλος 'very beautiful' πρό-κακος 'very bad'. O.Ir. ēr-er-, also an intensive particle, as ēr-chosmil 'very similar' ēr-chian 'very long', comes from ex-ro-*; for the loss of the -o see I § 634 p. 475.

§ 39. Class IV. Besides compounds in which an adjectival stem was followed by a substantive (Class I), in Irish, as in the other Indo-Germanic languages, inflected adjectives were combined with substantives. Such phrases often developed into compounds, and this process was all the more natural because the adjective lost the characteristic inflexion of many of its cases, and thus the phrase looked like a compound of Class I. Hence the two groups overlapped, and in particular instances it is difficult to decide how the compound arose. In none of these words have we any clear traces of the destructive influence which the accent elsewhere exerts upon the final members of compound words, e. g. drog-scēla 'malinuntii' dag-gnīm 'good work' (I § 685 p. 552), and therefore we might in all cases decide in favour of Class IV. But there is nothing to prevent our assuming that compounds belonging to Class IV influenced the accent of those of Class I. See Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 224 f., Kelt. Stud. II 19 ff. We shall find a similar confusion of two different types of composition in High German, § 44.

Germanic.

§ 40. Class I.

Stems in -o-. Where the second member began in a consonant the vowel seems always to have survived in protothnic Germanic. In Gothic we find stems sometimes with -a- and sometimes without, but no rule has yet been discovered to account for this difference, although it must be connected with some variation of accent¹): guda-faurhts 'God fearing' gud-hūs 'God's house' from guf 'God', aina-baur 'innate, native' ain-falps 'simple' from ains 'one', lāusa-raurds 'speaking folly' lāus-qiprs 'with empty stomach' from lāus 'loose, empty, null', akrana-lāus 'fruitless' from akran n. 'fruit', þiudan-gardi f. 'king's house' from þiudans 'king'. In West Germanic, where the vowel still appears as o in the oldest monuments (I § 83 Rem. I p. 77), the law of syncope described in I § 635 p. 476 was in operation; but its results were largely obscured by new formations. The following are examples of the regular developement. O.H.G. tago-sterno taga-stern 'daystar, morning star', spilo-man spila-man 'player', wego-wīso wega-wīso 'guide'. On the other hand we find boum-garto 'orchard', wīn-rebe 'vine', himil-zungal 'stars of heaven', houbit-band 'head-band'. Parallel to these stand such forms as eban-lih 'aequalis' regan-mānōt 'rainy month' atum-zuht 'respiration' accar-bigengo 'agricola' rogal-chrāt 'chick-weed', which come from prehistoric ground-forms containing ebno-* rezno-* ēdmo-* akkro-* fuzlo-* (cp. Goth. ibna-leiks, figgra-gulþ 'finger-ring' and Austro-rallus, Count of Toulouse, 588 A. D.). However, it has still to be determined (cp. Kaufmann, Paul-

1) See Holtzmann, Altdeutsche Gr. I 2, 55; Kluge, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 81; Kremer, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VIII 381. 438. Kremer's theory is the least satisfactory.

Braune's Beitr. XII 537 ff.) how far the historical form of the first member may have been due merely to the influence of the uncompounded word (ēban regan etc.).

Remark 1. In O.H.G. through the partial coincidence of the i- and the a- declension, -i- often intruded in place of -o- -a-, as wegi-rih beside wego-rih wega-rih 'waybread, plantain' (properly 'way-ruler'). Cp. Rem. 3 infr.

The treatment of -o- in proethnic Germanic, where the second member began in a sonant, is uncertain (cp. I § 606 p. 459). It is possible that in some forms the hiatus remained (see above, § 12 p. 25), cp. Goth. galiuga-apauštaulus 'false apostle' (from galiug n. 'lie'), O.H.G. sigo-ēra sige-ēra beside sig-ēra 'honour shown for victory'. Elision is by far the most frequent: Goth. hals-aggā 'curve of the neck, nape' from halsa- 'neck', all-andjō 'complete' from alla- 'all'; O.H.G. wer-alt O.Sax. wer-old A.S. wor-old O.Icel. ver-ǫld 'age of men, period, world' beside Goth. vair (stem vaira-) 'man', O.H.G. ein-ougi A.S. ān-eāze O.Icel. ein-eygr 'one-eyed' beside Goth. ains. O.H.G. ēban-alt 'equally old' Mid.H.G. ōster-abent 'Easter-eve, day before Easter' for ēbn-* ōstr-*, show the same analogical change as is seen in O.H.G. ebano ebanōn (see I § 215 p. 182 f.); the regular type is preserved in Vestr-alpus, an Alemannic chief (Ammian).

Forms containing the suffix -jo-. Goth. alja-kuns 'of other origin, strange', fraþja-marzeins 'derangement of mind' (fraþi n.), and on the other hand, with a long syllable before the suffix, arbi-numja 'receiver of an inheritance, heir' (arbi n.), aglāiti-vairdei 'improper speech' (aglāiti n. 'impropriety'). Cp. the contrast of gen. sing. harjis and hairdeis, I § 120 p. 112 f., § 143 p. 128 f., II § 63. In West Gothic -i-, not -ja-, is found from the sixth or seventh century onwards even in the former class of words. In Old High German -i- is universal, as eli-lenti 'foreign' eli-boro 'alienigena' heri-berga 'camp, shelter' arpi-lōs 'without inheritance'. It is questionable whether we should assume that -i- had appeared after short syllables, as in eli- (cp. O.Sax. eli-lendi O.Fris. ili-lende), before the consonant-strengthening (I § 143 p. 129) and the syncope (I § 635 p. 476) of West Germanic (Sievers, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 488 ff.); see Kaufmann ibid. 537 ff. -io- -iio- are frequently found in proper names belonging to different Germanic stocks in the first centuries A. D., as Ναῖο-υρροῖς Hario-baudes, Inguio-mērus.

Stems in -ā-. It may be assumed that even in protoethnic Germanic -o- was regular (§ 12 p. 25). Goth. airþa-kunds 'of earthly origin' from airþa 'earth', hveila-hrairbs 'accommodating oneself to the time', πρόωραυος from hveila 'time, while'. O.H.G. beto-man 'one who prays' bota-hūs 'house of prayer' from bota 'prayer'; on the other hand erd-rīhi 'kingdom of earth' from erda, brāch-mānōt 'month of the first ploughing, June' from brā-ha 'land broken up'. O.H.G. alsal-pein 'shoulder-bone' from ahsla 'shoulder', like vogal-chrūt. O.H.G. erd-aphil 'earth-apple' 'cucumber, melon' from erda-, scab-isen 'shaving tool' from scaba 'shaving tool, plane', like icer-alt. Mid.H.G. nādel-aere 'needle's eye' from O.H.G. nālla Goth. nēþla 'needle', like ōster-ālent. Compare p. 70.

Words containing the suffix -iē-, -iā-: Goth. þāsundi-faþs 'leader of a thousand' from þāsundi f. (nom. pl. þāsundjōs) 'thousand'; O.H.G. sunti-lōs 'siless' from suntia suateu sunta 'sin', redi-haft 'eloquent' from redia reda 'speech', like eli-lenti: see above.

Remark 2. In these feminines -o- and -a- often occur as well as -i-, e. g. reda-haft reda-haft, hella-þiur 'hell-fire' (from hella Goth. halia 'hell'). Here analogy has been at work: this new formation spread in the -iē- (-iā-) stems, not in those with -io-, because the sonant -i- which stood at the point of juncture was not supported in the former class of stems as it was in the latter (cp. heri-berga beside nom. acc. heri) by the case-forms of the uncompounded word: the -i- of the compound was especially liable to alteration after the i of the original word had been completely assimilated to the preceding group of consonants.

Stems in -i-. In protoethnic Germanic -i- was no doubt kept in all compounds whose second member began in a consonant. Goth. -i-, as gasti-gōþs 'hospitable' from gasts, drauhti-cūþ 'service in war, fight' cp. ga-drauhts (stem ga-drauhti-) 'warrior'; rarely the -i- is lost (cp. the loss of -a- above): brūþ-faþs 'bridegroom' from brūþs 'bride', þut-haurn 'horn for blowing' from þuti-* 'noise, sound' = O.Icel. þytr Mid.H.G. duz. In O.H.G.

the forms are syncopated according to rule. steti-got 'genius loci' turi-sul 'doorpost, post', but tāt-rahha 'narrative of what has happened' gast-hūs 'strangers' shelter' truh-sāzo trut-sāzo (Mid.H.G. truht-saeze) 'lord high steward'.

Remark 3. In O.H.G. through the partial coincidence of the i- and the *o-*declension -a- -a- often took place of -i-, as scrita-māl beside scriti-māl 'pace, step' from scrit, pl. scriti. Cp. Rem. 1 above.

Stems in -u-. In protoethnic Germanic -u- always appeared in compounds whose second member began in a consonant. Gothic has always -u-, as faīhu-gairns 'covetous' from faīhu 'cattle, possessions', filu-fáihs 'very various' from filu 'much, very'. In O.H.G. the forms were altered by the law of syncope: fihu-wiāri 'cattle-pond', filu-sprāhhi filo-sprāhhi 'speaking much', witu-hoffa wito-hoffa ('wood-hopper') 'hoopoe' from witu wito 'wood', Hadu-mār proper name (hudu- 'battle': Gall. catu-), but on the other hand tōd-līh 'mortalis, mortiferus' from tōd = Goth. dáuþu-s 'death', hungertag 'day of fasting' for hungru-* (cp. accar-bigengo p. 69) cp. Goth. hāhru-s 'hunger'.

Stems in -n- in protoethnic and later Germanic show the same type as Gr. ἄνθρωπος (§ 12 p. 27). Goth. guma-kunds 'of the male sex' O.H.G. gomo-heit goma-heit 'persona' beside Goth. guma O.H.G. gomo m. 'human being, man', cp. Lat. homi-cīda p. 60. O.H.G. hano-crāt hana-crāt 'crowing of a cock' from hano Goth. hana m. 'cock'. O.H.G. namo-haft nama-haft 'having a name' from namo m. Goth. namō n. 'name'. Goth. auga-daúrō n. ('eye-door') 'window' O.H.G. oug-brāwa 'eyebrow' from Goth. augō O.H.G. ouga n. 'eye'. O.H.G. herz-blīdi 'heartily agreeable' from herza Goth. haiртō n. 'heart'. When the second member begins in a sonant: O.H.G. brunn-ādara 'vein of a spring' from brunno Goth. brunna m. 'spring, brook'.

Remark 4. It is noteworthy that the type of compound containing a genitive (Class IV), such as hanin-fuo3, Franchōno-lant (§ 44), common enough even in O.H.G., in later times continually encroached upon the stem-compounds of Class I, particularly in the Modern period. The chief factor in this development was the circumstance that -en came ultimately to be the ending of other cases besides the genitive, and hence lost its originally definite character. Cp. J. Grimm, D. G. II (1878) p. 528. 591 ff.

Stems in -r-. In Gothic we have the form brōþru-lubō 'brotherly love'; it is uncertain whether the first part represents Idg. lhrātṛ-* (I § 299 p. 237 f.), or whether, like the nom. pl. brōþrjus, it was a new form modelled upon the u-stems. brōþr-a-lubō also occurs, cp. Gr. πατρ-ο-φίλος etc. O.H.G. pruodar-līh 'brotherly' may be variously explained: fatar-erpi 'patrimonium' is in any case a new form instead of fatr-*. We also find pruader-līh fater-līh and the like, where e is due to the influence of the inflected forms of the uncompounded word.

O.H.G. fīant-līh 'hostile' friunt-līh 'friendly', fuoz-ecumil 'footstool', like Gr. δυσκорт-ό-υμνιός, ποδ-ο-στέγη. At the same time it must be observed that in O.H.G. many of these consonantal stems have gone over bodily to one of the vowel-declensions, e. g. mānōl 'month' (Goth. still has dat. sing. mēnōþ nom. pl. mēnōþs), with which compare e. g. mānōl-siuh 'lunaticus'.

Stems in -s-. Goth. sigis-lāun 'prize of victory' (cp. Goth. Sigis-mēres Burg. Sigis-mundus O.Frank. Sigis-bertus etc.) from sigis n. 'victory' (stem sigis-a- or sigiz-a-): Skr. sāhas n. O.H.G. egis-līh 'horrible' beside Goth. agis n. 'fear' (stem agis-a-), cp. also O.H.G. egis-o m. 'fright' egis-ōn 'frighten' like Gr. αἰσά-ο-φρογ. The following may also belong to this group, if they have lost the vowel of the suffix -es-: Goth. þrāts-all A.S. drust-fel (for druts-*) 'scab' and A.S. Hūs-brōc, name of a place, compare probably O.Icel. hóus (only in pl.) 'fowls'. Rather more frequently we have -es- stems extended by -o-: Goth. āiz-a-smiþa O.H.G. ēr-smid 'copper-smith', O.H.G. Lembir-bah (cp. Keßbire-bach with the gen. sing. Class IV) M.H.G. eier-vel (A.S. āzer-felma) 'skin of an egg', M.H.G. rinder-kirte 'cowherd' (A.S. krýl-le-herd 'herd of cattle'). After -es- became a sign of the plural (§ 132) the first member of these compounds took a plural meaning (rinder-kirte = 'herd-men of cattle').

Remark 5. The transference of these stems to the a-declension (§ 132), caused by the loss of the final -es in the nom. and acc. sing., gave rise to alterations of the stem in compounds, on the model of the e-class: thus O.H.G. riuz-ic n. The oldest example of this type is perhaps the form requa- 'darkness' (cp. Goth. riqis Skr. rājas-), seen in requalivahano, which occurs on an inscription of the second or third century A. D. (found in the District of Cologne), if Holthausen is right in explaining it as 'living in the darkness'; but perhaps it is better to refer it to the analogy of nom. requwiz* : welfa-z*.

§ 41. In many compounds, in Germanic as in Greek and in Slavonic (§ 30. 47), the popular conception of the first member underwent a change, and the latter was regarded as having a verbal instead of a nominal force.

Thus in O.H.G. first of all nominal stems in -i- (for an original -i-, -iō-, -iā- or -iē-) came into immediate connexion with verbs in -ien, e. g. spuri- in spuri-hunt 'hunting-hound' (Mid.H.G. spür spur f. n. 'trace, track') came into connexion with spurien spurren 'to trace'; smelzi-gold ('melted gold') 'refined gold, standard gold' (smelzi n. 'gloss produced by melting, enamel') with smelzen (Goth. smaltjan*) 'liquefy'; deche (older decchi-*) seen in deche-lachen 'cloth or sheet for covering' (decha, older decchia*, 'covering') with decchen (O.Icel. þekja) 'to cover'; slengi-stein 'sling-stone' (slenga, older slengia*, 'sling') with slengen (O.Icel. slengva) 'to sling, hurl'. Hence numerous new formations whose initial members were real verbal forms, as deni-lachan 'cloth for spreading out, tent-cloth' from denen 'to spread out', wezzi-stein 'whetstone' from wezen 'to whet'. The next step was to give a new verbal signification to nominal stems ending in original -o-; thus O.H.G. strīt-muot 'eagerness for the fray' strīt-louft 'race' (strīt m. 'strife') was referred to strītan 'strive', scelt-wort 'abusive word' (scelta f. 'abuse') to sceltan 'to abuse', giving a type which was followed by large number of new formations like melc-faz 'milk-vessel' from melchan 'to milk'. Then, when the ō and ē in inflexional syllables had sunk to e, which also represented a and e, when e. g. beta-hūs 'house of prayer' and betōn 'to pray' had become bete-hūs beten, and līna-berga 'railing, trellis' and linēn had become line-berga linen respectively, the numerous forms of this kind gave a fresh impulse in High German to the verbal interpretation of the initial members of compounds, and the new type of formation already established was taken into yet wider use; e. g. Mid.H.G. lebe-site 'manner of life' from leben 'to live'.

Remark 1. In Mid.H.G. the stems of all classes of verbs had begun to be used in the initial part of compounds, and the number of such verbal compounds has been considerably on the increase down to modern times. There were always a number of words which to the popular consciousness appeared halfway between nominal and verbal compounds; as do even now such words as streit-lust, tanz-lust, schlummer-stätte, raub-vogel, cp. streit and streiten, tanz and tanzen etc. [Similar uncertainty is felt in English with regard to compounds like show-room paint-brush watch-tower slaughter-house.] But such forms inevitably came to be regarded as verbal when the noun was no longer used uncompounded, e. g. in bethaus, which was formed from O.H.G. beta Mod.H.G. bete 'prayer', but, when this noun was lost, was of necessity connected with the verb beten.

Remark 2. The same process of analogical formation arising from a new interpretation of nominal stems is found in the other West Germanic dialects and in those of Scandinavia; whether it also took place in Gothic is doubtful. See Osthoff, Verbum in der Nominalc. p. 10 ff.

Remark 3. Connected with this is another characteristic of High German which may be mentioned here; — the new meaning given to the initial member of adjectival compounds in -bar, -lich, -haft, -sam. E. g. O.H.G. danc-bāri Mid.H.G. danc-baere at first meant exactly 'gratias (re-) ferens' (O.H.G. danc Goth. þagks 'thanks'), O.H.G. scīn-bāri Mid.H.G. schīn-bære literally meant 'bearing an appearance, having an appearance'. Now when the second member had acquired the character of a suffix, the first was referred to the verb to which it was akin (Mid.H.G. denken and schinen). Hence further new formations like Mid.H.G. hel-baere 'seeking to hide oneself' Mod.H.G. trink-bar ancend-bar etc., in which the second member is used like a primary suffix. See Osthoff loc. cit. p. 112 ff.

§ 42. Class II. Germ. un- 'un-' before consonants and before sonants: Gr. ἀ- ἀν- etc. Goth. un-kunþs O.H.G. un-kund 'unknown': cp. Gr. ἄγνωτος. Goth. un-veis O.H.G. un-wīs 'inexperienced': Lat. in-vīsus; Goth. un-viss 'uncertain': Gr. ἄιστος 'unseen, unknown' (cp. ἄοιος; § 31), cp. I § 527 p. 382. Goth. un-agands 'not fearing'; O.H.G. un-ende n. 'endlessness': Skr. an-antá-s 'endless'. Germ. tuz- 'ill-, mis-' = Gr. δυσ-: Goth. tuz-vērjan, a denominative formation, 'to doubt' ('be chary of faith'), O.H.G. zur-wāri 'suspiciousus, suspectus'.

In the course of the separate development of Germanic several particles were restricted to use in composition, e. g. fra- = Gr. πρό in Gothic and in West Germanic.

§ 43. Class III. Goth. fra-kunþs A.S. fra-coð 'despised': cp. Skr. prá-jñāta-s 'different, recognisable'. O.H.G. frá-tāt

'transgression': cp. Gr. πρό-θις 'a setting forth', Lith. pra-dėti 'to begin' prã-džia 'beginning'. As regards the accent see § 19, 3 p. 37. Goth. af-stass f. 'separation, defection': cp. Gr. ἀπό-πρασς 'separation, defection'. O.H.G. in-ziht f. 'accusation': Lat. in-dictiō, Gr. ἐν-δειξις 'an information'.

Goth. anda-nahti n. 'the time towards night': cp. Lith. añt-kaklė 'that which one has on one's neck (añt kāklo), burden', Gr. ἄντα, ἀντί. ὑφ-ἀίψεις 'under an oath, bound by an oath': cp. Gr. ἐπ-ασπίδιος. φαύρα-δαύρι 'that which is before the door, street': cp. Gr. παρα-θαλάσσιος.

Goth. miþ-gasinþa m. 'travelling companion', Mid.H.G. miterbelinc 'co-heir': Gr. μέτρα. Goth. ufar-fullei O.H.G. ubar-fulli f. 'superabundance': Skr. upári.

O.H.G. niwiht Mid.H.G. niht 'nothing' contrasted with Goth. ni vailhts 'nothing' ni vailhtái 'in nothing, not at all': Goth. vailhts 'thing, something'; we have also O.H.G. neowiht 'nothing' for ni ēo wiht 'no thing at all'. O.H.G. neoman Mid.H.G. nieman 'no one' for ni ēo man, cp. Goth. ni manna and manna ni 'no one'.

§ 44. Class IV. O.H.G. drī-zug A.S. drī-tig 'thirty' = Goth. þreis tigjus, acc. þrins tiguns; O.H.G. zwein-zug A.S. twān-tig twēn-tig 'twenty' was derived from old phrases containing a dative, cp. Goth. tráim tigung 'duabus decadibus'. Other instances of this kind do not occur until later periods. Thus Mod.H.G. jung-geselle 'bachelor' neu-jahr 'New Year' ober-rock 'overcoat' are from the Mid.H.G. phrases junc geselle 'young comrade' nünce jār, ober roc, and these forms are therefore stem-compounds (Class I) only in appearance. Mod.H.G. jeder-mann 'every one', gen. jedermanns, from jeder mann 'every man'. From the common phrases in which a preposition (ze, in etc.) was combined with a place-name consisting of adjective and substantive, arose new nominative forms, as Mid.H.G. Höhen-burc, Höhen-vels; cp. the nom. sing. Schwäben from zen Swāben (dat. pl.).

Many compounds in Germanic contain the genitive. In High German these continually grew more numerous; their development out of mere phrases may often be traced in the literary monuments of the language, e. g. Mod.H.G. hungers-nōt from Mid.H.G. hungers nōt, Baierland from O.H.G. Beiero lant.

O.H.G. (Alemann.) Zios-tac A.S. Tīwes-dæȝ O.Icel. Týs-dagr 'Tiu's (Zio's) day, Tuesday', cp. gen. Gr. Δι(ς)-ἡμέρα Skr. div-ās. Similarly O.H.G. donares-tag A.S. dunres-dæȝ O.Icel. þórs-dagr 'Thursday'.

Goth. baúrgs-vaddjus 'wall of a fortress or city' from baúrg 'fortress, city'. Instead of dulgis skula 'he who has a debt (dulg-s m.) to pay, debtor' (Luke 7, 41) it is perhaps better to write dulgisskula. Crim.-Goth. hæmis-clep would no doubt in Wulfila's Gothic appear as háimis-hlúifs* 'house-bread'.

O.H.G. gotes-hūs 'God's house', hundes-fliuġa (beside hunt-fliuġa) 'dog-fly', Suābo-lant 'Swabia', hanin-fuoȝ 'crow-foot' (name of a plant, lit. 'hen's-foot'), ohsin-zunga 'ox-tongue' (name of a plant), gerstūn-korn 'barley corn', Franchōno-tal 'Frankenthal' (valley of the Franks); with these latter forms containing the gen. sing. or pl. of n-stems cp. § 40 Rem. 4 p. 72. In this class (not in Class I, § 40) should no doubt be placed the further examples O.H.G. truhti-gomo 'follower' brūti-gomo 'bridegroom'. In the Mid.H.G. period first occur compounds with the gen. pl. aller, as aller-best, aller-grōȝest; in O.H.G. we have the phrase allero bezzist. From the beginning of the Modern period substantives are compounded with adjectives in forms like manns-toll (Mid.H.G. mannes tol) 'ἀνδραπονής' geistes-arm (cp. Mid.H.G. lasters arm) 'poor in spirit'.

In Mod.H.G. it was often forgotten that -s was a sign of the genitive in such compounds as hunds-fliege. Hence many new formations; on the one hand, forms like hilfstruppen 'auxiliary troops' nahrungsmittel 'means of subsistence, provisions' from hilfe and nahrung, gen. sing. hilfe, nahrung (Grimm, D. Gr. II 922); on the other hand forms like bauersmann reitersmann instead of bauermann 'countryman' reitermann 'cavalry-man'. Similarly in English occurs doomsday: A.S. dōm-dæȝ, herdsman: Mid.Eng. herde-man. Cp. § 17.

Remark. Compounds containing a dative or accusative governed by the second member do not seem to occur in Gothic nor in the older periods of High German. In any case we must reject the view (Mahlow, Die langen Vocale p. 100) that Gothic seinai-gairnái 'φίλωνται' (gloss on 2 Tim. 3, 2) contains a dat.-loc. and means 'desiring for his own, i. e. for himself'. It is a matter of choice whether to regard this, like the reading láusaivaúrdái beside láusavaúrdái 'ματαιολόγοι' (Tit. 1, 10), as a mere mistake in writing, or to assume that the scribe wished to represent the sound of ē instead of ā, following the pronunciation of his day; cp. Sunjai-friþas (Lat. Suniefriðus) in the Naples Document (Wulfila ed. Bernhardt p. 649), where ai is certainly to be read as ē.

The close connexion between the nom. sing. ein and the oblique cases of ander, which was established in O.H.G., produced the Mid. and Mod.H.G. ein-ander. In O.H.G. we still find such a phrase as sie sind ein anderen ungelīh 'they are unlike each other' (lit. 'one to others'). Cp. Skr. anyō-nya- § 24 p. 41.

Balto-Slavonic.

§ 45. During the proethnic period of Balto-Slavonic only a few new uses seem to have been developed. Two points may be mentioned.

1. The original Indo-Germanic compounds with n-* 'un-' (Class II) gave way to compounds with ne* 'not'. Cp. Lith. ne-gālė 'weakness, sickness, disease' O.C.Sl. ne-mostī 'feebleness, weakness', with Lat. in-valitūdō O.H.G. un-maht. Besides ne-*, another particle, which appears in Lith. as bė, in O.C.Sl. as bezū, and is connected with Skr. bahiṣ 'outside, without', had no doubt begun to be used as a negative prefix; cp. Lith. be-dūgnis O.C.Sl. bez-dūnū 'groundless', Lith. be-dėvis O.C.Sl. bez-bogū 'godless'.

2. The compound adjectival declension came into use, as Lith. gerās-is 'the good (masc.)' = gėras įis (I § 147 p. 131), O.C.Sl. novū-jī novy-jī 'the new (masc.)' (I § 84 p. 80).

§ 46. Lithuanian.

Class I. The nom. sing. of compounds of this group generally ends in -is masc. (gen. -io) and -ė fem. (cp. § 63).

Stems in -o-. Where the second member begins in a consonant, -a- is found less and less frequently in the course of the literary period: the conditions of its loss still need careful investigation (cp. I § 636 p. 477, § 664, 1. 2 p. 522). The old form veida-mainis is now veid-mainys ('changing the countenance') 'hypocrite' from vėida-s 'countenance'. Old form auksa-kasis, modern auks-kasis 'gold-digger' from áuksa-s 'gold'. darbā-rėtė 'place of work' from dárba-s 'work', svetimā-szalis 'foreigner, stranger' from svētima-s 'strange', gera-dėjis 'benefactor', visa-galīs (beside vis-galīs) 'all-powerful, almighty' (or perhaps the last two contain an acc. neut., and belong to Class IV?). szón-kaulis ('side-bone') 'rib' from szóna-s 'side of the body', vilk-paūtis 'wolf's egg' (a kind of malodorous fungus) from vilkā-s 'wolf', minkszt-prōtis 'weak in mind, soft-head' from minkszta-s 'soft, tender'. In Prussian -a- is generally kept, e. g. lauca-gerto 'partridge' from lauka-n acc. 'field', labba-segīsna-n acc. 'benefit' from labba-s 'good'.

Where the second member begins in a vowel, -a- is always dropped, e. g. rēn-ākis 'one-eyed man' from rēna-s 'one'. In Prussian on the other hand (as in Slavonic, § 47) the stem-final is kept; dugo-augis 'summer shoot or sprout' beside daga-gaydis 'summer wheat' (cp. deina-algenika- below, p. 80).

Forms containing the suffix -io-. We still find -ja- in the older authorities, e. g. nauja-vedis 'newly married man' from naūja-s 'new'; cp. Pruss. caria-uoytis karige-wayte 'review' (g in karige- = j), crauya-wirps 'blood-letter' from crauyo kraicia 'blood'. In the modern language -io- stems are treated as though they were stems in -o- or -i-. The stem-final has been lost e. g. in jaut-vedė 'leading-rope for oxen', jaut-akis 'ox-eye' (a plant) from jáutis -cžio 'ox', rėžligė 'cancer' from rėžỹ-s 'crayfish', krau-leidys 'blood-letter' from kraūja-s 'blood'; examples with -a- are grėbl-ā-kotis 'rake-handle' from grėblỹ-s, brōl-ā-vaikis 'brother's son' from brōli-s. Cp. also nauji-kaulis 'bony ex-crescence'.

Remark 1. We meet with spellings like nauj-veda beside nau-vedū 'newly married man', krauj-gyslė 'vein of blood', rėj-malūnis 'windmill' (cp. bažnyč-kėmis beside bažnyt-kėmis below). These forms cannot be said to represent the stage preceding the loss of the j, which is only restored in them from the un-compounded word.

Remark 2. This treatment of jo-stems in composition, which is also found in Lettic, reminds us of the treatment of the same stems where they are extended by derivative suffixes: jaut-akis like jaut-ūžis jaut-aitis 'little ox'. The form žem-obūlys (from žemė), which will be noticed further on, should be compared with karr-ūžė karr-aitė 'little cow' from karrė 'cow'. In Prussian kel-laxde 'spear-shaft' (beside kelia-n 'spear') seems to correspond to these Lithuanian compounds.

Stems in -ā-. -ō- is quite rare; the example sziksznó-spurnis 'bat' was mentioned on p. 25. These stems are usually treated like stems in -o-. galva-žudỹs and galv-žudỹs 'murderer' from galvā 'head'. vasarā-sziltis 'warmth of summer'. barzd-skutỹs 'beard-shaver, barber' from barzdā 'beard'. nugar-kaulis 'backbone' from nugarā 'back'. bal-ùpė 'moorland stream' from balā 'moor, marsh', vasar-augis 'this year's shoot' from vasarā 'summer', like vėn-ākis; cp. on the other hand Pruss. deina-algenikamans dat. 'to day-labourers' from deina-n acc. f. 'day' (Lith. nom. dėnā).

Feminines in -ia -ė -i are treated like the -jo- stems. gìr-parszis 'little wild pig' from gìria gìrė 'wood'. bažnỹt-kėmis (also bažnỹcz-kėmis, see Rem. 1) 'village with a church' from bažnỹczia 'church' (borrowed from Slav.). žėm-skirė 'landmark, field-boundary', žem-obūlys 'earth-apple' from žėmė 'earth'. mar̃t-mergė 'bridesmaid' from mar̃tė, gen. mar̃czyōs, 'bride'. An example with -a- is kregžd-a-žolė 'swallow-wort' from kregždė 'swallow'. In Prussian, the feminines which correspond to the Lith. feminines in -ė show -e- and -i-, the equivalents of Lith. -ė-, e. g. ape-witwo 'river-willow, osier' from ape, Lith. ùpė 'stream', wosi-grabis 'spindle-tree' from wosee 'goat' (Lith. ožė*, cp. masc. ožỹ-s).

Stems in -i-. tri-rāžis 'three-pronged'. In words of more than one syllable -i- is rare, e. g. nakti-kovis 'roving at night'. The forms are usually without -i-, as ak-mirkis 'twinkling of an eye, moment' from akì-s 'eye', ánt-kiauszis 'duck's egg' from ánti-s 'duck'; cp. Pruss. perst-lansta-n 'dust-window, window-shutter' beside O.C.Sl. prŭstŭ f. 'dust'. Here and there we have -a-, as ugn-ā-vėtė 'fireplace' from ugnì-s 'fire' (cp. darbā-vėtė).

Remark 3. These stems may have first followed the analogy of stems in -o- (ugn-o-) and then dropped the -a- (ak-ant-), or else the -i-, where it does not occur, may have fallen out by regular phonetic change, leaving the forms to be remodelled by the analogy of compounds like darbā-vitė. In any case this group of compounds also (see Rem. 2) must be compared with diminutival formations like ak-ūžė 'little eye' ugn-ūžis 'little fire' etc.

Remark 4. aky-mojis = akiu mojis 'moment, twinkling of an eye' aky-moju 'instantaneously' (which we can scarcely suppose to have been influenced by forms like aký-ti aký-la-s etc.) may perhaps contain the nom. acc. du. used as the dual stem, aki for akí*, see I § 664 p. 523. Cp. the retention of the original i in trý-lika 'thirteen'. Whether ie in Bretken's akie-mirkėnis 'moment' (Bezenberger's Beitr. zur Gesch. d. lit. Spr. 270) stands for ia is doubtful. — It may be asked in passing how we should regard the y in aby-pusė 'on both sides', which contains the dual abi pusi, where abi comes from abč̣*. Should we compare (in spite of the different accentuation) the relation of apy- to api- apč̣, of pry- to pri- prč̣?

Stems in -u-. -u- was on the whole rather better preserved than -a- and -i-. alū-daris 'brewer' from alū-s 'beer'. virszū-galtis 'upper part of the head, crown' from virszū-s 'upper (part)'. The loss of -u- (-iu-) and the intrusion of -a- in its stead appear to be connected with the partial transition of u-stems into the o-decl.: pēt-talgis 'midday meal' from pētūs pl. 'midday', žmog-žulỹs 'murderer of men' žmog-ėdỹs 'devourer of men' from žmogū-s 'man', gyr-pelnỹs 'ambitious person, braggart' from gỹriu-s 'fame', pig-ā-kalbis beside pig-kalbis 'proficient in speaking' from pigū-s 'easy, cheap'. The form placz-kojis beside plat-kójis 'broad-foot' (platū-s 'broad') is explained by reference to the cases which have -io-, as dat. sing. placziā-m, cp. bažnyč-kėmis beside bažnyt-kėmis p. 79.

Amongst consonantal stems there is scarcely a single example of a genuine type which has not undergone some destructive change in the course of its development. szūn-obūlei pl. ('dog's-apples') 'hawthorn' from szū, gen. szuñs, 'dog', like Gr. κυν-ωπις, can scarcely be considered a direct representative of an original type: this is shewn by the forms szun-musė 'dog-fly' szuñ-szuđis 'stercus caninum', which by the rules of formation in Indo-Germanic should have been szcin-* (= Skr. śca- Idg. kyn-*). móter-žolės pl. 'mother-wort'

(from móté, gen. moteĩs, 'woman') shows the strong form of the stem, in contrast to the original type.

Class II. Of this class there is no trace in Baltic.

Class III. pra-miñtas 'named': Skr. prá-mata-s 'contrived, uttered'. pér-pintas 'plaited crosswise': O.C.Sl. prě-petŭ 'drawn outwards, outspread'; pér-jũstas 'girt over, girt about': Gr. περί-ζωστος 'girt about'.

pér-galvė 'that which is laid over or around the head, hood': cp. Gr. περι-κέφαλον περι-κεφαλαῖα 'head-covering'. apý-vakaris 'the time towards evening' (apė vākarą). pa-stalė 'drawer under the table (põ stalũ)'.

āt-taikas āt-lėkas 'remnant': O.C.Sl. otŭ-lėkŭ. sán-dora 'concord', sá-szlavos pl. 'sweepings': cp. O.C.Sl. są- Skr. sam-.

ne-kàs 'scarcely any one, hardly any one'. ne-vėna-s 'not only one, not alone', but Pruss. ne-ains ni-ains 'no one', cp. Lat. noenu-m nōn.

Class IV. dù-szintu 'two hundred' trỹ-szintai 'three hundred' (for trys-szintai* according to I § 664, 6 p. 524) beside dù szintũ = trỹ(s) szintaiĩ. trỹ-lika 'thirteen' keturió-lika 'fourteen' no doubt contain the nom. acc. pl. neut. Accusative forms: szĩ-mėt 'this year', szė-nakt 'this night', anā-syk 'that time' for szĩ mėta, szė naktĩ, anā syki. We have no doubt instrumentals in szė-pus 'on this side' anā-pus 'on that side' from pūsė 'half'. aby-pusėĩ 'on both sides' is formed from abi pusĩ 'both sides' (cp. Rem. 4). Du. nom. masc. jũ-du fem. jė-dvi, dat. instr. masc. jėm-dvėm fem. jóm-dvėm, from jĩs 'he' and dũ 'two', similarly du. pacziũ-du from pàts 'self', with other forms of the same sort.

In some dialects we find kas-vākaras adj. 'every evening' kas-mėts adj. 'every year', originally subordinate relative clauses, i. e. 'which ever evening (year) it may be' (the Author, Lit. Volksl. u. Mārch. 320, and for a similar usage in Slavonic see Miklosich, Vergl. Gr. II 376, IV 87). In other dialects the analogy of accusatives of time like tā (szĩ) vākarą 'in the evening (this evening)' gave rise to kasvākarą, kasmėta, similarly kasdėna 'daily' and other forms; and, with loss of the ending, kasmēt kasdēn etc.; and further, derivatives like kasdēnis kasdēninis 'daily'. Cp. Lat. quotannīs § 36 p. 63.

Compounds having a dependent genitive for their first member are rare; e. g. szuns-ūdēgius ('dog-tailed person') 'flatterer, fawner' from szū, gen. szuñs, 'dog'. There are more examples in Lettic, as femes-māte 'earth-goddess' from feme = Lith. žemė 'earth'.

Remark 5. How are we to regard būts-angē 'house-door' (būta-s 'house'), and Lett. gads-kārta 'time of year' (gads 'year', stem gada-) which seems to be a form of the same kind? Was there a stem butes-*? (No great importance perhaps should be attached to the Prussian form buttas-taws beside buttan-tāws and butta-tāwas 'house-father').

Further, what is the origin of the y in karsztymetis 'hot time' (kárszta-s 'hot', kařszti-s m. 'heat'), brangymetis 'dear time, dearth' (brangū-s 'dear'), darbymetis 'work-time' (dārba-s 'work'), vasarymetis 'summer time' (vasarā 'summer')? Should we start from the nom. pl. karsztī mētai (cp. aby-pusē from abi pusī, Rem. 4) or a form karsztymētai*? For the general use of the ending -ymetis cp. Gr. -ῥόπος; -ῥηρις; § 29 Rem. p. 47.

kits kitā 'one another' is now regarded so much as a single word that the first part retains its masculine form even when the subject is feminine. In Bretken (16th century) we still find moteriszkēs gēdōja prēsž kitā kitā 'the women sang against each other'.

§ 47. Slavonic. Class I. Many of the following examples are not popular combinations, but a scholar's translations of Greek compounds.

Stems in -o-. The stem has -o-, whether the second member begins with a consonant or a sonant. O.C.Sl. bogo-rodica 'mother of God' from bogū 'God', črīno-člasū 'black-haired' from črīnū 'black', črīno-okū 'black-eyed', bogo-izbranū 'chosen of God'. bogo-učenū 'taught of God'.

Forms with -je- from -jo- (I § 84 p. 80): voje-voda 'leader of a host' from voji pl. 'warriors, soldiers', lūže-prorokū 'false prophet', from lūžē 'lying, false', gnoje-imenitū 'ῥονοῦρμος' (nickname of a Byzantine emperor) from gnojī 'dung', maže-ubijica 'homicida' from mažī 'man'. Through the preponderance of the forms with -o-, this sound often took the place of pr.

Slav. -e- in later Slavonic, e. g. Serv. konjo-zobica ('equum nutriens') 'bag of fodder'.

Stems in -a- always show the ending of the o-stems. vodo-nosū 'water-vessel' from voda 'water', raĥo-přsanije (χερό-γραφον) 'bill of debt, bond' from raĥa 'hand'; raĥo-obyčīnū 'accustomed to the hand, tame'. zemlje-měrije 'land-measurement, geometry' from zemlja 'land', zmiĥe-nožīnū 'snake-footed, with feet of or like snakes' from zmija 'snake', duše-gubīnū 'destroying the soul, annihilating' from duša 'soul', zmiĥe-obrazīnū 'having the form of a snake', duše-ubijīca 'murderer of souls'. Serv. zmijo-glav 'snake-headed' for the older and true form zmiĥe-.

Stems in -i-. trī-zabū 'trident' from tri 'three'. Many examples have -o-, following the analogy of o-stems: as gosto-ljubivū 'hospitable' from gostī 'stranger, guest', zvěro-vidīnū 'having the appearance of a wild beast' from zvērī 'wild beast', sūmrīto-nosivū 'death-bringing' from sūmrītī 'death', zvěro-obrazīnū 'having the form of a wild beast'. We often find -e- (but this is late), e. g. zvěre-vidīnū beside zvěro-vidīnū, zvěre-imenītīnū beside zvěro-imenītīnū 'named after an animal', pate-voždī 'guide'.

Remark. It is a question whether in the latter examples -e- is the e of the stems in -jo- (voje- etc.), as Osthoff assumes (Verb. in d. Nominalc. 213), or the e of forms like pātemī for pātimī (I § 36 p. 36, Leskien, Handb.² p. 21 ff.). Osthoff's view seems to be the true one.

Stems in -u- have -o-. syno-tvorjenije 'ἰογενεῖα, reception into the position of a son' from synū 'son'. medo-točīnū 'sweet-streaming' from medū 'honey'. Compare the transference of u-stems to the o-declension, which is found in the very earliest authorities; such forms as synochū instead of synūchū (I § 52 p. 44, and Leskien, Handb.² p. 21 ff.), need hardly be taken into account; see the last Remark. As regards medvĕdī see § 12 p. 26.

krūv-o-politije 'bloodshed' from the stem krūv- 'blood', gen. sing. krūv-e, Idg. stem gru-* grū-*, cp. Gr. ἰχθυο-φάγος. Yet the forms with -o- may not have sprung up until after some of the cases of the word had been formed afresh in the i-declension, as nom. krŭc-ī.

Stems in -n-. kamen-o-vidinŭ 'having the appearance of a stone' from kamy 'stone'. imen-o-nosinŭ 'bearing a name' from ime 'name'. The original types of formation seem to have completely disappeared.

Stems in -r-. matere-dosaditelŭ and matere-ubijica 'matricide' like zrĕre-vidinŭ (see p. 84 above). Beside these we have, without -o-, ĉetvrĕ-gubŭ 'quadruplus' for ĉetver-gubŭ*.

Stems in -s-. Generally -o- appears instead of -es-; ĉudo-toĉinŭ 'sending forth wonders, spreading them abroad' from ĉudo 'wonder', oko-izmelinŭ 'casting out the eye' (on the other hand Russ. and Serv. have oĉe-, Russ. oĉe-vidnyj 'appearing to the eye') from oko 'eye'; compare the transference of forms from the es-declension to that of o-stems, as instr. sing. neboŋ beside nebesimŭ. More rarely we find -es-o-, as ĉudes-o-toĉinŭ beside ĉudo-toĉinŭ, nebes-o-podražatelinŭ 'imitating heaven', cp. loc. pl. nebesĕchŭ instead of nebesichŭ.

Of Class II no examples remain in Slavonic.

Class III. pro-stritŭ 'outstretched': cp. Skr. prā-stīrṇa-s 'stretched forth, outspread'. u-veštŭ 'crowned' u-vešti 'to crown': cp. Pruss. au-klipt-s 'hidden' Skr. āva-hata-s 'struck back, driven off; slain'. iz-ĉtŭ 'taken out' iz-ĉti 'to take out': Lith. isz-iṃta-s isz-iṃti.

pri-morije 'the region by the sea' (pri mori). na-glavije 'turban' (that which is on the head [na glavĕ]). Cp. Miklosich, Denkschr. d. Wiener Ak. XIII 19 f.

sq-logŭ 'consors tori': cp. Gr. ἄ-λοχος, Idg. som-* sm-* 'together, with'. pa-dŭšti 'step-daughter': Lith. pó-dukra.

Class IV. bratŭ-sestra 'brother and sister'; this was inflected like the nom. du. of an o-stem, hence bratŭsestroma; compare the dimin. bratŭsestrica. Jisusŭ-Christosŭ has gen. Jisusŭ-Christosa. dŭca-deseŭinŭ 'twentieth' (beside dvo-desŭinŭ), derived from dŭca deseŭi (two decades) 'twenty'. Many similar examples occur in modern Slavonic dialects; e. g. in Polish ucielka-noc (great night) 'Easter' has gen. dat. ucielkanocy.

polu-nošti 'in the middle (loc.) of the night (gen.), at midnight', and similarly polu-dñe 'at midday'; compare polu-noštije 'midnight' polu-dñije 'midday', polu-noštinü adj. 'of midnight' polu-dñinü adj. 'of midday'. obonüpolinü 'situated on the further bank', derived from obü onü polü 'on that side, on the further bank'. peři-na-desetünü 'fifteenth', derived from peři na desete (five on ten) 'fifteen'. With -o-, the 'vowel of composition', inserted: osmo-na-desetü 'eighteenth', cp. Gr. καλο-ᾠδα § 30 p. 51. Compare on this subject Baudouin de Courtenay in Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. IV 204 ff.

krüvi-prolitije (beside kruv-o-prolitije, see above) 'bloodshed', gen. of krüvü 'blood'. domu-zakoninikü 'house-manager', gen. or loc. of domü 'house'. bratu-čeda (beside brato-čeda) 'brother's daughter', dat. (possessive dat.) of bratü 'brother', bogu-mrüzükü (beside bogo-mrüzükü) 'hated of God' bogu-milü (beside bogo-milü) 'dear to God' (proper name), dat. of bogü 'God'. doma-čedici 'domi natus, vernaculus' doma-živici 'living at a place, inhabitant', doma adv. 'at home' from domü. As the special meaning given by the case of the first member became obscured, there sprang up formations like Czech. Bohu-sud on the analogy of Bohu-mil, cp. O.C.Sl. bogo-sqđině adv. 'dei iudicio'.

The -i- appearing in the cases of the i-stems (krüvi-prolitije) was connected in popular usage with verbs in -iti and treated as having an imperatival force. Such a form, for instance, as Misti-drugü (Czech. Msti-druh) was properly 'ultionis socius', misti being gen. of mislü 'vengeance'; but since misti was also 2. sing. impv. of mstiti 'to avenge', the word came to be regarded as meaning 'ulciscere socium'. This change of meaning produced a large number of compounds which were either formed on the new type, or altered to suit it, e. g. Serv. Ljubi-voj ('love the warrior', ljubiti 'to love') instead of Ljubo-voj*, cp. Ljubo-brat 'φιλάδελφος'. See Osthoff, Verbum i. d. Nom. p. 209 ff. Cp. § 30. 41.

NOUN COMPOUNDS CONSIDERED IN RESPECT OF THEIR MEANING.

§ 48. In Stem-Compounds of the proethnic Indo-Germanic type (e. g. Skr. aśva-hayá-s Gr. ἵππό-βοτο-ς) the nature of the relation which the first member of the compound bore to the second was quite undefined to start with. It was implied solely in the particular meaning which happened to be assigned to any one such combination. The logical relation between the two parts must naturally have assumed a different character in different cases. If the parts of a compound meant 'sun' and 'moon' respectively, the logical connexion between them would not be the same as if they meant 'sun' and 'beam': 'sun and moon' in the first case, 'beam of the sun' in the second. If words meaning 'man' and 'slaying' were compounded, they would be related in one way ('slaying a man'); words meaning 'spear' and 'slaying', in another ('slaying with the spear'). A number of compounds whose parts had the same logical connexion would form a group, and many such groups arose in the proethnic Indo-Germanic period. Hence even the proethnic compounds of noun-stems may be arranged in a series of Classes according to their meaning. These Classes, we shall find, need no serious extension to include all the compounds of this kind formed at later times in the separate languages.

The compounds whose initial member was a definite inflexional form have a different history. From the first this inflected form gave to the relation between the parts a perfectly defined meaning, e. g. Skr. divi-já- 'born in heaven', divō-ríc- 'shining from heaven'. It must be observed, however, that in later times the special meaning attached to the inflexional ending of the initial member was often forgotten. Cp. § 17 p. 32 f.

The native grammarians of India and modern students of language in Europe have devoted much labour to the task of classifying compounds according to their meaning.

Remark. It must be confessed that in these attempts at classification scholars have almost from first to last allowed too much influence to a desire for logical symmetry, and too little to the true historical method, which abstains from all criticism that is merely a priori and that is not directly suggested by and limited to the nature of the facts to be studied. In particular it is often forgotten that in most compounds the mutual relation of the two parts in the mind of the speaker which the scholar has to reproduce is a conception far too indefinite and variable to be confidently assigned, as too often it is, to this one or that of the numerous classes of meaning. Hence there has often been a needless amount of contention as to whether a compound belongs to one class or the other, whether for example Skr. sakhi-gaṇa- (sakhi- 'friend', gaṇa- 'band') is one of the Dependent [Whitney, Skr. Gr. § 1263] or of the Descriptive [ib. § 1279] compounds (whether it is equivalent to 'amicorum caterva' or 'amica caterva'); or whether πατερ- in πατρο-φονεύς 'patricide' is to be regarded as genitive or accusative. But as a rule these precise relations of meaning were simply imported into the words by the grammarian — a mistake natural enough where a paraphrase was needed to render the compounds into other languages — whilst the speakers themselves were content with a general impression of the meaning. If the established canons are to be strictly maintained, we must at least allow a large number of intermediate stages, in which the different classes meet.

§ 49. There are two leading principles by which we can distinguish the different kinds of compounds, which go back to the proethnic period and which are of primary importance in any attempt to classify the compounds according to their meanings. First 'coordinating compounds, (called in Sanskrit dvandva) are opposed to 'subordinating compounds'; and secondly 'non-epithetised' (nicht mutierte) are opposed to 'epithetised' (mutierte) compounds'. But in neither pair were the contrasted classes ever absolutely distinct; there were always various intermediate stages between one class and the other.

In the first of the two contrasted classes, the coordinating compounds, the two members stand side by side on the same level, nothing more being implied than the addition of two items; these may be regarded as joined together by 'and', whence such compounds have been called 'copulative'. In subordinating compounds, on the other hand, one member is defined more closely by the other; the one contains the principal idea, the other is merely an adjunct subordinated to it.

The subordinating compounds certainly formed by far the larger group in the Indo-Germanic period, and so it has remained in nearly all the subsequent developments of the separate languages (Sanskrit is an exception, see p. 90 f.). The way in which one of the two members was defined by the other was shewn in each case by their meaning or grammatical character, and in all periods it has varied between very wide limits. We may instance the following groups of compounds with parallel meanings in the different languages.

1. Skr. rāja-rṣi-ṣ 'a sage who is a king, royal sage', Gr. ἰατρό-μαντις 'a seer who is a physician', Lat. angui-pēs 'having a foot which is a serpent, serpent-footed', O.Ir. rīg-fáith 'a prophet who is a king, royal prophet' ban-chu 'a dog which is a female, bitch', Goth. þiu-magus 'a boy who is a servant' (translation of παῖς) O.H.G. gold-ring 'a ring which is gold, gold ring', Lith. obel-medis 'a tree which is a pyrus malus (obelis), apple-tree', O.C.Sl. konje-člověkū 'a man who is a horse, centaur'.

2. Skr. mātṛ-śvasar- 'mother's sister', Armen. skesr-air 'mother-in-law's husband', Gr. πατρ-ἀδελφος 'father's brother', Lat. mūs-cerda 'mouse's dung', O.Ir. rīg-thech 'king's house', Goth. þiudan-gardi f. 'king's house', Lith. broł-ā-vaikis 'brother's child' O.C.Sl. brato-čęda 'brother's daughter'. Cp. compounds containing genitive forms like Skr. mātuḥ-śvasar- 'mother's sister', Armen. haur-elbair 'father's brother'.

3. Skr. adhara-hanú-ṣ 'lower jawbone', Armen. kaḷ-air 'valiant man', Gr. ἀκρό-πολις 'upper city, upper part of the city', Lat. plēni-lūnium 'full moon' longi-pēs 'having a long foot', O.Ir. find-folt 'having white hair', Goth. hráinja-hairts 'having a pure heart', O.H.G. junc-frouwa 'young lady', Lith. jā'd-varnis 'black raven' rud-kāklis 'having a red neck' O.C.Sl. krivo-nosū 'crook-nosed'.

4. Skr. saptá-rṣay-as pl. 'the seven wise men' (name given to the Great Bear) tri-rātrá-m 'space of time including three nights', Armen. hing-am 'five years, quinquennium', Gr. τρί-πους 'three-legged frame' τέτταρ-ιππον 'team of four horses', Lat. bi-pēs tri-noctium, O.Ir. tre-choste 'tripod' Gall. tri-garanus 'provided with three cranes', O.H.G. zwi-houbit 'having two heads', Lith. tri-rāžis 'having three prongs' O.C.Sl. tri-zabŭ 'having three teeth'.

5. Skr. tāmra-dhūmrá-s 'dark tan-coloured', Gr. ὠχρο-ξανθος 'pale yellow', O.Ir. dub-glass 'dark blue', Mid.H.G. bleich-grüne 'pale green', Lith. jū'd-bėris 'black-brown' Russ. světlo-zelenyj 'light green'.

6. Skr. vēda-vid- 'knowing the Veda, Veda-knower', Gr. βου-πλήξ 'goading oxen, ox-goad', Lat. jū-dex 'declaring right, judge'.

In this way a large number of categories may be distinguished; but the boundary line between any two is never clearly marked.

The coordinating compounds have nowhere been largely developed except in Sanskrit, and there only in the post-Vedic period. Probably there was a time in proethnic Indo-Germanic when no compounds of this class existed except those which had a case-form for their initial member, e. g. duō-dekē* 'twelve' (2 + 10): Skr. dvā-daśa etc., see § 16 p. 32; and dvandva compounds with a stem for the initial member only arose when compounds containing a case were re-modelled on the analogy of the older subordinating class, which had the simple stem. This process of conversion may often be traced with certainty in historical times, e. g. Skr. parjānya-vāta instead of the older form parjānyā-vāta 'raincloud and wind' (§ 24 p. 41), cp. also Gr. καλο-κάγαθία, νηλιπο-καιβλεπίλαιος, O.C.Sl. osmo-nadesetŭ (§ 30 p. 51), and Skr. pūrva-pūrvas for pūrvas-pūrvas and the like, § 53. The use of the stem instead of a case cemented the combination more firmly; and such a process would be all the more natural because many compounds of the subordinating class approach very closely to the coordinating compounds in regard to the particular relation subsisting between their parts, and there was never any sharp distinction between the two groups (cp. p. 91).

Whether dvandva compounds were formed with the simple stem in proethnic Aryan is doubtful. Even in the Rig-Veda, coordinating compounds containing the simple stem occur only rarely by the side of those containing a case; e. g. ajātāyas (aja-arāyas) pl. 'goats and sheep'. The extension of the class is a special developement in Sanskrit, spreading only by slow degrees, until in the classical language we find any number of nouns thus strung together into what was grammatically a single word, as mukhabāhūrūpādatas (mukha-bāhū-uru-pādatas) 'from countenance, arms, thighs. and feet'. In non-Aryan languages, coordinating compounds containing a stem are, on the whole, comparatively rare. In Greek no clear examples occur until rather late, e. g. λυρο-ασπίδ 'lyres and shields' seen in τορνευτο-λυροασπίδο-πηγῆς 'joining together turned lyres and shields'¹), νυχθ-ήμερον 'diem noctemque', λουτρά ἀνδρό-γυνα 'baths for men and women alike', λευκο-μέλεις 'white and black'; in Modern Greek there are many formations of this kind, as γυναικό-παιδα 'women and children', μαχαρο-πήρινα 'knives and forks'. Lat. reci-procu-s, originally 'going backwards and forwards' (§ 86 a), su-ove-aurilia (the form su-ori-aurilia is perhaps more correct) 'a sacrifice in which a pig, a sheep, and an ox are slain'. In Keltic and Germanic I know of no examples except those whose initial member may conceivably be a case, as Mid.Ir. brat-gaisced 'mantle and weapons' gorm-gel 'blue and white' O.H.G. sunu-fatar-ungo Hild. 4 'people of the son and the father' (-unga- is a suffix which denotes 'belonging to' something, cp. § 88) and O.Sax. gi-sūn-fader 'son and father', whose initial member may be nom. sing. (cp. O.C.Sl. bratū-sestra, where it is certainly so). Lith. vyr-moterinis 'concerning man and wife, concerning married people', Lett. mi/ch-āušas 'barley and oats'; O.C.Sl. maže-ženū 'having the nature of man and of woman, ἀνδρόγυνος' (Gregor. Naz.), Russ. belo-rumjanyj 'white and red' (of the face).

We have already remarked that there is no fixed boundary between coordinating and subordinating compounds. The Greek ἰατρό-μαρτις, which was placed in the latter class on p. 89, may be also taken to mean 'one who is physician and seer', and similarly there are two possible explanations of such compounds as τραγ-έλαφος 'goat-stag' γλυκύ-πικρός 'bitter-sweet', Lat. dulc-acidus, and many more in all the Indo-Germanic languages.

§ 50. The distinction between the two classes of compounds which we term 'non-epithetised' and 'epithetised' (other terms widely used are 'primary' and 'secondary', compounds of 'lower' or of 'higher order'; the second class is called by the Sanskrit grammarians bahuvrīhi) depends upon a certain change of meaning in the compounds, developed in proethnic Indo-Germanic, and since that time constantly repeated in new-examples. For instance, dus-menes-* 'evil mind' (immutatum) acquired the meaning 'an evil-minded person' (mutatum) (nom. sing. Skr. durmanās Gr. δυσμενής), and in Modern German dick-kopf 'thick-head' means 'a thick-headed person' [cp. Eng. redbreast etc.] The essential point in this process is the conversion of a substantive into an adjective; the concrete meaning was disregarded, so that the idea remaining in the word was solely that of the quality or qualities which belonged to the concrete person or thing. This developement of meaning is one which may often be traced even in uncompounded substantives, and it will often meet us again in the course of our investigation. The substantival origin of these forms is still sometimes shewn in the deficient expression of their adjectival function; e. g. in Greek ῥοδοδάκτυλο- 'rosy-fingered' was used in spite of its -o- for the fem. as well as the masc., and χρῦσο-κόμη- 'golden-haired' in spite of its -η- for the masc. as well as the feminine. But extended formations were very soon developed to give fuller expression to the adjectival character of the compounds; for instance the adjectival -iō- had come to be used as a convenient affix in the proethnic period: cp. Skr. dāśa-mās-īya- 'happening every ten months' etc., § 63, 2. It is probable, as we saw in § 19 p. 35, that there was even then a difference in accentuation between the mutata and the immutata.

The student must be on his guard against the idea that every epithetised compound in the Indo-Germanic languages has passed through this course of developement for itself. By far the greatest number were formed with the derived sense, on the model of older forms.

Both subordinating and coordinating compounds containing substantives are found with the epithetised meaning; e. g. Gr. πολύ-οινος 'having much wine' and ἀνδρό-γυνος 'intended for men and women' (λουτρόν). Examples have been given in the preceding section, and to these a few may be added from the group of subordinating compounds. Skr. hiraṇya-kēśa-s 'golden-haired', Armen. hast-a-bazuk 'strong-armed', Gr. λευκ-ώλενος 'white-armed', Lat. māgn-animus, O.Ir. nocht-chenn 'bare-headed', Goth. hráinja-hairts 'who has a pure heart', Lith. minkszt-galvis 'who has a weak head' = 'soft-headed' O.C.Sl. črino-olasŭ 'black-haired': cp. the non-epithetised compounds Skr. adhara-hanú-ṣ 'lower jawbone', Gr. ἀκρό-πολις 'upper city' etc. p. 89. Skr. a-putrá-s 'who has not a son, sonless' Armen. an-kin 'who has no wife, widower', Gr. ἄ-παις 'childless', Lat. im-berbis, Mod.Cymr. an-niwedd 'endless, unending' (from Mid.Cymr. diwed 'end' = O.Ir. dēad); in Germanic and in Balto-Slavonic there is no group of epithetised compounds with ṛ-* 'un-', but cp. Mod.H.G. eine verfolgte unschuld = 'innocent person', lit. 'persecuted innocence', Lith. ne-kalbà 'no-speech' = 'who says nothing'. Parallel to these are the non-epithetised compounds, Skr. á-kumāra-s 'no boy (any longer)', Lat. in-imīcu-s, O.H.G. un-chraft 'weakness', etc.

Finally we must observe that even between mutata and immutata no sharp line can be drawn. Take for example the Greek ἄδωρα δῶρα 'gifts that are no gifts' (Soph. Aj. 665). Here ἄδωρα may be regarded equally well as a substantive or an adjective; so also πόλις νεόπολις (Aesch. Eumen. 690) and similar instances. In these the feeling of the language may be as undecided as it is e. g. in the Mod.H.G. phrases es ist not 'there is need of it, it is needed', er ist schuld 'he is the guilty cause, it is his fault' and the like. Speaking generally, no sharp distinction between substantive and adjective can be drawn in the Indo-Germanic languages (§ 138).

§ 51. We distinguish three groups:

I. Forms in which the first element of the reduplication is a more or less complete form of the root, e. g. Skr. gár-gar-as 'eddy';

II. Forms in which it is a noun-stem, e. g. Skr. sukha-sukhēna (instr.) 'very gladly';

III. Forms in which it is a case-form, e. g. Skr. divē-divē 'daily, day by day' (loc.).

With the second group should be compared such compounds as Skr. sukha-svāpa-s 'pleasant sleep'; with the third, compounds like Skr. divō-jā-s 'child of heaven' (§ 10 ff.).

§ 52. Class I. A number of the words belonging to this class may have been either formed directly as nouns, or derived from older reduplicated verbal forms. No certain line of distinction can be drawn; and though we shall here take no account of verbal nouns in the strict sense, i. e. participles etc. (e. g. Gr. κῆ-κρᾱγ-ώς), yet we must include many nouns which were certainly formed in connexion with the verbal system (e. g. Gr. κῆ-κρᾱγ-μός).

As regards forms with 'broken reduplication' see § 6 p. 13.

1. Many reduplicated forms derived from roots beginning in a consonant stand in more or less clear connexion with intensive verbal formations, as Skr. dár-dar-ti 'rends asunder, shatters'.

Skr. gár-gar-as 'eddy', Gr. γαρ-γαρ-εών 'uvula' γέρ-γερ-ος 'throat, gullet', Lat. gur-gul-iō gur-g-es, O.H.G. quer-chal-a quer-ch-a O.Icel. kver-k 'throat' (for the interchange of r and l see I § 282 p. 225 f.): cp. the Skr. intensive verbal forms, part. jár-gur-āṇa-s and 2 sing. jál-gul-a-s. Skr. bam-bhar-a-s 'bee', Gr. πεμ-φρ-ηδών a kind of wasp: bhem-bh(e)r-* for bher-bher-*, see I § 282 p. 226. Gr. τή-θῆ 'grandmother' τη-θί-ς 'aunt', Lith. dė-dė 'uncle' O.C.Sl. dě-dŭ 'grandfather'.

1) The authorities on this subject are cited on p. 11, footnote 2.

Skr. gad-gad-as 'stammering', beside gád-a-ti 'pronounces'. cañ-cal-cas 'moving to and fro' beside 3. sing. cañ-cal-ya-tē. Avest. ra-rem-a- 'resting, reposing', from $\sqrt{\text{rem-}}$. Skr. rē-rih-á-s 'licking' vē-vij-á-s 'hastening'.

Gr. βάρ-βαρ-ος 'speaking unintelligibly': Lat. bal-b-u-s, cp. Skr. bal-bal-a-karōmi 'I stammer'. γογ-γύλ-ος 'round', beside γανλός 'milk-pail, vessel'. παι-πάλ-η 'flour-dust', beside πάλ-η 'flour-dust, dust', Lat. pollen.

Lat. quer-quer-u-s 'cold, so as to make one shiver'; compare perhaps Goth. faúrht-s 'timid' (Bezzenger in his Beitr. XII 77, and above, I § 444 p. 329). Mar-mar (Song of the Arval Brethren): Gr. μάρ-μαρ-ος 'gleaming, shining'? (Pauli, Altital. Stud. IV 56 ff.). derbiðsu-s 'full of scabs or sores' for der-d-u-* (I § 170 p. 150): Skr. dar-dr-u- dar-d-ū-* 'eruption on the skin'. can-cer (I § 269 p. 217): Gr. καρ-κ-ίνο-ς Skr. kar-kata-s 'crab'.

O.Ir. dor-d 'susurrus' (cp. 3. sing. mid. derdrethar 'there is a sound, a cry'): Gr. τερ-θρ-ιᾶ 'empty chatter' τορ-θρ-ύ-ς 'murmur'. graiɡ 'drove of horses' for gra-gi-?*: Gr. γέρ-γερ-α πολλά Hesych., γάρ-γαρ-α 'swarm, heap' (γαρ-γαίρω 'I swarm'), Lat. grex stem gre-g-; cp. § 160 Rem. 1.

Mid.H.G. mur-mer mur-mel 'murmur, growl, dull sound' (O.H.G. mur-mur-ōn mur-mul-ōn 'to murmur'): Skr. mar-mar-a-s 'roaring, roar', Lat. mur-mur, cp. Gr. μορμύρω for μορ-μυρ-ιω* 'I murmur, roar', Lith. mūr-m-iu 'I growl'. O.H.G. muo-ma 'mother's sister': Lith. mo-mà O.C.Sl. ma-ma 'mother'.

Russ. pele-pel-ka pere-pel (I § 251 Rem. 2 p. 224 f.) Lith. pė-pal-a (or pė-pal-a) Lat. pai-pal-a Pruss. pen-pul-o 'quail': cp. Lat. pul-pul-āre pul-p-āre 'cry, shriek' (of birds)? O.C.Sl. gla-gol-ŭ 'noise, word' for gol-gol-* (loc. cit.): Skr. gar-gar-a-s a musical instrument, Gr. γαρ-γαρ-ί-ς θόρυβος Hesych. (cod. γαργαρής). Lith. kañ-kal-a-s 'bell' kañ-kl-ys 'guitar' O.C.Sl. kla-kol-ŭ 'bell' for kol-kol-* (loc. cit.): Skr. kar-kar-i-š 'sound'. Serv. vje-ver-ica Mod.Slov. vě-ver-ica Lith. vo-ver-ė vaĩ-ver-i-s Lett. wá-wer-i-s Pruss. we-war-e: Mod.Pers. var-var-ah Mod.Cymr. gwy-icer 'squirrel'. Mod.Slov. Mod.Bulg. pa-prat Pol. pa-proć Russ. pa-poroť and Lith. (borrowed?) pa-párti-s 'fern', cp. O.H.G. var-n 'fern'.

2. In other nouns from roots beginning in a consonant the form of the reduplication must be compared with that seen in verbal forms with Idg. e, such as Gr. δέ-δορκ-α κέ-κλ-ετο; and there is no doubt that in some cases there is a direct connexion between the verbal and nominal forms.

Skr. ba-bhr-ú-ṣ adj. 'brown', (when used as a subst. it means a large kind of ichneumon) Avest. ba-wr-i-š 'beaver', O.H.G. bibar (cp. filu 'much' ground-form pelu*) Lith. bėbru-s O.C.Sl. bebrŭ 'beaver', Idg. bhe-bhr-u-*; Gall. Bibrax and Lat. fiber belong to 3 (infr.), so also perhaps Corn. befer 'beaver' (which however may very possibly be a word borrowed from A.S.). Skr. ca-kr-á-m 'circle, wheel' Avest. ca-xr-e-m 'wheel', A.S. hweo-wol hweól 'wheel', Idg. qe-ql-o-*, cp. also Gr. κύ-κλ-ο-ς vol. I § 427 p. 314 and the unreduplicated O.C.Sl. kolo (stem koles-) n. 'wheel'.

Skr. va-vr-t-i-ṣ 'covering' va-vr-á-s 'hiding oneself' Avest. -vaoiri- 'husk' (for ua-ur-i-*, I § 160 p. 144), cp. the Skr. perfect stem va-vr- from var- 'cover over'. Skr. cá-kr-i-ṣ 'effecting' ca-kr-u-ṣ 'accomplisher', cp. the perfect stem ca-kr-. Skr. da-d-t-i-ṣ 'giving' dá-dh-i-ṣ 'bestowing', cp. the present and perfect stems da-d-, da-dh-. With these compare Ved. sā-sah-t-i-ṣ 'victorious', with the perfect stem sā-sah-. Skr. da-dh-ṣ-á-s 'bold, courageous'. Avest. za-zar-an- 'raging'.

Gr. τέ-ταν-ο-ς 'tension of the limbs', from $\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$. τέ-τραξ probably 'guineahen', beside τε-τράζω 'cackle'. κε-κρύφ-αλο-ς and κε-κρύφ-αλο-ς 'net-headress, hood', beside κέ-κρυφ-α. βέ-βη-λο-ς 'accessible, profanus', beside βέ-βη-κα. κε-κράγ-μό-ς 'cry', beside κέ-κράγ-α. πέ-ποιθ-ησι-ς 'trust' (late), beside πέ-ποιθ-α. σέ-συφ-ο-ς πανοῦργος Hesych. πέ-πλ-ο-ς 'outside garment, cloak, covering, the peritonaeum', probably to be compared with πέλλα 'skin, leather' πέλμα 'sole of the foot or shoe'.

Lat. me-mor: cp. Gr. μέρ-μερ-ο-ς 'noteworthy, horrible' and Skr. perf. sa-smāra (Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 549 f.).

fe-br-i-s, compare Skr. bhur-á-ti 'is unquiet, throbs'. sēd-ēs for se-zd-*, √ sed-, cp. I § 314 Rem. p. 253.

O.H.G. zittar-oh A.S. teter 'pustular eruption', pr. Germ. te-tr-u-*: Skr. da-dr-u- Lith. de-der-vinė 'pustular eruption', cp. Lat. der-b-iōsu-s etc. formed on the type of 1, p. 95.

Lith. tē-tervina-s 'heathcock' O.C.Sl. te-trěvī 'pheasant': Gr. τέ-τραξ τέ-τραξ τε-τράων a kind of fowl, cp. also Skr. ti-ttīri-ś ti-ttirá-s 'partridge'. O.C.Sl. pe-pelŭ (beside po-pelŭ) 'ashes', cp. Czech. plá-pol 'flame'. Lith. te-tà O.C.Sl. te-ta 'aunt, nurse': Gr. τέ-τρα 'little father, dad', cp. Skr. tā-tá-s, a word used by parents in addressing children and vice versa, Lat. ta-ta, Lith. tē-ti-s 'little father'.

3. In another group of formations from stems beginning in a consonant, the reduplication resembles that of verbal forms with Idg. i, such as Gr. ἱ-στη-μι, and there is no doubt that sometimes they stand in direct connexion with them. On the whole, however, such forms are rare.

We have no doubt a genuine Indo-Germanic example in Skr. śi-śir-a-s 'cold, frost; cold (adj.)' (ground-form kī-kŷl-o-*), with which Bugge (Arkiv for nord. filol. II 355) connects O.Icel. hēla f. 'rime' for pr. Germ. χī-χl-ōn*, and possibly another in Skr. śi-śu-ś 'young creature, child' if it is identical with Gr. κῑ-κν-ς 'strength' (compared with Skr. śvā 'to swell out', Gr. κνέω)?

Skr. ci-kit- 'comprehending, aware', cp. pres. cikēt-ti. śi-śay-á-s 'driving onwards'. śi-śnátha-s 'grasp'. ci-kur-a-s 'hair of the head', beside Lat. cirru-s?

Gr. τι-θήνη τί-τθη 'nurse' τί-τθο-ς 'mother's breast', beside θη-λή 'mother's breast'. βί-βασις a kind of dance (late), beside βι-βάζω. ἱ-στό-ς 'weaver's beam, mast', beside ἱ-στη-μι. ἱ-αχή 'cry' beside ἱ-άχω for fi-Faxω*. δι-δαχή 'instruction' beside δι-δάσκω (for the χ cp. δε-δίδαχα). γί-γαρ-το-ν 'grape-stone', beside Lat. grā-nu-m.

Remark. In τι-θύμαλο-ς 'wolf's-milk' (a plant), Τι-τύο-ς a giant (cp. Skr. tū-tu-má-s 'strong') and the like, it is possible that i has come from u, as in πι-πυ-τό-ς, see I § 48 p. 41.

Lat. qui-squil-iae, beside Gr. χο-σχυλ-μάτια 'shreds of leather'. ci-cer, compare no doubt Skr. kar-kar-a-s Gr. κάρο-καρο-ος; (Hesych.) 'hard'. ci-cōnia, Praenest. cōnia. ci-cind-ēla, beside candeō.

O.H.G. fi-faltra (fī-faltra? cp. Mid.H.G. vī-valter) A.S. fi-foldara O.Icel. fi-frildi 'butterfly'. O.H.G. wi-wint 'whirlwind', beside a present wi-wē-mi*? O.H.G. wiunman 'to swarm' for wi-wimman* (Kögel, Literaturbl. f. germ. und rom. Phil. 1887 n. 3).

4. Even nouns derived from roots beginning in a sonant stand side by side with parallel reduplicated forms in the verb.

Skr. ul-ul-i-ṣ 'ululabilis' or 'ululatus', Gr. ὄλ-ολ-υ-ς 'howler, womanish man' ὄλ-ολ-ῶγῃ 'shriek, cry of mourning', Lat. ul-ul-a 'little screechowl'; cp. also Skr. ar-ar-ē used as a sudden call, Gr. Dor. ἀλ-αλ-ᾶ 'battle-cry', Mod.Bulg. ol-el-e, an exclamation of sorrow. Skr. Ved. viy-ān-aś-i-ṣ 'piercing', Gr. ποδ-ην-εκ-ής 'reaching down to the feet', beside Skr. perf. ān-aś-a Gr. ἐν-εγκ-εῖν; Gr. -εκ- in words like ποδ-εν-εκ-ής no doubt stands in place of the regular form -ακ- = -ḱ- through the influence of the syllable -εγκ-.

Skr. ar-ar-i-ṣ ar-ar-ā-s 'leaf of a folding-door', no doubt from √ar- 'to arrive at anything, fit oneself in' Gr. ἀρ-ἀρ-ισκε 'he fitted on'. aś-iś-iṣu-ṣ 'hungry' beside the desiderative āś-iś-iṣati 'he wishes to eat'.

Gr. ἄκ-ακ-ιά 'acacia' ἄκ-ωκ-ή 'point, edge', beside ἄκ-ανο-ς 'thorn' part. ἄκ-αχ-μένο-ς 'pointed'. ἀλ-άλαγξ; ἡ πλάνη Hesych., beside ἀλ-άομαι 'roam about'. ἀγ-αγύρτην ἀγύρτην Hesych., cp. παν-ήγυρι-ς 'general assembly'. ἀγ-ωγ-ός 'leader' ἀγ-ωγ-ή 'guidance', beside aor. ἀγ-αγ-εῖν. ἐδ-ηδ-ών φαγέδαινα Hesych., ἐδ-ωδ-ή 'food', beside perf. ἐδ-ήδ-οκα part. ἐδ-ηδ-ώς. ὀπ-ωπ-ή 'sight' παρθενο-οπ-τήπ-η-ς 'ogling the maidens', beside perf. ὀπ-ωπ-α. ὀκ-ωκ-ή 'support' like the Homer. part. συν-οκ-ωκ-ότε is a late formation, since the root was segh-.

Lat. up-up-a 'hoopoe': Gr. ἀπ-αφ-ός and ἐπ-οψ. The vocalism of these words seems to have been influenced by analogy:

ἀναγό-ς was no doubt popularly connected with animal names in -αγο-ς (§ 78), ἔνωψ with adjectives in -οψ like αἰθ-οψ.

§ 53. Class II. This class is scantily represented; and although it is probable a priori that such forms should have come into use in the same period of the proethnic language in which stem-compounds like Skr. dvī-pād- Gr. δί-πιδ- had arisen (§ 10. 11. p. 22 ff.), yet all extant examples seem to have come from compounds consisting of repeated case-forms (Class III), which were afterwards re-modelled. This latter would be the same process as we assumed for coordinating stem-compounds such as Skr. parjanya-vāta (§ 49 p. 90), which these reduplicated forms approach very closely in usage as well as in form.

Skr. uttarōttara-s for utara-utara-s* 'always increasing' uttarōttara-m adv. 'ever higher and higher' sukha-sukhēna instr. 'very gladly' (Pāṇini). pūrva-pūrva-s 'he who from time to time is first, precedes', superl. pūrvapūrvatama-s, instead of which in the Veda we have pūrva-s-pūrva-s. ēkaika-s 'one at a time' for aika-aika-s*, comp. ēkaikatara-s, instead of which in Vedic we have ēka-ēka-s = ēkō-ēka-s*, pr. Ar. aika-s-aika-s* (I § 556 p. 411 f., § 647 p. 491).

Armen. mec-a-mec 'very great' çar-a-çar 'very bad', with the same -a- as e. g. dr-a-kiç § 28 p. 45, which would not prevent our assuming that the first part was originally a case-form; see p. 46, under Class IV.

Gr. (late) αὐτ-αυτο-ς with the meaning of αὐτότατος and of Lat. ipsimus ipsissimus, cp. O.H.G. selb-selbo § 54.

A Keltic form which should no doubt be mentioned here is O.Ir. al-aile 'alius', from which ar-aile arose by disimilation; also Cymr. ar-all (Zeuss² 359. 402); further the form alaaili with indala n-ai in Zeuss, p. 360.

§ 54. Class III. It may be assumed that this type dates from the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic. It is however difficult to say how far the words of this class in the separate Indo-Germanic languages were merely analogical formations modelled upon older forms already existing, and how far they arose from an actual repetition in which the repeated word was still independent (e. g. poor poor child). In all languages and at all periods such doubled forms might very naturally arise. Moreover it must be once more observed that the boundary line between a phrase consisting of a word used twice in succession (as Lat. mē mē, Vergil Aen. IX 427) and a new single word (mēmē, tētē, sēsē) cannot be regarded as constant.

Skr. tvā-tvam 'thou', a strengthening of tvām, Lat. mē-mē tē-tē sē-sē, Mid.Cymr. mi-vi for mi-mi*, a strengthening of mi 'I', ti-di for ti-ti*, a strengthening of ti 'thou', ni-ni a strengthening of ni 'we'. Skr. yād-yad 'whatsoever', yāthā-yathā 'howsoever', like Lat. quid-quid quā-quā quantus-quantus. Cp. also Skr. prā-pra and Gr. πρό-πρό (Hom. προπρο-κλίνδομαι) 'on and on, ever forwards'¹).

In Sanskrit we frequently meet with doubled forms like āhar-ahar 'day by day', padē-padē 'step by step, at every step', dāmē-damē 'in every house', priyā-s-priya-s 'very dear'.

Gr. πάμ-παν 'entirely': cp. Skr. śāśvacchaśvat 'on and on, ever anew' for śāśvat-śāśvat* (I § 352 p. 274); śā-śvant = Gr. ᾗ-παντ- see I 166 p. 147, § 384 p. 289.

In Latin we find only the pronominal forms; such as mē-mē, quis-quis and the adv. jam-jam. ips-ipsus (for ips(e) ipse*) is uncertain (Wölfflin, Gemin. p. 472). In later times were developed such forms as Fr. bon-bon 'sweetmeat' jou-jou 'toy'; Ital. tututto 'entirely' stands for tuto-tuto* (tutto tutto) through syllabic dissimilation (I § 643 p. 481 ff.).

Mod.Ir. mōr-mhōr 'great, chief, principal'. Mod.Cymr. uwcy-uwcy 'more and more' gwēll-wēll 'better and better'.

O.H.G. selb-selbo 'idem ipse'. Mod.H.G. dial. āll-all 'complete, at an end' wē-wē (Rhine-Fr., i. e. wēh-wēh) n. 'small wound'.

1) The comparison of Skr. sā-sam 'together' with Mod.Bulg. sā-s Russ. so-s 'with' is certainly not warranted. I regard the latter as a contaminated formation, occasioned by the phonetic changes of pr. Slav. sū, which in certain positions became s. Similarly we have Mod.Bulg. vū-v 'in'. See the Author, Morph. Unters. III 71.

Cp. also O.H.G. sō-so, a strengthening of sō (possibly instr. of suō*).

NOUNS CONTAINING FORMATIVE SUFFIXES.¹

called the root-portion of a word and the formative suffixes. Some of the elements which are treated here as formative suffixes may have originally been the last sound or sounds of a root, that is, of a word which does not owe its existence to composition; and this may be true of the whole group of sounds of which the suffix consists, or it may be only its initial part which belonged to the root. I must exclude all conjecture as to which of the particular Indo-Germanic suffixes had this origin.

In the following pages only those suffixes are discussed which had already become suffixes in the strict sense at the time when the separate Indo-Germanic languages began to be developed.

§ 56. Many formative suffixes whose meaning is simple can be resolved into distinct elements; e. g. -tro- into -tr- + -o-, cp. Skr. ari-tra- m. n. 'oar' beside ari-tar- ari-tr- m. 'oarsman' (§ 62), -isto- into -is- + -to-, cp. Skr. nāv-iṣṭha- 'novissimus' beside nāv-gas- 'novior' (§ 81).

Generally speaking we find that compound suffixes of this sort in the later periods of the history of language are due to either one or other of three causes.

Works which treat of a single suffix will be cited below in the sections devoted to the separate suffixes.

See also the lists of authorities on the history of case-formation.

First, a word or a group of words may have been transferred from one declension to another. The formative suffix is then amplified at the extremity nearest the ending of the word. This enlargement of the stem was usually brought about by the coincidence of two declensions in one or more forms; these similarities gave rise to new analogical formations. Thus e. g. the origin of the Avestic participial suffix -ant-a- (nom. sing. barantō, gen. barantahe) was that the accusative termination -em (barant-em: cp. Gr. φέρων-α) was placed on a level with that of aspe-m (stem aspa-) and similar forms; the origin of the Gothic suffix for names of kindred, -tr-u- (nom. pl. brōþrjus), was that the dative termination -trum (brōþru-m: cp. Skr. instr. bhrātṛ-bhiṣ) was placed on a level with that of sunu-m (stem sunu-). In this way nouns which at first had no formative suffix often came to possess one; as e. g. Goth. fōt-u- was due to such case-forms as the acc. sing. fōt-u = pōd-η* (see § 159).

Secondly: a suffix sometimes coalesces so completely with a part of some word to which it is added that the point of junction can no longer be perceived, and accordingly when it is used afterwards, the suffix appears in new words with part of this preceding word attached, as though it were a single element in the formation. Thus in High German the suffix -(i)nārja- (e. g. O.H.G. sculd-ināri 'debtor'), which is found parallel to -arja- (e. g. O.H.G. mād-āri Mid.H.G. mādære 'mower, reaper') and has the same meaning, came from words like gartin-āri 'gardener' (garto gen. gartin 'garden') weidin-āri 'hunter' (weidinōn 'to hunt'), and in Greek the feminine formative suffix -aina in λύκ-aina κάπρ-aina and so forth, came from words like γείταινα i. e. γείταν-ια* (from γείτων), λέαινα i. e. λεφαν-ια* (from λέων); see § 110.

Thirdly: two elements used in forming derivatives, which are nearly allied in meaning, are combined into one ('contaminated'). An accumulation of suffixes like this often arises simply from the attempt to give fuller or more distinct expression to the characteristic meaning (such as that of comparison, or a diminutival sense and so forth). Thus we have comparatives and superlatives like Skr. jyēṣṭha-tama-s from jyēṣṭha-s, Gr. ἀμεινότερος ἐλαχιστότατος, compared with ἀμεινων ἐλάχιστος, Lat. superior extrem-issimus from superu-s extrēmu-s, O.H.G. hinter-ōro from hintero, Goth. hindum-ists from hinduma*, the H.G. diminutive-suffix -l-īna- in kitz-lein kind-lein and the like (O.H.G. chizz-īla and chizz-īn), the (rare) Skr. abstract-suffix -tvā-tā as in puruṣa-tvā-tā 'mortality, the manner of men' (parallel forms are puruṣa-tva- and puruṣā-tā), the Lat. -n-eo- in adjectives of material, such as aēneu-s pōpulneu-s (beside these we have aēnus pōpulnus and aereu-s pōpuleu-s) with other examples.

It may be assumed without hesitation that the second and third processes gave rise to compound suffixes even in the Indo-Germanic period. In the second class should be placed e. g. -nī- beside -ī- in pot-nī-* 'lady' (Skr. pātnī Gr. πότνια), which came from such forms as teksu-ī-* (Skr. takṣṇī- Gr. τέκταινα), the fem. of teḱson-* 'carpenter' (Skr. tākṣan- Gr. τέκτων); see § 110. To the third class belong the superlative-suffix -t-ṇimo- (§ 73), the abstract-suffix -tā-ti- (§ 102), and others of the same sort.

§ 57. The original meaning of a suffix used in forming nouns can only be decided in instances where it became a suffix in the course of the developement of the separate languages e. g. in the case of Mod.H.G. -lich, Fr. -ment. In the case of the proethnic suffixes, their etymological origin, and therefore their original meaning is altogether obscure. In order to keep within safe limits, we shall confine ourselves to determining where and how these suffixes were employed at the period when the parent language split up into its different branches; beyond this we cannot go with any hope of certainty.

If a suffix becomes fertile (see § 5), the direction in which its meaning develops is often decided not by the idea which it properly and originally contained, but by the meaning of the complete word or group of words on the analogy of which the new words are formed. Special stress must be laid on this point because it is seldom sufficiently recognised in attempts to establish the original meaning of the proethnic suffixes, and because it helps to show the great difficulty of such an undertaking.

In Latin, for example, juven-ta 'time of youth' (Goth. junda, common ground-form iuun-tā*) suggested senec-ta 'time of old age', and septentrion-ālis 'northern' gave rise to meridionalis 'southern'; in A.S. āf-en 'evening' was formed in imitation of morg-en, while on the other hand in Mod.H.G. we find a dialectic form morg-end like abend; in O.H.G. hief-altra 'hip-tree, wild dog-rose' (from hiufo), mazz-altra 'maple tree' were formed in imitation of affal-tra aphol-tra 'apple-tree'; and in Greek κάπρ-αινα (fem. of κάπρoς 'boar'), λύκ-αινα (fem. of λύκος 'wolf') in imitation of λέαινα 'lioness' (for λεFav-ινα*). Here then we have examples of suffixes denoting time of life (Lat. -tā-), the points of the compass (Lat. -iōnāli-), time of day (A.S. -en) and so forth in course of development. The specialising process has gone further in the case of e. g. -uo- (§ 64) in Latin and Germanic as a suffix for forming names of colours, Lat. helvo-s, gilvo-s, fulvo-s, furvo-s, flāvo-s (?), O.H.G. gelo 'yellow', salo 'black, dirty', falo 'fallow, pale', A.S. baso 'purple', O.Icel. hoss 'gray', O.H.G. grāo 'gray' and others (Kluge, Nom. Stamm. 81), which perhaps arose simply from the two forms ghel-uo-* (Lat. helvo-s O.H.G. gelo) and pol-uo-* O.H.G. falo O.C.Sl. plavŭ). Cp. further the Greek -aqo- used as a suffix for names of animals, § 78. In all these instances the special meaning of the suffix is imported into it, and not a natural outgrowth of its original meaning; in the same way it is certainly due to a secondary analogical development that -en- so often recurs in words denoting parts of the body which can be traced back to the parent language, as in the words for head (Skr. śīrṣ-án-, Gr. ἀντί-κεφαλος 'two headed', O.Icel. hjarse), for eye (Skr. akṣ-án- Goth. aug-an-, cp. I § 444 Rem. 3 p. 331), for ear (Goth. aus-an-, Gr. οἰατ- for οἰσ-ατ-* ous-η-t-* and so forth; see § 114.

In the same way many functions of the proethnic suffixes are no doubt derived (even where it cannot be distinctly proved) from analogical extensions of their use, with which the meaning originally inherent in the suffix had nothing whatever to do.

Remark. Thus I think it probable that the use of the suffix -ā- to denote female sex (e. g. Idg. ekṃā-* 'mare': Skr. dśvā- Lat. equa Lith. aszvā) did not spring from the original meaning of the suffix, but that some one or some few words in ā, perhaps gnā-* gṇnā-* genā* 'woman' (Skr. gnā- etc., see I § 428 p. 315 f. § 437 p. 325) and māmā* 'mother' (Lat. mamma O.H.G. muoma Lith. momā etc.) — in which the feminine gender was sufficiently implied by the root-part of the word, just as much as in māter-* 'mother' (Skr. mātā etc.) — gave the suffix its special function, the expression of female sex; and that these forms were then followed by new formations like ekṃā-* beside ekṃo-*. Many things whose names contain an ā-suffix assumed in the popular consciousness the shape of female beings though they have nothing to do with animal sex, e. g. Gr. σελήνη 'moon'. In these words we shall generally find that the gender to begin with was purely 'grammatical', and that the ā-suffix by which the word was associated with words like ekṃā*, was the real cause of the fancy which represented the imaginary personality as a woman and not as a man: conversely, for example, the Greeks imagined ἕνρο as a male being, solely because of connexion of the word in form with male names in -o-, such as θεός. The notion that primitive man was endowed with so marvellous a wealth of fancy as to regard the great majority of things devoid of life and things immaterial as persons, nay more as persons belonging to one of two distinct sexes, and that the whole system of gender in nouns sprang from this source, is a one which by this time should surely have been abandoned. Cp. the Author, 'Das Nominalgeschlecht in den indogerman. Sprachen', Techmer's Internation. Ztschr. f. allg. Sprachwiss. IV. p. 100 ff.

§ 58. Following the example of the Sanskrit grammarians, scholars divide the suffixes used in noun-formation into Primary and Secondary. The former are employed in deriving words from roots or verbal stems, the latter in derivatives formed from noun-stems. Thus e. g. -tor- is a primary suffix in nom. pl. Skr. dā-tār-as Gr. δώ-τορ-ες Lat. da-tōr-ēs 'givers', Skr. jani-tār-as Gr. γενέ-τορ-ες Lat. geni-tōr-ēs 'begetters', Skr. bōdhayi-tār-as 'awakers' Gr. ηγγή-τορ-ες 'leaders' Lat. arā-tōr-ēs 'ploughers', but -ī- is a secondary suffix in Skr. vṛk-ī Mid.H.G. wülpe 'she-wolf' (beside Skr. vṛka-s Mid.H.G. wolf 'wolf') and in Skr. vidiṣ-ī Gr. ιδῖα f. 'knowing' (beside the masc. Skr. vidvān Gr. ειδώς perf.

part. from $\sqrt{\text{ueid-}}$ 'see, know'). Occasionally secondary suffixes are added even to inflected case-forms, e. g. -tero- in Skr. uccāis-tara- and so forth; see § 13 p. 29 above.

In an historical account of the developement of the Indo-Germanic languages, this difference furnishes us with no useful basis of classification. In the first place, it is to say the least very questionable whether every suffix was originally restricted to one of these two functions. In any case the distinction hardly applies at all, even in the earliest times, to many of the most widely used suffixes, e. g. -io- -iio-; cp. Skr. yaj-ya-s 'venerandus' Gr. ἅγιο-ς 'holy', and Skr. pitr-īya-s Gr. πάτερ-ιο-ς Lat. patr-īu-s 'fatherly, father's'. Again, we often find that suffixes which were at first restricted to the primary or the secondary use change their function in the course of their history (for other instances besides those which will be discussed below see Whitney, Skr. Gramm. § 1139 and Osthoff, Verb. in der Nominalcomposition p. 116 ff.); and this change sometimes seems to have taken place even before the separation of the languages. One example of this is -ies- -iies- -is-, the suffix of the comparative (§ 135), which, originally primary, seems to have become secondary even in proethnic Indo-Germanic, the comparatives formed by its means being regarded as derived from the corresponding 'positive' forms (cp. Skr. svād-īyān Gr. ῥήδ-ίων beside svād-ū-ṣ ῥήδ-ύ-ς). In later formations however found only in the separate languages, such as brāhm-īyān from brah-mān-, Lat. amīc-ior from amīcus, -ies- is undoubtedly a secondary suffix.

1. Suffixes in -o and -ā.

§ 59. The o-suffixes uniformly show the ablaut o: e (e-series, I § 311—314)¹⁾. o e. g. in the nom. acc. sing., -o-s,

1) As we are accustomed to cite the suffixes whose vocalism assumes the various forms of the e-series in their e-form (-es- -ter- etc.), we ought consistently to speak of the suffixes -e- -ie- -ue- instead of -o- -io- -uo- and so forth; but as this point is in itself of little importance, I am unwilling to depart from the usual nomenclature. It will be enough to have drawn attention to the inconsistency.

the fact that the vowel e had been lowered to i before s; the fact that the vowel a had been raised to e. Parallel to these changes there was a change in unstressed weak-grade forms, where the suffixes disappeared altogether. If we suppose that a case-suffix
-a or -e appeared in the old Indo-European genitive singular of a word like h₂elwos* 'horse' (*S. *iulus) and a case-suffix -d in the Latin genitive plural h₂elwōd* Ved. gajānām (cp. I § 118 Rem. p. 107, I § 119 Rem. p. 108) secondary formations like ekw-ē-* 'equinus' from ekw-* 'equus' lost the final of the stem by some terminal phonetic change (cp. § 68 Rem. 3), and the d of the last form ekw-ēd* Latin nequius etc. was the weak-grade form of -t lost at the beginning of § 68). It is hardly possible from the data at our command to trace the connexion between these phases of vowel graduation and the variation of the accent. But there is nothing to prevent our assuming that e stood originally in the syllable which bore the principal accent, and o in the syllable which followed it, whilst the case-suffixes -ad and -d themselves took the principal accent (cp. I § 311 p. 24 f.).
These phonetic relations were afterwards obscured by many different kinds of analogical development.

The a-suffixes show the ablaut a: a -o-series. I § 318):
a e. g. in the nom. acc. sing. -ā -ā-m; a in the voc. sing. -a.
 2nd and 3rd. -i-i. op. also instr. sing. Skr. -oṃ O.C.Sl. -oja.
 By the side of these the 'unaccented weak-grade form' perhaps occurs in such words as Gr. τίη-ες from τίη, pr. Gr. and Dor.
τι-ά (see § 63 Rem. 3). Here also the recorded accentuation shows no variation from which we can reconstruct the original connexion between Ablaut and Accent.

In prehistoric Indo-Germanic the o-stems were all masculine or neuter, the a-stems all feminine. And the process of differentiation (technically called Motion) of Masculine stems to express the variation of gender in substantives and adjectives had come into regular use for o-stems in the same period: e. g. ekyo-s* 'horse' fem. ekua* 'mare' (Skr. āśva-s āśrā Lat. equo-s equa), masc. rudhro-s* fem. rudhrā* neut. rudhro-m* 'red' (Skr.

rudhirá-s -irá -irá-m Gr. ῥυθρό-ς -ρά -ρό-ν, Lat. ruber rubra rubru-m O.C.Sl. *rŭdrŭ rŭdra rŭdro*¹⁾).

But the original differences in gender did not always remain unchanged in the separate languages. A number of o-stems became feminine in Greek and Italic, that is, they were constructed with feminine forms in attributive or predicative combinations, as Gr. ἡ γηγός, ῥοδοδάκτυλος ἠώς, Lat. haec fagus, a change of usage which was introduced in different ways (see A. R. Lange, De Substantivis femininis Graecis secundae declinationis, Lips. 1885). On the other hand, in the classical languages and in Slavonic² a-stems became masculine, words of abstract meaning formed with a being used to denote male persons; as Gr. νεῦνιά- 'young man' orig. 'youth', ἑτη- 'kinsman' orig. 'kinship', Lat. agri-cola 'husbandman' orig. 'husbandry', O.C.Sl. junota 'young man' orig. 'youth'. In Lithuanian, neuter substantival stems in -o assumed in the nom. and acc. the masc. form, e. g. nom. sing. ár-kla-s 'plough' beside Gr. ἄρο-τρο-ν, and so forth.

The o- and a-stems form by far the largest of the Indo-Germanic declensions. Nowhere have these classes suffered any serious loss except in Armenian and in Germanic. In Armenian it would seem that the a-declension wholly died out, and in Germanic many o- and a-stems passed into the n-declension (§ 112 ff.).

§ 60. The Suffix -o- -ā-³⁾.

From the earliest period, the suffixes -o- and -ā- were used for many different purposes. Besides their use to denote physical sex we may notice in particular the following functions:

1. -o- is found in certain abstract root-nouns (nomina actionis)

1) See § 57 Rem. p. 106, and the Author's Essay on Gender cited there.

2) Ed. Wolter, Razyskanija po voprosu o grammatičeskom rodje, Petersburg 1882 (see the notice of it by H. Haupt, Berlin. philolog. Wochenschr. 1885 p. 312 ff.)

3) H. Zimmer, Die Nominalsuffixe a und ā in den german. Sprachen, Strassburg 1876. F. Miklosich, Das Suffix ā im Altslovenischen, Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. I 222 ff. 273 ff.

(the root-syllable usually bears the accent), e. g. ḡón-ó-* 'a begetting, coming into being' Skr. jána-m 'birth, origin' Gr. ḡóno-ς 'birth', also concrete 'offspring', Gr. χοόμ-o-ς 'noise, murmur, neighing' O.C.Sl. grom-ŭ 'thunder', Goth. ga-fah-s m. 'capture' (ground-form pánko-s*) dragk n. 'drink'. 2. -o- is found in certain nomina agentis (the accent falls usually on the suffix), e. g. tor-ó-* 'he who penetrates' Skr. tārā-s Gr. τορό-ς, Lat. procu-s 'suitor' (beside precārī), Goth. þiufs, gen. þiubis, 'thief' (ground-form teupó-s*). 3. -ā- is found in certain abstract root-nouns (nomina actionis), e. g. Gr. φυγ-ή Lat. fug-a 'flight', Gr. βληχ-ή 'bleating, cry' O.H.G. chlag-a 'lament', Skr. bhid-ā 'separation', Goth. bid-a 'request, prayer'.

Differentiation of Adjectives (Motion): e. g. masc. néu-o-s* neut. néu-o-m* fem. néu-ā*: Skr. náva-s náva-m návā, Gr. νέο-ς νέο-ν νέā, Lat. novo-s novo-m nova, O.C.Sl. novŭ novo nova.

In most of the Indo-Germanic languages we find more or less frequently the transference of stems that do not end in o or ā, e. g. stems ending in explosives, into the o- or ā-declension, without any modification of meaning. The change in any particular case may be due to any one of a large number of causes; indeed, to any association either of sound or of sense. Analogy of form, for example, produced in Sanskrit a nom. dánta-s (cp. p. 111) beside acc. dánt-am (stem dánt- 'tooth'), and in Greek τῆν ἑαυτῆν (Callim.) beside nom. acc. neut. ἑαυτῆ 'head' (for καρῶσ-a*, a neuter subst. like ἄλειφ-a). On the other hand, the change was due to an association of meaning when in Latin aurōr-a ('dawn') and flōr-a were substituted for aurōs -ōris* (§ 133) and flōs -ōris* (§ 134); so in O.H.G. pl. tohter-ā 'daughters' for the older form tohter, in Lith. dukr-ā 'daughter' for duktė -eĩs, and in Pruss. swestr-o O.C.Sl. sestr-a 'sister' beside Lith. sesū -eĩs (§ 122). Often both principles may have been at work together, e. g. when in Prākṛit māda 'mother' and duhida 'daughter' (Idg. -tē(r)) passed over to the ā-declension (cp. § 122 Rem. 1). The attraction to the o- or to the ā-declension often affects only single cases, e. g. Gr. dial. dat. pl.

πόδ-οις (like λείκ-οις) for ποσί, acc. pl. πάντ-ανς (like πάνσα-νς) for πάντ-ας, and there is perhaps an example of such a transference into the o-declension even in the proethnic language, where the genitive ending -ōm, which comes from -o-om, was used with other stems than those in -o-. With regard to all these processes we must remember that the speaker had no clear consciousness of the point of junction between stem and case-ending, least of all where vowel-contraction had taken place (vol. I p. 106 ff.).

Idg. Masc. *u̯lq-o-s 'wolf' (√ u̯elq- 'tear'): Skr. v̥ka-s Armen. gen. sing. gailo-y (cp. I § 455 p. 336) Gr. λείκο-ς (Lat. lupu-s) Goth. dat. pl. vulfa-m Lith. vilka-s O.C.Sl. instr. sing. vlūko-ml̥. Neut. *jug-ó-m 'yoke' (√ j̥eug- 'yoke, put to'): Skr. jugá-m Gr. ζυγό-ν Lat. jugu-m Goth. dat. pl. juka-m O.C.Sl. instr. sing. igo-ml̥. Fem. *gen-ā- *g̃n-ā- *gn-ā- 'woman' (√ gen-): Skr. gnā- Gr. Att. γυνή Boeot. βυνά O.Ir. nom. ben gen. mnā Goth. qinō O.Icel. kona (in Germ. it has passed over to the n-declension) O.C.Sl. žena.

Aryan. Skr. ghōṣ-a- m. 'sound, noise' Avest. gaos-a- m. 'ear' O.Pers. gauš-a- m. 'ear', nom. sing. pr. Ar. *ghauš-a-s. Skr. bhūg-a-s m. 'distributor, bestower of blessings' Avest. bay-a- m. 'God': O.C.Sl. bog-ŭ 'God'. Skr. nīd-ā-s 'resting-place, couch, nest': Armen. nist 'position, seat, possession', Lat. nīdu-s, O.Ir. net O.H.G. nest 'nest', Idg. *ni-zd-ó-s 'settling-place'. Skr. mēh-a- n. 'urine' Avest. gao-maēz-a- n. 'cow's urine'. Skr. pad-ā-m 'standing-place, place, position': Gr. πέδ-ο-ν 'ground, field', Lat. Ped-u-m, oppid-u-m. Skr. jy-ā- Avest. jy-ā- 'bowstring': Lith. gij-ū 'string, cord'. Skr. jaṇgh-ā- 'upper part of the foot': cp. Lith. pra-žang-a 'transgression' (√ g̃heṇgh-). Skr. mud-ā- 'joy'. Avest. der'z-a- 'bundle, basket'.

Adjectives. Skr. dīrgh-ā-s -ā-m -ā Avest. dar'y-ō -e-m-a O.Pers. darg-a -a-m -ā 'long': Gr. δολιχ-ό-ς -ό-ν -ή.

In Aryan, transference into the o-declension is common. In many cases no doubt this must have taken place in proethnic Aryan; cp. e. g. Skr. mās-a- Avest. mān̥h-a- with Skr. mās- 'month' (cp. § 134), Skr. nār-a- Avest. nar-a- with Skr. nār-

'man' (Gr. ἀνθρωπ-), Skr. pād-a- Avest. paḍ-a- beside Skr. pad- 'foot'. In other cases however, it belongs to the development of the separate dialects: e. g. Skr. Ved. pūṣān-a-s from pūṣān-, name of a god, Prākr. part. nom. carant-ō gen. carant-assa etc. instead of Skr. cārant- 'going, moving' (and so often in the popular dialects); Avest. loc. sing. vīs-ē O.Pers. instr. pl. vīp-aibiš from vīs- vīp- 'village', Avest. gen. sing. stār-ahe from star- 'star', dat. sing. airyaman-ai from airyaman-, the personified spirit of prayer, part. nom. sing. jaiḍyant-ō etc. 'beseeching'. The point of contact from which this metaplastic process sprang was the phonetic similarity of the accusative endings -am = Gr. -a and -a-m = Gr. -o-v- (p. 110).

In Sanskrit there is a large group of denominative adjectives formed with -o- -ā-, with the meaning 'related to, or connected with' that which is denoted by the noun from which they are derived, especially with the meaning, 'sprung from'. The first syllable of the word usually has what is called the vyddhi grade, that is the second or 'highest' form of the strong or 'high' grade. E. g. mānas-ā-s 'related to the mind (mānas-)', sāvitṛ-ā-s 'sprung from the sun (savitār-)', sāindhav-ā-s 'sprung from the Indus (sīndhu-ṣ-)'. If the contained stem is itself an o-stem, the adjective is formed without modifying the suffix; e. g. āmītrā-s 'hostile' from amītra-s 'foe'. Similar derivatives are found, though more rarely, in Iranian; as O.Pers. mārgav-a- 'inhabitant of Margiana' from mārgū-ṣ 'Margiana', Avest. ār̥zva (or ār̥zava) 'good works' from er̥zu- 'just, right', kāvay-a- 'kingly' from kavi-ṣ 'king', temaṇh-a- 'dark' (-ṇh- for -s-, see I § 558 p. 414) from temah- 'darkness' (cp. Skr. tāmas-a- from tāma-s), airyav-a- 'offspring of Airyu'. Although the particular forms that furnished the type for this category of nouns in Aryan, and the origin of the vyddhi-strengthening, which occurs also in other derivative nouns (cp. § 93), are still undiscovered, yet it is at least probable that the class took its rise in such o-stems as had undergone a modification of meaning similar to that which we find in the epithetised compounds (see § 50), and that o- was then added to other stems in imitation of these. The use of the suffix was extended by the desire to render easier the Differentiation (or modification to express gender) of adjectives; and we find an unmistakable parallel in the treatment of the final members of compound words; compare -tamas-a- from tāmas- 'darkness', -aśman-a- from áśman- 'stone', -bhruv-a- from bhrú- 'eyebrow', and especially instances like daśāṅgulá-m 'length of ten fingers' from aṅgúli-ṣ 'finger' (Whitney Skr. Gr. § 1315 b), which are on a level with formations like nāirṣṭá- 'belonging to nīrṣṭi-'.

Remark 1. Cp. von Bradke, Über die Vṛddhi in der secundären Nominalbildung, Ztschr. der deutsch. morgenländ. Gesellsch. XL, 361 ff. — The suggestion that Lat. ovo-m 'egg' is related in the same way to avi-s, and means 'that which proceeds from a bird', is unsatisfactory. Rather we may compare such instances as Gr. ἡμεῖς beside ἀνεμο-ς, ἀμφ-ῆριστο-ς beside ῥεζω. Doublets that had arisen with different grades of ablaut in the root-syllable were in Aryan adapted to convey two distinct meanings, while in Greek they subserved a particular principle of rhythm. In either case, our endeavour must be to discover the oldest forms which gave the type for the whole series.

Armenian. orb, gen. orbo-y, 'orphan': Lat. orbu-s, Gr. ὀρφο-βότης 'one who brings up orphans'. gorc, gen. gorco-y, 'work': Avest. var'z-a- m. 'working, action', Gr. ἔργο-ν O.H.G. werc n. 'work'. Adj. hin, gen. hn-o-y, 'old': Skr. sán-a-s Gr. ἐν-ο-ς O.Ir. sen Lith. sēn-a-s 'old'.

The a-declension, as we have already remarked in § 59 p. 109, was entirely lost.

Greek. φηγ-ό-ς 'oak': Lat. fag-u-s 'beech'. οἶκ-ο-ς 'house': Lat. vīc-u-s. πόρ-ο-ς 'a penetrating, passing through, passage' πορ-ύ-ς 'penetrating' (ὁδοιπόρος for *ὁδοι-πορό-ς, I § 676 p. 542 f.): Skr. pār-a- 'navigation, passage by sea' pār-á-s 'transporting'; τόμ-ο-ς 'cut, slice' τομ-ό-ς 'cutting, sharp'; ἀγ-ό-ς 'guide, leader': Skr. aj-á-s 'driver'. ζυγ-ό-ν 'yoke': Skr. yug-á-m. πληγ-ή 'blow': Lat. plāg-a. ῥοή Coreyr. phofá 'stream, flowing' from ῥέω: Lith. srav-à 'a flowing, bleeding'. σπουδ-ή 'zeal, earnestness' from σπεύδω. τροφ-ή 'nourishment' from τρέφω.

Adject. ὠμ-ό-ς ὠμ-ό-ν ὠμ-ή 'raw': Skr. ām-á-s -á-m -ā 'raw'.

Observe that λαός 'people' stands for λα(f)-ός (Λᾱfo-κόfωv is preserved by Priscian); see I § 611 p. 462.

The endings of o-cases are often transferred to other classes of stems; as ουν in ποδ-οῦν -οῦν, -οις in πόδ-οις for ποσί, -ον in πολίτ-ον.

Italic. Lat. popul-u-s popl-u-s, Umbr. popl-o-m acc. 'populum'. Lat. dol-u-s Osc. dolud abl. 'dolo': Gr. δόλ-ο-ς 'wile'. Lat. dom-u-s: Gr. δόμ-ο-ς 'house'. Lat. unc-u-s: Skr. aṅk-ā-s 'hook', Gr. ᾠκ-ο-ς, 'something bent or bowed out, hook, extended circumference'. Lat. for-u-m, Umbr. furo 'forum': Skr. dvār-a-m 'door, entrance, exit' (d- instead of dh-, see I § 480 p. 354), O.C.Sl. dvor-ŭ m. 'enclosure'. Osc. ter-o-m 'terra, territorium'. Lat. porc-a, fem. of porc-us, Umbr. purk-a porc-a 'porcas'. Lat. lump-a (lymph-a, cp. I p. 42 footnote), Osc. Diump-aís 'Nymphis'. Lat. deiv-a dīv-a (fem. of deiv-o-s), Osc. deiv-aí dat. 'divae'. Lat. līr-a 'furrow, ridge between two furrows': O.H.G. wagan-leis-a 'cart-track, road' O.C.Sl. lěch-a 'ridge of earth'.

Here should also be mentioned the Umbr.-Samn. infinitives in -o-m, as Umbr. erom Osc. ezum 'esse', Umbr. a-ferum a-fero 'circumferre', Osc. deicum 'dicere' moltaum 'multare' (cp. § 156).

Adject. Lat. rōb-u-s -u-m -a, Umbr. acc. pl. masc. rof-u 'rufos' fem. rof-a 'rufas': Goth. ráuþ-s ráuþ ráud-a 'red'.

Transference into the o-declension is frequent, into the ā-declension more rare; e. g. nom. sing. Goth. frijōnds O.H.G. friunt 'friend' gen. sing. frijōndis friuntes and other forms with terminations of the o-declension, contrasted with the nom. pl. Goth. frijōnds O.H.G. friunt etc. which have not modified the original -nt- stem (§ 126), O.H.G. nom. pl. tohterā 'daughters' dat. pl. tohterōn beside the older pl. tohter = Gr. θυγατέρ-ες (§ 122).

Balto-Slavonic. Masc. Lith. mūs-a-s 'film (on liquids)' O.C.Sl. mūch-ū 'moss': O.H.G. mos n. 'moss'. O.C.Sl. igo 'yoke': Skr. yug-ā-m; O.C.Sl. tīl-o 'ground': Skr. tal-a-s 'surface, ground' (√ tel-); in Lith. the masc. termination is found in the nom. acc.; e. g. jūng-a-s 'yoke', a modification of the Idg. jug-ó-m*. Fem. Lith. vaps-à 'gadfly' O.C.Sl. vos-a 'wasp' (I § 545 p. 399): O.H.G. wafs-a 'wasp'. Lith. rank-à O.C.Sl. rak-a 'hand', beside Lith. renkù 'I gather, collect'.

Adject. Lith. saūs-a-s saus-a saus-à O.C.Sl. such-ū -o -a 'dry': Skr. śūṣ-a-s -a-m -a 'drying, parching' (ś- for s-, I § 557, 4 p. 413), Gr. Ion. αῦ-ο-ς αῦ-ο-ν αῦ-η 'dry'.

Remark 2. It may not be premature to notice here that the Lith. neuter form in -a arose from -o-d and not from -o-m, and is therefore a pronominal termination. See R. Garbe, Litau. und lett. Drucke des 16. u. 17. Jahrh., IV p. XLI.

§ 61. The Suffix -tu-o- -tu-ā- (-tux-o- -tux-ā-).¹⁾ This is an extension of -tu- -teu- (§ 108).

Originally it was no doubt primary, and used to form adjectives (cp. e. g. Skr. kár-tuva-s kár-tva-s 'faciendus', beside the inf. kár-tu-m) whose neuter and feminine forms were used as abstract substantives, on the analogy of which derivative abstract substantives were also formed from nouns (§ 158).

The accentuation of Sanskrit formations like dēva-tvá-m 'divinity', and the d of the Goth. þiva-dv 'servitude' (see I § 530 p. 386 f.), shew that -tux-m* was the form assumed by the suffix in these secondary abstract substantives in Indo-Germanic.

Compare Ar. -tvana- Gr. -ovvo- § 70.

In Aryan, the suffix is frequent. In Skr. it appears in gerundives like kár-tuva-s kár-tva-s 'faciendus' ján-tuva-s jani-tva-s 'procreandus'. The neuters of these gerundives are often used substantivally, as kár-tva-m 'task, work to be done'. Compare also Avest. varš-tve-m 'work, action' (beside ver^e-z-yē-mi 'I do'), stao-þwe-m 'prayer' (beside stao-mi 'I praise, pray'). Secondary formations in -tux-m*: Skr. dēva-tvá-m 'divinity' (dēv-ā-s 'god'), śatru-tvá-m 'enmity' (śatru-ś 'enemy'), rakṣas-tvá-m 'demoniacal nature' (rakṣás- 'monster, demon'), Avest. aṇhu-þwe-m 'lordship, might' (aṇhu-š 'lord'), fratema-þwem 'a being first, nobility' (fratema- 'first').

As to the interchange of -tva- and -tuva- in Sanskrit see Edgren, Journal of the American Orient. Soc., XI 82 sq.

In Latin it is rare. We can scarcely count mor-tuo-s (for mṛ-tux-s*): O.C.Sl. mŕi-tvŭ 'mortuus' as an example, cp. I § 170 p. 150; see § 64 Rem. 3 below. But Fa-tuo-s ('soothsayer') and mā-tuo-s no doubt belong here (with the suffix in the form -tuxo-); see I § 170 p. 151.

1) Benfey, Indog. Part. Perf. auf tua oder tva, Nachr. der Gött. Gesellsch. d. Wissensch., 1873, n. 7.

In Germanic it is not common. Goth. vaúrsto n. 'work' for pr. Germ. wurx-s-tuā-n*, whose -s- must be compared with that of -s-tro- (§ 62), -s-lo- (§ 76), -s-ti- (§ 100), -s-tu- (§ 108), -s-men- (§ 117) ¹⁾. ahtvō f. 'morning twilight' for uorx-tuō-* (transferred to the n-inflexion), ground-form uog-tuā-*, compare directly Skr. aktū-ṣ 'brightness' for uog-tu-s*, and less immediately Skr. añj-i-ṣ 'ointment, adornment'. vah-tvō or vah-tva (only the dat. pl. vahtvōm is actually found) 'watch, guard', from vakan 'to watch'. A.S. læs, gen. læswe, f. 'letting blood' for lēsuō-* i. e. lēt + tuō-*, beside Goth. lētan 'to let', ræs, gen. ræswe, f. 'counsel' for rēsuō-* i. e. rēd + tuō-*, beside Goth. rēdan 'to counsel' (cp. I § 527 p. 382). As in all the instances given, so in Goth. frija-þva 'love' and fija-þva 'enmity' from frijōn 'to love' and fijōn 'to hate' the suffix is to be regarded as primary; yet frija-þva (in imitation of which fija-þva was afterwards formed) was originally a secondary formation, from the adj. frija- (fre)'e, which in the prehistoric period had meant 'dear', cp. Skr. priya-tvā-m 'a being beloved' from priyā- 'dear, beloved'. Goth. þiva-dv n. 'servitude' from þiu-s 'servant'.

In Slavonic it is frequent. Primary: Masc.: O.C.Sl. mrŕ-tvŭ 'mortuus'? (see above), O.C.Sl. rybi-tvŭ 'fisher'; Neut. Russ. jas-tvo 'food', Russ. ši-tvo 'sewing', O.C.Sl. čuvi-tvo 'organ of sense'; Fem. O.C.Sl. jas-tva 'food' žę-tva 'harvest' moli-tva 'prayer' goni-tva 'pursuit'. Secondary -(ŕ)s-tvo (cp. the suffix -ŕskŭ § 90): zělŕstvo 'violence' (zělŭ 'violent'), dětŕstvo 'childhood' (dětę 'child'); probably this form of the suffix started from stems in -i-, cp. taŕŕstvo 'theft', from taŕŕ m. 'thief', blędŕstvo 'boasting, bluster' from blędŕ f. 'deceit, farce' (cp. -ŕba § 78). In Lithuanian Leskien is probably right in tracing this suffix in the group of names of tools formed with -tuva-, such as kosz-tuva-s 'strainer, filter' (kósziu 'I filter'), rės-tuva-s 'roller for winding yarn' (rėczŕiu 'I roll, wind'), karsz-tŭvai pl. 'woolcarder's comb' (karsziŭvŕlnas

1) Goth. gáidv n. 'lack' no doubt belongs rather to $\sqrt{ghe\ddot{x}dh-}$ 'desire' (O.H.G. gŭ 'eagerness, greed') than to gei-gan, i. e. it should be analysed gáid-v, not gái-dv.

'I card wool'), min-tuvaĩ pl. 'a machine for breaking flax, brake' (minũ linũs 'I tear flax'). Cp. also Pruss. pre-artue 'ploughshare' and ar-twes 'ship's voyage'.

§ 62. The Suffix -tr-o- -tr-ā-, -tl-o- *-tl-ā*¹⁾. This is an extension of -ter- -tor- (§ 119 ff.), cp. e. g. Skr. ari-tra- 'oar' from ari-tar- 'rower'. Perhaps l arose from r by some process or processes of assimilation or dissimilation (partly in proethnic Indo-Germanic, partly in the separate languages), cp. I § 282 p. 225 f.²⁾.

The meaning is generally that of the instrument or the place of the action.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. bhari-tra-m 'arm' (that with which one bears), Gr. φέρε-τρον φέρε-τρον 'litter, bier', Lat. prae-feri-culu-m 'wide sacrificial dish' (regarded as the instrument for carrying something offered) fer-culu-m 'litter, bier'. Skr. m. n. ari-tra- O.H.G. n. ruo-dar Lith. ir-kla-s 'oar', cp. also Gr. Ἐρε-τρο-ία 'Oarstown'. Skr. mā-trā Gr. μέ-τρον 'measure' (or should we follow de Saussure, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 248, in assuming this to stand for Idg. metro-* i. e. med + tro-*?).

Aryan. Skr. kṣa-trā-m Avest. xša-pre-m O.Pers. xša-ša-m 'lordship'. Skr. vās-tra-m Avest. vas-tre-m 'garment, vesture'. Skr. dhār-tra-m 'support' Avest. dar-pre-m 'an upholding, holding fast'. Skr. vahī-tra-m 'ship': Lat. vehi-culu-m. Skr. hō-tra Avest. zao-pra 'libation, offering': Gr. χύ-τρον 'pot' χύ-τρον 'libation'.

Armenian. arōr araur, gen. arauro-y, 'plough' for ara-tro-* (I § 360 p. 276, § 483 p. 357): Gr. ἄρο-τρον 'plough', Lat. arā-tru-m, O.Icel. ar-pr m. 'ploughing', Lith. ār-kla-s 'plough'.

2) In I p. 226 l. 5 instead of 'the nominal suffixes -tro- and -tlo- beside -dhro- and -dhlo-', read 'the nominal suffixes -tlo- and -dhlo- beside -tro- and -dhro-'.

alaur-i 'mill' (from alam 'I grind') was a secondary extension of a tro-stem: cp. Gr. ἀλί-τρο-ιος 'belonging to grinding' ἀλε-τρο-ένω 'I grind to powder' ἀλετριβανος for *ἀλετρο-τριβανος 'pulverising by grinding, pestle'.

Greek. ῥόπ-τρο-ν 'tambourine, lever of a trap' A.S. ræf-ter m. 'beam'. ἔλυ-τρο-ν 'covering, that which contains': Skr. varū-tra-m 'upper garment'. λέκ-τρο-ν 'couch, bed': O.C.Sl. lātr 'lair of wild animals' pr. Germ. lax-tra-*. δέλι-τρο-ν 'bait, lure', compare no doubt O.H.G. quer-dar 'bait, lure' (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 153). νίπ-τρο-ν 'water for washing'. ῥή-τρά 'agreement, treaty'.

ἄν-τλο-ν ἄν-τλο-ς ἄν-τλη 'bilge-water, dead-water, baling scoop': cp. Skr. āma-tra-m 'vessel, jug, drinking-cup' (Lat. ex-antlāre ex-anclāre is the Greek ἐξ-αντλήειν borrowed, cp. I § 367 p. 278). ἐχέ-τλη 'plough-tail'.

Italic. Lat. cas-tru-m and fem. cas-tra; in Umbr.-Samn. the word has passed into other declensions, Osc. castrovs gen. 'fundī' castrid abl. 'fundo' Umbr. kastruvuf 'fundos'. Lat. rōs-tru-m (rōdō 'I gnaw'), arā-tru-m, fulgē-tru-m fulgē-tra. Umbr. kle-tram 'lecticam': Goth. hlei-þra 'hut, tent', √ klei-.

-tlo- became -klo- in proethnic Italic, except where s preceded (I § 366 p. 278). Lat. piā-clu-m -culu-m, Umbr. piha-klu 'piaculorum'. Lat. sae-clu-m -culu-m: Lith. sė-klà 'seed'. Lat. ind-ā-cula sub-ū-cula: Avest. ao-þre-m 'sandal', Lett. áu-kla a kind of string (in Lith. the declension has changed, au-klė 'bandage for the feet'). Umbr. eh-vel-klu 'edictum, decretum', mantrah-klu 'mantele'. Osc. sakara-klúm 'sacrum'. -tlo- is kept after s in Osc. pes-tlú-m 'sacellum, templum': Umbr. pers-clu pes-clu 'supplicatione'. -clo- became -cro- in Latin by dissimilation where an l preceded (I § 269 p. 217): lavā-cru-m: Gr. λωε-τρό-ν λουτρό-ν 'bath, water for washing', Gall. lau-tro 'balneo', O.Icel. lau-ðr 'soap'; lu-cru-m; in-volū-cru-m.

Rarely we find -s-tro-, as mōn-s-tru-m capi-s-tru-m (cp. the Germanic); whence also nouns in -aster -āstra -āstru-m, like formāster, oleāster oleāstru-m (see Seck, Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. I 390 ff. Schnorr von Carolsfeld, ibid. 404 ff.).

Old Irish. lō-thor lō-thur n. 'alveus, canalis' Gall. lau-tro 'balneo': Lat. lavā-cru-m etc., see above. tara-thar n. 'boring tool, gimlet': Gr. τέρετρον 'gimlet'. criathar n. 'sieve': O.H.G. hrī-ttara 'sieve'? (see the end of the section, p. 122). ara-thar n. 'aratum': Armen. arōr etc., see p. 118. bria-thar f. 'word'. cētal n. 'song' (cētlo- for can-tlo-*). With regard to the developement of -thar from -tro-m* and from -trā*, and of -tal from -tlo-m*, see I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469 and § 634 p. 475.

cenēl n. 'family, race' O.Cymr. cene-tl. scēl n. 'narration, tale' Mod.Cymr. chwedl for pr. kelt. skū-e-tlo-n*, √seq 'say'. anāl f. 'breath' Mod.Cymr. ana-dl. Cp. I § 110 p. 104, § 518 p. 371 f., § 620 p. 467.

Germanic. The þ of the pr. Germ. -þra- -þla- indicates that the sonant next preceding it bore the principal accent (I § 529 p. 384 f.). O.H.G. lio-dar A.S. hleó-ðor 'sound, noise', pr. Germ. hlēy-þra-: Skr. śrō-tra-m 'hearing, ear'. Goth. smair-þr n. 'grease, fat', √smer- 'besmear'. Goth. hleī-þra 'tent': Umbr. kle-tram 'lecticam', √klej-. O.H.G. sta-dal m. 'shed, barn': Skr. sthā-trā-m 'standing-place, position'. O.H.G. wa-dal we-dil m. n. 'fan, tuft', √wē- 'blow'. Goth. nē-þla and nā-dla 'needle' (cp. Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 5. 277 f.).

O.H.G. bīhal n. 'hatchet' pr. Germ. bīþla-, Idg. bhejtlo- for bhejd + tlo-*, √bhejd- 'findere' (is O.Ir. biail, gen. bēla, 'hatchet' connected with this?); O.H.G. sedal n. m. 'seat' pr. Germ. seþla-, Idg. setlo- for sed + tlo-*, √sed- 'sit'. I follow de Saussure, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 247. 255¹).

After spirants, t is kept (thus the original accent cannot be determined): Mid.H.G. wes-ter f. 'baptismal robe' Skr. vás-tra-m 'garment'; Goth. gilstr n. 'tribute' from gild 'tribute' √gheldh-; O.H.G. bluostar n. 'offering' (Goth. derivative blōstreis 'offerer') beside Goth. blōtan 'offer'; O.H.G. riostar n. and riostra f. 'ploughshare' beside Mid.H.G. riuten 'root out'; O.H.G. hlahtar n. O.Icel. hlattr m. 'laughter'.

1) Germ. bīþla-*, like Gr. φτερός 'log, piece of wood', which de Saussure similarly derives from bhejd-, might certainly be connected with O.C.Sl. bi-ti 'strike' u-boj-ŭ 'deathblow'.

Pr. Germ. -dra- -dla- indicate that this suffix bore the accent (cp. Skr. as-trā-m dā-trā-m etc.), see I § 530 p. 386 f.; yet these pr. Germ. suffixal forms may also represent Idg. -dhro- -dhlo-, see p. 122. Idg. -tro- is probably seen e. g. in Goth. fō-dr 'scabbard' O.H.G. fuo-tar A.S. fō-ddor n. 'case, sheath': Skr. pā-tra-m 'that which contains, vessel'.

-s-tra- is fairly frequent; as O.H.G. gal-s-tar n. 'song' from galan 'sing', compare A.S. zeal-dor n. O.Icel. gal-dr m.; Goth. huli-s-tr 'covering' from huljan 'cover'. Cp. Osthoff, Über das eingedrungene s in der nominalen Suffixform -stra-, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIII 313 ff., and -s-tyo- (§ 61), -s-lo- (§ 76), -s-ti- (§ 100), -s-tu- (§ 108), -s-men- (§ 117).

Balto-Slavonic. -tro- is found only in a few uncertain examples, as Lith. vė-tra 'storm' O.C.Sl. vě-trŭ 'air, wind'. The uncertainty is caused by the possibility of a later transference into the o- or ā- declension, which has undoubtedly taken place in O.C.Sl. bratr-ŭ 'brother' sestr-a 'sister'.

-tlo- occurs only in Baltic, where it appears in Lith. and Lett. as -kla- (I § 377 p. 285 f.). Pruss. sen-tla-* 'token, sign' in the partic. eb-sentliuns 'having betokened, marked' Lith. žėn-kla-s 'token, sign': cp. Skr. jñā-tra-m 'ability to recognise' O.H.G. be-cnuodelen 'give a sign of recognition' ir-chnuodilen 'become perceptible'; from which we may deduce a pr. Germ. form knō-þla-*. Pruss. sper-tla-n 'cushion of the toes', beside Lith. spir-iū 'strike with the foot'. Lith. sė-klà Lett. sē-kla 'seed': Lat. sae-culu-m. Lith. bū-klà 'home' bu-kla-s (ū?) 'lair of an animal': Skr. bhāvī-tra-m 'world' (this meaning is not certain) A.S. bold (for bodl*) O.Icel. ból 'house' pr. Germ. bu-þla-*. In Slav. -tlo- was replaced by -dhlo-, see below.

In the European branches, -dhro- -dhlo- are found side by side with -tro- -tlo-, and with the same meaning; and the former often displace the latter. Cp. e. g. Gr. γένε-θλο-ν γενί-θλη 'origin, race, scion, birthplace': Skr. janī-tra-m 'birthplace'. ἔδε-θλο-ν 'seat': Lat. sedī-culu-m, Lett. sēde-kli-s 'seat' (with the addition of the suffix -iō-). Lat. tere-bra: Gr. τέρε-τρο-ν O.Ir. tara-thar n. 'borer'. Lat. stu-bulu-m: O.H.G. sta-dal 'barn'.

Pr.Germ. -dra- -āla- is ambiguous (see p. 121): is for example O.H.G. hrī-ttara 'sieve' connected with O.Ir. cria-thar or with Lat. crī-bru-m? In Slav. only -dhlo- occurs, as Czech rā-dlo O.C.Sl. ra-lo ora-lo 'plough': Lat. arā-tru-m etc. (see p. 119), Czech by-dlo 'dwelling' Pol. by-dło 'cattle, means': Lith. bū-klà 'home'. Cp. § 77.

§ 63. The Suffix -io- -iā-, -ijo- -iīā-¹).

With regard to the fluctuation between -ijo- and -io- see I § 117 p. 110. § 120 p. 111 ff. A parallel form -ījo- is also found (e. g. Skr. tyt-īya-s Gr. προθῦμ-ίη), whose relation to the two other forms is obscure; it resembles the Skr. -īyas- Gr. -ίων (§ 135), forms of the comparative suffix.

In the nom. sing. we find in different languages -īi- or -i- instead of and parallel to -io-. Thus Goth. har-ji-s, brūks for brūk-i-s*, haiŕd-ei-s; Umbr. Trutit-i-s 'Truttidius' (also in the acc., Fisim 'Fisium' and neut. terti 'tertium'), Osc. Viñikiis 'Vinicius' (i), Púntiis 'Pontius' (i or -īi-), Heŕrennis 'Herennius' (also neut. medic-i-m 'magisterium'), O.Lat. Cornēl-i-s (and acc. Cornēl-i-m, cp. also voc. fīlī); Lith. mēd-i-s and *gaid-ỹ-s*²).

From the earliest period this suffix was both primary and

2) In I § 84 Remark 1 p. 80, I assumed the existence of -īi- as a form of the Idg. suffix beside -io-. As my pupil Prof. W. Streitberg has recognised, it is preferable to assume -i- -ī- as the original forms (-i-:

secondary, and its neuter and feminine forms are frequently used. as substantives (§ 158).

Three chief functions of this suffix may be distinguished.

1. It forms verbal adjectives with the meaning of the so-called fut. pass. participles or participles of necessity, or with a simple participial meaning, active or passive. In Sanskrit, but nowhere else, these adjectives appear as a class of forms in active and extensive use. The neuter and the feminine are often used as abstract substantives (see above).

Idg. Skr. yāj-ya-s Gr. ᾗ-ιο-ς 'venerandus', fem. yāj-ya āy-tā, ✓iāg- 'revere'. Skr. sāc-īya-s 'whom one must help, must value', Gr. ἀοσοτήρ 'helper' from ōsoo-* which stands for sok^h-iō-*, Lat. soc-īu-s, ✓seq- 'be together with, follow'.

Aryan. In Skr. -iō- appears as a living participial suffix; e. g. dṛś-ya-s dārś-īya-s 'visible, worth seeing' cēt-īya-s 'perceptible'. Examples of substantival usage are: neut. vāc-īya-m vāc-ya-m 'speech, word', fem. vid-yā 'knowledge'. For the fluctuation between -ya- and -īya- see Edgren, Journal of the Amer. Orient. Soc. XI 74 ff.

Following a root ending in a short vowel the suffix assumes the form -iīō- instead of -iō-, as kṛ-tya-s 'faciendus' kṛ-ty-am

-ī- = -iō- : -iīō-), so that this form represents the weak-grade phase of the suffix which we are discussing, in the same way as -ī- represents that of -iē- (§ 109). Streitberg is certainly right in laying especial stress on Gothic forms like brūks un-nuts. The form -iī- arose through the -ī- being added from cases which had -iō- -iē-. Just so we have in Lith. jī-s jī for ī-s* ī* on the model of jō etc. Such forms as Lith. mō-jī-s are of the same kind as O.C.Sl. ladi-jī § 110 and Skr. svadhā-yin- § 115. Beside the Idg. stems formed with -iō- -iē- : -ī- (-iīō- -iīē- : -ī-) there probably existed from the pr. Idg. period onwards invariable -iō- stems which never had -ī-. To these however we must not refer nominative forms like Skr. yāj-y-as Gr. ᾗ-ιο-ς Lat. exim-īu-s, which were new formations (cp. Goth. brūks), and similarly Skr. yā-s Gr. ῥ-ς (cp. Lith. fl-s). I do not believe that the late Greek nouns ending -ις -ιρ instead of -ιος -ιρ should be classed here as containing an original form of their suffix. They were created on the model of personal names belonging to the classical period, such as Ἀλεξίς Ζεύξις (cp. R. Wagner, Quaestiones de epigrammatis Graecis, Lips. 1883, p. 96).

'business' ky-tyd 'infliction, bewitchment', a new formation based upon such stems as -ky-t- 'faciens' (§ 123).

In Avest. -ya- is rarer, e. g. dar's-ya- 'visible', vairya- 'worth choosing or desiring', išya- 'desired, dear'.

Armenian. Here no doubt should be classed li, gen. lioy, 'full' from plē-iō-*.

Greek. στυγ-ιo-ς 'abominable, odious'. πάγ-ιo-ς 'established, firm, durable'. σπάγ-ιo-ς 'slaying, killing'. Substantival usage: ῥεσπ-ια pl. 'ruins, debris', σπάγ-ιo-ν 'offering, victim for offering'.

Italic. Lat. exim-īu-s 'eximendus, exceptional, distinguished'. in-fer-īu-s 'presented, offered': cp. Avest. bairya- 'presenting'. Substantives: frag-īu-m 'breach, fracture', stud-īu-m 'zeal, eagerness, desire', exuv-iae pl. 'clothing, cast-off skin'.

Old Irish. Subst. fem. in-sc-e 'speech' ✓ seq-, neut. suide 'seat', ✓ sed-, frecre for frith-gaire* (I § 514 Rem. 2 p. 376) 'answering, answer' ✓ gar-.

Germanic. Adjectives with the meaning of the fut. partic. pass. are commoner than in other European languages. Goth. brūkja- (nom. brüks) O.H.G. prūchi 'useful, serviceable'. Goth. un-nutja- (nom. un-nuts) 'useless' O.H.G. nuzzi A.S. nyt 'useful'. Goth. un-qēþja- (nom. un-qēþs) 'unutterable'. O.H.G. gi-fuori 'suitable, useful'. Here perhaps should be classed Goth. havi, 'gen. haujis, O.H.G. hewi n. 'hay' pr. Germ. χay-ia-* n. i. e. 'that which is to be cut'. Abstract nouns: neut. O.H.G. gi-fuori 'suitability, usefulness' compared with the adj. gi-fuori; Fem. A.S. nyt O.Icel. nytr 'use' compared with adj. A.S. nyt, Goth. brak-ja 'fight' (originally 'breach') with brikan 'to break'.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian there are only a few adjectives; e. g. sriau-ja-s 'flowing swiftly', žala-s žale-s (Pruss. acc. saligan with g = j) 'green', properly 'being verdant', from žēl-ti 'to be verdant'. The following may be adjectives used substantivally: vė-ja-s 'wind' ('he who blows'), gaid-ỹ-s 'cock' ('he who crows'), from gėd-óti 'crow', etc., all masculine. Forms formerly neuter used as substantives: žōd-i-s 'word' (cp. Skr. vāc-ya-m), kañd-i-s 'bite', kiřt-i-s 'cut or blow' with a cutting instrument (Skr. kart-ya-

'to be hewn or cut off') and other such forms; feminine forms used as substantives are pradžia 'beginning' for pra-d-iā* beside pra-dē-ti 'begin' (✓ dhē-), žin-iā 'knowledge' and others.

Slavonic. Adjectives which should no doubt be classed here are lūžī 'deceitful' for lūg-iā*: O.H.G. luggi lukki O.Sax. luggi 'deceitful' pr. Germ. luz-iā-*; also věždī 'knowing, aware' for ved-iā* and other examples. Substantival usage: lūža 'lie' for lūg-iā*: O.H.G. lugi 'lie' which implies a form luz-iō*; jažda 'food, victuals' for ēd-iā*: Lat. in-ed-ia Skr. ad-ya-s 'eatable' O.Icel. ætr 'eatable' for at-iā-z*; sta-ja 'position, standing-place, stall'; dažda 'gift' for dad-iā* from the reduplicated form da-d 'give'.

Remark 1. There is often room for doubt whether an -iō- form should be classed here, or whether it be a secondary formation (2). Thus, for example, Gr. σφάγ-ιo-ς may also have been formed from σφay-η 'a slaying, offering', O.H.G. luggi lukki from lug m. 'lie'. It should further be observed that the popular conception of the meaning of a word was very liable to change; a form which was originally primary might be regarded as a derivative, and vice versa. Thus e. g. Lat. rēg-ius, which the Romans certainly looked upon as derived from rēx, may very well have been primary to start with: cp. Skr. rāj-iyā-s, subst. rāj-iyā-m, beside rāj- 'king' and rāj-ti rāj-a-ti 'shines forth, is conspicuous, rules, governs'; the verbal stem from which rēgius was originally derived died out in Latin, and thus the form was firmly established in the popular conception as a derivative of the noun rēx. Cp. Rem. 3 p. 132.

2. -iō- as a secondary suffix, forming adjectives which denote possession, origin, and other ways in which one thing may be connected with another. In these adjectives as well as in the former group the neuter and the feminine were often used as substantives with abstract meaning, and then -iō-m and -iā- were taken to form substantives of this kind even where there was no corresponding adjective in -iō-.

It is specially important to notice that in compounds with epithetised meaning, the so-called bahuvrīhi (§ 50), and also in adjectival compounds containing a governing preposition (§ 15 p. 30 f.), -iō- is often the sign of the adjectival character of the word; e. g. Gr. ὁμο-πάτρ-ιo-ς beside ὁμο-πάτωρ 'from the same father', Skr. ānv-āntr-ya-s 'situated in the intestines'.

Idg. patr-iio-s* 'belonging to a father' from pater-* 'father':

Skr. pūtriya-s Gr. πάτριος Lat. patriu-s. When the suffix was added to o- and *ā-stems, the final vowel of the stem was dropped (cp. Rem. 3 p. 132); examples are ekṃ-iṣo-s 'equinus' from ekṃo-* 'equus': Skr. āśviya-s Gr. ἵππιος; agr-iṣo-s* 'situated in the fields' from ag-ro-* 'field': Skr. ajriya-s Gr. ἄγριος ('wild').

Substantives: Skr. svápnya-m Lat. somniu-m O.C.Sl. sūnĭje sūnĭje 'dream' beside Skr. svápna-s Lat. somnu-s O.C.Sl. sūnū 'sleep'. ghnt-iā* 'a slaying' seems to be an Idg. fem. of this kind; Skr. hatyā 'killing' O.Sax. gūðea 'fight' Lith. gincziā 'strife', beside the part. pass. ghn-tó-* (Skr. hatā-) 'struck, slain'.

In adjectival compounds: Skr. dāśa-mās-īya- Avest. dasa-mah-ya- 'lasting for ten months' (beside Gr. δεκά-μηρος), Skr. ūpa-mās-ya- 'monthly', Gr. ἐμ-μῆν-ιος (beside ἐμ-μηρος) 'running its course in a month' ἐπι-μῆν-ιος 'calculated for a month, lasting for a month'; Gr. ὁμο-πάτρ-ιος O.Icel. sam-fedr 'from the same father' (compare O.Pers. hama-pitar- Gr. ὁμο-πάτωρ).

Aryan. Skr. gāv-ya- Avest. gao-ya- 'bovinus' from gav- 'bos': Armen. kog-i 'butter' (see below). Skr. śravas-īya- 'glorious' from śrávas- 'glory' Avest. manah-ya- 'spiritual, invisible' from manah- 'spirit': cp. Gr. τέλειος τέλος 'complete, having reached its end' for τελεισ-ιος* beside τέλος n. 'end, goal'. Skr. márt-īya- Avest. maš-īya- O.Pers. mart-īya- 'mortal, a man' beside Skr. márta-s 'a mortal, man': cp. Gr. ἀ-μβρόσιος 'immortal' (I § 120 p. 112). Skr. *bhēṣaj-yā*¹⁾ Avest. baēšaz-ya- 'containing healing power, medicinal' from bhēṣaj-ā-m baēšaz-e-m 'healing power, medicine'. Skr. grām-iyā- 'belonging to a village' from grāma-s 'village, small community', kṣatr-īya- 'holding lordship, lord' from kṣatrā-m 'lordship', sén-īya- 'provided with missiles' from sēna 'missile'.

The group of participles in -tav-ya- was a new formation in Sanskrit, which did not become at all common until the post-

Vedic period: e. g. kar-tav-yā- 'faciendus' from the nomen actionis kár-tu-.

Substantives. Neut. Skr. kṣatr-īya-m 'lordship, sovereign might', dūt-īya-m 'message, duty of a messenger' (dūtá-s 'messenger'), Avest. sāsn-ya- 'announcement, dictate, command' (sāсна- 'word, announcement'). Fem. Skr. pád-yā 'footstep' (pád-ya- 'relating to the foot')¹⁾, śarav-īyā 'bowshot' (beside śarav-yā-m 'goal of the arrow', from śáru-ṣ 'arrow').

In adjectival compounds the suffix is rare. Skr. su-hást-īya- (beside su-hástā-) 'with beautiful hands' mádhu-hast-īya- 'holding sweetness in the hand' ádhi-gart-īya- 'situated on the driver's seat', Avest. dēušmanah-ya- 'cherishing evil sentiments, evil-doer' (cp. Skr. dur-manas- Gr. δυσ-μενής).

Armenian. This suffix appears to be contained in the nouns in -i. kog-i 'butter' ('coming from the cow') with g for u (I § 162, 2 p. 145) from kov 'cow': Skr. gáv-ya-. To this group no doubt belong the further examples gin-i 'wine', i. e. 'that which comes from the grape' (cp. Gr. οἶνο-ς Lat. vīnum; for the suffix cp. Lith. ap-vy-n-ỹ-s 'hops'), orj-i 'not castrated' mi-orj-i 'μόνορχις' from orj 'male', etc.

Greek. νά-ιο-ς νή-ιο-ς 'belonging to a ship', from ναῦ-ς 'ship': Skr. nāv-īya- 'navigable'. δῖο-ς 'heavenly, glorious' for διφ-ιο-ς* from Διφ-: Skr. div-yá-s 'heavenly'. πεζό-ς 'going on foot' for πεδ-ιο-ς* beside πούς ποδ-ός 'foot': Skr. pád-ya-s 'relating to the foot'. ἡοῖο-ς 'early, eastern' for οο-ιο-ς*, from ἡώς 'rosy dawn': Skr. uśas-ya-s 'dedicated to the dawn'. γομφ-ιο-ς 'molar tooth' (orig. an adj. joined with όδούς) from γόμφο-ς 'plug, peg': cp. Skr. jámdbhya-s 'molar tooth' or 'incisor tooth' from jámdba-s 'bite'. Lesb. χέλλιοι Ion. Att. χέλιοι (χίλιοι) 'thousand' for χασλ-ιοι* from χασλο-* (cp. δεκά-χίλιοι): Skr. sa-hasr-īya-s 'thousandfold' from sa-hásra-m 'thousand'; parallel to this is Dor. -κατ-ιοι Arcad. -κασ-ιοι in διᾱ-κάτριοι 'two hundred' from ἐ-κατό-ν 'hundred'.

2) With this Gr. πέζα 'bottom, extremity, edge, border' is usually compared. Perhaps we should assume the existence of an original subst. ped-iā*.

σωτήρ-ιος 'saving, delivering' from σωτήρ 'saviour'. λιμών-ιος 'belonging to the meadows' from λιμών 'meadow'. Ion. (and other dial.) βασιλή(φ)-ιος 'kingly' from βασιλεύς 'king' and the like (Att. -ειο-), whence the ending -ηιο-ς spread to other stems, e. g. ἀνδρ-ήιο-ς, πολεμ-ήιο-ς. τίμ-ιος 'held in honour' from τίμη 'honour'.

Remark 2. There remain certain groups of nouns, ending in -αιο-; -οιο-ς -ειο-ς, and retaining the ι (e. g. δίκαιο-ς, ἀλλοιο-ς, οἰκειο-ς), which occur in several extensive classes of formations; but their origin and development is still in many respects obscure, in spite of many attempts to investigate the subject thoroughly (see p. 122 footnote 1). They cannot be directly connected with Sanskrit forms like hiraṇyá-ya-s 'golden' from hiraṇya-m 'gold', gavyá-ya-s 'bovinus' from gavyá-m 'bovinum', nor with Lith. vasaró-ji-s 'field sown with spring-corn' from vasarà 'summer'. ἀλλοιο-ς etc. may well have been formed on the analogy of ποιο-ς; τοιο-ς, which probably arose from -οι-ίιο-ς. Thus -αιο- -ειο- (the latter only in some words) perhaps, go back to -αι-ίιο -ει-ίιο-. Have they any connexion with Skr. -ēya-?

Substantives. Θελκτήρ-ιο-ν 'delight, magic charm' from Θελκτήρ-ιο-ς 'enchanting' Θελκτήρ 'charmer' αἰδοῖο-ν 'pudendum' from αἰδοῖο-ς 'he before whom one feels shame', αἰδώς 'shame, modesty'. After the time of Homer neuter forms like these often assumed a diminutival meaning, as ὀρνίθ-ιο-ν 'little bird', ἐταίριδ-ιο-ν 'little mistress', ἀσπίδ-ιο-ν 'little shield' (hence -ιδιο-ν broke off as an independent suffix: ἀδελφ-ίδιο-ν 'little brother' ξιφ-ίδιο-ν 'little sword'); the intermediate stage between these two meanings was that of belonging to a kind; cp. the suffix -īno- in Germanic (§ 68). σωτηρ-ιά 'deliverance' from σωτήρ-ιο-ς 'ξεν-ιά 'hospitality' from ξέν-ιο-ς 'hospitable'. ἡσυχ-ιά 'quietude' from ἡσυχ-ιο-ς 'quiet'. The endings mentioned in Remark 2 were also used in the same way in substantives; e. g. Ion. ἀναγκαίη 'necessity' from ἀναγκαῖο-ς 'necessary' (compare ἀνάγκη 'necessity').

Adjectival compounds: ἐννεά-βο-ιο-ς 'worth nine oxen', παν-ημέρ-ιο-ς (beside παν-ήμερο-ς) 'lasting the whole day', ψευδ-όρκ-ιο-ς (and ψεύδ-ορκο-ς) 'forsworn'. Where the compound contains a preposition which, in sense, governs the latter part, -ίιο- is fairly regular; e. g. ὑπ-ασπίδ-ιο-ς 'situated under a shield', παρα-θαλάσσι-ο-ς 'situated near the sea' (§ 31 p. 53).

Italic. Lat. Jov-iu-s 'belonging to Juppiter' Umbr. Iov-iu abl. 'Jovio' Osc. Iúv-iia 'Joviam'. Lat. cēnsōr-iu-s from cēnsor. praecōn-iu-s from praecō. lucr-iu-s from lucru-m. nox-iu-s from noxa.

Substantives. Lat. augur-iu-m beside augur-iu-s from augur, dēversōr-iu-m beside dēversōr-iu-s from dēversor, hērēd-iu-m from hērēs (stem. hērēd-), collēg-iu-m from collēga. nox-ia beside nox-iu-s from noxa, custōd-ia from custōs (stem custōd-), famil-ia Umbr. famer-ias nom. 'familiae' beside Lat. famulu-s; Osc. medikk-iai loc. of medikk-iā- 'function of a medix' (cp. Lat. vindic-ia from vindex).

Adjectival compounds. Lat. acu-ped-iu-s 'swiftfooted', falci-ped-iu-s: cp. A.S. an-fēte 'one-footed' (cp. below under Germanic); falsi-jūr-iu-s; centi-nōd-iu-s; in-vīn-iu-s. Where there was a governing preposition, other adjectival suffixes were generally employed, cp. ante-lūc-ānus-, extrā-ordin-āriu-s and similar compounds.

Old Irish. Besides the adjectives in -de -te, which shew an extension of the suffix (as dāl-te 'forensis' from dāl 'forum', daur-de 'quernus' from daur 'quercus'), it can hardly be said that any derived adjectives remain which are formed simply with -iō-. But many of the substantives connected with these adjectives have been preserved; e. g. auē ōa 'grandson' = O.C.Sl. u-jŕ Pruss. awi-s 'uncle', beside Lat. avo-s 'grandfather'. Neut. orbe orpe 'inheritance, heritage' = Goth. arbi 'heritage', common ground-form orbh-iō-m* (I § 139 p. 124 f., § 335 p. 267, § 524 p. 380), beside Armen. orb 'orphan' Lat. orbu-s 'set free, bereft, orphaned' (the original meaning therefore of the Irish and German word was probably 'something, i. e. property, bereft, left behind'), cenēle 'genus' from cenēl 'genus' (cp. Gr. εὐναῖο-ν εὐναῖα beside εὐνή 'couch', ἀναγαιή beside ἀνάγκη 'necessity', οἰκίο-ν οἰκία beside οἶκος 'house', O.C.Sl. ognište n. 'fireplace, hearth' for -isk-je* beside Pol. ognisko n., and the like). Fem. lāne 'plenitudo' from lān 'plenus', ōge 'integritas' from ōg 'integer', galarche 'aegritudo' from galrach 'aeger'.

Cp. also Gallic proper names like Cintugnāt-iu-s beside Cintugnātu-s, Tout-iu-s beside Toutu-s (cp. Gr. Ἀντιγένης-ιο-ς, Τελαμών-ιο-ς).

Germanic. In the adjectival use it is no longer a living suffix, its place having been taken by -īna- -za- etc.; but it is frequently retained in substantives. Goth. niþ-jī-s 'cousin, kinsman' O.Icel. nið-jar pl. 'descendants, offspring' A.S. niddas pl. 'men' for ne(p)t-iō-* (I § 527 p. 382) beside O.H.G. nefo 'nephew, kinsman', Idg. stem (in the weak form) nept-*: Avest. napt-īya- 'kinsman', Gr. ἀνεψιῶ-ς O.C.Sl. net-ijŭ 'first cousin'. Goth. hairdeis O.H.G. hirti 'herdsman' ('he who belongs to the herd') pr. Germ. χirǣ-īja-*, beside Goth. hairda O.H.G. herta 'herd'. Goth. guþblōstr-ei-s 'offerer' beside O.H.G. bluostar 'offering'. O.H.G. ouwa O.Icel. ey (pl. eyjar) 'marshy land, island' ('watery' f. scil. 'earth', cp. Gr. πολεμιά 'enemy's land') for a(z)u-īō* (I § 444 c p. 330), beside Goth. ahva O.H.G. aha 'water'.

Neuter and feminine forms used as substantives. Goth. reik-i O.H.G. rīhh-i n. 'realm, lordship' beside Goth. reik-s 'lord, ruler': Skr. raj-iyā-m, yet cp. Rem. 1 p. 125. Goth. andbaht-i n. 'service' from andbahts 'servant', þiub-i n. 'theft' from þiufts 'thief'. Goth. hauhisti n. 'the highest height' from hauhists 'highest': cp. Skr. jyāīsth-ya-m 'highest power' from jyēśtha-s 'most powerful'; Goth. unháuli n. 'illness' from unháils 'ill'. O.H.G. diub-(i)a f. 'theft' beside Goth. þiubi n. Goth. ga-riud-jō f. 'shame' (transferred to the n-decl.), beside ga-riud-i n., from ga-riuþs 'modest, chaste'.

It is probable that some of the adjectival compounds of West-Germanic (and Norse) like O.H.G. heiz-muot-i 'hot-tempered, passionate' lang-lib-i 'longaevus' are old iō-stems (cp. Kluge, Nom. Stammb. p. 77. 104). We must certainly class here Goth. uf-aiþ-ei-s 'under an oath, bound by oath', and the Goth. substantival neuter forms fāura-daúri 'that which is before the door, street' anda-naht-i 'the time close on night'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian the suffix is no longer in use to form adjectives; but it often occurs in groups of compounded suffixes, as -in-i-s (med-in-i-s 'wooden').

Masculine forms used as substantives. arkl-ŷ-s 'horse' from árkla-s 'plough'. To this class also belong musū-ji-s 'he who is ours' from gen. músū 'our' (cp. O.C.Sl. naši 'our' for nās-ŷ* beside the gen. nasū), Prūsaičiai-ji-s 'he who belongs to the family Prūsaičiai', and the like.

Some masc. forms are derived from substantival neuters: iľg-i-s 'length' from iľga-s 'long', szált-i-s 'coldness' from szálta-s 'cold' etc. (cp. the Slavonic below).

This -io- appears in adjectival and indeed in most other compounds; e. g. tri-râž-i-s 'three-pronged' from râža-s 'prong', minkszt-gaľv-i-s 'soft-headed' i. e. 'weak-headed' from gaľvâ 'head', apý-vakar-i-s 'the time towards evening' (an adj. used as a subst.). The general practice of forming compounds with -io- may have sprung from this group of words.

In Slavonic it is still living as an adjectival formative suffix (-je- = orig. -io- and -ŷje- -ije- = orig. -iio-, I § 36 p. 37), forming adjectives from the names of living beings, e. g. materi 'motherly' from mati, ĉlovĉi 'human' from ĉlovĉkū, ovĉi and ovĉiŷi ovĉiŷi 'ovium' from ovĉa, synovĉi 'fili' (for the l see I § 147 p. 132) from synū (synov-, cp. Skr. išav-yâ- 'relating to an arrow' from išu-, Gr. ἀστεῖο-ς for Fαστεf-io-ς* 'town-like' from ἄστυ), bož-ŷi bož-ij 'divine' from bogū, děvŷi děvŷi 'maidenly' from děva.

Neuter forms used as substantives: ostrije 'sharpness' from ostrū 'sharp', lakomŷje 'greediness' from lakomū 'covetous, greedy' (cp. Lith. iľgi-s and the like), poližŷje 'usefulness, use' from poliža 'useful', znamenŷje 'designation, mark, token' from zname 'mark, token' and (with collective meaning) kamenŷje 'stone-work, stones' from kamy 'stone', dražŷje 'timber-work, beams' from dragū 'beam', and so forth. Feminine forms: suša 'dryness' from suchū 'dry', arožda 'folly' from arodū 'foolish', bratrŷja bratŷja 'brotherhood, brothers' (cp. Gr. φρᾶτρία). In all these instances the adjectives from which the substantives came have fallen out of use.

Only isolated examples of adjectival compounds have this suffix; e. g. bez-otĉi 'without a father, fatherless' (otĉi 'father') bez-unli 'without sense, unintelligent' (umū 'sense') like Lith. be-tėvis be-prōti-s.

Remark 3. The fact that in many cases we cannot tell whether -io- is primary or secondary (see Rem. 1) naturally suggests the question, whether its use as a secondary suffix may not be wholly due to a relation accidentally established between *io-formations which originally were primary, and nouns containing the same root, as for instance between rēg-iō- and rēg-* 'ruler, king'. In this case it would be questionable whether the disappearance of the -o- and -ā- of the stem was a real phonetic process, or whether, which is far more probable, some originally primary formation, e. g. jug-iō-* ($\sqrt{\text{jug}}$ 'yoke to, unite') was brought into connexion with a noun like jugó-m* 'yoke', and that this alone caused the apparent loss of the stem-final wherever it takes place. Such instances as Skr. bhuraṇ-yá-ti 'he is active' derived from bhuraṇa- 'active', Gr. μελίσσω for μελῖχ-τω* from μελῖχο-, must also, no doubt, be taken into account. I must content myself here with directing attention to these questions, which are still unsettled. — On these points the student may now be referred also to Windisch, Über die Verbalformen mit dem Character R, p. 55 f.

3. There are some adjectives in which -io- appears to have had a comparative meaning (cp. superl. medh-ṃmo-s* § 72 beside medh-iō-s* 'medius'), so that -ies- -is- (e. g. in Skr. compar. náv-gas- superl. náv-iṣ-ṭha-, § 81. 135) may be regarded as an extension of -io- by an s-suffix.

al-io-s* 'alius': Armen. ail, Gr. ἄλλο-ς Lat. aliu-s O.Ir. aile Goth. alji-s; cp. Ar. an-ia-* 'alius' (Skr. anyá- Avest. anya- O.Pers. aniya-), which is derived from another root but is similarly formed. medh-iō-s* 'medius': Skr. mádhya-s 'medius'. Armen. mēj, gen. mijoy, 'midst', Gr. μέσσο-ς μέσο-ς, Lat. mediu-s, Gall. Medio-matrici, O.C.Sl. fem. used substantivally mežda 'boundary' for mediā* (cp. O.Sax. middeu O.Icel. miðja — a weak fem. — 'midst'). neu iō-* beside neu-o-s* 'new, young' (cp. Skr. nú, Gr. νέ etc.): Skr. nárya-s, O.Ir. nāe (Gall. Norio-dānu-m), Goth. niuji-s, Lith. naūja-s. Skr. sav-yá-s O.C.Sl. šu-jī 'left' (cp. I § 185 p. 161). Gr. δεξι-ώ-ς 'right'.

Certain possessive pronouns with -io- should be placed in this group: e. g. Lat. meu-s for me-iō-s* (I § 134 p. 121) Pruss. mais (stem ma-ia-) O.C.Sl. mo-jī 'my', Osc. tium 'tu' Umbr. tiu tiom 'te', properly 'tuum', Pruss. tuais (stem twa-ia-) O.C.Sl. tvo-ŷi 'thy', and further Skr. mad-īya-s 'my' tad-īya-s 'his, eius'. Then e. g. me-īo-* would be related to mo-* (Avest. ma- Gr. ἐμός-) as Gr. ἐμέ-τερο-ς to ἐμός-ς.

We should also include certain ordinal numerals with -īo-. Skr. pūrv-iyā- pūrv-īya- 'previous, first', Avest. pavirya- 'first', Gr. πρώην 'lately' for πρωF-īā-v* (I § 306 p. 242). Skr. dvit-īya- Avest. bit-ya- 'second'. Skr. trī-īya- Avest. prī-ya- Lat. tert-iu-s Goth. frīd-ja-n- Lith. trėczia-s for tret-īa-s* O.C.Sl. tret-ŷj 'third' beside Gr. τρίτο-ς. Skr. tūr-ya- tur-īya- Avest. tūirya- 'fourth' for ktur-* (I § 471 p. 343).

This third function of the suffix -īo- appears also in active use in some of the separate Indo-Germanic languages. E. g. Goth. fairneis O.H.G. firni 'old' and Goth. alþeis 'old' may have been formed on the model of niuji-s.

§ 64. The Suffix -yo- -yā-, -uyō- -uyā-. This is both primary and secondary; it is found in substantives and adjectives, but no special meaning can be assigned to it. In Latin and German we must notice its frequent use in forming adjectives to denote colour, a function it acquired simply by analogical extension. In these and in some other languages -yo- appears still as a living suffix.

Idg. ek-yō-s* 'horse', fem. ek-yā* (often referred to Skr. āś-ú-ś Gr. ὠκ-ύ-ς 'swift' Lat. acu-pediu-s, but it is difficult to reconcile the vocalism): Skr. dśva-s āśvā, Gr. ἵππος (the fem. perhaps survives in ἱππη-μολγοί 'milkers of mares'), Lat. equo-s equa, O.Ir. ech, Goth. aihvā- seen in aihvā-tundi 'βάτος', Lith. asvū. gē-yō-* 'living' (✓ gei- 'to be astir, to live'): Skr. jīvā- Lat. vīvo-s Mod.Cymr. byw Goth. giu-s (stem qiva-) Lith. gýva-s O.C.Sl. živŭ. uidheyo-* -eyā- beside Skr. vidh- 'become empty, lack': Skr. vidhāva-s 'unmarried' vidhāvā 'widow', Gr. ἡίδεο-ς 'unmarried' (the explanation of the ἡ- is doubtful; see Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 110), Lat. viduo-s vidua, O.Ir. fedb Mod.Cymr. gweddwo (I § 174 p. 154) Goth. viduvō (n-stem) O.C.Sl. vidova 'widow'; the word should no doubt be analysed uidhe-yō-* and compared with words like Skr. yaj-a-tā-s darś-

-a-tá-s Gr. ἑρπ-ε-τόν λάχ-ε-σι-ς, containing the -e- of thematic verbal stems (§ 79. 100), cp. Lat. vac-uo-s etc. below.

-uo- occurs as a secondary suffix in pəṭṭ-uo-* pəṭṭ-uo-* and pəṭṭ-ū-īo-* (a derivative form with -īo-) 'father's brother, uncle': Skr. pítṛvya- Gr. (Ion. Cret.) πάτωρ for πατω-fo-ς* (ρω = ῥ-, I § 306 p. 241 f.) Lat. patruo-s O.H.G. fetiro and fatureo (faḍuruia-n-*); for the Avest. tūirya- see Bartholomae, Bezzenger's Beitr. X 271 f.

In the form -uuo-. Skr. dhr-uvá- 'firm' beside O.C.Sl. sū-dravŭ zdravŭ 'sound, healthy' for *-dor-vŭ.

Aryan. Skr. viś-va- Avest. O.Pers. vīspa- (I § 159 p. 142) 'all' (in Skr. it also means 'containing or pervading all'), beside Skr. viś- 'enter, penetrate, take possession of' (orig. 'completely filled' or 'filling', cp. Skr. śa-śvant- Gr. πᾶς § 126). Skr. ṛk-vá- 'praising'. Skr. pak-vá- 'ripe' (from pac- 'to cook'). We have already noticed that Skr. dhruvá- 'firm' should be classed here, i. e. dhr-uvá- with the dissyllabic form of the suffix, cp. O.C.Sl. sū-dravŭ 'sound, healthy' for *-*dor-vŭ*¹⁾.

The suffix is also denominative in some instances; e. g. Skr. kṣā-vá-s 'long-haired' from kṣā-s 'hair', rāsna-vá-s 'provided with a girdle' from rāsna- 'girdle', añji-vá-s 'slippery, smooth' from añji-ś 'unguent', rājī-vá-s 'striped' from rājī- 'stripe'.

In some cases it is doubtful whether the suffix is primary or denominative: Skr. pūr-va-s 'former, earlier' Avest. pourva- O.Pers. parūva- (read parva-) 'earlier': Gr. πρω-fo-* seen in Dor. πρᾶν 'formerly' for πρω-φά-v* and in πρῶτο-ς Dor. πρᾶτο-ς 'first' for πρω-f-aro-ς* (I § 306 p. 242), O.C.Sl. prŭ-vy-jŭ 'first'. Similarly Avest. aē-va- O.Pers. ai-va- 'unus': Gr. οἶ-fo-ς οἶο-ς 'alone', cp. oḡ-no-* in Lat. oino-s anu-s etc.

Armenian. kea-, seen in kea-nē (gen. ken-aē) 'life' and other words, seems to have been developed from kiva-* and accordingly to belong to the stem gī-uo-* (see above). Compare Hübschmann, Armen. St. I 35.

1) Elsewhere -ura- for -ea- in the Rig-Veda is 'a sporadic and doubtful exception'. See Edgren, Journ. of the Amer. Orient. Soc. XI 82.

Greek. ὀρθός 'upright' for *ὀρϝ-fo-: Skr. ūrdhvá-s 'upright', Lat. arduo-s, O.Ir. ard (ardd art) 'high, great, noble'; with which we may compare Arduenna silva, Idg. ǵdh-υό-s*. κόρ-fā (in Thessal. ? inscr.), Ion. κούρη Dor. κόρᾶ Att. κόρη 'girl' (I § 166 p. 146 f.). λαί-(f)ός 'left': Lat. laevo-s O.C.Sl. lěvŭ 'left'; compare no doubt Germ. slai-ya-z* 'weary, weak, dull, slow' (O.H.G. slēo A.S. slaw O.Icel. sljör), so that this word for 'left' would represent the opposite of the universal Indo-Germanic word for 'right', Skr. dákṣiṇa- Gr. δεξιός etc., in as much as the original meaning of the latter involved the notion of strength, ability, or cleverness, as is shewn by the Skr. dákṣa- 'strong, able, skilful'. κεν-fός* 'empty' Lesb. κέννος Ion. κενός Att. *κενός*¹⁾; the by-form κενε-fός, represented by Cyp. κενεφόρ Ion. κενεός, is parallel to ιε-ρός beside ἱ-ρός, and similar pairs of forms.

-fo- as a secondary suffix is no doubt to be traced in verbal adjectives ending in -τέος, which stands for *-τε-fo-ς, as διωκτέος 'to be pursued', and in adjectives in -αλέος, standing for -αλε-fo-ς, as ῥωγαλέος 'fragmentary, torn': these are based on stems in -το- and -αλο-.

Remark 1. Hesiod's φατερός; either represents an extended stem formed with -ίος, *-τε-fo-ς, or (which seems to me less likely) is a later corruption of a true Hesiodic form φατενός.

The Skr. accent in keśa-rá- etc. (see above) suggests the conjecture that -τέος in dactylic words came from *-τέός (cp. I § 676 p. 542 f.), and that -αλέος afterwards conformed to the same type.

-fo- as a secondary suffix is perhaps also to be recognised in ἴσος (Cret. ἴισφος 'equal', since the word may be referred to uit-s-, a weak form of the stem of ueid-es- εἶδ-ος (cp. § 132); the pr. Gr. form will then have been φισ-fo-ς*, cp. Umbr. mersuva from med-(e)s-* cited below. ἴσος has already been connected with εἶδομαι by Bechtel, Philolog. Anzeiger 1886 p. 15, who also gives the pr. Gr. form as φιδσφος*, but suggests no satisfactory explanation of the σ.

1) In the Att. πενότερος πενότατος: the use of ο instead of ω (contrast σπορώτερος) is a reminiscence of the older form πενφος*. Cp. § 75.

Here too we should no doubt class ξέρφο-ς 'strange, foreign' Ion. ξείνο-ς Att. ξένο-ς (I § 166 p. 146); yet it is not clear whether -fo- is primary or secondary.

Italic. Lat. ar-vo-m, Umbr. arvam-en 'in arvum': Mod.Cymr. er-w 'cultivated land' Bret. er-v 'furrow'. Lat. sal-vo-s, Umbr. salvom saluom 'salvum' salvam 'salvam': compare Skr. sár-va-s Gr. οὔλο-ς ὅλο-ς (*ὀλ-fo-ς) 'all, whole'. Lat. vī-vo-s Osc. bivus nom. 'vivi': Skr. jī-vá-s etc., see p. 133 above. Lat. cal-vo-s: Skr. kul-va-s 'bald'. Lat. scae-vo-s: Gr. σκαί-(f)ό-ς 'left', and add O.Icel. skeika 'go awry, go wrong' (skaikō-* for skaīuā-*, see S. Bugge, Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 515). In words denoting colours: hel-vo-s: O.H.G. gelo 'yellow', common ground-form ghel-uo-s*; gil-vo-s, ful-vo-s, flā-vo-s (for bhl̥-uo-s*, compare O.H.G. blao 'blue?'), rā-vo-s, fur-vo-s (I § 569 p. 426). Such forms as vacuo-s, nocuo-s, perspicuo-s, assiduo-s may be of the same kind as viduo-s; vacuo-s, for instance, will then have come from vace-uo-s*, the intermediate stage being vacouo-s* (I § 65 p. 52).

The suffix is secondary in Minerva for menes-uā* beside Skr. mānas- Gr. μένις- n. 'mind, sense' (cp. Skr. manas-vin- 'having sense, intelligent'); Umbr. mersuva abl. 'solita' for meřs-uā(d), i. e. med(e)s-uo- from meř-s 'ius'. Also in Lat. annuo-s from annu-s, strēnuo-s beside Gr. στρηνω-ς 'strength', cernuo-s from cerno-* (or cernā-) for cers-no 'head', cp. Gr. κράννᾱ κρήνη (ἀμφι-κράνω-ς) for κρᾶσ-νᾱ*; here too we should probably place the examples of -uo-s from e-uo-s*, cp. Skr. kēśa-vā-s Gr. διακτέ-(f)ο-ς.

Remark 2. Do the adjectives in -ivo-s, as captivo-s furtivo-s semen-tivo-s nocivo-s cadivo-s, come from feminine forms in -i- (cp. Skr. rāji-vā-s), or from derivative verbs in -ire (nocire*), like Lith. daly-va-s from daly-ti, Slav. chodi-vŭ from choditi (see below)? In either case there must have been a change of usage, from the primary to the denominative or vice versa.

Old Irish. tar-b Gall. tar-vo-s Mod.Cymr. tar-w 'ox', usually compared with Gr. ταῦρο-ς, which is said to stand for ταρ-fo-ς* (I § 639 p. 479). mar-b Mod.Cymr. mar-w 'dead', compared with √mer- 'die' (cp. Rem. 3).

Remark 3. Osthoff regards marb as modelled on the form of its opposite gi-uo-s*, O.Ir. bīu beo Mod.Cymr. byr, whilst Bréal (Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 127) holds that even the Lat.-Slav. mṛtuo-* 'dead' (Lat. mortuo-s O.C.Sl. mṛtĕŭ) was originally mṛto-* and that it was altered on the same analogy. This seems to me not unlikely; and I would also suggest that possibly the Kelt.-Germ. deks-uo-* 'dexter' (O.Ir. dess O.Cymr. dehou, Goth. taihswa) may owe its suffix to one of the two words for the opposite idea, lai-uo-* skai-uo-* (see pp. 135, 136) (cp. Gr. δεξιτερό-ς on the analogy of ἀνατερό-ς, late Lat. senexter instead of sinister on the analogy of dexter, and many similar examples, Ber. der sächs. Gesellsch. der Wiss., 1883, p. 191 f.)

Germanic. Goth. hlāi-v n. O.H.G. hlēo, gen. hlēwes, 'grave-mound' ground-form kloi-uo-*: Lat. clī-vo-s, √ klei- 'lean, incline'. A.S. earo O.Icel. qrr 'swift' from which Finn. arvas is borrowed: cp. Skr. ār-van- 'hasting, swift'. O.H.G. rāwa ruowa 'quietude, rest' pr. Germ. rē-uo-* rō-uo-*: Gr. ῥω-(f)ή 'letting loose, cessation, rest'. Words denoting colour; O.H.G. gelo: Lat. helvo-s, O.H.G. salo 'black, dirty', O.H.G. blāo 'blue' (compare Lat. flavo-s?), A.S. baso 'purple' etc. (Kluge, Nom. Stamm. 81).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pỹ-va-s 'beer' O.C.Sl. pi-vo 'draught, intoxicating drink', compared with pī- 'to drink' (O.C.Sl. pi-ti 'to drink' Skr. pī-tī-ṣ 'draught' Gr. πĩ-vo 'I drink' etc.); and since this is no doubt identical with pī- 'swell, be fat' (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 41. 167), the word must be closely related to Skr. pī-va-s Gr. πĩ-(f)o-ς 'fat'. Lith. paĩ-va-s O.C.Sl. pla-vũ 'yellowish white, tawny' (it is possible that the Lith. word was borrowed from the Slav.): O.H.G. falo 'fallow, tawny'. Pruss. sy-va- O.C.Sl. si-vũ 'gray': related to Skr. śya-va- 'dark brown'. Pruss. pel-wo O.C.Sl. plě-va 'chaff', beside Lith. pelaĩ pl. 'chaff'. Lith. piĩ-va-s 'belly'; kal-và 'hillock' (from kėl-ti 'to lift'). O.C.Sl. krava 'cow' for kor-va* (Lith. kárvė, containing a further suffix), compare Lat. cer-vo-s; gri-va 'mane': Skr. grĩ-od 'nape, neck'.

In Lithuanian it occurs in adjectives in -y-va-s, connected with verbs in -y-ti, as dalyj-va-s 'sharing in' (dalyvu būti 'be a sharer in') from dalyj-ti 'to divide', akj-va-s 'provided with eyes, inquisitive' from akj-ti 'to get eyes, become porous' (cp. akjla-s 'observant'). In Slavonic there are adjectives in -i-vũ -a-vũ, connected with verbs in -i-ti -a-ti, as chodi-vũ 'moving' from chodi-ti 'to go', ljubi-vũ 'loving' from ljubi-ti 'to love', laska-vũ 'coaxing, flattering' from laska-ti 'to flatter', dēla-vũ 'effective, active' from dēla-ti 'to effect, work'. These adjectives in -y-va-s -i-vũ are parallel to the Latin adjectives in -īvo-s; see Rem. 2.

§ 65. The Suffixes -no- -nā-, -ṇno- -ṇnā- and -eno- -enā-, -ono- *-onā-*¹⁾.

With regard to the relation of -ṇno- to -no-, see I § 227 p. 193 f.

It is often maintained that the first vowels of -eno -ono- are the same as the verbal thematic vowels e and o, so that e. g. the stem of Skr. bhāraṇa-m 'act of bearing' is to be divided into bhāra-ṇa-, and compared with the bhāra- of the 3. sing. bhāra-ti; and that of Goth. batran 'to bear', into baíra-na-, and compared with the baíra- of the 1. pl. baíra-m. This analysis cannot be justified by reference to forms like dōno-m* 'act of giving' (Skr. dána-m, Lat. dōnu-m) beside bher-eno-m* bherono-m* 'act of bearing', or to such as part. pass. dhēno-s* seen in O.H.G. gi-tān 'done' O.C.Sl. o-děnũ 'done round with, set round with, clothed' beside O.H.G. gi-zog-an 'drawn' (-ono-) O.C.Sl. nes-enũ 'borne' (-eno-). In these forms it is very far from certain that the suffix is -no- (stem dōno-* = $\sqrt{dō}$ + suffix -no-, and so forth), since there is good reason for believing that the initial vowel of the suffix was contracted with the vowel of the root in proethnic Indo-Germanic, in just the same way as, for instance, the 3. sing. conj. dōti* (Skr. dāti) from dō-e-ti* (see I § 115 p. 107). Now if we consider that it is just in tenses which have no thematic vowel that -eno- -ono- has firmly established itself as a participial suffix (Skr. bibhid-ānā-s Goth. bit-an-s from $\sqrt{bheid}$ 'split, bite'. Goth. fulg-in-s 'hidden', O.C.Sl. nes-enũ 'borne', Skr. dviṣ-ānā-s beside the indic. dviṣ-ṭé, dviṣ- 'hate', Avest. ṇn-ana- beside the indic. ṇn-ē, jan- 'slay') it will be seen that for our purpose it is absolutely necessary to regard -eno- -ono- as a simple indivisible suffix. From its usage it is clear that this suffix is very closely related to -no- -ṇno-; and there is nothing to prevent our assuming that -no- -ṇno- are the weak-grade forms corresponding to -eno- -ono-, just as we have side by side -mno- (-mṇno-?), -meno- -mono- (§ 71) and -tro- -tṛro-, -tero- -toro- (§ 75). The assumption of this ablaut-relation, i. e. that -no- arose from -eno- (-ono-), would still hold good even though we regarded -eno- as ultimately divisible into two elements (-e-, -o- = -no-), cp. *rudyt- the weak-grade form beside *rudo-nt- (§ 125).

This n-suffix formed chiefly verbal nouns, partly adjectives and partly substantives: the latter especially in the neuter and feminine, with abstract meaning (see § 158).

The suffix -eno- is characterised by its fertility as a participial and infinitival suffix in several languages, and some of the groups of adjectives and participles which it formed were very extensive.

As a secondary suffix it did not spread far until the Indo-Germanic languages had begun their separate development, and then only in a few branches.

Remark. Sometimes it is not easy to distinguish whether in any particular word we have the suffix -eno- or an en-stem extended by the suffix -o-, i. e. an example of transference into the o-declension. The latter is undoubtedly the case e. g. in Skr. āśn-o-s beside āśn- m. 'stone', puśn-o-s beside puśn- name of a deity (§ 60 p. 112), Gr. βίβης 'young stag' for βίβ-o-*; beside O.C.Sl. jelen- 'stag', čelár-ŋ 'whetstone' beside Skr. āśn-, Lat. pullu-s for puln-o-s* beside Goth. fulin- 'foal', Lith. lėkn-os pl. 'liver' beside Skr. yakr-. On the other hand it is doubtful whether Lat. regn-u-m contains the suffix -no-, or is an en-stem which has passed over to the o-declension, and is therefore identical with Skr. rājān- 'government, regimen'. Cp. § 71 Rem., § 94 Rem.

§ 66. 1. The Suffix in the form -no- -ṇno-. The form -no- is found especially in verbal adjectives, which, like those in -to- (§ 79), were made from the verbal stem (not from a particular tense-stem). In Sanskrit these adjectives formed a fairly large class of participles by the side of the to-participles and of similar character. They are chiefly passive in meaning.

Besides these there are numerous substantives, many of which can be shown to have existed in the proethnic language, of different genders and generally abstract in meaning.

The form -yno- has on the whole the same value as -no-. Yet it must be observed that not -no-, but only -yno- appears to occur as the medial participial suffix of non-thematic present forms.

The nouns formed with -no- -yno-, when used as adjectives (participles), have almost always the weak grade of ablaut in the root-syllable (the suffix bearing the accent, e. g. pľ-nó-* 'filled' $\checkmark pel-$, Skr. pūr-ṇá-), but as substantives more commonly the strong grade form (e. g. qoi-nā* 'requital', $\checkmark qei-$, Gr. ποι-νή). Differences like sup-no-* suep-no-* suop-no-* 'sleep' are indications that the strength of the root-syllable varied within the case-system of the same word.

Idg. pľ-nó-* pľ-nó-* 'filled, full', from $\checkmark pel-$ 'fill': Skr. pārṇá-s Avest. per'na- Gr. perhaps πολλοί 'many' (see I § 306 p. 242), O.Ir. lān, Goth. fulls pr. Germ. fulna-z*, Lith. pilna-s O.C.Sl. plünŭ; cp. Skr. pūr-tá-s Lith. pil-ta-s 'filled'. plē-nó-* 'filled' from plē- 'to fill': Skr. prāṇá-s Lat. plēnu-s; cp. Skr. prā-tá-s Lat. im-plē-tus 'filled'. Skr. ánna-m 'food' for ad-na-* (I § 477, p. 352) Gr. ἰδ-αρό-ς 'catable' ἰδ-αρό-ν 'food' (with -yno-, see below), $\checkmark ed-$ 'eat'. Avest. per'nā- f. Goth. fullō f. (which has passed over to the n-declension) 'fullness'. qoi-nā-* f. 'requital' from $\checkmark qei-$ (Skr. cay- Gr. τε-κ-): Avest. kaēnā- 'punishment', Gr. ποι-νή 'requital, punishment, reward', O.C.Sl. cěna 'price'. sup-no-* suep-no-* suop-no- m. 'sleep, dream': Skr. svápna-s, Arm. kun (suop-no-*, I § 162 p. 145, § 201 p. 169) Gr. ὑπνο-ς, Lat. somnu-s (probably suep-no-*, I § 172 p. 152) O.Ir. suan O.Cymr. hun (cp. I § 339 Rem. p. 269), O.Icel. svefn, Lith. sāpna-s O.C.Sl. sūnŭ.

leuqsno-* or louqsno-* 'shining': Avest. raoršna- 'shining', Lat. lūna O.Lat. inscr. losna for loucsnā*, O.Ir. luan 'moon', Pruss. lauznos pl. 'stars', compared with leuq-s- in Skr. rukṣá- 'shining', Lat. illūstri-s for in-leuqs-tri-s*, A.S. līxan lŷxan 'give light' for liuhs-ĵan*, from $\checkmark leuq-$; on the other hand, without -s-, O.Sax. log-na (o probably short) 'flame'. Words of this kind with -s- gave rise to a form -sno-, regarded as a single suffix, which occurs in a few words; see below. Cp. -s-ni- § 94.

Pres. medio-pass. part. with -ṇno- (beside this is found -ono-, cp. § 67). kei-ṇno-* 'lying' beside the indic. Skr. śē-tē Gr. κεῖ-ται: Avest. say-ana- 'lying' (Skr. upari-śayanā-m 'resting-place'), Gr. Ὠ-καρό-ς 'he who surrounds' (cp. Skr. d-śētē; von Fierlinger, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 477). Gr. ἐδ-αρό-ς 'eatable' beside the indic. Skr. ád-mi; éaró-ς 'dress, cloak' for fes-aro-* beside the indic. Skr. tás-tē.

Remark. This view of Ar. -ana- and of Gr. -aro-, so far as they have the same meaning as -māna- -mna- and -μενο-, cannot be called certain. As my pupil Herr H. Hirt reminds me, they may be regarded as having arisen from ṇno-*, just as the participial Ar. -āna- can be referred to -ṇno-; see § 67, b. Rem. p. 152.

The meaning of -no- is not clear in oi-no-s* 'unus': Gr. οἰρό-ς οἰρή 'ace on a die', Lat. oīno-s oēnu-s unu-s O.Ir. oen Goth. áins Lith. tēna-s O.C.Sl. inū.

Aryan. Skr. ā-ná- 'where something is lacking, defective' Avest. āna- 'empty' from $\sqrt{\text{an}}$ (Gr. εἰ-ν-ς 'needing, bereft'). Skr. kṣī-ná- 'diminished, vanished, waning': compare perhaps Gr. φθι-ρό-καρτος 'with fruit vanishing or vanished' (cp. Fick, Wörterb. I³ 236, Osthoff Morph. Unt. IV 115). Skr. dūr-ná- 'torn to pieces, scattered, beheaded' Avest. dar'-ná- f. 'cleft, ravine': O.H.G. zorn A.S. torn n. 'indignation, anger', properly 'a torn or rent condition of the temper' (ground-form dṛ-no-m*). Skr. dī-ná- 'bound' (dā- 'bind'), bhug-ná- 'bent' (bhuj- 'bend'), bhinna- 'split' for bhid-na-* (bhid- 'split'); thus it frequently appears as a living participial suffix. Skr. uṣ-ṇá- 'hot', also subst. m. and n. as well as f. (uṣ-ṇa-) 'heat'. Skr. bradh-ná-s 'pale', O.C.Sl. bronū 'whitish' for brod-nū*. Skr. tūṇa-s 'sheath, quiver', ground-form tḷ-no-s*, $\sqrt{\text{tel}}$ (Gr. τελατών etc.) Skr. yaj-ñá- Avest. yas-na- m. 'worship, sacrifice', $\sqrt{\text{yag}}$ 'to honour' (for the -s- of the Avest. form see I § 403 Rem. p. 298): Gr. ἀγ-ρό-ς 'revered, hallowed, pure'. Skr. praś-ná- Avest. fraś-na- m. 'question', $\sqrt{\text{prek}}$. Skr. sthāṇā- 'post, pillar' for sthūr-ṇa-*, Avest. stānā- in hazmārō-stāna- 'with 1000 pillars', ground-form stḷ-ná-*: Gr. στύλη, see p. 143.

With -s- between root and suffix: Skr. tik-ṣṇá- 'sharp' (cp. tig-má- 'sharp'), kṛt-sná- 'whole, complete', and other examples.

The existence of Aryan -ana- = -ṇna- is hard to verify, because of its coincidence in form with orig. -eno-. Besides examples like Ved. yaj-aná- beside yaj-ṇá- (I § 227 p. 193 ff.) and the above mentioned medio-pass. pres. part. (cp. also Avest. aoj-ana- beside impf. indic. aox-ta, hu-nv-ana- beside pres. indic. hu-nū-itē and others), we should perhaps add here Sanskrit oxytone adjectives like krōṣ-aná- 'screaming', rōc-aná- 'shining' jar-aṇá- 'perishable', with the abstract substantives śvēt-aná- 'the dawning' jaranā 'old age' (cp. Gr. στεφανός and στεγ-άρη); the palatal sound instead of the guttural in rōc-aná- sacaná- and other words was taken from such forms as rōcatē (see I § 448 Rem. p. 333). Cp. -ani- = -ṇni- § 95, and -anu- = -ṇnu- § 106.

It is only occasionally used as a secondary suffix. Skr. strāi-ṇa- 'female' from strī- 'woman', pāṇs-ná- 'male' from pāṇs- 'man', purā-ṇá- 'former, old' from purā adv. 'formerly'. Here also come vadhasnā-m 'deadly weapon' beside vadhá-s and vádhar, of similar meaning, and karásna-s 'forearm' (cp. kará-s 'hand'), if they contain -as- stems, cp. Goth. hláivasnōs pl. f. 'grave' beside neut. hláiv with similar meaning; the Sanskrit ending is in most cases explained as -a-sna-.

Armenian. kun 'sleep' from suoṇ-no-*, see p. 140 above. gi-n, gen. g-no-y, 'cost' from ues-no-* or uēs-no-*: Skr. vas-ná-s Gr. ὠρο-ς ὠρή 'sale-price, value' for fwas-ro-* -rā-, Lat. vēnu-m for ves-no-* or vēs-no-*. Perhaps we should add vasn 'on account of' (beside O.Pers. vaš-na- and Avest. vas-na- 'will, favour', √ uek-; the Avest. form is for vašna-* through the influence of the pres. vas'mi), and the derivative un-ain 'empty' (beside Skr. u-na-; Armen. u- for Idg. eu-, cp. Gr. εὖ-ρυ-ς).

Greek. στυγ-ρός 'hated'. σπαρ-ρός 'scattered, rare, thin', beside σπείρω. σεμνός 'revered' for seβ-ρός*, √ tjeg- § 492 p. 362). στεγ-ρός 'covered, covering'. σμερδ-ρός 'terrible'. σπικ-ρός 'sprinkled, motley, dark': O.H.G. forhana f. 'trout', ground-form prk-nā*. δά-ρος n. 'loan' is no doubt based upon a form

dā-no-* from $\sqrt{dō}$ 'give' (cp. § 132). λάγ-νο-ς 'lewd, wanton': cp. Lat. lēna for lēx-nā* (beside laxu-s). λίχ-ρο-ς 'dainty, greedy': cp. O.H.G. lecchōn 'lick', for pr. Germ. likkōna-n* from stem liz-na-* I § 538 p. 394. γοῦ-ρο-ς γοῦ-ρη 'toad': O.H.G. brū-n 'brown'. θῦ-ρο-ς 'throng, battle': Skr. dhū-na-s 'violently moved'. οἶ-ρο-ς 'wine' οἶ-ρη 'vine' οἶ-ρο-ν 'vine-leaf, vine-branch': Lat. vī-nu-s vī-nu-m and the derivative Armen. gi-n-i 'wine' (§ 63 p. 127), from $\sqrt{uei}$ 'to wind', and hence we should place in the same group Russ. věn 'wreath' and the derivative O.C.Sl. věn-ŭci Lith. vain-ika-s 'wreath'. πῦρ-αυρο-ς -αυρο-ν 'that with which fire is held, fire-tongs, coal-pan' for -αυσ-ρο-* (see Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 488), to which add possibly κερ-αυρό-ς 'lightning flash'. τεῖχ-ρο-ν 'child' (that which is begotten', from τεκίω): O.H.G. degan m. 'boy, servant' pr. Germ. peḡ-nā-s*. στέφ-ρο-ν 'breast': Skr. stīr-nā- 'outspread', cp. also O.H.G. stirna f. 'star' ground-form ster-n-īā*, $\sqrt{ster}$ 'spread'. δεμ-ρο-*, whence δ'ευρο-ν 'bedstead', as being a 'place built' for a bed, from $\sqrt{dem-}$. κλῆ-ρη 'couch, bed': O.H.G. li-na le-na 'support', $\sqrt{klei}$ 'acclinare'. στήλη Lesb. στάλλā 'sepulchral pillar' for stal-nā* ground-form stl-nā-* (by-form στυλή = stal-n-ā*?): Skr. sthānā 'post, pillar' see above p. 141. ζώνη 'girdle' for zōn-nā*, $\sqrt{jōs-}$. γεγ-ρη 'dowry' πόρ-ρη 'whore' beside πέρονημι 'I sell', ground-form por-nā-* or pī-nā-*.

-αρο- = -υνο-. There are a considerable number of participial words besides those given above on p. 140. στεγ-αρό-ς beside στεγ-ρό-ς. πιθ-αρό-ς 'easily persuaded, persuasive'. στέφ-αρο-ς -άρη 'wreathing, wreath'. χόδ-αρο-ς 'buttocks' (from χέζ-ω). δοῦπ-αρο-ν -άρη 'sickle'. ὄχ-αρο-ν -άρη 'shield handle' (from ἔχω). θῆγ-αρο-ν -άρη 'whetstone'. σκεπ-αρο-ν 'covering' (beside σκεπ-αρό-ς). κόπ-αρο-ν 'pestle, hatchet'. ἐρκ-άρη ὄρκ-άρη 'enclosure'.

As a secondary suffix it is not uncommon:

First should be mentioned the words in -εσ-ρο- (Lesb. -ετρο-, Ion. Att. -ετρο-, Dor. -ηρο-) and -ασ-ρο- (Lesb. -αιρο-, Ion. Att. -ηρο-, Dor. -αρο-). ἀλγεινό-ς 'paining, painful' from ἄλγος n. 'pain'. φαινό-ς 'shining' from φάος n. 'light', etc. Homeric (Lesb.) ἐραυνό-ς 'lovely' beside *ἔρω*ς (see Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr.

XXIX 70. 109). σελήνη 'moon' (Lesb. σελάννᾱ) from σέλας n. 'brightness'. In the oldest adjectives of this sort, which were participles of denominative verbs, -no- may have been primary; compare ποθινό-ς κοτεινό-ς with ποθέσαι κοτέσαι (ποθεσ-σαι* κοτεσ-σαι*) and ἐρασ-τό-ς beside ἐραννό-ς.

Further, under this head come adjectives of time like ἐαρινό-ς ἡαρινό-ς (misspelt εἰαρινός) 'vernus', ἡμερινό-ς 'daily' νυκτερινό-ς 'nocturnus' περυσινό-ς 'from last year, a year old'. These appear to have been formed from locatives, ἔαρι, πέρουσι (cp. also ἡμαρ, νύκτωρ). Then -ινο- broke off and became an independent suffix, hence δειλ-ινό-ς 'of the evening', and the like. For analogous adjectives in Italic, see below.

With -ανο- as a secondary suffix: κόπρ-ανο-ν 'stool' (κόπρ-ος), ἔδρ-ανο-ν 'seat' (ἔδρᾱ) and others. Was the suffix -δανο- taken from οὐτιδανό-ς 'useless' = οὐ-τιδ-ανό-ς (τιδ* = Lat. quid)? Cp. -δ-απο-ς, taken from ποδ-από-ς and the like (§ 16 p. 32).

Italic. Lat. plē-nu-s Umbr. plener 'plenis': Skr. prā-ṇa-s, see p. 140 above. Lat. cānu-s for cas-no-s*, Osc. Pelign. casnar 'senex' (extended by an r-suffix). Lat. vī-nu-s -nu-m, Umbr. vinu 'vinum' Volsc. vinu abl. 'vino'. Lat. urna for urc-nā*, Umbr. urnasier 'urnariis, feriis'. Lat. fānu-m for fas-no-m*, Umbr. fesnaf-e fem. pl. 'in templum', Osc. fiisnam 'fīsnam fem. acc. 'templum', Pelign. fesn. (abbreviated) 'templum', beside Lat. fēs-tu-s fēr-iae, in the ē-series of Ablaut.

Lat. dīgnu-s as compared with decet, for dec-no-s* (I § 65 p. 53, § 500 p. 366), or with O.Icel. tīgenn 'distinguished' tīgn f. 'distinguished rank', for dic-no-s* (✓deik- 'show') agnu-s: Gr. ἀμνό-ς 'lamb' for ἄβ-vo-ς*, O.Ir. uan Mod.Cymr. oen 'lamb' (I § 428 p. 315, § 437 p. 325), also O.C.Sl. jagnŭ*, implied by the formation jagne 'lamb'. pūgnu-s, pūgnāre, beside Gr. πυγ-μῆ 'fist, fight with fists'. grā-nu-m 'grain, kernel', ground-form gṛ-no-m*: Skr. jīr-ṇi- 'ground, crumbled', Goth. kaiúr-n n. 'grain', O.C.Sl. zrī-no 'grain, kernel, berry', compare also O.H.G. kerno O.Icel. kjarne m. 'kernel', formed from the ē grade of the root (ġer-). līgnu-m is no doubt to be compared with legō; tīgnu-m: cp. Gr. τέχ-νη 'power of production, art, skill'. lāna for ylā-nā*, ground-form

u̯l-nā*: Skr. ūr-nā 'wool' Gr. οὔλο-ς 'curly' for φοί-πο-ς, Goth. vulla 'wool' pr. Germ. uul-nō*. Lith. vil-na 'fibre of wool' O.C.Sl. vlū-na 'wool'. The same suffix appears to be contained, though less obviously, in fundu-s: Skr. bulh-nā-s 'ground' (I § 221 p. 189).

With -s-: Lat. annu-s for at-sno-s*: cp. Goth. aþn: penna O.Lat. pesna for pet-snā*, √ pet- 'fly'¹), and other examples.

Lat. -ino- unaccented = -ṇo-. It is of course hard to say what forms are to be classed here, since unaccented -ino- may equally well represent Idg. -ṇo-, -eno- or -ono-. The words we have to deal with are such as dom-inu-s pāg-ina sarc-ina, probably also terna for tes-inā* (√ tes- 'live').

As a secondary suffix it is not uncommon:

Lat. aēnu-s for aēs-no-*, Umbr. ahe-s-nes 'aenis', beside Lat. aes, aeris, Skr. áyas- n. 'metal, iron'. Lat. itignu-s for ilec-no- from ilex, salignu-s from salix (the ending was referred by popular etymology to √ gen-, cp. abiēgnu-s, fabāginu-s and so forth), acer-nu-s from acer, ebur-nu-s from ebur; the final vowel of the stem has been lost in pōpulnu-s from pōpulu-s, quernu-s for querc-nu-s* from quercu-s etc. Besides these we have pater-nu-s, māter-nu-s; alter-nu-s, infer-nu-s, exter-nu-s. Stems in -ā seem to have given rise to -ānu-s: siltānu-s (silta) insulānu-s (insula) Capuānu-s (Capua); hence in other local adjectives, urbānu-s, cismontānu-s Rhēnānu-s etc.

cēnu-s, nocturnu-s, hibernu-s, tesperna and the like are parallel to Gr. ἐσπερός, νυκτερινός, χειμερινός, ἐσπερινός (see p. 144), and perhaps in Latin also -no- was added to the locative in -i, and this vowel afterwards lost¹⁾.

1) Penna must be distinguished from pinna. The latter, with pinnus Gr. πῖνος; (common ground-form pṇ-no-*, see I § 253 p. 206 f.) belongs to A.S. finn Mod.H.G. finne 'fin', a Germanic word which Müllenhoff (Altgermanische II 54) connects in an interesting way with the name of the Fenni, although he is certainly wrong in taking a ground-form pet-nā* as his starting-point. The words most nearly akin to it are O.H.G. spannan 'to stretch', Goth. fana 'cloth, rag' (Mod.H.G. fahne), O.C.Sl. pānq 'I stretch, hang' o-pona 'curtain'. On √ spen- and pen-, see I § 549 p. 445 f. The bird's wing and the fin therefore received their name as being something 'out-stretched'.

Umbr.-Osc. kom-no-m* 'rò κοιόν' from kom 'cum', Umbr. kumne loc. 'in comitio' Osc. comenei loc. 'in comitio' comono pl. 'comitia' (for the Oscan anaptyxis cp. I § 627, p. 471). Osc. amnod 'circuitu' from am- 'amb-'. Lat. prōnu-s no doubt for prōd-no-*, compare prō(d).

Lastly, there are the distributive numerals derived from adverbs, like Lat. bīnī from bis-no-*, trīnī from tris-no-*, ter-nī, quater-nī.

Old Irish. lā-n 'full': Skr. pūr-ṇá-s etc., see p. 140. slān 'whole, sound, complete, full' may be for sl̥-no-*, as Lat. sal-vo-s for sl̥-uo-*. clōe-n 'awry, unjust, bad': cp. Goth. hlái-n-s 'hill', √ klei- 'to lean', whence also Gr. κλί-νῃ O.H.G. li-na (p. 143). suān O.Cymr. hun sleep: Skr. sváp-na-s etc., see p. 140. uan Mod.Cymr. oen 'lamb': Gr. ᾠνό-ς etc., see p. 144. domun m. 'world', Gallie Dubno-rīx 'world-king'; with this should probably be compared fu-domain 'deep' Mod.Cymr. duofn 'deep' (I § 520 p. 378): O.C.Sl. dǫno n. 'ground' for dǫb-no-*, Lith. dūgna-s 'ground' (with g for b, I § 346 p. 271). ēn m. 'bird' (I § 518 p. 377 f.), O.Bret. etn 'bird': cp. Lat. penna for pet-snā* p. 145, √ pet- 'fly'. fēn m. 'waggon' (I § 526 p. 381): O.Icel. vagn m. 'waggon', √ uegh- 'vehere'. dū-n n. 'walled stronghold', Gall. -dūnū-m in place-names like Novio-dānu-m 'New-castle, Newtown': O.Icel. tū-n n. O.H.G. zū-n m. 'fence, hedge'. rū-n f. 'secret': Goth. O.H.G. rū-na f. 'secret', with which, in a different grade of Ablaut, cp. O.Icel. rau-n f. 'attempt, proof, test, experience'. This suffix, though less clearly discernible, appears to be contained in bond bonn 'solea': Skr. budh-ṇá-s 'ground' (I § 221 p. 189).

Pr.Kelt. -ano- = -yno-. Since this, if unaccented, became in Irish identical with orig. -ono-, it is hard to say which of the examples should be classed here. Perhaps lethan O.Cymr.

1) Does hibernu-s stand for hībrino-s*, as in-certu-s for in-crito-s* (I § 33 p. 33 f.)? The word is undoubtedly connected with hiems, but the b has never been explained.

litan 'broad': cp. Gr. πλάτανο-ς 'plane' (named after its broad leaves, compare πλατύν-ς). Infinitive nouns like blegon m. 'milking' may also perhaps be referred to -uno-.

As a secondary suffix it is found in Gall. Arebrig-nu-s (pagus) 'lying on a hill' compared with Arebrigiū-m, beside O.Ir. bri, gen. breg, 'hill'. Also no doubt in Keltic words in -er-no-ar-no- (Zeuss-Ebel G.C. 774), as Gall. Tigerno-, isarno- 'iron', O.Ir. iarn O.Bret. hearn (I § 576 p. 431), whence perhaps were borrowed Goth. eisarn O.H.G. īsarn 'iron' (the suffix in O.H.G. diorna 'wench' Goth. viduairna 'one bereaved' etc. cannot be held to prove that this is a real Germanic word.)

Germanic. Goth. fulls O.H.G. vol (gen. volles) 'full', pr. Germ. ful-na-z*: Skr. pūr-ṇá-s etc. see above p. 140. Goth. alls O.H.G. al (gen. alles) 'whole, all' (beside ala-) ground-form al-no-s*, beside alan 'to grow up, increase' (cp. Gr. πᾶς 'whole, all' compared with Skr. śvā- 'swell out', § 126, and Lat. omni-s for op-ni-s* beside ops, § 95); Osc. allo is the same word if it is to be translated 'tota' and not 'alia' (Fick, Bezzenberger's Beitr. I 170; Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 177 f.). Goth. ib-n-s O.H.G. eban 'flat, even'. O.H.G. scī-n 'visible, shining', as subst. m. 'visibility, brightness, sheen'. Goth. us-lūk-n-s 'opened, open'. Goth. faihu-gair-n-s 'avaricious' O.Icel. gjarn 'greedy'. O.H.G. mei-n 'false, treacherous', as subst. 'falseness, wickedness'; Lith. mai-na-s 'barter' O.C.Sl. mě-na 'change, exchange', common ground-form moj-no- nā-, cp. moj-ni- § 95. O.H.G. loc (pl. loccha) O.Icel. lokkr m. 'lock' pr. Germ. lug-ná-s* (I § 534 p. 391): Lith. lug-na-s 'bent'. O.H.G. sker-n m. n. 'jest'. Goth. aþ-n n. 'year': cp. Lat. annu-s for at-sno-* p. 145. Goth. haúr-n O.H.G. horn pr. Norse horna n. 'horn': Gall. κάρνο-ν acc. 'trumpet' (Hesych.) beside Lat. cornu (also corno-, § 106). Goth. bar-n 'child' ('that which is born'): Lith. bér-na-s 'servant', dimin. bernėli-s 'little boy' (cp. a similar change of meaning in Gr. τέκνο-ν: O.H.G. degan). Goth. láu-n O.H.G. lō-n n. 'wages', beside Gr. ἀπο-λαύω 'enjoy' O.C.Sl. lovŭ 'prey, booty'. O.H.G. zeihhan O.Sax. tēkan n. 'token' pr. Germ. taik-na-* (compare Goth. táikns f., stem táik-ni-, 'token'), from ✓ deik- deig- (Goth. ga-teihan 'point out'). O.H.G. feihhan O.Sax. fēkan n. 'deceit' pr. Germ. faik-na-*, from ✓ peik- peig- (Goth. fáih n. 'deceit'). O.H.G. loug-na O.Icel. lau-n f., in O.H.G. also lougan (subst. m.) 'giving the lie, denying': the root has a different grade of ablaut in Goth. liug-n n. 'lie'. O.Sax. log-na (o probably short) 'flame': cp. Lat. lūna for loucsnā* etc. p. 140.

Germ. -uno- = -yno- cannot be identified with certainty.

In secondary use the suffix only occurs in Goth. jái-n-s 'that, yonder' from loc. ioi* (beside it stands a pr. Germ. i-na-* from the locative form iei* in A.S. bē-zen m. 'both' according to Holt-hausen, Paul Braune's Beitr. XIII 372. 590), unless Goth. hlái-vasnōs pl. f. 'grave' from hláiv n. 'grave' and arhvazna f. 'arrow' beside A.S. earh n. 'arrow' are to be classed here, as derivatives from es-stems, cp. Skr. vadhasná- p. 142.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pil-na-s O.C.Sl. plū-nū 'full': Skr. pūr-ṇá-s etc., see p. 140 above. A few other adjectives of this kind occur in Baltic, as Lith. kił-na-s 'lofty' beside kėl-ti 'to raise' (kál-na-s 'hill' should perhaps be divided kal-n-a, see the Author in Morph. Unt. II 173), silp-na-s 'weak, powerless' beside silp-ti 'to grow weak'; lūd-na-s 'sad' beside lūsti 'to grow sad', Lett. wif-n-s 'glimmering' beside wif-ét 'to glimmer', Lett. táis-n-s 'straight, right' beside Lith. taisýti 'to direct'. Lith. dė-na f. adj. of cows 'in calf': Skr. dhé-nā 'milk cow', from ✓ dhēi- 'suckle' (I § 150 p. 136).

Lith. peļ-na-s 'merit' O.C.Sl. plě-nū 'booty': Skr. paṇa-s 'wager, stipulated wage' for par-ṇa* (I § 259 p. 211 f.). Lith. vař-na-s 'raven' vár-na 'crow' O.C.Sl. vra-nū 'black, raven' vra-na 'crow', possibly to be compared with Skr. vár-ṇa-s 'colour'. There seems to be some connexion between the roots of Lith. szė-na-s O.C.Sl. sě-no 'hay' (the Lith. word was no doubt originally neuter) and Skr. śyā-na-s 'grown dry' śī-na-s 'curdled'. Lith. szal-nā O.C.Sl. sla-na 'rime', beside Lith. szál-ta-s Skr. śt-śir-a-s adj. 'cold'. Pruss. spoay-no f. 'foam' or 'scum' O.C.Sl. pě-na 'foam': Skr. phé-na-s 'foam', cp. also Lat. spūma for spoi-mā* (for the initial, see I § 599 p. 445 f.)

With -s-; Lith. lėp-s-nà 'flame', varsnà 'length of a furrow' for vart-snà* (cp. varsma-s 'length of a furrow' for vart-sma-*).

Lith. spař-na-s 'wing': Skr. par-ná-m 'wing', $\sqrt{s}$ sper- 'strike away, push off, jerk'. skut-nà 'shaved place'. žar-nà 'intestine': O.Icel. garnar pl. 'intestinae'. dai-nà 'folk-song': Avest. daē-nā f. 'law, teaching, faith'.

O.C.Sl. trī-nū 'thorn': Skr. tī-na-m 'grass-stalk', Germ. with -nu- Goth. þaur-nu-s 'thorn'. synū sunū 'tower' no doubt stands for pr. Slav. sūp-no- soyp-no- 'that which is piled up', cp. sūpq 'I pile' sūpū 'heap'. člěnū 'limb' for čel-no-*. trēs-nū 'fimbria' for trěsk-nū*, beside trěskū 'noise' trěsnaŋi 'to strike'. stīg-no 'shank'. ru-no 'fleece', beside rūr-q 'evello'. sukno 'woollen garment', beside sukati 'to twist'. věno 'dowry' for vəd-no-*: Gr. ἱδ-ρα ἱεδ-ρα 'bridal gifts', $\sqrt{y}$ uedh- ued- 'lead, lead home' (I § 469, 8 p. 346 f.). vlū-na 'wave': O.H.G. wella 'wave' ground-form uel-nā*, with -ni- Lith. vīl-ni-s 'wave'. sli-na 'spittle', beside Mid.H.G. A.S. slī-m 'slime'. strana 'side, region' for pr. Slav. stor-nā*, i. e. Idg. stī-nā* (Skr. stīr-nā- 'outspread') or Idg. stor-nā*, $\sqrt{ster-}$ 'spread out'. stě-na 'wall': Goth. stái-n-s O.H.G. stei-n m. 'stone'.

Lith. -ina- Slav. -īno- = -yno- may perhaps be traced in Lith. kūp-ina-s 'heaped up', tėk-ina-s 'running', O.C.Sl. do-kos-īnū 'that can be touched or held' do-stiž-īnū 'that can be reached', etc.

-no- in secondary use. Lith. jáu-na-s O.C.Sl. ju-nū 'young' from jaū ju 'already', just like Skr. nāra-s Gr. véfo-s beside Skr. nū nū etc. 'now': from the same adverb come also O.C.Sl. ju-tro u-tro 'morning', see § 75. It is doubtful how far, if at all, the common secondary suffix Lith. -ina- Slav. -īno- represents Idg. -yno-.

§ 67. 2. In the form -eno- -ono-. This is almost entirely primary, and it occurs chiefly in participles and abstract nouns. It is used to form classes of words with special meanings, most commonly in Aryan, Germanic and Slavonic. -eno- is in active use as a participial suffix in A.S., Norse (O.Icel) and Slavonic, as an abstract nominal suffix in Aryan; -ono- is a participial suffix in Aryan, Gothic and High German, and an abstract nominal suffix (infin.) in Germanic.

The suffix bears the accent where the root-syllable has the weak grade of ablaut; e. g. Skr. vavṛt-ānā-s O.H.G. gi-wort-an (I § 530 p. 387).

a. -eno- added to stems ending in a consonant:

Indo-Germanic. uegh-eno-*, √ uegh- 'vehere': Skr. vah-ana-s 'carrying' vāh-ana-m 'act of carrying', O.C.Sl. vez-enŭ 'carried'. ed-eno-*, √ ed- 'eat': Skr. ād-ana-m 'food, fodder', O.Icel. et-enn 'eaten'. uert-eno-*, √ uert- 'vertere': Skr. vart-ana-s 'setting in motion' vārt-ana-m 'a turning', O.C.Sl. vrēt-eno n. 'spindle'.

Aryan. cēt-ana-s 'visible', jān-ana-s 'begetter', tāp-ana-s 'afflicting'; O.Pers. drauj-ana- 'lying'. Skr. cēt-ana-m 'an appearing, appearance', jān-ana-m 'a begetting' and other substantives of the same kind. Avest. hav-ane-m 'pressing, pressure': Skr. sāv-ana-m; O.Pers. ham-ar-ana-m 'encounter, fight', Ar. √ ar- 'go'. In Avestic we find the masc. zav-ana- 'call, summons'; contrast Skr. neut. hāv-ana-m.

Armenian. jaune-m 'I offer, dedicate' from the noun stem jauno-, which must stand for jaū-eno- (Skr. hāv-ana-m 'offering'), or for jaū-ono-*.

Greek. Here perhaps should be classed Aeol. φερένᾱ 'dowry' (φερένα, if it be the more correct reading, would at all events imply a form φερένᾱ*) beside φερό-νη: cp. Skr. bhār-ana-.

Remark. -eno- may perhaps be traced also in ἐκεῖνο-ς (with spurious diphthong) Dor. ἐκεῖνο-; 'that' for *(ē)κεῖ-eno-ς from ἐκεῖ 'there'. Similarly Dor. ἐκεῖνο-ς, 'is iste, ille' would stand for ἐκεῖ-eno-ς* from ἐκεῖ; or it might be analysed ἐκεῖ-νο-ς and derived from the instr. ἐκεῖ* (cp. Goth. jái-n-s § 66 p. 148). It must be admitted that -eno- is not elsewhere used in this way as a secondary suffix.

Italic. beno- (in bene, benīgnu-s, bellu-s for ben-lo-*), the by-form of bono-, duono-, should be classed here, if it stands for du-eno-* and belongs to the root seen in Skr. dūv-as n. 'reverence, honour' and other words, so that the original meaning would be 'that which is held in honour, enjoys recognition'

(see Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 370 ff.). dom-inu-s (cp. Skr. dām-ana-s 'horse-tamer') and the like are ambiguous: see § 66 p. 145.

Old Irish. I know of no noun-formations which fall under this head.

Germanic. Goth. fulg-in-s 'hidden' (beside filhan 'to hide'), with the accent on the suffix in pr. Germ. (I § 530 p. 386). O.Icel. tig-enn 'distinguished' (✓ deik- 'show'). O.H.G. sceff-in 'sheriff', also sceffino, which has passed over to the n-declension; its original sense was no doubt 'arranger, orderer', compare O.H.G. scaffen 'to shape, set in order'. Add such participles as A.S. bund-en O.Icel. hund-enn 'bound'; cp. below, under -ono-. Goth. dig-in O.H.G. eig-in n. 'property', the original sense being no doubt 'the having for one's own': Skr. iś-ana-m 'rule, control'. Goth. rag-in n. 'counsel, decree': if it belongs to Skr. rac-ana-m 'an arranging, regulating', we must assume, as in the case of Goth. fulg-ins, that the suffix originally bore the accent. O.H.G. lug-ina f. 'lie'. O.Sax. drug-ina f. 'treachery' stul-ina f. 'theft' thec-ina f. 'covering, roof'.

Balto-Slavonic. Here should be classed certain Lettic adjectives like glud-en-s 'smooth', (compare glōd-en-s 'blind-worm') beside glaud-ēt 'to stroke'; slidd-en-s 'smooth, where one slips', beside slidd-ēt 'to slip'; slepp-en-s 'secret' beside slēp-t 'to hide'. Were the Lithuanian verbs in -enù, like gab-enù 'I bring', developed from noun-stems of this kind, in the same way as krut-inù 'I make bloody' from krūt-ina-s 'bloody'?

In Slavonic we have the common past part. pass. in -enũ, as nes-enũ 'carried' (from nes-ti 'to carry'), za-bũv-enũ 'forgotten' (from za-byti; cp. Skr. bhūt-ana-m 'being, thing, world'). The neut. trēt-eno: Skr. cārt-ana-m has been already mentioned on p. 150.

b. -ono- added to stems ending in a consonant.

Idg. Pres. or aor. part.: qr-ono-* from qer- 'make', beside indic. Skr. ā-kar: Skr. kr-āpā-s 'working, eager, busy' (frequent epithet of deities). Gr. Κα-όρο-ς; gus-ono-* from gēus- 'taste', beside the indic. Skr. ā-juṣ-ran (3. pl. med.): Skr. juṣānā-s Goth.

kusan-s. Part. perf. bhe-bhid-onó-s* from bheǵd- 'split, bite' beside indic. Skr. bibhéd-a Goth. báit: Skr. bibhid-áná-s (Goth. bit-an-s).

Remark. This view of the Aryan forms with -āna- cannot be called certain. As a participial suffix of the middle we may (with Hirt) refer -āna- to -ṇno-*, as the analogous -ana- to -ṇno-* (see § 66 Rem. p. 141). The same -ṇno- may also be concealed in Gr. πᾶνός πτηνός 'fledged' (cp. Osthoff, zur Gesch. des Perf. 409) and the adjective ἰανός (or is this for ἡανός*?). In the Ar. -āna- it is possible that -ṇno- and -ono- have coalesced. The considerations urged by Fröhde (Bezenberger's Beitr. VII 322 ff.) against my comparison of Κρόνο-ς with krāná-s are not sound. The different accent of Κρόνο-ς is explained by the fact of its being a proper name. See what is said below in the Greek section on κρόνο-ς; etc.

Aryan. Pres. aor. med. pass. part. Skr. duh-áná-s dúh-āna-s, also dúgh-āna-s, the gh being phonetically regular (I § 445 p. 331, § 452. 453 p. 335), beside dōgdhi 'he milks', júhv-āna-s beside ju-hó-ti 'he offers', su-nv-áná-s beside su-nó-ti 'he presses out', and so forth. Similarly Avest. γν-āna- beside jáin-ti 'he slays', and the like. Skr. ís-áná-s íś-āna-s 'having for one's own, possessing, ruler' Avest. is-āna- 'ruling, mighty' beside Skr. íśe íś-tē 'he possesses, rules': O.H.G. eig-an 'own', beside Goth. áiħ 'he has', cp. Skr. íś-āna-m Goth. áig-in p. 151). Perf. med. pass. part. Skr. rīric-áná-s beside rīrēc-a 'he let loose, removed, abandoned': O.H.G. gi-liw-an, ✓ leiq-; Avest. vāver'-z-āna- beside indic. med. Gāthic vāver'-z-ōi from var'-z- (uerg-) 'work'.

It is an open question whether the denominative Skr. -āna-, as in vásav-āna-s 'possessing goods' from vásu n. 'goods', falls under this head (cp. Goth. þiud-an-s).

Armenian. Perhaps jaune-m, see above p. 150.

Greek. Besides Κρόνο-ς (see above) we should probably class here κλ-όνο-ς 'stir, turmoil', beside κίλ-ομαι, θρ-όνο-ς 'seat, throne' from dher- 'hold, support', χρ-όνο-ς 'time' orig. 'a limit of time which contains, span', beside χρ-; for the meaning cp. ἔμετο-ς 'a vomiting' beside ἔμετό-ς 'vomited' and the like, § 158.¹⁾ Of

1) The accent may have been assimilated to that of γόν-ος λόχ-ος τερόπ-ος and similar words. Fröhde's assumption (in the article cited in the Remark above) that θρόνο-ς χρονο-ς stand for θρονο-ς* χολρο-ς*, cannot be justified on phonetic grounds, in spite of Cret. θόρεναξ.

feminine forms we should perhaps class here ῥῆδ-ορή 'joy', but in περόρη 'clasp, buckle' σφαλδ-όρη 'sling' and others we must recognise -on-ā, an extension of -on- by -ā, cp. ἀκόν-η 'whetstone' beside Skr. ásan- 'stone'.

Italic. Lat. b-ono- must ultimately be classed here; as to beno-, see p. 150. dom-inu-s and the like are ambiguous, see § 66 p. 145.

Old Irish. On account of the coincidence of -yno- and -ono- in Irish there are no examples that can be assigned with certainty to this section.

Germanic. O.H.G. eig-an, see above, p. 152. Goth. v-an-s O.H.G. u-an 'wanting, lacking', ✓eu- (Gr. εἶ-ν-ς, Skr. ū-ná-s). O.H.G. offan A.S. opan 'open'. O.H.G. ues-an 'decayed'. O.Sax. fag-an 'glad', the accent being on the suffix in pr Germ., cp. Goth. fah-ēps f. 'joy'. Participles like Goth. vaúrþ-an-s (the regular phonetic form would be vaúrdans*, I § 530 p. 387), O.H.G. gi-icort-an 'having become': Skr. vaṛt-āná-s; Goth. qum-an-s O.H.G. gi-kom-an 'having come': Skr. jagm-āná-s; Goth. fra-vitan-s 'avenged': Skr. vid-āná-s; Goth. ana-budan-s 'commanded, enjoined' O.H.G. gi-botan: Skr. budh-āná-s. Instead of this we find in other dialects -ina- = Idg. -eno-. We may conjecture that in Germanic -eno- and -ono- were originally distinguished as in Sanskrit. When the reduplicating syllable in the perfect fell off, the two types were no longer clearly separated, and -eno- drove out -ono- in one part of the Germanic area. We have -ana- in secondary use in Goth. þiud-an-s 'king', from þiuda 'people' (cp. Skr. vísuv-āna-s?).

-ono- occurs as an abstract suffix in the Germanic infinitives formed with pr. Germ. -ana-m*, as Goth. áiþ-an O.H.G. eig-an 'possess, have', Goth. rit-an O.H.G. wizz-an 'know', Goth. bair-an O.H.G. ber-an 'bear, bring, forth'.

Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. álk-ana-s (fem. alk-anà) 'rather hungry, fasting' from álk-ti 'to hunger', úk-ana-s 'gloomy, overclouded' (úkanos dēnos 'gloomy days') beside úk-stýti-s 'to become gloomy, cloud over'. Lett. plakk-an-s 'flat' from plak-t 'to grow flat' etc. Lith.

dov-anà Lett. dāw-ana 'gift' beside dū-ti dū-t 'to give', Lith. ūk-ana 'mass of cloud, cloudy sky'.

Whether Slavonic forms like Mod. Sloven. jah-on 'fortis equitator', beside jahati 'vehi' (Miklosich, Vergl. Gr. II 140) should also be classed here, is doubtful. We cannot analyse O.C.Sl. zvonŭ 'sound' as zv-onŭ (cp. zov-a zv-ati 'to call') and compare it with Skr. kr-ānā-s etc. (cp. Fick, Wtb. I³ 84, Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 373), unless we allow that the whole verbal base zven- in Slavonic (O.C.Sl. svŕněti 'to sound') has been developed out of a noun formed with -eno- -ono-.

c. -eno- -ono- added to stems ending in a vowel. It has been already remarked on p. 138, that the contraction was complete even in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

Skr. sōma-dhāna-s 'containing soma' vasu-dāna-s 'giving good' vi-māna-s 'traversing', like cēt-ana-s. dāna-m 'a giving' (Lat. dōnu-m), sthāna-m 'a standing, standing-place' (Avest. stāna- m. 'position', Gr. δύστρος 'in a bad position, unhappy', Lith. stōna-s O.C.Sl. stanŭ 'position'), yāna-m 'a going, moving' like cēt-ana-m. Pres. med. pass. part. yāna-s beside indic. yāti 'he goes', like dūgh-āna-s. Perf. med. pass. part. jajñānā-s beside indic. jajñāu 'he knew' (Slav. part. po-znanŭ 'known'), like riric-ānā-s.

Gr. δύστρος, see above. εὖ-θῆρος* 'in good position whence εὖ-θῆρέω 'am in good position': add also El. εὖν-θῆραι pl. 'compact' (Collitz) Samml. d. gr. Dial.-Inscr. no. 1168).

Ital. Lat. dōnu-m, Umbr. ṛunu Osc. dúnú-m Mars. duno-m 'donum', see above.

Ir. Perhaps bān 'white, pale', from $\sqrt{bha-}$, Skr. bhā-ti 'he appears, shines' bhāna-m 'an appearing or growing visible'.

German. O.H.G. perf. part. gi-tān 'done' (O.C.Sl. o-dēnŭ part. of o-dēti, 'to put round, clothe'), like gi-wort-an. O.H.G. inf. tōn tuon 'do' gān 'go', like ber-an.

Balt.-Slav. Lith. stōna-s O.C.Sl. stanŭ, see above. Lith. klōna-s 'space behind the barn' beside klō-ti 'to spread out'. O.C.Sl. perf. part. po-znanŭ (see above), danŭ 'given' beside dati, sēnŭ 'sown' beside sēti, like nes-enŭ.

In some of these vowel-stems we may conjecture that forms with -no- and forms with -eno- -ono- once existed side by side. It is no longer possible to ascertain exactly how far this was the case.

§ 68. The Suffixes -ino- -inā-, -īno- -īnā-, and -a'ino- -a'inā-. These suffixes are found side by side with practically the same meaning. They are used especially to form secondary adjectives, with such meanings as 'made or consisting of', 'springing from', 'belonging to the same kind as' that which is denoted by the noun from which they are derived. They are used very much in the same way as the secondary suffix -io- (§ 63, 2), compare e. g. Lith. at-ýna-s with Pruss. au-i-s O.C.Sl. u-jǫ 'uncle' beside Lat. avo-s 'grandfather', the meaning of these words being 'he who is descended from the grandfather'. Whether it bears any very close relation to the termination of Gr. ἐαυρό-ς Lat. rēnu-s and the like (§ 66 p. 144), and what etymological relation subsists between the initial sounds of the three forms -ino- -īno- -a'ino- (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 357) I cannot here decide. The connexion in sense (compare e. g. Gr. δα'ίρο-ς 'of oak' — Goth. triv-ein-s 'wooden' — Avest. drr-aṇ-i- 'wooden'), combined with their connexion in point of sound, justifies us in discussing the three suffixes together.

1. -ino-.

Idg. deks-ino-* 'dexter': Skr. dákṣina-s Avest. dašina- O.C.Sl. desinŭ, in Lith. extended by a further suffix deszin-ė 'the right hand': cp. Gr. δεξιό-ς Lat. dex-ter O.Ir. dess Goth. taihs-ra 'dexter'; the word is closely allied to Skr. dákṣ-a-s 'able, strong'. Skr. aj-ina-m 'skin' O.C.Sl. az-ino beside Skr. ajā-s 'he-goat' ajā 'she-goat', Lith. ožỹ-s 'he-goat', cp. also Lith. ož-ini-s 'belonging to a he-goat'.

In Aryan -ino- was not fertile. Forms like Skr. malinā- 'spotted' (mala-m 'dirt') Avest. nom. raocah-inō 'shining' (raocah- 'light') can scarcely be classed here: it is most probable that they only arose in later times through a transference of *-in-*stems to the o-declension (cp. § 60 p. 111 f.).

In Greek we have many adjectives, denoting material, origin or kind: φῆγ-ινο-ς 'beechen' from φηγός (: Lat. fag-inu-s), βύβλ-ινο-ς 'made of papyrus' from βύβλος, ἄνθ-ινο-ς 'consisting of flowers' from ἄνθος n., λά-ινο-ς 'of stone' from λῶας, χῦτρ-ινο-ς 'of clay, earthen like a pot' from χῦτρο-ς, γῆ-ινο-ς 'earthen, earthly' from γῆ, ἀέρ-ινο-ς 'consisting of air, airy' from ἀήρ, ἰχθύ-ινο-ς 'derived from fish' (e. g. ἐλαιον) from ἰχθύ-ς, ἀνθρώπ-ινο-ς 'human' from ἀνθρώπου-ς, ἐκείν-ινο-ς 'of that kind, of the same kind as that' from ἐκεῖνο-ς, πεδ-ινό-ς 'found in the level country' beside πεδίο-ν, ἀληθ-ινό-ς 'true' beside ἀληθής.

In Latin Idg. -ino- can hardly be distinguished from Idg. -yno- -eno- -ono- (§ 66. 67.) Here should be placed adjectives like fag-inu-s (see above), laur-inu-s, junc-inu-s, lentisc-inu-s, which are not very numerous.

Keltic. Perhaps Gall. Mor-int pl., name of a seaboard tribe (cp. Lat. mar-inu-s), and others to be found in Zeuss-Ebel G. C. 772.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian adjectives of material, origin, kind, are only rarely formed with -ina-s, usually with -ini-s, which shows the further suffix -io-: áuks-ina-s 'golden' from áuksa-s 'gold', sidabr-ini-s 'silvern' from sidābra-s 'silver', med-ini-s 'wooden' from mēdi-s 'tree, wood', žem-inė bitis 'humble-bee' from žemė 'earth', rūksztinis óbūlas 'a sour kind of apple' from rūksztas óbūlas 'some apple'.

Slavonic -īnū: želēz-īnū 'of iron' from želēzo 'iron' (Lith. gelež-ini-s 'of iron'), medv-īnū medov-īnū 'of honey, like honey' from medū 'honey', zem-īnū 'earthly' from zemlja 'earth'. Further, some of the adjectives in -īnī may belong to this section.

2. -īno-. The accentuation of the suffix was original, as shewn by the Sanskrit accent and by O.H.G. magat-īn beside magad.

Indo-Germanic. Cp. Lat. filr-inu-s, O.H.G. bibir-īn 'of beaver' beside Avest. bawr-aēni-š Lith. bebr-īni-s 'of beaver'. Lat. su-īnu-s, Goth. sv-ein n. 'swine', O.C.Sl. sv-inū 'suinus'. Lat. haed-īnu-s, Goth. gait-ein-s 'of goats, relating to goats'. Skr. nav-īna-s 'new', O.C.Sl. nov-ina f. 'newly ploughed land, fallow'.

Aryan. In Sanskrit it forms adjectives whose meaning implies relation to something, without specifying the nature of the relation. savatsar-īna-s 'yearlong, yearly' from savatsarā-s 'year'. prāvṛṣ-īna-s 'belonging to the rainy season, rainy'. viśvajan-īna-s 'containing all sorts of people, ruling over all people, blessing all the world' from viśva-janā- 'all the world'. sat-īnā-s 'genuine' from sánt- 'true' (cp. ἀληθ-ινός and O.H.G. wār-in). kan-īna-s 'young' from kand f. 'young girl, maiden' (cp. O.H.G. jung-in). nav-īna-s 'new' from náva- 'new'. añjas-īna-s 'leading straight on' from añjasa- 'direct, immediate'. Extended formations with -īna- from adjectives of direction in -añc- are especially common; e. g. apāc-īna-s 'leaning back' from āpāñc-, pratic-īna-s and pratic-īnā-s 'turned towards' from pratyāñc-.

Greek. Here we have adjectives and substantives derived from adjectives, implying more or less clearly the meaning 'possessing the character or attributes denoted by the original noun'. ἀγχιστ-ῖνος 'very near together' from ἀγχιστο-ς. ἐρυθρ-ῖνος, 'red mullet' (cp. Mod.H.Germ. rötlings 'rudd'). κορακ-ῖνος 'a sea fish black as a raven', also 'young raven', from κόραξ 'raven'. κέστρ-ῖνος a kind of fish, from κέστρα a kind of hammer, 'pick'. τυφλ-ῖνος a kind of snake, from τυφλός 'blind'. γελασ-ῖνος 'laughter' from γέλασι-ς; ἐλεγξ-ῖνος 'blamer' from ἐλεγε-ς (cp. Goth. ga-láub-ein-s 'believing' O.H.G. huor-in 'libidinosus'). πολυποδ-ῖνη a small kind of 'polypus'. βολβ-ῖνη a kind of bulb. δελμακ-ῖνη from δέλμαξ 'swine, sucking pig' (cp. O.H.G. sw-in beside sū). χοιρ-ῖνη, a kind of sea mussel, from χοῖρος 'sucking pig'.

Italic. The suffix is frequently used to indicate material, origin, kind, that to which anything belongs. Lat. capr-īnu-s from caper capra, Umbr. cabriner gen. 'caprini'. Lat. equ-īnu-s from equo-s, Umbr. ekvine loc. 'equini' (borrowed from the Lat.? I § 431 p. 320). Lat. bov-īnu-s, can-īnu-s, vulp-īnu-s,

columb-īnu-s, noctu-īnu-s; div-īnu-s, fūr-īnu-s, sūtr-īnu-s, sobr-īnu-s for sosr-īno-* from soror (I § 570 p. 428); mar-īnu-s, vīc-īnu-s (cp. Lith. kaim-ýna-s 'neighbour'), cisalp-īnu-s, peregr-īnu-s, Lat-īnu-s, Umbr. Ikuvinus pl. 'Iguvini', Osc. Nuvkirinum 'Nucerinorum'. A few neuter substantives occur like terg-īnu-m 'whip of leather'. Feminine substantives are more numerous, as capr-īna 'goat's-flesh' haed-īna 'kid's flesh', su-īna 'pig's flesh' (cp. O.C.Sl. břbrov-ina 'flesh of beaver', Lith. ož-ėnà 'goat's flesh'); sal-īna 'salt works, salt mine', molet-īna 'mill', pisc-īna 'fishpond', cēp-īna 'onion field', rāp-īna 'turnip field' (cp. Lith. aviž-ėnà 'oat-field' and Skr. āúm-īna-m 'flax-field' from úmā flax); cp. § 154.

Keltic. Here perhaps may be classed Gall. Tīc-īnu-s name of a river, ground-form tēq-īno-*, √ teq- 'run, flee, flow' (O.Ir. techim 'flee', Lith. tek-mė 'small river', O.C.Sl. tokŭ 'stream').

In Germanic it forms numerous adjectives denoting material, origin, and quality. Goth. gulþ-eins O.H.G. guld-īn 'golden' from gulþ gold n. 'gold'. Goth. stáin-eins O.H.G. stein-īn 'of stone' from stáins stein m. 'stone'. Goth. airþ-eins O.H.G. ird-īn 'earthen, earthly' from airþa erda 'earth'. Goth. bariz-eins 'of barley'; þáurn-eins 'of thorn'; riqiz-eins 'dark'. O.H.G. rindir-īn 'of cattle'; swīn-īn 'suillus'. Goth. sunj-eins 'truthful' from sunji-s 'true'. O.H.G. wār-īn 'truthful' from wār 'true' (cp. Skr. sat-īná-s). O.H.G. huor-īn 'wanton, dissolute'. Goth. áiþ-eins O.H.G. ēw-īn 'everlasting'.

-īno- was added to adjectives formed with an l-suffix, e. g. luzzil-īn from luzzil 'little', whence there arose in O.H.G. an independent suffix -ilīn -alīn, as in huor-ilīn 'wanton' (beside huor-īn), luog-alīn 'spying, lurking'.

The neuters of adjectives of material, used substantivally, gave rise to diminutives in Germanic; from the meaning 'belonging to another thing in respect of kind' it is only a short step to that of 'subordination', of 'having its attributes only to a limited extent' (cp. Gr. -ιο-ν § 63 p. 128). So Goth. gáit-ein O.H.G. geiz-īn 'kid' from gáit-eins geiz-īn 'haedinus', Goth. gum-ein 'mannikin' qin-ein 'little woman' from guma 'man' qinō

'woman', O.H.G. magat-in A.S. mægd-en 'little maid, girl' from O.H.G. magad 'maid, girl'. It is doubtful whether the diminutive sense ever existed in Goth. sv-ein O.H.G. sv-in 'swine', which strictly belongs to this class of neuters: it would seem that it was isolated in form by the accentuation of the suffix (which in a monosyllable could not but be regarded as part of the root), and so separated from the others in point of meaning.

Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. kaim-ýna-s 'neighbour' from kěma-s 'precinct, court' (I § 84 Rem. 2 p. 81), cp. Lat. vīc-inu-s. Old neuter forms appear to be represented by saldum-ýnai pl. 'sweetmeats' from salduma-s 'sweetness', kartum-ýnai pl. 'bitter things' (kartū-s 'bitter'), and also by collectives like aužūl-ýna-s 'a number of oaks standing together, oak grove' from aužūla-s 'oak', krūm-ýna-s 'thick shrubbery' from krūma-s 'bush', akmen-ýna-s 'heap of stones' from akmū 'stone', ang-ýna-s 'nest of adders' from angl-s 'adder'. In these latter cases, the special meaning seems to have been developed through the contrast of the idea of the species with that of the individual thing.

In Slavonic we find adjectives of kind and connexion, like mater-inū 'motherly, of the mother', neprijazn-inū 'devilish, of the devil', zvěr-inū 'bestial'. Also feminine substantives like zvěr-ina 'flesh of wild beasts', bībroc-ina 'beaver-flesh' (cp. Lat. capr-ina, Lith. ož-ėnà); vlūc-ina 'wolfskin', ovč-ina 'sheepskin'; medov-ina 'an intoxicating drink' from medū; méseč-ina 'moonlight' from méseči (cp. Lith. mėnės-ėnà), and others of the same sort. cp. § 154.

3. -a'ino- can be traced with certainty only in Aryan and Baltic.

In Sanskrit we find only sāmīdh-ēnā-s 'relating to firewood' from sāmīdh- 'firewood'; no doubt, however, it is contained in the suffix -ēnya- (an extension of it by -iō-): vīr-ēnya-s 'manly, heroic' from vīrā-s 'man, hero', prātṛṣ-ēnya-s 'rainy' beside prātṛṣ-īna-s (see above, p. 157).

-aena- is common in Avestic to denote material, origin and the like, as ayash-aena- 'of metal, iron' from ayah-, zaran-

-aena- 'golden' from zarana-* = Skr. hiraṇa- n. 'gold', er'zat-
-aena- 'silvern' from er'zata- (cp. Lat. Argent-īnu-s), temarəh-
-aena- 'dark, murky' from temah- 'darkness'; neut. fravāxš-aene-m 'woodwork, pieces of wood, beams' from fravāxša- m. 'branch, twig'. Transferred to the i-declension it becomes -aēni-, as zaran-aēni-š.

Lithuanian. -ēna- is common in names of inhabitants, to denote their belonging to or springing from a place, as Tilž-ēna-s
 'a man from Tilsit (Tilžė)'. Subst. fem.: ož-ēnà 'goatsflesh', jaut-
-ēnà 'beef', žas-ēnà 'gooseflesh' (cp. Lat. capr-īna, O.C.Sl. zvěr- -īna); aviž-ēnà 'oat-field', rug-ēnà 'rye-field', mēž-ēnà 'barley-field' (cp. Lat. cēp-īna); mėnes-ēnà 'moonlight' from mėnũ 'moon' (cp.
 O.C.Sl. měsēc-īna), and other examples.

Remark. It is a point for further investigation whether Lat. aliēnu-s, terrēnu-s belong to this group. The Slavonic adjectives of material
-ēnũ like drėv-ēnũ 'wooden' olov-ēnũ 'leadern' must in any case be left out of consideration, since the change of -iē- to -iā-, as in droždijanũ 'of yeast' for droždij-ēnũ* proves that their -ē- represents Idg. -ē-, see I § 76
 p. 66.

§ 69. The Suffix -tno- -tnā-, -tyno- -tynā-.

1. This appears in Sanskrit, Latin, Lithuanian, (and Greek?) in adjectives formed from adverbs of time, and in Sanskrit also in some cases from stems with similar meaning.

Sanskrit. From adverbs: pra-tnā-s 'former, old' from prá
 'before', nũ-tna-s nũ-tana-s 'present' from nũ 'now', sanā-tāna-s 'not transient, constant, lasting' from sánā 'from the beginning', prātas-tāna- 'in the morning, early' from prātāh 'early', divā-
-tana-s divā-tāna-s 'diurnus' from divā 'by day', cirān-tana-s ciran-tāna-s 'coming from olden time' from cirā-m 'long ago', śvas-tana-s 'of to-morrow' hyas-tana-s 'of yesterday'. Formed from stems: sanā-tna-s beside sanā-tāna-s, cira-tnā-s beside cirān-tana-s.

Greek. ἐννε-ταυό-ς 'lasting for ever'? The etymology of the word has not been satisfactorily explained.

Latin. diũ-tinu-s, prīs-tinu-s, crās-tinu-s, sērō-tinu-s, prīmō- tinu-s.

Lithuanian. dabar-tina-s 'present' from dabař 'now'.

2. Further, it is a primary suffix in Aryan, Latin and Balto-Slavonic, in participles and infinitives, being probably an extension of -to- (§ 79) by a secondary suffix -no- (cp. O.C.Sl. -enīnū beside -tīnū).

Old Persian shows infinitives in -tanaiy, as car-tanaiy from kar- 'do, make', katanaiy (read kantanaiy, see I § 197 Rem. p. 166) from kan- 'dig'; with these Persian infinitives Bartholomae connects Avest. aiwi-šōipnē 'for dwelling in'. To these should no doubt be added Skr. cyāu-tná-m 'preparation, undertaking' Avest. šyao-pna- m. 'deed, work' beside Skr. cyáv-a-tē 'bestirs itself, moves', perhaps also Skr. pát-tana-m 'city', orig. 'stronghold', compare pad- in pi-bd-aná- 'standing fast, firm', cp. also Lat. *op-pid-u-m*¹⁾).

In Italic tno- appears in the form -ndo- after vowels,²⁾ in the gerund and gerundive, as piā-tno-*, Lat. piando-, Umbr. pihaner 'piandi' Osc. úpsannam 'operandam' (for the assimilation of -nd- to -nn- -n- in Umbr.-Osc. see I § 506 p. 371). Lat. dando- for da-tno-*, im-plendo- for plē-tno-*. So -bundo- in vagābundus tremebundus etc. for fū-tno-* = Lith. bū-tina-s, cp. cagā-bor. secundo- for secū-tno-, cp. secū-tu-s (J. Schmidt, apud Bersu, Die Gutturalen und ihre Verbindung mit v im Lat. p. 134), rotundus for rotō-tno-* from a verbal stem rotō- 'to rotate'. Further, we have the group of forms in -cundu-s, as rubi-cundu-s, irā-cundu-s, fā-cundu-s, fē-cundu-s for cō-tno-*, derived from adjectives in -co-, such as rubico-* (whence rubicāre, Rubicō) etc. With the forms in -ō-tno- compare aegrō-tu-s from aegro-, Gr. κροτω-ρό-ς and the like. The change to -ndo- was impossible in forms coming from verbal stems which ended in a consonant (e. g.

1) In Greek only a few uncertain examples have survived, e. g. δέκτινα-ς ἀντίουτρο- (Hesych.), which may perhaps be identified with Lith. dėktina-s (√dhegh-).

2) Cp. Lat. patnō for patnō*, beside pateō, and tendō, Umbr. ostendō 'ostendito', for te-tn-o*, √ten-. That the d of tendō is not the 'root-determinative' d (dh), as in fren-dō cū-dō clau-dō, is shown by ten-tu-s contrasted with fren-ten-s, in-cūn-s clau-u-s. This 'determinative' was in fact used to form not present stems but verbal stems. tēnu-s was formed later by analogy.

Brugmann. Elementa. II

vectno-* or vecteno-* = Lith. vėstina-s, beside vėhō Lith. vėžū), and this gave rise to a variation in form, which was removed by a process of levelling; on the analogy of the relation of piando- to piāns piantis, of dando- to dāns dantis, of im-plendo- to im-plēns -plentis etc., ferēns produced a gerund-stem ferendo-, faciens the stem faciendo- and so on. The Umbr. an-ferener 'circumferendi' makes it probable that this development was complete in proethnic Italic. The Latin by-forms with -o- (-u-) like ferundo- faciundo- eundo- must be explained as imitations of the variation -ent- -ont- in the present participle. as e. g. in iēns euntis, flexuntēs and the like (§ 126).

Lith. Participia necessitatis in -tina-s. sūk-tina-s 'torquendus' beside inf. sūk-ti. jėškō-tina-s 'quaerendus' beside jėszkō-ti. minė-tina-s 'memorandus' from minė-ti. vėry-tina-s 'credendus' from vėry-ti. Without the implied meaning of necessity we have bū-tina-s 'being, remaining, actual' from būti 'to be': Lat. -bundu-s. In Slavonic we have -tjno-, an adjectival suffix, e. g. pri-jetŋnŭ 'pleasant' (we also find -enŋno-, as ne-iz-d-rečēnŋnŭ 'inexpressible').

There was therefore in Indo-Germanic a verbal adjective in -tno- -tjno-, whose neuter was used as an abstract substantive (nomen actionis). The adjectival meaning appears in Latin and Lithuanian, the substantival in Old Persian and Latin. Cp. § 158.

Remark. Compare the Author, 'Der Ursprung der lat. Gerundia und Gerundiva', American Journal of Philology VIII (1887) p. 441 ff. In his recently published dissertation 'Die Etymologie der sogen. Gerundivformen' (Königsberg 1888), A. Döhring connects the Latin -ndo- forms with the Gr. nouns in -ανθο-; -ινθο-; -ορθο-; -ορθο-, as ἄκασθο-; ἀγινθο-, and accordingly argues for an original Idg. -ndho-. But besides the fact that these Gr. words show no connexion in meaning with the Lat. gerund and gerundive, the Umbr.-Osc. forms with -nn- (-n-) can hardly be reconciled with this theory. By the phonetic laws hitherto discovered in the Italic dialects the forms in -nno- can be referred only to pr. Ital. -ndo-, not to -npo-. The most recent theory is that of L. Havet (Mém. de la Soc. de lingu., VI 6 ff.) who identifies ferundu-s with Gr. φερόμενο-; from feromeno-* by dissimilation he would derive a supposed form feromēdo-* (what of ferimini?), from this feromdo-* ferondo ferundo-*; which is simply incredible.

§ 70. The Suffix -tvaná- in Sanskrit and -συνο- -συνᾶ- in Greek¹⁾.

These suffixes are no doubt rightly regarded as very closely connected.

Skr. -tvaná- (neut.) is a secondary suffix having the same meaning as -tvá- (§ 61); as vasu-tvaná-m beside vasu-tvá-m 'riches', pati-tvaná-m 'married state', martya-tvaná-m 'the manner of men'. In Avestic -fricana- is primary in a-stao-fricane-m 'praise, guerdon'.

Gr. -συνο- is secondary in adjectives like δουλό-συνο-ς 'serving', γηθό-συνο-ς 'glad, joyful', θάροσυνο-ς 'confident' for θαροσο-συνο-ς* (I § 643 p. 482), and in substantives like δουλο-σύνη 'service', κλεπτο-σύνη 'thievery', μνημο-σύνη 'memory' (cp. § 158). The ending -ο-συνο- became general, whence we have μαρτοσύνη from μάντις, θεμιστ-οσύνη from θέμις, ιερωίωνα (neut. pl.) and ιερωσύνη for ιερω(F)-ο-* from ιερεῖς (Wackernagel, Philol. Anzeiger 1886 p. 73 f.).

Remark. It must be confessed that the phonetic relations of the Greek and Sanskrit suffixes are not clear, since -συνο- cannot be regularly derived from τυνο-* (which would be related to Skr. -tvana- as ὑπνο-; Skr. stápnā-s, an Indo-Germanic variation of ablaut). Should we suppose a doublet in Greek, -τφενο-* beside -τυνο-*, and that the σ-sound which was regularly developed in -τφενο- (I § 166 p. 147, § 489 p. 361) afterwards invaded -τυνο-*? Cp. Att. σὺ for τύ because of σέ, Hom. πίονες beside New-Ion. τίονες (Lith. ketvėrī), G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² p. 258, Osthoff Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 425. Or may we assume for Skr. -tvana- and Gr. -συνο- a common ground-form -tu-yno-? Cp. Gr. Ion. οἰφανό-; for φοφανο-*; and Skr. tárūna-, for which von Fierlinger (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 475) assumes μορυηνο-* as the common ground-form (here, indeed, the relation of the Greek and Sanskrit forms would be exactly the reverse); add Skr. catur-thā- and Lith. ketviŕta-s for qetvŕ-to-* (I § 155 p. 140).

In proethnic Indo-Germanic, this suffix formed middle (passive) participles from tense-stems containing the thematic

1) Th. Aufrecht, Das Affix συνο-, συνη-. Kuhn's Ztschr. I 481 ff.

2) Bechstein, De nominibus suffixo mino (mno-) instructis, Curtius' Stud. VIII 378 ff.

vowel, cp. pres. Skr. bōdha-māna-s Gr. πενθό-μενο-ς, fut. Skr. bhōtsyā-māna-s Gr. πενσό-μενο-ς, from bheṃdh-, 'be awake, aware'. We find it in Aryan occasionally, but in Greek universally extended to non-thematic stems, which originally had -yno- -eno- -ono-; see § 65—67 and observe the Remarks on pp. 141 and 152.

It is now impossible to trace the original distribution of the forms which differ in their grade of Ablaut.

In the Umbro-Oscan dialects, and in Balto-Slavonic, -mo- appears with a similar function: we are hardly justified in regarding this as a regular phonetic variant of -mno- (§ 72, I p. 166).

Remark. Sometimes it is difficult to decide whether a particular form contains this suffix or a later extension of -men- by means of -o- -ā-, as must certainly be assumed in e. g. Avest. airya-mana- beside airya-man-, Gr. πῶνυ-μνο-ς beside δνομα (§ 117), πολ-μνη 'herd' beside ποι-μῆν 'herdsman', ἡγε-μῶν 'leader' (f.) beside ἡγε-μῶν, Lat. colu-mna beside colu-men, Goth. na-mna- (dat. pl. namna-m) beside namō. Cp. § 65 Rem. p. 139.

Aryan.

In Sanskrit only -māna- occurs. Pres. bhāra-māna-s beside indic. mid. bhāratē (bhar- 'bear'), juṣā-māna-s beside indic. mid. juṣā-tē (juṣ- 'taste, enjoy'), kriyā-māna-s beside indic. pass. kriyā-tē (kar- 'make'). Fut. yakṣyā-māna-s beside indic. mid. pass. yakṣyā-tē (yaj- 'revere'). The Ved. perf. part. sasṛ-māṇā-s beside sasr-āṇā-s, from indic. med. pass. sasr-ē (sar- 'flow') is unique.

In Avestic we find -mna- and -mana-; the latter should no doubt be referred rather to -mṇno- than to -meno-, since the forms vary merely in accordance with the requirements of the metre. Pres. yaza-mna- beside indic. mid. yazaitē (yaz- 'revere, praise'), bar'ze-mna- bar'ze-mana- 'being great or high', añha-mana- beside indic. mid. añheitē = Skr. ásya-tē I § 558 p. 415 (ah- 'throw'), vaēdaya-mna- beside indic. mid. (caus.) vaēdayeitē (vid- 'know', causal 'make to know, show'). Fut. var'sya-mna- beside indic. mid. pass. var'syēitē ground-form uerk-sje-taj* I § 401 p. 296 f. (var'z- 'work'). Sometimes also in non-thematic stems, as saya-mna beside say-ana-, from indic. mid. sae-tē (say- 'lie').

Greek. As a living participial suffix only -μενο- occurs. Pres. φερό-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. φέρε-ται (φερ- 'bear'), φιλέο-μενο-ς φιλούμενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. φιλέεται φιλεῖται (φιλέω 'I love'); side by side with these we find Delph. Locr. καλείμενο-ς Arcad. ἀδικήμενο-ς, and similar forms elsewhere, whose ending presupposes a form -ε-μενο-ς*. Fut. δωσό-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. δώσε-ται (δω- 'give'). -μενο- also established itself in all non-thematic tenses; contrast e. g. pres. τιθε-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. τίθεται with Skr. dādḥ-āna-s (√ dhē- 'set, lay'), perf. γεγευμένο-ς for γεγευσ-μενο-ς* beside indic. mid. pass. 1. s. γέγευ-μαι with Skr. jūjuṣ-ānā-s O.H.G. partic. -koran (√ gheus- 'taste'). The accentuation in the perfect (Att. -μένος) was no doubt originally -μενός, see I § 676 p. 542 f.

The form -μνο- (cp. the last Remark) perhaps occurs in certain formations no longer felt to be participial, as βέλε-μνο-ν 'missile' (τὸ βαλλόμενον) beside βέλος, στά-μνο-ς 'crock' beside ἵστημι 'I place'.

Italic. In Latin we must refer to this suffix the ending of the 2. pl. -minī, as legi-minī (sc. estis) = λεγόμενοι. The omission of estis, which a priori would be somewhat remarkable, is easily explained if (with Wackernagel, Verhandl. der 39. Philologenversammlung p. 281 f.) we compare the imperative form legiminī with the Greek infinitive λεγόμεναι (§ 117); the indic. legiminī representing both λεγόμενοι and λεγόμεναι, caused the imperat. legiminī to be used only as plural and as mid.-pass.; so conversely, when legiminī representing λεγόμεναι had been so established in the imperative system it caused the omission of the copula in the indicative, -minī being regarded as the ending of the 2nd. pers. The suffix occurs also in fē-mina, i. e. 'she who suckles' (cp. Gr. θή-λις 'giving suck, female'). clēmēs according to Osthoff (Wölfflin's Archiv IV 463) came from clēmenos* for deje-e-meno-s*, cp. -clino: Skr. brāya-māna-s. It is doubtful whether this old Lat. -meno- was originally -mēno-, -meno-, or -mono-.

-mno- is seen perhaps in Lat. alumni-s, Vertumni-s, Volumni-s and similar forms (cp. the last Remark).

Pruss. po-klausī-mana-s (ī) part. 'becoming heard' beside Lith. klausý-ti 'to hearken' is the only form of this kind in the Baltic dialects.

§ 72. The Suffix -mo- -mā-, -ṃmo- -ṃmā-.

There are three classes of forms:

1. -mo- occurs as a participial suffix in Umbro-Samnitic and in Balto-Slavonic, with the same meaning as -meno- (§ 71). It may be related to the -mo- in adjectives like Avest. tū-ma- 'strong', Gr. θερ-μός Lat. for-mu-s 'warm' (see below, 3). At the same time it is perhaps a possible alternative to refer it to -mno- (cp. I § 219 p. 187).

In the above-named Italic dialects, the suffix is found in imperative forms like Umbr. persnih-mu 'precamino, supplicato' Osc. censa-mu-r 'censemino'.

In Balt.-Slav. -mo- is a living suffix in the pres. part. pass., in Lith. in the fut. part. pass. also, though this is now obsolete. In Pruss. we have -mana- instead; see § 71.

Lith. pres. vėža-ma-s 'being or capable of being carried', beside the indic. vežù 'veho', jója-ma-s beside jó-ju 'I ride', jėszko-ma-s beside jėszkau 'I seek' (1. pl. jėszko-me). Fut. vėszī-ma-s jósi-ma-s jėszkósi-ma-s beside indic. vėsziu (ground-form ueǵh + siǝ*) jó-siu jėszkó-siu.

O.C.Sl. vezo-mŭ beside indic. vezq 'veho', znaje-mŭ beside znajq 'I know', chvali-mŭ beside chvalja 'I praise' (1. pl. chvali-mŭ).

2. -mo- ṃmo- is a superlative suffix in words denoting number, rank, order in space and time, and the like. This suffix is the second element in -tṃmo- (§ 73). The corresponding comparative suffix is generally -ero-, as -tero- beside the superl. -tṃmo- (§ 75). A possible derivation is suggested in the Remark on p. 167.

Indo-Germanic. septmó-* (sepdmó-* sebdmó-*? see I § 469 p. 345) sept-ṃmó- 'septimus': Skr. saptamā-s Gr. ἑβδομο-ς (see under Greek) Lat. septimu-s O.Ir. sechtm-ad Lith. sėkma-s Pruss. septma-s O.C.Sl. sedmy-jŭ; similarly dekmó-* 'decimus' (see under Aryan) and oktmó-* oktṃmó-* 'octavus' (see under Balto-Slavonic). up-mó-* up-ṃmó-* 'uppermost, highest': Skr. upaup-s, Lat. summu-s for s-up-mo-s* (for the s- see I § 568 p. 425), A.S. ufem-est, cp. comparative Skr. úpara- Lat. s-upero-. medh-ḡmó-* 'midmost' beside medh-ḡo-s* 'medius' (§ 63, 3 p. 132): Avest. maðema- 'midmost', Goth. miduma subst. f. 'middle' (cp. § 158) O.H.G. metamo metemo 'mediocris'; beside these are forms which have been readjusted to suit the parallel medhḡo-*, Skr. madh-yamá-s 'midmost' and Goth. midjuma- or midjuman- in midjun-gards 'the globe' for midjum(a)-gards* (cp. § 40 p. 69), O.H.G. mittamo m. 'middle' (cp. O.H.G. mittil A.S. middel beside the more archaic O.H.G. metat 'medius' and Gr. νέατο-ς beside ρέατο-ς, 'novissimus, extremus' from νεFḡo* νεFo-*).

Remark. septḡmó-* may be related to the cardinal sepḡm* as the Gr. πιαρό-ς to πιαρ, udró-* (Skr. udrá-s etc.) to ὑδωρ (§ 74). The ordinal numeral appears to have been formed by the addition of -ó-, cp. Lat. nōnu-s from neḡḡnó-* from neḡḡn* (I § 232 p. 197, § 233 p. 198, § 249 p. 205). It is possible therefore that the superlative suffix -mo- was taken bodily from the the ending of the numerals. Cp. the suffix -to-, which serves in the same way to form both ordinal numerals and superlatives, § 81.

Aryan. Skr. daśamá- Avest. dasema- 'decimus': Lat. decimu-s O.Ir. dechm-ad, common ground-form deḡḡmó-*. Skr. ap-amá- Avest. ap-ema- 'most distant, last' beside Skr. ápa 'from, away'. Skr. av-amá- 'lowest, next' from áva 'off, down'. adh-amá- 'undermost' (ground-form ḡdhḡmó-*) beside adhás 'below': the relation of this word to Lat. infimu-s and inferu-s is not clear; see Ascoli, Sprachwissensch. Briefe 83, and above I § 389 Rem. p. 292 ¹⁾. par-amá- 'furthest, last, best' from pára- 'further'.

In Greek it is rare. ἑβδομο-ς 'septimus' and Heracl. Delph. ἑβδομήκοντα for ἑβδμ-* with anaptyctic -o- and -ε- (see I § 626 p. 470): O.C.Sl. sedmy-jŭ etc., see p. 166 above. πρό-μο-ς 'foremost' from πρό 'before': cp. Umbr. promom, Goth. fra-m. Perhaps also πύμ-ατο-ς 'last' (cp. ἔβδόμε-ατο-ς beside ἔβδομο-ς, τετρί-ατο-ς beside τετρί-ατο-ς), although its base is certainly obscure (in J. Schmidt's derivation from ἄπο, as though it came from (α)πυ-μο-* (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 24) the υ presents some difficulty).

1) In this Remark there is an error in the translation. The second sentence should read: "we might regard the f as regular in in-fundō con-fundō and thence substituted for h in the uncompounded verb, if there were more evidence for the suggestion that the word infumus infimus arose from an old phrase in fumo* 'in humo', etc." [i. e. if we could prove that pr. Ital. χ in Latin passed through the stage f on its way to h initially, and that the compounds infundo confundo infimus were formed just at that period.]

Italic. Lat. decimu-s Osc. dekmaniois 'decumanis': Skr. daśamā- and similar ordinals (see p. 167 above). Lat. summu-s Umbr. somo 'summum' pr. Ital. s-up-mo-s*: Skr. upamā-s 'uppermost, highest'. Lat. prīmu-s Pelign. pris-mu 'primo' or 'primum' beside prius. Lat. īmu-s Osc. imad abl. 'ima'; the word no doubt belongs to O.Ir. īs 'below' īchtar 'the lower part'). Lat. min-imu-s, plūr-imu-s, brūma (beside brevi-s); formed from adverbs in nē, extrē-mu-s postrē-mu-s suprē-mu-s. Osc. pos-mo-m 'postremum', cp. Lat. pōne for pos-ne*. Umbr. prumum promom 'primum': Gr. πρό-μο-ς Goth. fra-m; šimu šimo 'ad citima, retro'. Umbr. nuvime adv. 'nonum', a later formation like Skr. navamā-s and O.Ir. nōma-d 'nonus'. Umbr.-Osc. nesimo- 'proximus' for necsimo-*, no doubt connected with Lat. nectō nexus: O.Ir. nessam 'next' beside the comparative nessa.

-mmo- is probably also to be traced in Lat. superlatives like pulcerrimu-s celerrimu-s facillimu-s simillimu-s (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 153). pulcr-is-emo-* facil-is-emo-* (-is- is the weakest form of the comparative suffix, cp. pulcr-ior facil-ior) became pulcr-semo-* pulcersimo-* and facil-semo-* facil-simo-* (I § 633 p. 473 f.) and then pulcerrimo- facillimo- (I § 571 p. 429).

Old Irish. The ordinals in -mmo- appear to be extended by -eto-, as sechtmad 'septimus' for septmymeto-s*, dechmad 'decimus' for dekymymeto-s*, undoubtedly through the influence of cōiced 'quintus' sessad 'sextus' (§ 81); similarly in the other Celtic languages, e. g. Mid.Cymr. seithuet 'septimus'. Cp. Gr. ἔβδόμε-ατο-ς on the analogy of δέκατο-ς, etc. rem- 'ante, prae', which has lost an initial p (I § 339 p. 268): Goth. fruma Lith. pirma-s 'primus', common ground-form pr-mo-*.

1) See Loth, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. V, 231 f. and d'Arbois de Jubainville, ib. VI 55 f. It is better to refer it to ik-mo-* or ig-mo-, than to iks-mo-, from which we should expect in Osc. ismo-.

In Keltic this suffix was regularly used to form the superlative. In O.Ir. nessam 'next', and some other forms, -am corresponds to Lat. -imo-; see above. On the other hand, -em cannot be identified with -ḡmo- in e. g. dilem 'pleasantest' (comp. diliu pos. dil) coemem 'fairest' (comp. coimiu pos. coem) toisigem 'first, most excellent' (comp. toisigiū pos. toisech) lugem 'smallest' (comp. laigiū) ḡam for ḡ-em* 'youngest' (comp. ḡa) māam for mā-em* 'greatest' (comp. māo). Probably Thurneysen is right in comparing these forms with Latin superlatives like pulcerrimu-s (see above); dilis-ḡmo-* became dilisamo-* dilihūm(o)-*, finally *dilem*¹⁾. To such superlative forms the same -em was sometimes added a second time, as uaislimem 'highest' beside the comp. uaisliu pos. uasal, cp. Gr. -τ-αρο-ς § 81.

Germanic. In protoethnic Germanic this suffix passed over into the n-declension in adjectives; the Gothic feminine ended in ei gen. -eins, as in the comparatives in -iz-a (see §§ 110, 135). In Gothic the forms in -uma also acquired a comparative meaning, so that e. g. inn-uma was sometimes equivalent to the O.H.G. inn-ero (cp. de Saussure, Mélanges Renier 383 ff.). Goth. fru-ma 'prior, primus' (whence frum-ists 'primus'), O.H.G. fruma f. 'use, advantage': O.Ir. rem- Lith. pīr-ma-s common ground-form pṛ-mo-*; contrast with these Goth. O.H.G. fra-m adv. 'forwards', further': Gr. πρό-μο-ς. Goth. aúh-uma 'higher, highest', compare aúh-m-ists and aúh-um-ists 'highest', A.S. ȝmest = Goth. aúhmists. Goth. inn-uma 'inner, innermost' A.S. inn-em-est 'innermost'. Goth. spēd-um-ists 'latest, last' beside spēd-ists. Goth. hleid-uma 'left, ἀριστερός', compare no doubt O.H.G. (h)lī-ta 'slope, declivity' Gr. κλί-τύ-ς 'hill'. A.S. sīd-em-est 'latest' beside sīd-est, laet-em-est 'latest'; nord-m-est 'northernmost' sūd-m-est 'southernmost'.

1) "The loss of an s is indicated both by the medial h of O.British hinhām 'eldest' for senisam-, and later henihām- (= Ir. sinem*), and by the retention of the older tenuis before this suffix in Cymric, as in the superlative rhataf for rat-hām* beside the pos. rhad 'cheap' Whether Gall. Belisama (a goddess) and Trigisamo- (the river 'Treisam') belong to this group is doubtful." Thurneysen.

In Balto-Slavonic the suffix is rare. Lith. āszma-s Pruss. acc. asma-n O.C.Sl. osmy-ŋ 'octavus' pr. Balt.Slav. oš(t)-mo-*: Skr. aṣṭamā- Avest. ašte-ma- O.Ir. ochtm-ad: this word, in spite of the agreement of several languages, can scarcely have been formed until after the separation of the Indo-Germanic families, as was Skr. navamā- Umbr. nuvime. Lith. pīr-ma-s Lett. pīr-mā-is Pruss. pīr-mois 'primus': O.Ir. rem- Goth. fruma.

3. -mo- with other functions. It forms substantives, and adjectives. There are only a few groups of words which by their parallelism in form and meaning constitute a special class, as e. g. the Greek abstract substantives in -μός-. The substantives are generally masculine, more rarely feminine, and the neuter very seldom appears.

-mo- is used as a denominative suffix in several languages, but this use is on the whole rare and no doubt a secondary development.

Where the suffix is primary, the root syllable, from the very earliest period, varies between the weak and the strong grade of ablaut; in the latter case, in roots of the e-series, the o-form seems to have been regular in the proethnic and later periods. It is common to find forms of the strong and weak grade in the same word, e. g. Gr. λί-μός-: λοι-μός-, Skr. dhū-mā-s: O.H.G. tou-m, Gr. χῦ-μός-: Skr. hō-ma-s, Skr. idh-mā-s: Avest. aēs-ma- (I § 94 p. 88); this indicates an original variation of ablaut within the same paradigm (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 127 f.).

In a large number of cases -mo- is closely connected with -men- (§ 117). In e-roots, where both suffixes are found side by side and the root-syllable has e, as in Gr. κενθ-μός- beside κενθ-μῶν 'hiding-place', O.C.Sl. zi-ma 'winter' beside Gr. χει-μῶν 'storm, winter', the presumption is in favour of the greater antiquity of the men-formation. In many instances there has obviously been a confusion of the two. In compound words, the mo-form was substituted for men- both in the Indo-Germanic period and later (§ 12 p. 27)¹.

¹) For this process of substitution in the use of the suffixes a reference may now be added to J. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 296 ff.

Idg. dhū-mó-* 'ebullition, smoke': Skr. dhūmá-s, Gr. θῦμός-s ('spirit, passion'), Lat. fūmu-s, Lith. pl. dúmai, O.C.Sl. dymū, add O.H.G. tū-mōn 'to turn one's self in a circle'; beside this we have dhoy-mo-* in O.H.G. toum 'vapour, fume'. tu-mo-* tū-mo-* from ✓tey- 'swell, grow strong': Skr. redupl. tū-tumá- Avest. tūma- 'strong', Mod.Cymr. twf 'vigor' (a borrowed word?), O.C.Sl. tūma f. 'great number' (there are many extended formations from the -mo- stem, as Skr. túm-ra- 'fat, strong', Lat. tumēō, O.H.G. dūmo m. 'thumb'); with these compare tou-mo-* in O.H.G. thauum doum 'vapour', which was confused with toum. ḡ-mó-* 'arm, something bowed or bent': Skr. īrmá-s Avest. ar^hma- Armen. arm-ukn Lat. armu-s O.H.G. aram O.C.Sl. ramo. ḡhi-mo-* ḡhi-mā-*: Skr. himá-s 'cold' hí-mā 'winter' Avest. zima- m. 'winter', Armen. jm-erñ (gen. jm-eran) 'winter' for jim-er-* (for the suffix compare amarn 'summer'), Gr. δ'ισ-χίμος-s 'exposed to dangerous storms, fearful', Lat. bīmu-s for bi-himu-s* (I § 510 p. 374 § 604 p. 458); the vocalism of Idg. ḡhej-men-* (Gr. χιμῶν) appears in Lith. žemà O.C.Sl. zima 'winter'; and we can trace the form ḡhiem-* ḡhim-* in Avest. zydā, gen. zim-ō 'winter's frost' Gr. χιών 'snow' Lat. hiems (§ 160. 2). stī-mó-* (cp. Skr. styā- 'curdle, thicken', also connected with Goth. stái-n-s): Skr. stīmá- 'lazy, creeping' pra-stīma- 'pressed, heaped', Mid.H.G. stīm m. 'bustle, confused mass' O.Icel. stīm n. 'wrestling, trouble' (Lith. stymas and styma 'shoal of moving fish' are no doubt borrowed from Scandinavian, cp. Swed. stim 'tumult, shoal of tumbling fish'); Mid.H.G. stei-m 'turmoil' shows a stronger form of the root. ghor-mó-s* (✓gher-): Skr. gharmá-s 'heat' Avest. gar^hma- 'warm' gar^hme-m 'warmth' (see especially I § 78 p. 69, § 445 p. 331), Lat. formu-s, O.H.G. warm 'warm', Pruss. gorm-e 'heat'; beside these, with e, Armen. jerm 'warm', Gr. θ'ιούός-s 'warm' θ'εομή 'warmth'. oi-mo-* 'way' (✓ei-): Skr. é-ma-s 'way, path' Gr. οἶ-μος οἶ-μη 'path, tract'.

For its use as a secondary suffix there seems to be only one example which we can regard as proethnic: Skr. dru-ma-s 'tree' Gr. δρ-μά pl. 'wood' δρε-μός-s 'woodland', beside Skr. dru- Gr. δρε- 'wood'.

Aryan. In Sanskrit it is nearly always masculine. Skr. sū-mā-m 'milk, water', sōma-s Avest. hao-ma- 'sap, soma-drink', *from su- 'press'. Skr. iṣ-mā-s īṣ-mā-s 'god of love' Avest. aēš-ma-m. 'chiding, wrath': cp. Gr. ἱμερο-ς 'longing, desire'. Skr. bhā-ma-s 'light, sheen' Mod.Pers. bām 'light' Avest. bāmya- 'shining, clear'. Skr. tōk-ma-s 'green stalk of corn' O.Pers. taumā- 'family' for tauxmā-*, cp. Skr. tōk-man- n. 'green stalk of corn' (older than tōk-ma-s) Avest. taox-man- n. 'seed, kernel, offspring'; the O.Pers. tau-mā- however should perhaps be explained otherwise, see § 117 under Aryan. Skr. āj-ma-s 'path, course' (beside āj-man- j-mán-, which mean the same): Gr. ὄγ-μο-ς 'path' (with prothetic ó-?). Skr. ā-ma-s ō-ma-s 'helper, companion' beside ō-mán- 'help, support', compared with áva-ti 'he helps'. bhī-mā-s 'terrible', cp. Lith. báii-m-ė 'fear'. tig-mā-s 'sharp'. ruk-mā-s 'shining, ornament'. yudh-mā-s 'fighter': cp. Gr. ἰσμετήν 'fight, battle' from ύθ+σμ-* (cp. p. 173). yug-mā- 'even, forming a pair' neut. subst. 'pair'. dar-mā-s (beside dar-mán-) 'he who shatters'. dhār-ma-s (beside older dhār-man- n.) 'order, law, institution'.

It is secondary only in Skr. dru-ma- (see above p. 171) and dyu-mā- 'clear, shining' from dyu- div- 'brightness, day'.

Armenian. arm-ukn 'elbow', jm-er'n 'winter', jerm 'warm, see above under Idg., p. 171.

Greek. λι-μός 'hunger' λοι-μός 'plague, pestilence': cp. Skr. sṛī-ma-s 'nightly spectre' from ✓ slei- 'hurt'. Substantives with the strong-grade of the root-syllable are not uncommon: όρ-μή 'onset': Skr. sār-ma-s 'flow, flowing' perhaps also O.H.G. stur-m 'storm, fight' (stur- for sṛ-, cp. I § 580 p. 433 f.); τόρ-μο-ς 'what is bored, a hole': O.H.G. dar-m O.Icel. þar-m-r 'intestine' (i. e. 'that which goes right through the body', or 'the channel through which the food passes'); φλογ-μός 'brand' (φλέγω); πλοχ-μός 'lock of hair' (πλέκω); ὄλ-μο-ς 'cylindrical body, mortar' (ἐλύω); ὄρ-μο-ς 'cord, necklace' (cp. ἐρμα); λόχ-μη 'thicket, bushes' (λέχος). Further we have examples with weak vocalism: κρῆ-μός 'frost' (for κρησ-μο-*, beside κρησ-ταίνω), ἀρδ-μός 'drink, drinking-place', πταρ-μός 'sneeze'. In forming abstract verbal nouns -μός was very fertile,

e. g. μνγ-μός μνχ-μός 'groan' (beside μνζω μέμικα), ἰνγ-μός 'shriek' (beside ἰνζω), ὀδνρ-μός 'lamentation' (beside ὀδδρμαι), ἀρπαγ-μός 'plundering' (beside ἀρπάζω), κηρῦγ-μός 'calling out' (beside κηρτέσσω — for the γ see I § 486 Rem. p. 359), μερισμός 'division' (beside μερίζω — for the -σ- see below). Feminines of the same kind are: πνγ-μή 'fight with fists', τι-μή 'estimation, honour', χάρ-μη 'joy of battle, battle', ἀκ-μή 'edge, sharpness', γνώ-μη 'intent, opinion', μνή-μη 'memory', ἐπιστή-μη 'science'.

Sometimes we find -τ-μο- (cp. -τ-μεν- § 117): ἔρε-τμός 'oar' beside ἑρέσσω ἑρέτης, ἐφ-ετμή 'injunction' beside ἐφ-έ-της ἐφ-έημι, etc., cp. O.S. brahtum and the like, p. 175. More frequently -θ-μο- (cp. -θ-μεν- § 117): ἀρι-θμός 'number' (no doubt connected with O.H.G. ri-m 'orderly succession, number'), ἀρ-θμός 'tie', στα-θμός 'standing-place, stall, posts' στά-θμη 'plumb-line', ῥυθ-θμός 'rhythmical motion', κλαυ-θμός 'crying' κηλτ-θμός 'bewitching', μηνι-θμός 'wrath' etc., cp. -θ-ρο- -θ-λο- (§ 77).

-s-mo- according to Morph. Unt. I 81. occurs in δασμός 'division' beside δατέομαι, ὠμός 'push' beside ὠθίω, ἀφλοισμός 'foam' beside πέφλοισθα, ὀσμῆ beside older ὀδ-μή 'smell', σχισμός 'split' beside σχίζω, and in substantives in -ισμός and -οισμός connected with derivative verbs in -ίζω άζω, as μερισμός ἀκοντισμός ἐνθουσιασμός. Yet it may also be assumed (cp. Solmsen Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 123) that in such forms there was originally only -mo- (which would give us δατμός* ὠθμός* ὀδμή); that then, where perfect forms in -σμαι -σμεθα -σμενος (the σ came from -σαι, δέδασμαι being formed on the model of δέδασται) occurred in the paradigm of the verb, the σ from these forms took the place of the explosive; and that afterwards, on the analogy of such words, the explosive was replaced by σ in other instances (e. g. ὀδμή). The occurrence of -μο- and -σμο- side by side in derivatives of these dental stems led to the substitution of -σ- for θ in several of the forms in -θμο- mentioned above, as ῥυσμός instead of ῥυθ-μός, δυσμή instead of δυ-θμή, θεισμός for (Lacon. and other dial.) θει-θμός. Cp. -σμεν- § 117.

-mo- is secondary in δοῦ-μός- (p. 171), and also in the adjectives in -ιμο-ς, which were derived from *i-*stems; as φύξιμο-ς 'protecting, whither one can flee' (from φύξι- 'flight'), βάσιμο-ς 'that can be traversed, safe' (from βάσι- 'a going'), λύσιμο-ς 'that can be ransomed' (from λύσι- 'ransom'); on the model of these were formed ἄλκιμο-ς 'strong', νόστιμο-ς 'relating to one's return', νόμιμο-ς 'lawful' and others. It occurs also in ἔτυ-μο-ς ἐτήτυ-μο-ς 'true, genuine' (cp. ἐτεός for ἐτεφο-ς*).

Italic. Lat. lī-mu-s 'crooked' lī-mit- 'crossway, dividing line, boundary', Osc. liimitú[m] 'limitum': the Oscan word cannot have arisen from lixmo-* (cp. lixula) which would have become lismo-* in Oscan, and if this derivation is correct, it must have been borrowed from Latin. Osc. eg-mo 'res', stem eg-mā-.

Lat. lī-mu-s 'grease, slime, mud': O.H.G. lī-m 'glue' lei-m 'loam'. fi-mu-s fi-mu-m: no doubt connected with Gr. θύ-μο-ν 'scented plant' (see I § 49 p. 41 f.). ani-mu-s ani-ma: Gr. ἄνε-μο-ς 'wind', cp. also O.Ir. anim, dat. anmain, 'soul'. fā-ma: Gr. φή-μη 'news, rumour'. for-ma: cp. Skr. dhari-mán 'figure'. spūma for spoī-mā*: O.H.G. fei-m m. 'foam' (cp. § 66 p. 148).

Lat. dūmu-s (dusmo in loco Paul. Fest.), rāmu-s no doubt for rād-mo-* ground-form rǫd-mo-*, beside radix, with other examples. The neuter is rare: pō-mu-m, ar-ma. There are a fairly large number of feminines: lī-ma, rā-ma (beside rū-men), rī-ma, gem-ma etc.

-mā- is secondary in lacru-ma lacri-ma: cp. Gr. δάκρυ 'tear'.

Old Irish. le-m m. 'elm' ground-form l-mo-*: Lat. ul-mu-s, O.H.G. el-m O.Icel al-m-r 'elm'. lā-m f. 'hand': Gr. παλά-μη Lat. pal-ma O.H.G. fol-ma 'hand, flat hand'. rī-m f. 'number', āram f. 'number, counting' for ad-rīmā* (cp. I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469, § 634 p. 474 f.): cp. O.H.G. rī-m Gr. ἀρι-θμός p. 173. O.Ir. gor-m 'blue' Mod.Cymr. gwr-m 'dusky': Skr. ghṛ-ṇīḍ-mi 'I shine'? (see Curtius Grdz.⁵ 494). O.Ir. lua-m 'celox': cp. Lith. plauš-ma-s 'raft'.

Infinitival nomina actionis are formed with -mā-; as cretem 'faith, believing', sechem 'a following'.

Germanic. O.H.G. bodam m. 'bottom': cp. Gr. πυθ-μήν

'ground, bottom', (cp. Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 537). Goth. hái-mōs pl. fem. 'villages, market-towns', O.H.G. hei-m 'dwelling': Lith. kė-ma-s 'village, farm' kaim-ýna-s 'neighbour'. O.Icel. strau-m-r O.H.G. strō-m 'stream': we should doubtless add (with orig. ou) Lett. stráu-m-e f. 'stream', and (with ū) Thrac. Στοῦ-μη a town on the Lissos; compare with these sreu-men-* (§ 117). A.S. far-m 'a going, pressing forward' O.H.G. far-m 'boat': cp. Gr. πορ-θ-μός 'ferry'. O.H.G. halm 'stalk' O.Icel. hál-m-r 'straw': Gr. záλα-μο-ς 'reed, stalk', Lat. cul-mu-s, Lett. sal-m-s O.C.Sl. sla-ma f. 'stalk'; pr. Germ. zalmo-* may represent either kol-mo-* or kǫ-mo-* (I § 306 p. 242 f.). O.H.G. fadam m. 'fathom, ulna' A.S. fathmōs pl. 'both outstretched arms' O.Icel. faðmr 'cord, fathom, embrace': cp. O.Cymr. etem 'fathom'. Goth. dō-m-s O.H.G. tuo-m 'sentence, trial, standing, worth': Gr. θω-μός 'stack', from √dhē- 'set, place'; beside it we have dhē-men-* (§ 117).

Goth. rū-m-s 'room, roomy' O.H.G. rū-m m. 'room': cp. Avest. rav-ah- 'road, free way'. O.H.G. scū-m m. O.Icel. skū-m n. 'foam'. Forms with the 'high' grade of ablaut (o-grade in -e-roots) are far commoner. We may add O.H.G. bar-m O.Icel. bar-m-r 'womb' (that which bears, √bher-); O.H.G. zou-m O.Icel. tau-m-r 'bridle, rein' pr. Germ. tauzu-má-* 'that which pulls or is pulled', √deuk- 'ducere').

A smaller number of forms have e in the root syllable; von Bahder (Verbalabstr. 136 f.) assumes that these were originally men-stems; as O.H.G. melm m. 'dust' beside O.Icel. málmr 'metal' and Lith. melmũ, gen. melmeĩs, 'nephritic stone'. Cp. further O.H.G. atum A.S. athom 'breath' pr. Germ. ēp-ma-* (for the history of the original tenuis in Germanic see Kögel, Literaturbl. f. germ. u. rom. Phil. 1887 no. 3) beside O.Fris. āhma 'breath', Skr. āt-mán- 'breath, soul'.

Several instances of -t-mo- occur (cp. Gr. -τ-μο p. 173), as Goth. mái-þm-s A.S. mē-thom 'present, jewel' beside Gr. μοῖ-ρο-ς 'thanks, payment', Lat. mū-tuo-s, Lith. maĩ-na-s 'barter'; O.Sax. brah-tum 'noise' beside O.Sax. O.H.G. braht 'noise'; O.H.G. brā-dam 'vapour, steam, exhalation' beside A.S. brāð

f. 'vapour' (cp. Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 279); O.H.G. krā-dam 'shriek' beside O.H.G. hano-krāt 'cock-crow' (cp. Bremer loc. cit.); Mid.H.G. blādem 'wind' beside O.H.G. blā-t 'breath, fulness'.

Remark. The different explanation of the latter forms given by von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 144 does not convince me.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pl. dū-mai O.C.Sl. dy-mū 'smoke': Skr. dhū-mā-s etc., see p. 170 above. Pruss. irmo 'arm' (perhaps nom. sing. of an n-stem, like Lith. -mū) O.C.Sl. ramo beside ramę 'shoulder': Skr. īr-mā-s etc., see p. 171 above. Lith. szāl-ma-s 'helmet' (Pruss. salmi-s): Goth. hilm-s O.H.G. helin 'helmet', Skr. śār-man- n. 'shelter, protection, armour'; may we therefore assume Idg. kol-mo-* and kel-men-*? O.C.Sl. sramū 'shame': O.H.G. haram O.S. harm 'insult, outrage'.

Lithuanian. Masculines are rare; szār-ma-s 'potash', at-szlai-ma-s 'fore-court' (✓ klei- 'clinare'). Feminines are more common, as tar-mā (also tarmė) 'statement', szar-mā 'rime, frozen dew', važ-mā 'payment of fare'. On the other hand, there are many masculines formed with -s-ma-, as garsma-s 'call' from gard + sma-* beside gařsa-s 'noise' from gard + sa-s* (gird-mi gird-žiū 'I hear'), varsma-s 'the length of a furrow' for vart-sma-*, lañk-sma-s 'bending', vaļk-sma-s 'pull, draught', kaūk-sma-s 'howl', rėk-sma-s 'roar', cp. also -s-mė in drausmė 'training', Lett. drāusma 'threat' beside Lith. draudžiū 'I protect, forbid', bausmė 'punishment' beside baudžiū 'I punish', gėsmė Lett. dīisma 'song' beside Lith. gėd-mi 'I sing', etc. Adj. szir-ma-s Lett. si'r-m-s 'grey'.

-ima-s -yma-s form abstract verbal substantives from any given verb, as sukima-s 'a turning' from sūk-ti 'to turn', sākyma-s 'saying' from suký-ti 'to say'. How (i. e. from what model) this group of forms took its rise is doubtful; cp. also jaunima-s 'the dance of youth, company of young folks' from jáu-na-s 'young', minkszłima-s 'soft part of bread' from minkszta-s 'soft'.

Secondary: tóli-ma-s 'distant' from tolì adv. 'afar', árty-ma-s 'near' from artì adv. 'near'.

The secondary suffix -ūma-s forms abstract substantives.

This arose in forms like grāžū-ma-s 'beauty' from grāžū-s 'beautiful', on the model of which were formed such words as sausūma-s 'dryness' from saūsa-s 'dry'. By the side of this we find -umā used to denote some part of the land, as lygu-mā 'a level place' (beside lygū-ma-s 'levelness, the being level') from lygu-s 'even, level', sausumā 'dry place'.

O.C.Sl. kos-mū and kos-ma 'hair'. u-mū 'thought, understanding', no doubt connected with Skr. av- Lat. avēre and therefore similar in formation to Skr. ō-ma-s 'helper' (p. 172). glu-mū 'sport, scena' glu-ma 'licentiousness'. -s-mo- is the suffix in usmū usma 'indumentum, corium', if the word is connected with ob-u-ti 'to cover the feet'.

§ 73. The Suffix -tmmo- tmmā-, forming superlatives. We may analyse it as -tmmo-, and the second element -mmo- is itself a superlative suffix (§ 72, 2 p. 166 ff.). As a single indivisible suffix, -tmmo- must have been rare in the Indo-Germanic period.

-tmmo- is linked with the comparative -tero- (§ 75) in the same way as -mmo- with -ero-, cp. Goth. af-tuma: O.H.G. aftero and Skr. ap-amā-s: Skr. áp-ara-s Goth. afar, further Skr. ut-tamā-s: Skr. út-tara-s Gr. ύσ-τερο-ς and A.S. ūt-em-est (an extension of an original ūt-ema*): Skr. ud-arā- ūd-ara- ('belly') O.H.G. ūz-ro. -tero- however had become an independent suffix earlier than -tmmo- and it appears from the evidence of the different languages that it was widely used even in the proethnic period.

Indo-Germanic. trikṃtī²-tmmo-* or trikṃtī²-tmmā-* 'tricesimus': Skr. triṣat-tamā-s (ī for ī is hysterogenous) Lat. trīcēsimu-s trīcēsīmu-s (-s- for -ss-, see I § 501 p. 367 f.): compare (and contrast) Gr. τριάκοστό-ς i. e. τριάκοστ+ρο-. Similarly Avest. visqstema- (Skr. viṣati-tamā-s) 'vicesimus' Lat. vīcēsīmu-s vīcēsīmu-s: compare and contrast Gr. Att. ἑξάκοστό-ς Boeot. Fixakóσt-ς (I § 238 p. 199 f., § 501 p. 367 f.).

Skr. án-tama-s 'innermost, nearest, intimate', Lat. in-tīmu-s: cp. the comparative Skr. án-tara-s 'inner' Gr. ἐν-τερο-ν 'entrails', Lat. inter-ior, beside Gr. ἐν and Lat. in; beside these we have Gr. ἐν-τός Lat. in-tus, so that we may fairly compare the relations of Skr. adh-amā-s : ādha-ara-s : adh-ās and pr-mo*- (Lith. pirma-s Goth. fruma): pr-ós* (Skr. purās Avest. parō Gr. πάρος). Avest. ni-tema- 'lowest, smallest', A.S. neo-ðem-est 'lowest, undermost': cp. the compar. Skr. ni-tarām A.S. ni-ðer-ra.

Skr. ka-tamā-s 'which (of several)?', Lat. quo-tumu-s beside quo-tu-s: cp. compar. Skr. ka-tarā-s Gr. πό-τερο-ς.

Aryan. Skr. pra-thamā-s Avest. fra-tema- O.Pers. fra-tama- 'primus' (the th of the Skr. form follows cathur-thā- and the like) beside the compar. Skr. pra-tarā-m Avest. fra-tara-; Gr. πρό-μο-ς Umbr. pro-mo-m Goth. fra-m § 72, 2 p. 167 show a more ancient formation. Skr. sahasra-tamā-s Avest. hazanrō-tema- 'millesimus', Skr. śata-tamā-s 'centesimus', aśīti-tamā-s 'octogesimus' etc. The feminines of these numerals have in Sanskrit -tam-ī instead of -tamā.

Skr. ut-tamā-s 'highest, uppermost, best' Avest. us-tema- 'outermost', beside Skr. ūd 'up, out' compar. ūt-tara-: cp. Gr. ὑστ-ερο-ς 'latest' compar. ὑστ-ερο-ς.

Even in proethnic Aryan -tama- was the regular superlative ending for adjectives whose comparative was formed with -tara-. Where it was added to a-stems, their final -a- was in Avestic almost entirely replaced by -ō-; cp. the same phenomenon in compounds, as daēvō-data-, § 25 p. 42. Skr. yajñiya-tama- Avest. yesnyō-tema- 'most honourable', Skr. ugra-tama- Avest. uyrō-tema- 'strongest, mightiest'. Some words however have -a- in Avestic, e. g. aiwyāma-tema- 'most helpful'. Skr. vāhni-tama- 'carrying best', Avest. hubaoiði-tema- 'with sweetest scent or perfume'. Skr. ama-pat-tama- Avest. ama-vas-tema- 'most violent, strongest, mightiest'. Skr. mīdh-ūṣ-ṭama- 'most gracious', Avest. jaymuš-tema- 'most helpful'. Skr. vyśān-tama- 'manliest, strongest'.

-tama- is sometimes added as an intensive suffix to superlative forms in (Ar.) -īṣtha-, as Skr. śrēṣṭha-tama- from śrēṣṭha- 'brightest, most glorious', Avest. vahištō-tema- from vahišta- 'best'.

It was affixed to substantival stems, as Skr. mātṛ-tama- 'most motherly', Avest. daēvō-tema- 'most devilish'.

Skr. ka-tamā- 'which (of several)' beside kā-tara- 'which (of two)', interrogative. ya-tamā- 'which (of many)' beside ya-tarāf 'which (of two)', relative.

Italic. vīcēsīmu-s trīcēsīmu-s, see p. 177 above. Later analogical forms are cent-ēsīmu-s mill-ēsīmu-s mult-ēsīmu-s.

in-tīmu-s, ex-tīmu-s, ci-tīmu-s, ul-tīmu-s. dex-tīmu-s, sinis-tīmu-s. mari-tīmu-s, fini-tīmu-s, lēgi-tīmu-s, originally meaning 'most closely connected with the sea, with a boundary, with law'. op-tīmu-s, in inscr. also opi-tūmu-s (differently regarded by von Fierlinger in Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXVII 478, who derives it from a verbal stem ō-pet- 'strive after, wish'). sollis-tīmu-s. Umbr. hon-domu 'infirmo' beside compar. hon-dra 'infra' Osc. hu[n]truis 'inferis', beside Lat. humu-s, see I § 207 p. 174.

-simo- occurs as well as -tīmo-, but its -s- cannot be derived from -t- merely by phonetic change. maxīmu-s, archaic ōxīmē (beside ōcissīmē), medioxīmu-s (cp. medioc-ri-s). The most common ending is -is-sīmu-s (cp. sollis-tīmu-s), which no doubt drove out an older -is-to-s (§ 81), as pot-issīmu-s, alt-issīmu-s. -issīmo- was also added to superlatives with intensive force, especially in later times, e. g. postrēm-issīmu-s, minim-issīmu-s. It is added to the stems of substantives in the language of the comedians, as patru-issīmu-s. But it is doubtful whether the formation with -simo- -issīmo- is in any way connected with tīmo-.

Remark. In Morph. Unt. III 135 I explained these forms as modelled upon the -ens(s)īmo- of the numerals. We might also with Osthoff (Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 542) regard pessīmu-s beside pējor as another form that served as a type for the new development in -issīmo-, since the ss in this word as well as in the numerals arose by a regular phonetic process, whether we accept Corssen's or W. Schulze's derivation (see Osthoff loc. cit., Schulze, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 426, Stolz Lat. Gr. p. 220). On the other hand, Stolz (loc. cit.) holds that -simo- was taken from plūsīmo- (plūrīmo-)* before the law of rhotacism came into operation. According to § 72 p. 168 we could also regard forms like pulcr-is-emo pulcrsēmo- as prototypes of the formation. Danielsson on the other hand (Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 153. 192) starts from the two words maxīmus, oxīme, which he analyses macs-īmo- ōcs-īmē, regarding the first elements as comparative stems for mahis-, ōcis- (cp. plour-umē plūr-īmu-s and the like § 72 p. 168), and supposing that it was these forms which led to the analogical change of -istimo- to -issimo-. Danielsson compares with these forms Umbr. Osc. nesimo- O.Ir. nessam 'next' (beside the compar. O.Ir. nessa). But the assumption of syncope, which is required by the supposed forms in -is-ṛmo- (mah-is-ṛmo-, ōc-is-ṛmo-) cannot be allowed without considerable hesitation (see p. 168); hence it is very doubtful whether Danielsson's explanation of maximu-s etc. can be allowed. Can neks-* and Lat. maz-* contain the weak form of an old *es-*stem (cp. Skr. māhas- 'greatness' mahās- 'great')? The whole question needs further investigation.

Germanic. What was said of -uma- (§ 72, 2 p. 169) also applies to the inflexion of -tuma- and its meaning in Gothic. Goth. af-tuma 'hinder, hindmost, latter, last', A.S. æf-tem-est 'hindmost'. Goth. hin-dum-ists 'outermost' A.S. hin-dema 'hindmost, last'. Goth. if-tuma 'next': Gr. ἐπι 'on, to'. A.S. neodēm-est, see p. 178 above.

On the variation between -ṛro- and -ro- see I § 287 p. 229.

This suffix was both primary and secondary from the earliest period; but the latter use is comparatively rare.

In its primary use the root syllable has generally the weak grade of ablaut; as we should therefore expect, the accent falls on the suffix, e. g. spə-ró-*. Sometimes we have a variation of ablaut in the root, as Skr. chid-rá-s 'perforated': Lith. skėd-rà 'splinter'; Gr. ἰθ-αρό-ς 'clear, bright': αἶθ-ρᾱ 'bright weather'; Gr. ἰδ-ρό-: Lett. swid-ri pl. 'sweat'; O.H.G. bitt-ar: Goth. báit-r-s 'bitter'; O.H.G. munt-ar 'cheerful': O.C.Sl. maq-rŭ 'wise'.

In some words -ro- seems to be connected with the -r -ṛ ending of the nom. acc. neut. (§ 118); cp. e. g. Idg. ud-ro-*: Gr. ῥό-ωρ O.H.G. wazz-ar; Gr. πῖε-ρό-ς πῖα-ρό-ς 'fat': πῖαρ 'fat' (subst.); ἡμέ-ρᾱ: ἡμαρ 'day' (cp. also Armen. aur, gen. avur, 'day'); Gr. ῥο-ς Goth. jē-ra- 'year': Avest. yā-r 'year' (for further examples see Morph. Unt. II 232). It is also connected with -er- (§ 119), cp. e. g. Idg. us-ro-*: Skr. uṣ-ár- 'early light' Gr. ἡρ- 'in the early time' from aus-er-*; Gr. αἶθ-ρᾱ: αἶθ-ῥο

1) H. Osthoff, Über -ra- -la- als instrumentales suffix der indogerm. Sprachen, Forschungen I 157 ff. G. Curtius, De adjectivis Graecis et Latinis litterae ope formati, Leipz. 1870.

'the pure light of heaven'; further with the comparative -(t)ero- (§ 75).

This suffix formed adjectives and substantives both in the proethnic and in later periods of Indo-Germanic; the substantives were chiefly concrete. In the separate languages -ro- was rarely fertile to any great extent; Gr. -η-ρο- in πονηρός etc. is an exception.

Indo-Germanic. rudh-ró-* (in Skr. -gró-) 'red': Skr. rudh-irá-s, Gr. ῥυθ-ρός, Lat. ruber rub-ra, O.Icel. roð-ra f. 'blood', O.C.Sl. rūd-rū. sk(h)id-ró-* and -gró-: Skr. chid-rá-s 'perforated' chid-rá-m 'hole, interruption, break' chid-irá-s 'axe, sword', Gr. σκιδ-αρός 'thin, weak, breakable', O.H.G. scet-ar 'thin, defective', Lith. (with a different grade of ablaut) skėd-rà 'splinter'. spə-ró-* from $\sqrt{\text{spē-}}$ 'to expand' (Lat. spēs spatium &c.): Skr. sphi-rá- 'fat, great, rich', Lat. pro-sper -spera (for spa-ro-*, like réd-dere: dáre, see I § 97 p. 91), O.C.Sl. spo-rŭ 'rich'. Skr. iṣ-irá-s 'quick, lively, fresh', Gr. Hom. ἴρός Lesb. ἴρο-ς for iō-ro-* (Lesb. ἴρο-ς beside ἴροο-ς, like gen. μῆν-ος beside μῆνν-ος and the like) and Corcyr. ἰαρός Boeot. ιαρός for iō-aro-* 'lively, fresh, strong, healthy'; for Att. ἱερός, see below. Skr. us-rá-s 'belonging to the morning' beside us-r-īyā 'brightness', Gr. ἄρχ-αυρο-ς 'near morning' (adj.) αὐρο-ιο-ν 'on the morrow' for avō-ro-* (aus-* or āus-*); cp. also Lith. ausz-rà 'red of the morning', whose sz no doubt was borrowed from aũszo 'it dawned' (cp. I § 414 Rem. p. 303 f.). ud-ro-* (in Gr. also -gro-) beside Skr. ud-án- 'water': Skr. an-udrá-s 'waterless' sam-udrá-s 'billowy, the sea', Gr. ἰδ-αρός 'watery' ἄν-υδρο-ς 'waterless'; and meaning a 'water-creature', Skr. ud-rá-s 'a creature that lives in water', Gr. ἰδ-ρο-ς ἰδ-ρᾶ 'watersnake' O.H.G. ott-ar O.Icel. ot-r 'otter', Lith. úd-ra O.C.Sl. vyd-ra 'otter'. Skr. vī-rá-s 'man, hero', Lat. vi-r, O.Ir. fe-r Goth. vai-r Lith. vý-ra-s 'man'. ag-ro-s* 'pasture, level meadow, field' from $\sqrt{\text{ag-}}$ 'drive': Skr. áj-ra-s Gr. ἀγ-ρός Lat. ag-er (gen. ag-rī) Goth. ak-r-s.

-ro- in secondary use. teməs-ro-* 'dark' (the neut. or fem. can be used as an abstract subst., see § 158) beside Skr. tám-as- n. Lith. tam-s-à f. 'darkness': Skr. tamis-ra-m támis-rā 'darkness, dark night' Avest. taḥ-ra- for tams-ra- tansra- 'dark' ¹⁾, Lat. teneb-rae pl. (cp. I § 570 p. 429), Mid.Dutch deemster (-as-ro) O.H.G. dinstar (-s-ro-) 'dark' with parasitic -t- (I § 580 p. 433 f.), Lith. tīms-ra-s 'light bay coloured' of a horse (the root has the weak grade of ablaut).

Beside Skr. pī-van- Gr. πί-(F)ων 'fat' (adj.) and Skr. pī-vas- n. 'fat' (noun) we must recognise Idg. pī-ye-ro-* 'fat' (adj.): Skr. pīva-rā- Gr. πίε-ρό-ς (fem. pīva-rī, πίερα for πῑφερ-ια*), cp. also Gr. πῑό-της πῑό-τερο-ς; for πῑαρό-ς see below. Similarly Gr. ἡ-μέ-ρᾱ 'day' compared with the stem ἡ-μεν- implied in the pl. ἡ-μα-τα. For the -e- of these compound suffixes -ye-ro-me-ro- cp. Gr. φοβε-ρό-ς 'fearful', from φόβο-ς, etc. (Skr. phēna-la-s 'foamy' from phēna-s 'foam'). But -ro- can hardly be secondary in Gr. πτ-ε-ρό-ν 'feather, wing' Skr. pat-a-rā- 'flying' Avest. pat-a-ra-, which is implied in hu-patar^ota- 'well winged', (contrast petra* 'feather' in O.Icel. fjǫðr O.H.G. fedara); it is far more likely that here, as in Skr. pāt-a-tra-m 'wing', -e- is the 'thematic vowel' (cp. Gr. πτ-έ-σθαι, πέτ-ε-σθαι); cp. also Gr. σχε-ρό-ς 'continuous' beside σχε-ι-τό-ς σχε-έ-σι-ς σχε-έ-ς. It is quite possible that originally -e-ro- was always a primary suffix, and only became secondary when it was popularly connected with nominal e-:o- stems.

Aryan. Since Idg. r and l are indistinguishable in the Aryan languages (I § 254 p. 207 f.), it is often difficult to separate -ro- and -lo-. In some cases the meaning vouches for -lo-, e. g. vr̥ṣa-lá-s 'mannikin, small man' (see § 76). Often the other languages give us a criterion, since in them Idg. l and r remained distinct.

Skr. śū-ra- Avest. sū-ra- 'strong, grand': Gr. ἄ-κῡρο-ς 'weak, ineffective'. Skr. jī-rā- 'lively, quick, active' Avest. pouru-jīra- 'very active' daēma-jīra- 'quick of eye, with quick eyes': Lat. vi-reō 'be fresh, strong, green', O.C.Sl. ži-rŭ 'pasture', Lett. dī-ras pl. f. 'banquet'. Skr. ud-rā- Avest. ud-ra- m. a water animal: Gr. ῥδ-ρο-ς etc., see p. 181 above. Skr. cit-rā- 'shining, glorious, wonderful' Avest. ciṣ-ra- 'wonderful': O.H.G. heit-ar 'shining, clear, bright'. Skr. śubh-rā- 'shining, fine': Armen. surb 'pure'; no doubt the suffix is the same in Skr. śuk-rā śuk-lā- 'clear, pure' Avest. sux-ra- 'flaming, red' O.Pers. hux-ra- proper name. Skr. vāj-ra-s Indra's thunderbolt, Avest. vaz-ra- 'club' O.Pers. vazra-ka- 'great, mighty', beside Skr. vāja- Avest. vāza- m. 'strength': cp. O.H.G. wahh-ar O.Icel. vak-r 'lively, quick, fresh, alert' and Goth. vōk-r-s 'profit' O.H.G. wuohh-ar 'increase, gain, profit'. Skr. am-lā- and ambhla- (I § 199 p. 167 f.) 'sour': Dutch amper 'sharp, bitter' O.Icel. apr 'sharp' O.H.G. ampfarō 'sorrel' (adj. used as subst.) no doubt for pre-Germ. am(b)-ro-*, cp. also Lat. am-āru-s.

1) If this explanation of the Avestic word is correct, we might compare the ḥ with the same sound in aiwi-pūra- from sūra-, (see Bartholomae Hdb. § 144). No other example of -msr- -nsr- appears to occur, and thus there can be little serious objection to our assuming that it was just in this group of consonants that ḥ was regularly developed.

Skr. śith-irā- śith-ilā- 'loose, unsteady': Gr. χαθ-αρό-ς 'open, free, pure'. Skr. mand-irā-m 'lodging, dwelling, room, house' Gr. μάρδ-οᾶ 'fold, pen, stall'; Skr. mand-urā 'stable' either has -urā- for -rā- (cp. however I § 290 p. 231 f.) or may be an extension of a stem mandu-*.

With Skr. pata-rā- 'flying' (see p. 182) compare drava-rā- 'running', ny-ōca-rā- 'suited to, belonging to a place'.

-ro- in secondary use: Skr. tamis-ra-, pīvarā-, see above, p. 181 f. vy-ad-varā- 'gnawing, rodent' beside ad-van- 'eating': cp. Hom. ἔδφαρ (ēdḗar), gen. ἔδφαρος, 'food'.

Examples of Aryan words with -ra- -la-, which, so far as we can tell, may represent either -ro- or -lo-, are given in § 76 Rem. 1.

Armenian. surb, gen. srboy, 'pure' for sub-ro-s* (I § 263 p. 214): Skr. śubh-rā-s. Kirtn, gen. krtan 'sweat' for kitr-an-*: Gr. ἰδ-ρό- Lett. swid-ri pl. 'sweat'. tu-r 'gift': Gr. δω-ρο-ν O.C.Sl. da-rŭ 'gift'.

The -aro- of adjectives in -ar, which no doubt comes from -pro-, appears to be sometimes primary, sometimes secondary. It is primary e. g. in dal-ar 'green, fresh' (cp. Gr. θαλε-ρό-ς), and secondary e. g. in ard-ar 'just' (cp. Skr. ṛ-tā-). mecar-em

'I exalt, praise' a denominative verb like Gr. μεγαίρω 'I rate highly, admire' (from μεγαρο-*, cp. μέγαρο-ν 'large space, chamber').

Greek. ἐλαφ-ρός 'light, brisk': O.H.G. lung-ar 'quick, active', common ground-form lōgh-rō-s*. ἄκ-ρο-ς 'pointed' ἄκ-ρο-ν ἄκ-ρᾱ 'point, peak': Skr. catur-aśra- 'four-cornered', O.C.Sl. os-t-rŭ 'sharp'. ζω-ρός 'unmixed' (of wine), ἐνεργής, ταχύς (Hesych.): no doubt to be compared with O.C.Sl. ja-rŭ 'amarus, iratus' Serv. jara 'heat of a stove'. ἀφ-ρός 'foam': Skr. abh-rā-m 'cloud' (cp. also Lat. imber gen. imbris in the i-declension), common ground-form mbh-rō-*; beside this ὄμβ-ρο-ς 'rain' with Idg. b like Skr. āmb-u- 'water', see I § 469, 8 p. 346 f. κάπ-ρο-ς 'boar': Lat. cap-er cap-ra, O.Icel. haf-r 'he-goat'. νεφ-ρός 'kidney, testicle': Ital. Praenest. nefr-ōn-es, Lanuv. nebr-undin-es 'kidneys testicles', O.H.G. nior-o 'kidney, testicle' O.Icel. nýr-a n. 'kidney' (I § 443 p. 329), common ground-form negh-rō-*. ἔδ-ρᾱ 'seat': O.Icel. set-r n. 'seat'. λαμπ-ρός 'shining'. σαπ-ρός 'rotten'. φαιδ-ρός 'beaming, happy'. νεκ-ρός 'corpse'. τάφ-ρο-ς 'ditch, trench'. κόπ-ρο-ς 'dung'. τέφ-ρᾱ 'ashes'.

Adjectives were formed in proethnio Greek in -η-ρός (a fertile suffix) from verbs in -έω, as πονη-ρός 'toilsome' from πονέομαι, ὀκνη-ρός 'slack' from ὀκνέω, ὀλισθη-ρός 'slippery' from the fut. ὀλισθήσω (pres. ὀλισθάνω).

-pro-. ἰαρός beside ἱρός see p. 181 above. λιπ-αρός 'fat': cp. Skr. rip-rā-m 'smear, stain, impurity'. σιν-αρός beside σιν-δ-ρός (for the δ, see I § 204 p. 170) 'harmful', and other examples.

-ro- is secondary in Att. (Aristoph.) οἰζυ-ρός 'woeful' from οἰζύς, gen. οἰζύς 'woe, and similarly in λγυ-ρός beside λγύς 'clear, ringing' and μωλυ-ρός beside μῶλυς 'enfeebled', unless these are derived from λγυλο-ς* μωλυλο-ς* (cp. παχυ-λός § 76) by dissimilation (I § 266 p. 215). Further, in many adjectives in -ε-ρο-ς; e. g. φοβε-ρός 'terrible' from φόβος, δροσι-ρός 'dewy' from δρόσος, whose termination -ερός was regarded as an independent suffix, and added to other than o-stems, as σκιερός 'shady' from σκιᾶ, κρατερός 'strong' from κράτος n.; cp. p. 182.

-ro- can be considered either a secondary or a primary suffix in adjectives in -α-ρο-, as ὀδυνηρός Dor. ὀδυνᾶρός 'painful' beside ὀδύνῃ Dor. ὀδύνᾱ and ὀδυνάω, ἀσηρό-ς Lesb. ἄσᾱρο-ς 'causing disgust, disagreeable' beside ἄσῃ Lesb. ἄσᾱ and ἀσάω, and in those in -r-ro-, as Hom. ὀιζῦρ-ρό-ς 'woeful' beside ὀιζύς and ὀιζέτω (Att. ὀιζύρος-, see p. 184 above), ισχυρ-ρό-ς 'strong' beside ισχύς and ισχύω.

Remark. The relations of -rro- and -aro- are not quite clear in such instances as ιέρó-ς; ιαρό-ς (Skr. iṣ-irā-s); σκιερό-ς (from σκιᾶ): σκιαρό-ς; πιερό-ς (Skr. pirarā-): πιαρό-ς; (see Morph. Unt. II 241 ff.). I should compare πιαρό-ς (and also πιάλο-ς) with πιάτω for πινη-ιῶ*, exactly as μιαρό-ς 'defiled' is to be derived from μιάτω, so that the relation is the same as that of θανυατό-ς (i. e. θανυη-το-ς*): θανυαίνω. Then new formations arose, ιέρó-ς (modelled upon πιερό-ς σκιερό-ς) on the one hand, σκιαρό-ς (modelled upon μιαρό-ς πιαρό-ς) on the other.

Italic. Lat. rub-er rub-ra, Umbr. rufru 'rubros' rufra 'rubras': Gr. ῥουθ-ρό-ς etc., see p. 181 above. Lat. vi-r gen. vi-rī, Umbr. veiro 'viros': O.Ir. fe-r Skr. vī-ra-s etc., see p. 181 above. Lat. cap-er cap-ra, Umbr. kaprum 'caprum': Gr. κάπ-ρο-ς etc., see p. 184 above. Lat. ag-er gen. ag-rī, Umbr. agre gen. 'agri': Skr. áj-ra-s etc., see p. 181 above. Lat. sac-er sac-ra, Falisc. sacru 'sacrum', Umbr. sakra 'sacras', Osc. sak-oro 'sacrum' sak-arater 'sacratur' (I § 627 p. 471). Lat. mac-er mac-ra: Gr. μακ-ρό-ς 'long, lean, far', O.H.G. mag-ar O.Icel. mag-r 'lean' pr. Germ. maȝ-rá-. Lat. ob-scūru-s 'dark', properly 'covered over': O.H.G. skū-r 'shelter, covered place, lodging'. Lat. plē-ru-s plērī-que: Gr. πλήρ-ης 'full', which is a modification of an older form πλη-ρο-* (cp. πληρόω), but its accent, in contrast to the analogous ύδαρός (: ύδαρό-ς), followed that of compounds in -ήρης like διήρης. Lat. pū-ru-s. dī-ru-s. clā-ru-s. gnā-ru-s (cp. I § 253 p. 207). in-terger (cp. intāctu-s). nig-er. glab-er (we may conjecture that the original form of the stem was gladh-ro-* or gladh-ro-*, cp. O.C.Sl. gladūkū 'smooth'). scab-er. stup-ru-m. lab-ru-m 'lip'. scalp-er and scalp-ru-m. flag-ru-m. At the same time in words where an l occurs before the suffix -ro-, it must be remembered that the latter may have come from -lo-, cp. lu-crum for lu-clum* I § 269 p. 217. Sabin. cuprum 'bonum' Cupra 'bona dea', Umbr. Cubrar gen. 'Bonae deae', beside Lat. cup-iō.

No certain examples of -pro- can be found; perhaps it may be traced in Lat. camur camura, cp. Gr. καμάρα 'vault'.

-e-ro- occurs in Lat. liber libera O.Lat. loeber-tātem, which is usually compared with Gr. ἐλεύθ-ερος (see I § 49 p. 42, § 65 p. 52), puer gen. puerī, gener gen. generī.

The relation of Lat. amā-ru-s: Skr. am-lā- 'sour' is obscure.

-ro- in secondary use. teneb-rae: Skr. tamis-ra- etc., see above p. 181 f. cerebru-m for ceres-ro-*, cp. Skr. śiras- 'head'. fūnebri-s instead of fūnes-ro-*, transferred to the i-declension, beside fūnus fūnes-tu-s, see I § 570 p. 423, II § 93 under Italic. membru-m membr-āna for mēms-ro-*: O.Ir. mīr 'piece of flesh' from pr. Kelt. mēns-r...*, beside Skr. māśā- Goth. mimza- O.C.Sl. měso- 'flesh' (I § 570 p. 428, § 574 p. 430, § 585 Rem. 3 p. 440).

Old Irish. sī-r Mod.Cymr. hi-r 'lasting long' (comparative O.Ir. sia): Lat. sē-ru-s, common ground-form sē-ro-*, beside Skr. sāya-s 'late time, end'. lā-r Mod.Cymr. llaw-r 'flooring, floor': A.S. flō-r 'floor' Mid.H.G. vluo-r 'level, floor'. ar Mod.Cymr. aer 'battle, fight' for ag-ro-* (I § 523 p. 380): Skr. ghāsē-ajra- 'attractive to the taste, creating appetite' Gr. ἄγ-ρα 'game, prey', from √ ag- 'drive', cp. Idg. ag-ro-* 'place where cattle are driven, field' which was formed from the same root, p. 181. bod-ar (acc. pl. bod-ra): Skr. badh-irā- 'deaf'. mā-r mō-r Mod.Cym. maw-r 'great' Gall. -māro- in Virido-māru-s and other proper names, beside the compar. O.Ir. māo mō 'greater': Gr. ἐγχεσι-μω-ρος 'great or distinguished in throwing the spear', and the like (Bechtel, Über die Bezeichn. d. sinnl. Wahrnehm. 101; Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 431 ff.), common ground-form mō-ro-*. uar Mod.Cymr. oer 'cold' pr. Kelt. og-ro-*.

Germanic. O.H.G. sū-r O.Icel. sū-r-r sour, 'bitter': Lith. sū-ra-s 'salt' (adj.) O.C.Sl. sy-rū 'raw'. O.H.G. munt-ar 'fresh, lively, hasty, Goth. mund-r-ei 'goal, object': O.C.Sl. maq-rū 'wise' (Lith. mand-rū-s 'conceited, overbearing' instead of mand-ra-s*). Goth. gáu-r-s 'troubled, sorrowful' beside gáu-nōn 'to sorrow, lament': Skr. ghō-rā-s 'horrible'. O.H.G. weig-ar 'teme-rarius' pr. Germ. uajz-rá-*, beside Goth. veihan 'to fight': Lith. vik-rū-s 'brisk, lively' instead of vik-ra-s*. Goth. jē-r O.H.G. jā-r n. 'year': Gr. ῶ-ρο-ς 'year' ῶ-ρᾱ 'season' O.C.Sl. ja-rū ja-ra 'springtime', by the side of which we find Avest. yā-r n. 'year', cp. Skr. yā-ti 'he goes, travels'. O.H.G. fed-ara O.Icel. fjōð-r f. 'feather' pr. Germ. feþ-rō-*: cp. Gr. πρ-ε-ρὸ-ν etc., see p. 182 above. Goth. skei-r-s A.S. skī-r 'pure, clear' (: Russ. ščiryj 'pure', see I § 414 Rem. p. 303 f.). Goth. fag-r-s 'suitable' O.H.G. fag-ar 'fair' pr. Germ. faz-rá-*, √ pāk-: cp. Umbr. pacrer pl. 'propitiū' § 98. O.H.G. hē-r 'grand, exalted, sublime' pr. Germ. χαι-ra-*, no doubt to be compared with Goth. hái-l-s 'healthy'. O.H.G. sē-r 'painful, sore' O.Icel. sā-r-r 'sore, bad', Goth. sái-r O.H.G. sē-r n. 'pain' pr. Germ. sai-ra-*. O.H.G. zang-ar 'biting, sharp' pr. Germ. tanǵ-rá-*, cp. O.H.G. zanga 'tongs' Skr. dāś-ana-m 'a biting, bite'. O.H.G. bū-r m. 'dwelling' O.Icel. bū-r n. 'room, storehouse', beside O.H.G. bū-an 'build upon'. O.H.G. scob-ar m. 'stack, piled up heap of corn', √ skeyp- skeub- 'shove, push': Lith. skub-rū-s 'hasty'. Goth. skū-ra f. 'shower, storm' O.H.G. scū-r m. 'shower'. O.H.G. zunt-ra zunt-ara f. O.Icel. tund-r n. 'tinder' beside O.H.G. zant-ro zant-aro m. 'glowing coal' O.Icel. tand-re m. 'fire' (pr. Germ. tand-r-en-*). Goth. lig-r-s m. O.H.G. leg-ar n. 'couch'. O.H.G. zimbar n. 'timber, dwelling' A.S. timbar n. 'building', West Germ. timbra-* for tim-ra-*, Goth. tim-r-jan 'to do carpenter's work', √ dem-. O.H.G. eit-ar n. O.Icel. eit-r n. 'poison', beside Gr. οἶδ-ος οἶδ-μα 'swelling'.

-rro- pr. Germ. -ura- occurs perhaps in O.H.G. ebur A.S. eofor O.Icel. jōforr (pl. jōfrar) 'boar': cp. Lat. ap-er gen. ap-ri, O.C.Sl. vep-rī (stem vep-r-je-) 'boar'. -e-ro- is even more difficult to identify in Germanic.

-ro- is secondary in O.H.G. dinstar Mid.Dutch deemster 'dark': Skr. tamis-ra- etc., see above, p. 181 f.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. asz-t-rū-s asz-ru-s, instead of -ra-s*, O.C.Sl. os-t-rū 'sharp' (for the -t- see I § 544 p. 398 f., § 545 p. 400): Gr. ᾰ-ρο-ς etc., see p. 183 f. above. Lith. pū-rai pl. 'wheat' O.C.Sl. py-ro n. 'spelt': Gr. πῦ-ρῶ-ς 'wheat'. Lith. denomin. szvit-r-inėti

'to glimmer' szvyt-r-ūti 'to gleam': Skr. śvit-rá-s 'white'. Lith. kup-rà 'knob, boss': O.H.G. hov-ar A.S. hof-er m. 'knob'. O.C.Sl. ved-rŭ 'clear, bright' ved-ro n. 'fair wather': O.H.G. wet-ar n. 'weather', common ground-form uedh-rō-*. O.C.Sl. dob-rŭ 'good': O.H.G. taph-ar Mid.H.G. tapf-er 'heavy, weighty, fast'. O.C.Sl. da-rŭ 'gift': Armen. tu-r Gr. δῶ-ρο-ν 'gift'.

Lith. bud-rŭ-s instead of -ra-s* O.C.Sl. bŭd-rŭ 'watchful'. -ra-s is seldom kept in adjectives in Lithuanian (e. g. tik-ra-s 'suitable'); they generally passed over into the u-declension; cp. § 107. In O.C.Sl. we have only a few adjectives, cp. besides those quoted above, pīstrŭ 'gay' for pīs-rŭ* (like os-t-rŭ) from ✓peik-.

Lith. stuñb-ra-s 'aurochs'. stamb-ra-s and stemb-r-ỹ-s 'stalk'. gaĩs-ra-s gais-rà 'distant gleam on the horizon', beside gis-tu 'extinguor' (cp. Leskien, Der Ablaut der Wurzelsilben im Lit. 65). O.C.Sl. pi-rŭ 'convivium'. ra-rŭ 'sonitus'. mě-ra 'measure'. reb-ro 'rib' (beside O.H.G. rippi n. 'rib', pr. Germ. rið-ja-*).

-ro- in secondary use: Lith. tĩms-ra-s 'light bay coloured' (of a horse): Skr. tamis-ra- etc., see p. 181 f. above. Lith. vidurỹ-s 'middle', no doubt = vidu-r-ja- a derivative of vidù-s 'the inside', similarly duburỹ-s 'depth' from dubù-s 'deep and hollow'. It seems to me doubtful whether we should compare with these the -ro- of Lith. nas-raĩ pl. 'throat' O.C.Sl. noz-dri pl. 'nostrils' (beside Low Germ. nuster 'nostril' and Idg. nas-* 'nose'), and of O.C.Sl. męz-dra 'fine skin on a recent wound, the fleshy part of anything' (beside męso 'flesh'), cp. I § 585 p. 439.

§ 75. The Suffixes -ero- -erā- and -tero- -terā-, forming Comparatives.

These are closely parallel to the superlative -mo- -ymo- (§ 72, 2 p. 166 ff.) and -tymo- (§ 73 p. 177 ff.).

-(t)ero- shows a close etymological relation to the adverbs in -(t)er and (loc.) -(t)er-i, e. g. upero-* beside Gr. ὑπὲρ Skr. upāri, en-tero-* beside Lat. in-ter Skr. antāri-kṣa-. On the other hand -(t)ero- is often connected with -ro- (see § 74). Per Persson's suggestions for its etymology (Studia Etymologica, Upsala 1886,

p. 94 ff.) are more extensive, but for the most part exceedingly bold.

Beside -(t)ero- is found -(t)oro-, e. g. Avest. ka-tāra- Goth. hva-þar O.C.Sl. ko-tory-jŭ, -(t)ro-, e. g. Skr. an-trā-m Gr. ἀλλό-τρο-ος Lat. in-trō O.C.Sl. ję-tro, and -(t)ro-, e. g. Gr. νε(φ)-αρό-ς A.S. eafora ¹⁾ The original distribution of these different grades of ablaut can no longer be traced; the difference of accent however should be noticed, e. g. Skr. án-tara- an-trá-an-tári-kṣa-.

-tero- shows the greatest fertility in Aryan and Greek, where it was a regular comparative suffix for adjectives.

Indo-Germanic. upero-*, beside Skr. upāri 'above' Gr. ὑπὲρ, ὑπεῖρ (i. e. ὑπερι*, see I § 645, 2 p. 489) Lat. s-uper O.H.G. ubir 'over' (compare further Skr. úpa 'towards' Gr. ὑπο 'under' etc.): Skr. úpara- 'nearer, behind, under' Avest. upara- 'upper', Gr. ὑπερο-ς ὑπερο-ν 'pestle' ὑπέρα 'upper rope', Lat. s-uperu-s s-upra s-uprē-mu-s, A.S. ufer-ra 'upper' (-ra = Goth. -iza); cp. superl. Skr. upamá-s Lat. s-ummu-s. ydhero-* 'lower' beside Avest. aḍairi 'under' and Skr. adhás 'below': Skr. ádharma- 'lower', Goth. undarō adv. 'underneath' O.H.G. undaro undero 'lower'; cp. superl. Skr. adhamá-s.

en-tero-* 'inner', subst. n. 'intestines', beside Lat. in-ter Skr. antári-kṣa- 'that which lies in between heaven and earth, sky': Skr. ántara-s 'inner, dearer, more intimate' antrá-m antrá-m 'intestine', Armen. ender-kē pl. 'intestines' (possibly borrowed from the Greek), Gr. ἐντερο-ν 'intestine', Lat. inter-ior intrā intrō, O.Ir. eter etir 'between', O.C.Sl. ję-tro n. 'liver'; cp. superl. Skr. ántama-s Lat. intimu-s. ni-tero-* 'lower': Skr. nitarām 'downwards, down', O.H.G. nidaro adj. 'lower'; cp. superl. Avest. nitema- A.S. neodēm-est. Avest. fra-tara- Gr. πρό-τερο-ς 'former, earlier', beside Osc. pruter-pan 'πρότερον ἤ, priusquam'; compare further Avest. fra Gr. πρό 'before'; cp. superl. Avest. fra-tema-.

1) -tŕ (cp. -ter beside -tero-) seems to occur in Skr. sani-túr 'beside, except, without' Gr. ἀ-τάς 'sed' O.H.G. sun-tar 'by itself, especially, but, however' beside Skr. sanu-tár 'away, aside' Gr. ἀ-τες 'without' (is the irregular spiritus lenis in ἀτάς and ἀτες due to the influence of αὐτάς and ἀντί?) A.S. sun-dir 'except, without'; cp. also Goth. sun-drō 'separated, alone'. The root-syllable of the Greek and Germanic words is sŕ-*. Cp. Bugge, Bezenberger's Beitr. III 120 f.

go-tero-* from the stem go-* 'who?': Skr. ka-tará- Avest. *ka-tāra-*¹⁾ Gr. πό-τερο-ς 'which of two?' Umbr. podruh-pei 'utroque', Goth. hva-þar 'which of two?' Lith. ka-trà-s 'which of two? which? who?' O.C.Sl. ko-teri-jŕ ko-tori-jŕ 'who?'; cp. superl. Skr. ka-tamá-s, Lat. quo-tumu-s.

It can hardly be an accidental coincidence that several Indo-Germanic languages have a word for 'left' which shows the suffix -tero- added to a stem formed with the comparative suffix -ies -is- (§ 135), and contains the idea of 'goodness' (cp. Gr. ἐώνυμο-ς 'left'). Avest. vairyas-tāra-, beside vara- 'desirable, excellent' compar. Skr. vārīyas-. Gr. ἀρισ-τερό-ς, beside ἄρισ-το-ς 'best' ἀρεῖον 'better' (not connected with Ar. vara-). O.H.G. winis-tar, beside wini 'beloved' wunsc 'wish, desire'; cp. also, from the same root, Skr. vāma-s 'left', identical with vāmdá-s 'worthy, dear, good', from a ground-form uṇ-mo-s*, √ uṇ-. Lat. sinis-ter, which should surely be compared with Skr. sán-īyas- 'gaining more' √ sen- 'to reach a goal (which is striven after or longed for), to succeed' (see Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIV 271 f.), and not with senior seniu-m (when the intermediate stage of meaning would be 'weak, incapable'); for the i of the first syllable cp. simili-s. One at least therefore of these formations must date from proethnic Indo-Germanic, and at the time of the separation of the peoples must have still retained its original meaning as well as the secondary one of 'left', and so become the model for the rest. Cp. the Author, Rhein. Mus. XLIII p. 399 ff.

Aryan. Skr. ádha-ara- Avest. að-ara- 'lower', see p. 189 above. Skr. áp-ara- 'more distant, later, smaller, other', ap-ará-m adv. 'later' Avest. ap-ara- 'the other' O.Pers. ap-ara-m adv. 'afterwards', beside Skr. ápa 'from, away': A.S. af-era eafora O.Sax. abaro m. 'successor, offspring' (Goth. afar 'after' O.H.G. abur avar 'again, anew; on the other hand, however'); with which compare O.Pers. apa-tara-m 'further' and Goth. af-tarō adv. 'backwards' aftra adv. 'back, anew, further' O.H.G. aftaro m. 'hinder part' A.S. æftra adj. 'hinder'. Skr. áv-ara-s 'lower' Avest. aora adv. 'down, off' (cp. Avest. naotara- = Skr. navatara- compar. from Skr. náva- 'new'), cp. Skr. áva 'off, downwards'.

1) The quantity of the ā in the syllable ka-, if the law given in I § 78 p. 69 is correct, might be explained by reference to a by-form katra-* in proethnic Aryan (cp. the Ital. and Lith. forms).

Skr. án-tara- Avest. an-tara- 'inner' Skr. an-trá-m ān-trá-m 'intestine': Gr. ἐν-τερο-ν etc., see p. 189 above. Skr. út-tara- 'higher, upper' from úd 'up, out': Gr. ὑστερο-ς 'later' ὑστρο-ς 'belly'; beside this we have Skr. ud-ará- ūd-ara- 'belly, swelling' Gr. ὄδτερο-ς 'belly' Hesych. (probably Cyprian, with o = v as in μοχοῖ = μυχοῖ and other words), O.H.G. ūzro 'outer'. -tara-m is especially frequent in Aryan as an adverbial termination. Skr. vi-tará-m Avest. vī-tare-m 'further' (in Avestic also an adj.) beside Skr. vī 'away, apart': Goth. vi-þra adv. 'against, with-' (in composition); compare also Lat. vi-tr-icu-s 'stepfather', the termination being like that of O.H.G. ent(i)rig 'strange' = antrizá-s* from ander 'other'. Skr. parā-tará-m paras-tará-m 'further away' from pārā parás 'away, forth'. Instead of this later Sanskrit has generally -tarā-m, as uccāis-tarām 'higher' from uccāiṣ 'high', śanāis-tarām 'more softly, more gradually', from śanāiṣ 'softly, gradually'.

Skr. ka-tará- Avest. ka-tāra- 'which of two?': Gr. πό-τερο-ς etc., see p. 190 above. Skr. ya-tará- Avest. ya-tāra- 'which (of two)' (rel.), beside Skr. yá-s 'qui'. Avest. a-tāra- from the stem a- 'that'.

-tara- was also the regular comparative ending of adjectives in Aryan where -tama- formed the superlative. The same rules of formation hold as for -tama-, see § 73 p. 178. Skr. amā-tara-s 'more raw' from amá-s: Gr. ωμό-τερο-ς 'more raw, more rude'; Skr. yajñiya-tara- 'more deserving of reverence'; Avest. aka-tara- 'worse' from aka-, srīrō-tara- 'nobler' from srīra-. Skr. śrēṣṭha-tara- 'more excellent' from superl. śrēṣṭha-, garīyas-tara- 'heavier, weightier' beside compar. garīyas-, Avest. vairyas-tara- 'left' see p. 190 above; cp. also Avest. fratarō-tara- from fratara- 'more prominent'. Skr. duḥkha-tara- 'more painful, more unpleasant', and as subst. n. 'greater pain', from duhkhá-m 'pain'. Avest. ušas-tara- 'easterly' from ušah- 'red of the morning', daoša-tara- 'westerly' from daoša- 'evening'.

Armenian. nor, gen. noroy, 'new': cp. Gr. νεαρός 'young, youthful' ground-form neμ-γρό-s*, see p. 189 above; it is doubtful whether neμ-γρο-* was also the ground-form of the Armenian word. Gen. mer 'our' jer 'your' (nom. me-ē 'we' du-ē 'ye'): cp. O.Ir. possess. ar n- 'our' far n- 'your', Goth. unsar 'our' izvar 'your'; and further Gr. ἡμέτερος ὑμέτερος, Lat. nos-ter ves-ter.

ender-ē pl. 'intestines' cannot be quoted without suspicion, as it may perhaps have been borrowed from the Greek (ἔντερα), cp. p. 189.

Greek. ὑπ-ερος 'pestle': Skr. úpara- etc., see p. 189 above. ὄδ-ερος 'belly': Skr. udardá- etc., see p. 191 above. ἐν-εροι 'inferi' (properly those within, those dwelling within the earth) from ἐν 'in', cp. also ἐνέρ-τερος νέρ-τερος 'deeper' beside ἐνερ-θε 'apud inferos' and ἐν-τερο-ν 'intestine'. νεαρός 'young, youthful': cp. Armen. nor (see above) and Lat. noverca meaning ἡ νεαρικῇ*.

ἐν-τερο-ν 'intestine', see p. 189 above. ὕστερος 'later'. ὑστρο-ς 'belly': Skr. úttara-, see p. 191 above. πρό-τερος 'earlier': Avest. fra-tara-, see p. 190 above. Greek has many new formations modelled upon old comparatives derived, like these, from adverbs. ὑπέρ-τερος 'higher' from ὑπέρ. κατώ-τερος 'lower' from κάτω. ὑψί-τερος 'higher' from ὑψι. παροι-τερος 'more prominent' beside πάρου-θε 'before'. μυχοί-τερος 'further back in the corner' (only μυχοί-τατο-ς is actually found) from μυχοί 'in the corner, inside'. παλαι-τερος 'older' from πύλαι. παλαι-τερος was referred to παλαιός-ς and hence arose the forms γεραι-τερος 'older' from γεραιός-ς, σχολαί-τερος 'more idle' from σχολαῖος-ς, and when -αιτερος-ς further came to be regarded as an independent suffix, it produced the forms ἡσυχ-αίτερος-ς 'quieter' from ἡσυχος-ς, ἰδι-αίτερος-ς 'more especially one's own' from ἰδιος-ς, and many more. With the adverbial termination -τέρω: άνω-τέρω from άνω 'up', προσω-τέρω from πρόσω 'forwards', ἐγγυ-τέρω from ἐγγύς 'near', and many more.

πό-τερο-ς 'which of two?': Skr. ka-tarā-s etc., see p. 191 above. Dor. Boeot. etc. ἄτερο-ς 'one of two, the other' ground-form ση-τερο-* from sem-* Gr. εἷς 'unus' (cp. ἅ-παξ etc.); the Attic form ἐτερο-ς no doubt arose through an assimilation to the vowel of έν-, just as ἐ-κατόν 'a hundred' replaced ἄ-κατον* for the same reason.¹⁾ ἐκά-τερο-ς 'each of two' beside ἐκάς, cp. Wackernagel in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 150 f.

ἡμέ-τερο-ς 'our' ὑμέ-τερο-ς 'your': cp. Lat. nos-ter ves-ter.

The form -τρο- occurs in ἄλλο-τρο-ιο-ς 'belonging to another, strange'; tis extension by the suffix -ιο- is no doubt due to the form of its antithesis ἴδιο-ς.

-τερο- was also the regular comparative termination in adjectives whose superlative was formed in -τατο- (§ 81). ωμό-τερο-ς 'more raw, more rude' from ωμός: Skr. amā-tara-s. κοιφó-τερο-ς 'lighter' from κοῦφος. γλυκύ-τερο-ς 'sweeter' from γλυκύ-ς. πίó-τερο-ς 'fatter' from πίων -ονος, ἐπιλήσμο-τερο-ς 'more forgetful' from ἐπιλήσμων -ονος, cp. πίó-της and ἀκμό-θετο-ν (cp. § 12 p. 27, § 29 p. 49). μελάν-τερο-ς 'blackier', from μέλας -ανος. χαριέστερο-ς 'more charming, more gracious', i. e. χαρι-φετ + τερο-*, from χαρίεις -εντος; -φετ- took the place of the regular phonetic -φατ- = Idg. -myt- (§ 127). ἀχαρίστερο-ς 'more ungraceful' i. e. ἀχαριτ + τερο-*, from ἄχαρις -ιτος. ἀληθέσ-τερο-ς 'truer' from ἀληθής neut. -ές.

Comparatives with ω like σοφώ-τερο-ς 'wiser', from σοφός, were formed from adverbs in -ω (cp. the Germanic comparatives in -ōz-en- formed from the instr. sing. in -ō § 81, and the Slavonic comparatives in -ě-jŭ which came from the instr. sing. in -ě § 135), and their use became gradually restricted to words in which the ω followed a short syllable. A few remaining examples of the freer use occur in literature, as οἷζ' ἑρνώτερος (Hom.), δυσποιμώτερος (Eur.) and several others. The -ο- of κινότερος στενότερος in later Attic is a reminiscence of the early Attic forms κινόφó-ς* στενόφó-ς*, see p. 135 footnote.

1) A different explanation of ἄτερο-ς ἐτερο-ς is given by Per Persson, Studia etymol. p. 102; but his arguments do not convince me.

-ωτερο-ς was sometimes grafted upon other classes of stems, e. g. ἐπιχαριτ-ώτερο-ς 'more charming' from ἐπίχαρις.

The termination -εστερο-ς (ἀληθέσ-τερο-ς) was very largely extended in use as an independent suffix, e. g. εὐδαιμον-έστερο-ς 'happier' from εὐδαίμων, ἀκρατ-έστερο-ς 'more unmixed' from ἄκρατος, ἐρρωμεν-έστερο-ς 'stronger' from ἐρρωμένος.

Comparative suffixes were often combined. Parallel to ἀρ-ισ-τερό-ς (see p. 190) arose λαλ-ίστερο-ς 'more talkative' from λάλος, κλεπτ-ίστερο-ς 'more thievish' from κλέπτη-ς, βλάκ-ίστερο-ς 'lazier', from βλάξ, etc.; the spread of these double suffixes was furthered by the similar sound of the termination of ἀχαρίστερο-ς = ἀχαριτ+τερο-ς*. ἀμεινό-τερο-ς from ἀμείνων 'better', ἀρειό-τερο-ς from ἀρείων 'better' etc. κυντερώ-τερο-ς from κύν-τερο-ς 'more like a dog, more impudent', ὑπερτερώ-τερο-ς from ὑπέρ-τερο-ς 'upper', προτєραι-τερο-ς from πρό-τερο-ς 'earlier' (cp. Avest. fratarō-tara- p. 191), with other examples.

Comparatives are frequently formed from substantives. κύν-τερο-ς from κύν 'dog'. βασιλεύ-τερο-ς 'more royal' from βασιλεύς 'king'. δημιό-τερο-ς 'belonging to the people' from δῆμος 'people', ὄρέσ-τερο-ς 'of the mountains' from ὄρος 'mountain' and the like, where the comparative suffix, just as in ἡμέ-τερο-ς Avest. ušas-tara O.H.G. ni-daro, only served to contrast the words with their opposites (cp. § 139).

Italic. Lat. s-uperu-s s-uprā s-uprē-mu-s Umbr. subra 'supra' Osc. supruis 'superis', beside Lat. s-uper, with the by-form s-up-ter (written subter), like O.H.G. afar beside Goth. afar (for the s- of s-ub s-uper see I § 568 p. 425): Skr. úpara-s etc., see p. 189 above. For Lat. īnferu-s inf̄ra, which are usually connected with Skr. ádharma- Goth. undarō, see § 72 p. 167, under Aryan.

Lat. in-ter-ior in-trā in-trō, Osc. entraí dat. fem. 'intestinae, ἐμφυλίῳ: Skr. án-tara- etc., see p. 189 above. Lat. i-teru-m, the stem of which is contained in Lat. mātertera ('quasi mater altera') for mātēr-iterā*, Umbr. etram-a 'ad alteram': Skr. i-tara-s 'other', perhaps also Goth. idr-eiga 'repentance' O.Icel. iðra-sk 'repent'. Lat. ex-ter ex-trā Osc. eh-trad 'extra', beside Lat. ex:

(O.) Ir. echtr-ann 'foreign, stranger'. Lat. ci-ter ci-trā ci-trō: Goth. hi-drē 'hither'. Lat. pos-teru-s postrī-diē postrē-mu-s Umbr. postra acc. fem. 'posteriores' Osc. pústiris 'posterius', from Ital. pos pos-t; it is perhaps better to analyse the word post-eru-s. Lat. con-trā contrō-versia Osc. contrud 'contra', beside Lat. cum Osc. con. Umbr. hon-dra 'infra' Osc. hu[n]-truis 'inferis', cp. Lat. humu-s, and Umbr. superl. hon-domu § 73 p. 179. Umbr. pretra acc. fem. 'priors', beside Lat. prae-ter.

Lat. u-ter u-tra (I § 431 Rem. 3 p. 321) Umbr. podruh-pei 'utroque' Osc. pútúrús-píd 'utrique' (for potro-*, see I § 271 p. 218, § 627 p. 471): Skr. ka-tará-s etc., see p. 190 above. Lat. al-ter altera altrin-secus Osc. alltram 'alteram', beside Lat. al-iu-s (cp. § 63, 3 p. 132).

Lat. nos-ter nostra, ves-ter vestra, Umbr. vestra abl. 'vestra', Osc. nistrus 'nostros' (according to Bugge; 'propiores' according to Bücheler): cp. Gr. ἡμέτερος ἰμέτερος.

Lat. dex-ter dextera and dextra, Umbr. destram-e 'in dextram': cp. O. Ir. Dechter a woman's name (Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 214) and Gr. δεξι-τερός 'dexter' (formed like ἐπι-τερος). Umbr. nertru abl. 'sinistro': Gr. νιγ-τερος ἐνέγ-τερος 'deeper' beside ἐνέγ-θε (cp. p. 192); as to the meaning 'left', see Bücheler Umbrica p. 76 f.

Here perhaps should also be classed palūs-ter, from palūd-, Nemes-tr-inu-s, from nemus, Volsc. Veles-trom 'Veliternorum', beside Gr. ἔλος 'low ground'; so also Lat. campester terrester silvester and the like, which are to be compared with the Gr. ἐδάμουν-έστερος (p. 194).

Combinations of comparative suffixes. -is-tero-: Lat. sin-is-ter -tra see p. 190, Lat. magister magistrī Umbr. mestru fem. 'maior', beside Lat. magis Osc. mais 'magis'; Lat. minister ministrī Osc. minstreis 'minoris', beside Lat. minus; cp. § 135. Lat. inter-ior dexter-ior and the like, Osc. pústir-is. Lat. suprē-mu-s extrē-mu-s and the like (cp. § 72 p. 168) and postrē-m-issimu-s (cp. § 73 p. 179).

Old Irish. ar n- far n- poss. 'our, your', orig. gen. pl.

like Lat. nostrum vestrum: cp. Armen. mer jer Goth. unsar izvar.¹⁾ in-a-thar Corn. enederen 'intestines' O.Ir. eter etir 'between': cp. Skr. an-trá-m etc., see above p. 189. ōchtar uachtar n. 'that which is above, the upper part', beside ōs uas 'above'. echtrann 'a stranger' from ech-tar 'extra' (-tar for -trā*): Lat. extero-extrā. air-ther 'former, the east', from ar air 'ante'.

cech-tar 'each of two' from cech adj. 'each'. nech-tar 'one of two' from nech 'one'.

-ther is also found side by side with -iu (§ 135) in adjectival comparative forms, yet it is comparatively much rarer than in Aryan and Greek: luathi-ther from luath 'quick', libri-ther from lebor 'long' and so forth. It occurs also in comparatives formed from substantives: Mid.Ir. mētither 'larger' from mēt f. 'size'.

-is-tero-. sinser 'older, oldest', ground-form sen-is-tero-*, cp. sin-iu 'older' Lat. sen-ior. ōser 'younger, youngest' ground-form iā'u-is-tero-*, cp. ōa 'younger' Skr. yāv-īyas- yāv-iṣ-tha-.

Germanic. Goth. uf-arō 'over' A.S. uf-er-ra 'upper': Skr. ūp-ara- etc., see p. 189 above. Goth. uns-ar 'our' fem. unsara, izv-ar 'your' fem. izvara, O.H.G. unsēr iuwēr; unsro (nom. pl. fem.) unsrēm (dat. pl.) and the like, show the West-Germanic syncope: cp. Armen. mer jer, O.Ir. ar n-, far n-.

Goth. vi-þra O.H.G. wi-dar 'against, with-' (in composition):

1) "ar n- and far n- no doubt stand for (s)arom* (s)garom*, since s disappears before a vowel which precedes the accent (cp. it = senti*). We find in Mid.Ir. sar, accented, in Ps. 2, but nar in Ps. 1. I suppose sarom* sgarom* to have arisen in proclitic positions, from forms like the Goth. unsar izvar, by loss of the initial sonant (uns- for us-), just as Romance lo came from illum, loro from illorum." aftra afaro aftero 'hinder part' beside Goth. afar. Several adverbial terminations derived from -tero- show considerable fertility,
 e. g. Goth. hi-drē 'hither' (Lat. ci-trō ci-tra) jáin-drē 'thither', jáin-þrō 'thence', alja-þrō 'from some other place' dala-þrō 'from beneath'. With regard to several adverbs in -ar, like Goth.
af-ar hin-dar, we cannot tell whether they are acc. sing. neut.
 (cp. Skr. pratardm Gr. πρότερον Lat. iterum) or are parallel to forms like Gr. ὑπὲρ Skr. upári.

Goth. hva-þar O.H.G. hwedar wedar (wederemo wederan)

unt-arōsto from unt-aro, for-darōsto from for-dro fordaro, af-tristo from af-tro and the like.

Remark. O.Icel. aus-tr 'east' O.H.G. ūs-tra ūs-tara f. 'Easter' ōstar 'eastwards' (ōstar: ōstana = hintar: hintana), A.S. eāstra eāsterra 'more easterly', also Goth. Ostro-gotha: cp. Lat. aus-ter austr-āli-s, and further Avest. ušus-ara- 'easterly'. Should we consider the Germanic and the Latin word as the extension of a noun-stem aus-to-* by -ero-, or as derivatives in -tero- from an adverb aye*, or as the regular phonetic representatives of a form aus-(e)s-l(e)ro-*? In Germanic the names for the other quarters of the heavens are exactly parallel to the word for east, so far as their inflexional part is concerned, cp. e. g. O.Icel. vestr norðr súðr, A.S. compar. westerra norðerra súðerra. norðr appears to be connected with Gr. νέτερο-; Umbr. netro-. In proper names we find also Ausi- Auri- beside Austro- Austar-, and Wese- Wisi- (Wese-gothae Wisi- gothae) beside Westar-.

Balto-Slavonic. -ero- cannot be identified with certainty.
 Perhaps in O.C.Sl. sěv-erŭ Lith. sziau-r-ỹ-s 'north wind'?

O.C.Sl. ję-tro 'liver' from Idg. en* 'in', and beside it a-tro-ba

f. 'intestines, belly' q-tr-ī adv. 'inside' beside O.C.Sl. vũ for on*, cp. p. 189. O.C.Sl. ju-tro u-tro 'morning' loc. jutrē utrē 'tomorrow', from ju u Lith. jaũ 'iam' (whence also O.C.Sl. junũ Lith. jáuna-s 'young', see § 66 p. 149).

Lith. ka-trà-s 'which of two, which, who?' O.C.Sl. ko-tery-jĩ ko-tory-jĩ 'who?': Skr. ka-tará- etc., see p. 190 above. Lith. añ-tra-s 'other, second' fem. antrà: Goth. an-þar; in O.C.Sl. vũ-torũ, which corresponds in meaning, the form of the root is unexplained. O.C.Sl. je-terũ 'any one', from the pronominal stem je-: Skr. ya-tará-, relat. 'which of two'.

§ 76. The Suffix -lo- -lā-, -llo- -lla-.¹⁾

For the variation between -llo- and -lo- see I § 287 p. 229.

In the proethnic and later periods it is both primary and secondary, forming adjectives and substantives. In its primary use -lo- serves especially to form nouns of the agent and instrument; as a secondary suffix it is used especially to form diminutives: in the latter use -lo- was exceedingly fertile in Latin, Germanic and Lithuanian.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. tu-rá- 'mighty, strong' tū-la-m 'panicle, tuft, reed, cotton' tū-lā 'cotton plant', Gr. τύ-λο-ς τι'-λη (also τέ-λη) 'swelling, lump', Lith. tū-la-s 'so many', i. e. 'a good number of' O.C.Sl. ty-lũ 'neck', ✓teu- 'tumere'. Skr. ci-rá- 'long', ci-rá-m 'delay, delaying', Goth. hwei-la 'while, time'. Armen. dai-l da-l 'beestings', Gr. μη-λή 'mother's breast', Lat. fēlare, O.Ir. de-l 'teat', O.H.G. ti-la 'woman's breast', Lett. dē-l-s (stem dē-la-) 'son' Lith. pirm-dē-l-ė 'one that has borne a child for the first time', ✓dhē(i)- 'suck'; cp. also Gr. μη-λν-ς 'suckling, female' Skr. dhā-rú-ṣ 'sucking' with -lu- (§ 107). Gr. Lac. ἑλλά 'seat' for ἑδ-λā* (I § 364 p. 277), Lat. sella for sed-la* (I § 369

1) Besides the authorities given in the footnote on p. 180 cp. Osthoff, Die Suffixform -sla-, vornemlich im German., Paul-Brauno's Beitr. Gymn. 1876 p. 595 ff., and the same writer, Die [lat.] Diminutiva mit doppeltem l (-ellus, -illus, -ullus etc.), Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIII 169 ff.

p. 280), Goth. sit-l-s 'seat', O.C.Sl. selo 'fundus' (Lower Sorb. sedlo 'seat' Upper Sorb. sydlo 'abode' Czech sed-l-ák 'peasant') for sed-lo-* (I § 548 p. 402). Idg. ghes-lo-* ghes-l-iho-*: Skr. sa-hásra-m 'thousand' sa-hasríya-s 'thousandfold', Gr. δεκά-χίλοι 'ten thousand' Lesb. χέλλιοι Dor. χήλιοι Att. χίλιοι 'thousand' from χ_εσ-lo-* (I § 565 p. 423); for the i of δεκά-χίλοι and χίλιοι I can now refer to Thurneysen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 353.

Gr. Hom. ομίχ-λη Lith. mig-là myg-là (also myg-là with the suffix -ĩā-) O.C.Sl. mīg-la 'mist'. Skr. aj-ir-á- 'mobile, quick', compare Lat. ag-ili-s (transferred from the o- to the i- declension), which may represent either aġ-llo-* or aġ-lo-*.

In Italic, Germanic and Balto-Slavonic we frequently find -s-lo-, which was taken from forms where -s- was the so-called root-determinative, like Lat. āla for axlā* (cp. axilla) O.Sax. ahsla O.H.G. ahsala 'shoulder' beside Skr. ákṣa-s O.H.G. ahsa Lat. axi-s Lith. aszi-s 'axle' for aġ + s-* from aġ-* 'drive, set in motion'; O.H.G. dehsala O.C.Sl. tesla 'axe' beside Avest. taša 'axe' Gr. ρόξο-ν 'bow' O.H.G. dehsa 'hatchet, trowel' from teġ + s-*.

In the same way were formed e. g. Lat. vēlu-m 'sail' (cp. vezillu-m) O.C.Sl. veslo 'oar' from ueġh + slo-* ('means of moving'), √ ueġh- 'vehere'.

-lo- as a secondary suffix. Skr. nābhīla-m 'puḍenda, navel', Gr. ὀμφαλό-ς 'navel, boss of a shield', Lat. umbil-icu-s, O.Ir. imbl-iu 'navel', O.H.G. nabolo O.Icel. nafla m. 'navel', beside Skr. nābhi-ṣ 'nave, navel', Lat. umbō 'boss of a shield', O.H.G. naba 'nave', Pruss. nabi-s 'nave, navel' Lett. nabba 'navel'. Skr. tūm-ra- 'swelling, fat, strong', Lat. tumulu-s, O.Icel. þumall m. 'thumb', beside Skr. tū-tu-má- Avest. tū-ma- 'strong, powerful' etc., see § 72 p. 171. Skr. bahu-lá- 'thick' Gr. παχυ-λό-ς 'rather thick', beside Skr. bahú-ṣ Gr. παχύ-ς 'thick'. Skr. anaku-rá-s 'a swelling, tumour', Gr. ὀγκύ-λο-ς 'swollen, proud' (whence ὀγκύλλομαι) ὀγκύ-λο-ς 'crooked' (older accentuation ὀγκυλό-ς* ἀγκυλό-ς*, see I § 676, 4 p. 542 f.); we should perhaps also compare O.H.G. angul O.Icel. qngull m. 'fishhook, angle', pr. Germ. anġulá-*, cp. Skr. anaku-śá-s 'hook'. The diminutival sense is clearly marked e. g. in Lat. porculu-s porcil-ia O.H.G. farhel-i n. Lith.

parszēl-i-s 'little pig, sucking pig' compared with porcu-s farah pařsza-s 'pig', Lat. rotula Lith. ratēl-i-s 'little wheel' beside rota rāta-s 'wheel' (the diminutival sense of the l-derivative in Lithuanian is certainly older than the addition of the further suffix -iō-, although the latter is also a diminutive suffix, see § 63, 2). Here belong also pet-names like Skr. bhānu-la- Gr. Θρασύ-λο-ς O.Ir. Tuath-al Goth. Vulfi-la Pruss. Butil, for which see below.

The termination -e-lo- is exceedingly common and certainly dates from the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic, but in many cases we cannot tell whether the stem to which it is added is verbal or nominal.

Aryan. Skr. sthū-rā- sthū-lā- 'massive, strong, rough, stupid': Gr. στῦ-λο-ς 'pillar'. Skr. has-rā- 'laughing', with which Windisch would compare Gr. χεῖλο-ς n. 'lip' for χεσ-λ-ος*. Avest. tiy-ra- 'point': Goth. stik-l-s, see below. Avest. stax-ra- 'strong, firm': O.H.G. stah-al, see below. Skr. sa-hāsra-m Avest. ha-zanre-m 'thousand': Gr. Lesb. χέλλι-οι, see p. 199 above. Skr. gō-la-s 'ball', gō-la-m gō-lā 'spherical water-vessel': Gr. γαν-λό-ς 'pail, vessel' γαῦ-λο-ς 'trading ship' (O.H.G. chiol and O.Icel. kjöll 'ship' can hardly be compared with this group of words; their vocalism seems to shew that they come from a different root). Avest. zaf-ra- n. (beside *zafar) 'mouth, throat': O.Sax. kaf-l A.S. ceaf-l m. 'jaw' (of animals).

-lō-. Skr. ajirā-s; see above. suš-irā-s šuṣ-irā-s (see I § 557, 4 p. 413) 'hollow, a reed', n. 'hole, wind instrument': Gr. αὐλ-ός 'reed, pipe, flute' for σαιν-λο-ς*. Skr. āṅgira-, name of divine beings who were regarded as mediators between men and gods: Gr. ἄγγελ-ος 'messenger': the g of the Skr. form implies that the original form was not āṅgā-lo-* (cp. Skr. āni-la-s 'wind' Gr. ἄνε-μος for anə-*, beside Skr. āni-mi), but āṅg-lō-*, see I § 445 p. 331, § 450 p. 333 f. We should no doubt add tum-ura- tum-ula- 'loud, noisy' beside tum-ala-, with the same meaning (cp. tyṛā-la beside tyṛ-rā- 'restless, anxious': Lat. tumul-tu-s: the word is usually connected, and perhaps rightly, with Skr. túm-ra- 'swelling puffed up' (see p. 198 above.)

-lo- in secondary use. Skr. nābhīla-m, tūm-ra- (ultimately also tum-ura-), bahu-lā-, aṅku-rā-s; see above. Further, with diminutive sense, vṛṣa-lā-s 'mannikin, small man' (vṛṣan- 'man'), śiśū-la-s 'little child' (śiśu- 'child'), śalāka-lā 'small splinter' (śalāka 'splinter'). Add pet names like bhānu-la- cp. bhānu-datta-, pitṛ-la- cp. pitṛ-datta-, dēvila- cp. dēva-datta-.

Remark 1. We may add here a number of forms from Aryan, in which it is doubtful whether the suffix is Idg. -ro- or -lo-, cp. § 74 p. 182.

Skr. dū-rā- Avest. O.Pers. dū-ra- 'distant'. Skr. krū-rā- 'bloody, wounded, cruel, gruesome', Avest. xrū-ra- 'wounding, horrible'. Skr. śrī-lā- 'beautiful' a-śrīrā- a-śtīla- 'not beautiful, ugly' Avest. sri-ra- 'beautiful', cp. compar. Skr. śrē-yas-. Skr. ug-rā- Avest. uy-ra- 'strong, mighty'. Skr. āg-ra-m Avest. ay-re-m 'beginning'. Skr. kṣip-rā- 'quick', miṣ-rā- 'mixed' ā-miṣta- 'intermingling', vak-rā-s 'crooked', pā-lā-s 'protector, herdsman', rāndh-ra-m 'opening'. Avest. hix-re-m 'fluid, impurity'.

-pro- -llo-. Skr. dhtas-irā- (beside dhtas-rā-) 'scattering', mad-irā- 'gladdening', sar-irā- sal-īlā- 'flowing, undulating', n. 'wave, flood', tṛd-īlā- 'perforated, porous'. In Iranian the regular phonetic development reduced -pro- -llo- and -e-ro- -e-lo- to one form -ara-, and they are thus indistinguishable.

-ro- -lo- in secondary use; Skr. āsu-ra- Avest. ahu-ra- O.Pers. au-ra- (in aura-mazdāh-) meaning perhaps 'lord', epithet of divinities, compared with Skr. āsu- 'vital spirit'; for the etymology of the word see von Bradke, Ztschr. der deutsch. morg. Ges. XL. 347 ff. Skr. pāṣu-rā- 'dusty' (pāṣū- 'dust'), madhu-ra- madhu-lā- 'sweet' (mādhu 'sweetness, honey'). muṣka-rā- 'having testicles' (muṣkā-s 'testicle'). phēna-lā- 'foamy' (phēna-s 'foam'). In the following words the primary stem has no final -a-: dhūm-rā- 'gray' (dhūmā-s 'smoke'), rath-irā- 'travelling in a chariot' (rātha-s 'chariot'), phēn-īla- beside phēna-lā- 'foamy'.

The addition of -ra- -la- to stems in -ran- is particularly common. The combination -vara- -vala- (cp. p. 182 for Skr. pivara- Gr. πιερός = Idg. pi-ye-ró-*) was taken into common use as an independent suffix. Skr. adhvarā-s 'festal gathering' (ādhrvan- 'way') it-rarā- 'going' (ītran- 'going'), and further vid-vadā- 'clever' (vid- 'know'), kṛṣi-ralā- 'husbandman' (kṛṣi- 'husbandry') and other words. -varī is a common fem. termination from adjectives in -ran-; e. g. yāj-varī from yāj-ran- 'pious', ṛtāvārī Avest. asāvarī from ṛtāvan- asāran- 'pious'. In Avestic, certain nom.-acc. neut. end in -varē, e. g. miṣ-rcarē from miṣ-ran- n. 'pair', karš-rcarē from karš-ran- n., the name for the seven divisions of the earth: cp. Gr. πῖ-(f)αῖ 'fat' beside πιερός; πιαρός.

Compare with this -vara- -vala- Skr. admarā- 'ravenous' from ād-man- n. 'food', sidhmalā- 'leprous' from sid-man- sid-mā- 'leprosy'; further, O.H.G. O.Sax. himil beside Goth. himin-s 'heaven', A.S. ðymel 'thumb-stall, finger-guard' beside ðūma m. (acc. ðūman) 'thumb'.

Greek. στῦ-λο-ς 'pillar': Skr. sthā-rā- sthā-lā-, see above p. 200. πῖ-λο-ς 'felt': Lat. pi-lu-s 'hair' and the derivative pīleu-s 'felt' (also written pilleus, see I § 612 p. 463 ¹). κav-λό-ς 'stalk': Lat. cau-lae pl. 'cavities' (cp. also Lat. cau-li-s 'stalk'), Lith. káu-la-s 'bone'. ζεύγ-λη 'yoke-ring, thong': cp. Lat. jug-ulae pl. 'Orion's girdle of stars'. τυφ-λό-ς 'blind'. στρεβ-λό-ς 'twisted'. ἐκ-παγ-λο-ς 'awful, terrible' for ἐκ-πλαγ-λο-ς*, from ἐκ-πλαγ-ῆναι, see I § 266 p. 215. φῦ-λο-ν 'stem, race' φῦ-λή 'community' ἄθ-λο-ς ᾄθ-λο-ς 'contest' ἄθ-λο-ν ᾄθ-λο-ν 'prize'. στρόβ-λη 'roll, roller'.

By the side of the adjectives in pr. Gr. -η-ρο-ς (§ 74 p. 184) there were others in -η-λο-ς, like Hom. κατα-ρῖγγλό-ς 'making one shudder, terrible' (κατα-ρριγγέω), μιμηλό-ς 'imitative, imitated' (μιμῶμαι), including such substantival nomina agentis as κάπηλο-ς 'huckster', Lac. δίκηλο-ς (and the extended form δεικηλικτᾶ-ς) 'actor'. Cp. Lat. cicindēla (below, Remark 2) and Lith. tekė-la-s beside tekė-ti (see below).

πῖ-λο-ς 'fat', like πῖ-αρό-ς, from πῖ-αίνω (see § 74 Rem. p. 185), extended πῖ-αλέο-ς 'fat' (see § 64 p. 135); like the latter are formed ἱκμαλέο-ς 'damp', from ἱκμαίνω, κρῦμαλέο-ς 'frosty', from κρῦμαίνω, δειμαλέο-ς 'timid, terrible' from δειμαίνω, and many other similar words.

-llo-. κεφ-αλή beside κέβ-λη 'head': Goth. gib-la m. 'spire' O.H.G. gebal m. 'skull, head', √ ghebbh-. πέτ-αλο-ς 'outspread' πέτ-αλο-ν 'leaf'. αῖθ-αλο-ς 'soot'. κρέμβ-αλο-ν 'rattle'.

-lo- -llo- in secondary use. παχυ-λό-ς, ὀγκύ-λο-ς, see p. 199. ῥόδύ-λο-ς 'sweetish' (ῥόδύ-ς 'sweet'), δριμύ-λο-ς 'somewhat sharp' (δριμύ-ς 'sharp'), both with shifted accent like ὀγκύ-λο-ς (see I § 676, 4, p. 542 f.). δανλό-ς 'thickly overgrown' for δασυ-λο-ς*, from δασύ-ς 'thickly grown', τρανλό-ς 'lisping, snarling, stuttering' for τρασυ-λο-* beside Skr. त्क्षु- 'brisk, impetuous' (Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalaccent 63). όμ-αλό- 'smooth, even', from όμός: Lat. simili-s, for older sem-lo-* or sem-llo-*. χαμ-αλό- 'low', beside χθον- 'earth' for χθου-* (I § 204 p. 172, II § 160, 2): Lat. hum-ili-s. Words like παχυ-λό-, where -λο- acts as a diminutive suffix, gave rise to a number of new formations, most of which however appear only in later Greek; as μικκ-τίλο- 'small', from μικκό-, ἀρκτ-ύλο- 'young bear', from ἄρκτο-; and to extended formations with -ιο- like καθαρ-ύλλο- 'cleanly' (καθαρό- 'clean'), to which again a further diminutive suffix was added, e. g. ἀνθ-ύλλ-ιο-ν 'floweret' (ἄνθος), ἐπ-ύλλ-ιο-ν 'small poem' (εἶπος). Pet names with -λο- are common. Ὀνησί-λο- cp. Ὀνησι-κράτης, Ταξι-λο- cp. Ταξι-κλής; hence -ιλο- became an independent ending, e. g. Σω-ῖλο- cp. Σω-κράτης. Further, we have names of this kind extended by -ιο- as Τέρψι-λλο-, cp. Τέρψι-κλής; then -ιλλο- also became an independent ending, as Δορ-ιλλο- cp. Δορύ-λᾱος. Θρασύ-λο- cp. Θρασύ-μαχος, Βαθύ-λο- cp. Βαθύ-λᾱος, hence such forms as Ἀγ-ύλο- Ἡγ-ύλο- cp. Ἀγέ-στρωτο- Ἡγέ-στρωτο-; with the -ιο- extension we have e. g. Βαθύ-λλο- beside Βαθύ-λο-, hence forms like Νίκ-υλλο- cp. Νίκο-μήδης.

We may regard either as primary or as denominative formations adjectives in -ā-lo-, such as σιγῆ-λό- (Pind. σιγᾶλό-) 'silent, quiet' beside σιγάω 'I am silent' and σιγή 'silence', ἀπατη-λό- 'deceitful' beside ἀπατάω 'I deceive' and ἀπάτη 'deceit', cp. -ā-ro- § 74 p. 184 f. The same is generally true of forms in -e-lo- = Idg. -e-lo-, e. g. τραπ-ε-λό-* 'turning' in εὐ-τρέπελο- 'turning easily': Lat. torculu-s for torcu-lo-* (I § 431 c p. 320 f.); στενγ-ε-λό- beside στενγ-λό- 'solid, compact, firm, hard'; εἶκ-ε-λο- 'like, similar'; μῆ-ε-λό- 'marrow'; σκόπ-ε-λο- 'rock'; νεφ-έ-λη 'cloud': Lat. nebula, O.Ir. nēl 'cloud' for neb-lo-*, O.H.G. neb-ul m. 'cloud'; ἀγ-έ-λη 'herd': cp. O.Lat. agolo- n. 'pastorale baculum, quo pecudes aguntur' (Paul. Fest.). The -λο- of -ε-lo- can be more certainly identified as a secondary suffix in πῖ-με-λη 'fat' and θν-μέ-λη 'place of offering', to be compared with ή-μέ-ρα and similar words, but in no other examples.

Italic. Ital. *fē-lo- in Lat. fēl-are fīl-iu-s, Umbr. feliuf filiu acc. 'lactantes' fel. (abbreviation) 'filius': Gr. ἡ-λῆ 'mother's breast', Lett. dé-l-s 'son' etc., see above p. 198. Lat. sella for sed-lā*: Gr. ἑλλᾶ etc., see above, p. 198 f. grallae 'stilts', compared with gradior. rallu-m (a?) 'ploughshare' beside rādula 'scraper' (is this for orig. rad-lla*, or a new formation of later date?) from rādō; also rallu-s (a?) 'close shorn'. caelu-m 'chisel' from caedō. pīlu-m 'pestle' for pius-lo-m* (I § 208 p. 175 f.). exem-p-lu-m (from eximō, 'something taken out', hence) 'specimen, type', tem-p-lu-m (cp. Gr. τέμνω, 'something cut off', hence) 'holy precinct, temple', with -p- as a glide sound (I § 208 p. 175). assecla, from assequor.

-ulo- ulā- are very frequent in Latin. In the forms assecula beside assecla, vinculu-m beside vinclu-m, torculu-s (torqueō), coculu-m (coquō), as in trāgula (trahō), -ulo- ulā- were developed from -lo- -lā- during the Latin period, see I § 269 p. 218, § 431 c p. 320 f., § 509 p. 373. Elsewhere it is doubtful, whether Idg. -lo- or -llo- or -e-lo- was the original suffix; e. g. in the nomina instrumenti, like capulu-s capulu-m ex-cipulu-m (cp. O.H.G. hev-ilo 'yeast', the means of making something rise), cingulu-m cingula, tēgulu-m tēgula, cōpula, rēgula. Further, in substantival nomina agentis, as figulu-s 'potter' legulu-s 'gatherer', and adjectival nomina agentis, which usually imply a culpable tendency to some action, as bibulu-s, crēdulu-s, gemulu-s, tremulu-s, pendulu-s: cp. Goth. sakul-s 'quarrelsome' and the like; see below. In a few cases also it is conceivable that the suffix may represent Idg. -u-lo-. Where there has been a transference from the o- to the i- declension, -ili- appears, instead of -ulo-. Thus we have agili-s: Skr. ajirā-s, see above, p. 199. Similarly bibili-s, fragili-s, facili-s, docili-s, habili-s etc., and by an extension to the to- participle coctili-s fissili-s, flexili-s, versatili-s, volatili-s etc.

-s-lo- is of common occurrence. ālā, vēlu-m, see p. 199 above. alu-m 'wild garlic' for an-s-lo-m*, cp. O.C.Sl. ačh-ati 'to give forth smell' for on-s-atī*, beside Skr. āni-ti. prēlu-m for prem-s-lo-m*, from premō. pālu-s pālu-m for pac-slo-* or pāc-slo-*, from pac-īnior, √ pāk- 'fasten': cp. Gr. πάσσαλο-ς 'peg, nail' as though from a present *πάσσω, for *παλῶ (cp. πήσσω), and hence to be compared in point of formation with O.H.G. deckel from decken = O.Icel. þekja. scāla for scantslā*, from scandō. For the phonetic changes in these words see I § 208 p. 175 f., § 570 p. 428.

Remark 2. Osthoff (Paul-Braune's Beitr. III 346) would also derive from -s-lo- -s-lā- the feminine substantives like fugēla sequēla querēla, and candēla nitēla, referring, -ela in the former group to *-e-slā (cp. fuge-re), in the latter to *-ē-slā (cp. candē-re), and he compares such Germ. forms as O.H.G. ruomi-sala f. hruomi-sal n. 'boasting' (see below). This is possible. Still there is nothing to prevent our deriving them from Idg. -ē-lā-, and I rather prefer this explanation on account of cicindēla 'glow-worm'. This was the feminine of an adjective cicindēlo-*, which may be compared with Gr. μικρο-λό-ς. Accordingly we should regard candēla and the other parallel forms as having been originally adjectival.

-lo- -llo- is secondary in simili-s, humili-s (with change of declension, see p. 203 above); similarly parili-s from pār, pestili-s from pesti-s, herbili-s from herba. nūbīlu-s from nūbēs. angulus, Umbr. anglom-e 'in angulum' for anc-lo-*, compared with Lat. ancu-s; similarly O.Lat. ungulu-s compared with uncu-s; see I § 499 p. 366. Whether -lo- is also secondary in Lat. famul famulus Osc. famel 'servus' famelo f. 'familia' (compare Lat. famil-ia Umb. famer-ias pl. 'familiae') may be left an open question; see Danielsson in Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 178.

This suffix was very fertile in forming diminutives. Lat. catulu-s Umb. katel 'catulus' katlu 'catulum'. Lat. porculu-s porcil-ia beside porcus: O.H.G. farhel-i n. Lith. parszēl-i-s 'sucking pig'. rotula beside rota: Lith. ratēl-i-s. Other substantives are: rēgulu-s, adulēscēntulu-s, ōīculu-s, scūtulu-m, glandula, nūtrīcula, animula, mēnsula; servolu-s, clāvola; filiolu-s, glōriola, līneo-la. Adjectives: loquāculu-s, valentulu-s, frīgidulu-s, barbatulu-s; helvolu-s; ēbriolu-s, aureolu-s. Umbr. fondlo- 'fonticulus' (fondlir-e 'in fonticulis') for font-lo-*, cp. adro- I § 499 p. 366. Osc. Nūvlā- 'Nola' in Nūvlanūs pl. 'Nolani' corresponds to a Lat. form novola* (beside ново-s). We should notice also as examples of different phonetic changes; Lat. stella for ster-lā* (Gr. ἀστὴρ 'star'), puella for puer-lā*, agellus for ager-lo-s*, nigellu-s for niger-lo-s*, satullu-s for satur-lo-s*, paullu-s paulu-s for paur-lo-s* (Gr. παῦρος 'small, little'), see I § 269 p. 216, § 633 p. 473 f.; further asellu-s for asen-lo-s*, fēmella for fēmen-lā*, bellu-s for ben-lo-s* (bene), gemellu-s for gemen-lo-s*, suillu-s for suin-lo-s*, corōlla for corōn-lā*, see I § 208 p. 175; lastly lapillu-s for lapid-lo-s*, see I § 369 p. 280.

In Latin -lo- was often added to these diminutives as a further diminutive suffix, e. g. catellu-s from catulu-s, cistella from cistula, (catello-: orig. cat-lo-* = ager-lo-* agello-: agro-), agellulu-s from agellu-s, puellu-la, paullu-lu-s, tenellulu-s, bellulu-s.

Another suffix in which the diminutive sense was doubly expressed, but which in the historical period of Latin was regarded merely as a single diminutive suffix, arose in protoethnic Italic through the addition of -lo- to the suffix -ko- (§ 88)¹): Lat. diē-cula, Osc. zi-colois 'diebus' zi-culud 'die' (see I § 73 p. 63 f., § 135 p. 123). Other examples from Latin are: mūs-culu-s 'little mouse, muscle' (cp. Skr. muṣ-kā- 'testicle' mūṣ-aka-s mūṣ-ikā 'rat, mouse', Armen. mukn 'mouse, muscle'), jūs-culu-m, corculu-m i. e. cord+culu-m*, māter-cula, latrānculu-s, corpus-culu-m, melius-culu-s, īgni-culu-s, resti-cula, levi-culu-s.

Old Irish. O.Ir. de-l 'teat': O.H.G. ti-la etc., see above p. 198. cē-l O.Cymr. coi-l 'augurium': Goth. hái-l-s 'sound, healthy', O.H.G. hei-l 'sound, whole', A.S. hæl O.Icel. heill n. (for hailiz-*) 'luck, favourable omen', Pruss. kail-ūstika-n acc. 'health' O.C.Sl. cě-lŭ 'whole, complete'. něl 'cloud' for neb-lo-*, Cymr. nŷl 'cloud': Gr. νεφέλη etc., see p. 203 above. coll m. 'hazel' for cos-lo-*: Lat. cor-ulu-s (corylu-s) for cos-*, O.H.G. hasal O.Icel. hasl 'hazel'. temel 'darkness': Skr. tam-rā- 'darkening'. sē-l n. 'seed', √ sē-. gabul gobul Mod. Cymr. gafl 'forked branch or twig, fork of the thighs'.

-s + lo-. uall f. 'exaltation, haughtiness' uasal 'high, exalted, noble' Mod.Cymr. uchel 'high' Gall. Ūxello-dūnu-m 'High-town', compared with O.Ir. ōs uas Mod.Cymr. uch 'above' for ayq-s* (cp. Lith. duksz-ta-s 'high') from √ ayq- 'increase'; uall therefore = auq-s-lā*, on the other hand usal must be compared with Lat. auxiliu-m, which represents a form auxulo-*, cp. famīl-ia: famulu-s, Caecil-iu-s: Caeculu-s. ciall Mod.Cymr. pioyll 'wit understanding' orig. gei-slā-*, cp. Skr. ci-kē-ti ci-nō-ti 'observes, finds out'. Perhaps we should add giall 'hostage' pr. Kelt. gēslo-*: O.H.G. gisal O.Icel. gisl m. 'prisoner of war, prisoner held as a surety', common ground-form gheislo-*; the etymology of the word has not been explained; the vocalism of the Keltic word is against its connexion with Lat. haereō, which Osthoff considered certain (Z. Gesch. d. Perf. 630).

1) G. Curtius (Stud. I 1, 259 ff.) treats this combination as older than the Italic period. I cannot regard this as completely demonstrated.

-lo- occurs with diminutival force in pet names, such as Tuathal cp. Tuath-char; cp. also Gall. Teutalu-s, Camulu-s, Toutillu-s, Catullu-s.

Germanic. Goth. fū-l-s O.H.G. fū-l 'foul': Lith. pū-lei pl. 'pus, matter', stem pū-l-ja-. O.H.G. siu-la f. 'awl, punch': Lith. siū-la-s 'thread for stitching' siū-l-ė 'seam', perhaps also Gr. ῥ-λ-ίαι pl. 'pieces of leather for shoe soles' (Hesych.). O.H.G. O.Icel. sei-l n. 'rope' O.H.G. si-lo m. 'straps for draught cattle, harness': Lith. āt-sei-l-i-s 'the iron which joins the connecting rod to the axle, the crank', āt-sai-l-ė 'connecting pole between the splinter-bar and the axle'. Goth. stō-l-s O.H.G. stuo-l 'stool, seat': Lith. pa-stó-la-s 'stand', pl. 'carpenter's scaffolding', Goth. stik-l-s O.H.G. stechal m. 'drinking vessel, goblet' (properly used of drinking horns that run to a point, then of other drinking vessels): Avest. tiy-ra- 'point'. O.H.G. hag-al m. O.Icel. hag-l n. 'hail' is presumably to be compared with Gr. μάχλ-ηξ 'small stone, pebble'. O.H.G. stah-al m. O.Icel. stál n. 'steel': Avest. stax-ra- 'strong, firm', Pruss. panu-stacla-n acc. 'steel for kindling fire'.

Goth. ag-l-s 'terrible', beside ōg 'I am afraid'. Mid.H.G. krol, gen. krolles 'in ringlets, curled' pr. Germ. kruz-lā-*, see I § 582 p. 436. O.H.G. zī-la 'line, row', beside zī-t pr. Germ. tī-đī-* 'time'. Goth. fug-l-s O.H.G. fog-al m. 'bird', for fluz-la-*?, see I § 277 p. 221. Goth. þvah-l n. 'bath'. Goth. fair-veit-l n. 'stage play'. O.H.G. scūv-ala A.S. sceof-l f. Dutch schoff-l 'shovel', beside O.H.G. scioban 'shove, push'.

O.Icel. hqkull m. 'mantle' beside O.Icel. hek-la 'mantle'. O.Icel. sqđull O.H.G. satul m. 'saddle'. O.H.G. snabul m. 'snout'. Adjectival nomina agentis generally imply an inclination to something. Goth. sakul-s 'quarrelsome', slahul-s (beside slahal-s) 'apt to strike', O.Icel. hugull (beside hugall) 'careful, thoughtful', O.Sax. slapol 'lethargic' flužol 'fleeting' (in O.H.G. -al, as ezgal 'ravenous', sprungal 'saliens'); forms like A.S. hlaž-ol 'inclined to laughing' (beside hliehhan 'to laugh') indicate that the suffix was originally accented. Also in secondary use, as Goth. vein-ul-s 'bibulous' from vein n. 'wine' (O.H.G. wort-al 'talkative' from wort n. 'word').

-s-lo- is frequent; it is nowhere so fertile as in Germanic. O.H.G. ahsala, dehsala, see p. 199. Goth. preihsl n. 'distress', from preiha 'I press' for pr. Germ. preaχō* (I § 214 p. 181). Goth. skōh-sl n. 'evil spirit'. Goth. hunsl A.S. hūsel O.Icel. hūsl n. 'offering' for χyunt-sla-*, compared with Avest. spent-a- O.C.Sl. svetū 'holy', cp. I § 180 p. 158 (where χyunt-sla-m* should be read for χyunt+tla-m*) and § 413 p. 303. O.H.G. wehsal m. O.Icel. vīzl n. 'change', compared with O.H.G. wīhhan. O.H.G. knuosal A.S. cnōsl n. 'family', cp. Gr. γρω-τό-ς 'a relative'. O.Icel. beisl n. 'bit, curb' ground-form bhojd + slo-*, beside Goth. beita 'I bite'. In particular many nouns were formed in -isla- in connexion with verbs in -jan, as Goth. svartizl n. 'blackness, ink' beside svartjan* O.Icel. sverta 'to blacken', O.H.G. irrisal 'error' beside irren, truobisal 'affliction' beside truoben 'to trouble', ruomisal and hruomisala 'ostentation, boasting' beside hruomen 'to boast'. Later the suffix was added to noun stems, as in Mid.H.G. twanc-sal 'restriction' from twanc 'force', fluht-sal 'a fleeing, escape' from fluht 'flight'. From the Middle High German period onwards it was regarded as a distinct word in composition. Cp. -s-tyo- § 61, -s-tro- § 62, -s-ti- § 100, -s-tu- § 108, -s-men- § 117.

Pr. Germ. -ila- is very frequent, and difficult to explain with certainty. If Paul (in his Beitr. IV 235) is right in holding that pre-Germanic -llo- in the proethnic Germanic period passed sometimes into -ula-, sometimes into -ela- later -ila-, according to the varying intensity of the accent, then some of the forms in -ila- must be added to the examples given above of Idg. -llo- (with pr. Germ. -ula-), and we could derive Goth. mikil-s A.S. mikil O.H.G. mihhil O.Icel. mikell 'great', with Gr. μεγάλο-, from a ground-form meg-llo-*. But this law does not seem to me clearly established. In any case some of the forms with pr. Germ. -ila- are to be referred to Idg. -e-lo-. A certain number may represent an Idg. -i-lo-. If we exclude more or less isolated formations, like the already mentioned mikil-s, Goth. ubil-s O.H.G. ubil 'evil, bad' (perhaps the meaning is 'going beyond bounds, transgressing rules', so that we should compare O.H.G. ubir 'over' Gr. ὑπὲρ), and Goth. in-ilō f. 'excuse, motive' (beside fair-ina f. 'charge, ground of complaint'), pr. Germ. -ila- is found especially in substantival nomina agentis and in diminutives. Hence these two classes may be placed here:

Substantival nomina agentis. O.H.G. brūt-pūtil 'wooer, suitor's advocate' O.Icel. biðell 'one who asks'. O.Sax. crupel O.Icel. krypell 'cripple' ('creeper'), beside O.Icel. krjūpa 'to creep'. O.H.G. tripil 'charioteer' ('driver'), pūtil 'beadle' ('summoner'), tregil 'carrier', drāhsil 'turner'. Names of creatures like O.H.G. wibil O.Icel. vifell 'chafer, beetle' (Mid.H.G. webelen weberen, wabelen waberen 'move hither and thither'): cp. Lith. vāb-ała-s 'chafer', O.H.G. tūhhil 'mergus'. Further, names of tools (cp. § 150), like O.H.G. meizil O.Icel. meitell 'chisel' ('cutter'), beside Goth. māitan 'to cut', O.H.G. sluzzil O.Sax. slutil 'key' ('shutter'), O.H.G. slegil 'mallet', stōzil 'pestle, beetle', driscil, also fem. driscila, 'flail', spinnila 'spindle'. -ila- occurs also as a secondary suffix: O.H.G. reitol wagan-reitol 'charioteer' from reita 'car, carriage'. We have also examples of nomina agentis without an i preceding the l-suffix: O.H.G. tāhhal beside tūhhil, staphul 'grasshopper', scūvala 'shovel'.

Diminutives. O.H.G. benlil O.Icel. bendell m. 'small band, redimicula' Mod.H.G. dial. (Rh.-Frank.) bendel, which has lost its diminutive meaning. O.H.G. stengil 'stalk' (no longer regarded as a diminutive), from stanga 'pole'. The forms have for the most part passed over to the n-declension: O.H.G. scalchilo m. 'servulus' from scalch m. 'servus', lihhamilo m. 'corpusculum' from lthhamo m. 'corpus'; Goth. mavilō O.Icel. meyla f. 'little maiden' beside Goth. mavi f. 'maid, damsel', O.H.G. niftila f. 'niece' from nift f. 'niece', turila f. 'small door' from turi f. 'door'; Goth. barnilō n. 'little child' from barn n. 'child'. Add pet names like Goth. Vulfila O.H.G. Wolfilo cp. O.H.G. Wolf-hart, O.H.G. Gundilo cp. Gund-hart. Examples of diminutives without an i before the l-suffix: Goth. magu-la m. 'little boy' from magu-s m. 'boy', O.H.G. morhala f. 'moril, edible mushroom' from moraha f. 'carrot', O.H.G. Bodulo Bodalo by the side of Bodilo, O.Icel. Sinfjotli by the side of O.H.G. Sintarfizzilo.

The diminutival l-suffix was extended by other diminutival elements. O.H.G. turilī (turilīn) Mid.H.G. türlīn from turila, chindilī (chindilīn) 'little child'; for the origin of this extension see Kluge, Stammbild. p. 29. O.H.G. jungal-ing O.Icel. ungl-ingr 'a youth', O.Icel. mýslingr from mýsla 'little mouse', which itself is derived from mūs 'mouse'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. gai-la-s (and with changed declension gai-lū-s) 'ill-tempered, liable to bite (of dogs)' O.C.Sl. (d)zé-lū 'violent': O.H.G. gei-l 'ungovernable, petulant, wanton'. Lith. mig-là myg-là O.C.Sl. mĭg-la 'mist': Gr. Hom. ὄμιχ-λη 'mist'. Lith. āk-la-s 'blind': Lat. aquila-s. O.C.Sl. strě-la f. 'arrow': O.H.G. strā-la f. 'arrow, flash of lightning'. O.C.Sl. si-la 'might, strength' Sloven. si-la 'haste', cp. Pruss. sei-li- 'earnestness, endeavour, diligence' seiliska- 'devotion': it is not clear whether we should compare Skr. śī-la-m 'custom, character' or Lett. si-t 'to bind'. Lith. aũ-la-s 'leg of a boot' beside aũ-ti 'to cover the feet'. Lett. ē-la 'road', beside i-t 'to go', cp. Lith. ei-l-ē f. Lett. ai-l-i-s m. 'series, row'. O.C.Sl. qz-lū vaz-lū 'knot'.

-llo- may perhaps be traced in the following instances. Pruss. sirs-il-i-s O.C.Sl. striš-īlū beside Lith. szirsz-lỹ-s 'hornet': Dutch horzel. Lith. sprāg-ila-s 'flail', beside sprag-ėti 'to rustle'. O.C.Sl. koz-ālū (kozlū) 'he-goat', from koza 'goat'. orīlū 'eagle', beside Lith. erėl-i-s O.H.G. aro m. 'eagle'. O.C.Sl. sedlo n. 'saddle' for sedīlo* (are O.H.G. satul A.S. sadol 'saddle' borrowed from some Slavonic language?). svētlū 'luminous' for svētīlū*, from svētū 'light'. In considering the last two words it should be noted that pr. Slav. sedlo*, světlŭ* would necessarily have appeared in O.C.Sl. as selo*, svělŭ* (I § 545 p. 399, § 548 p. 402). Cp. also Pruss. names like Butil (buta- 'house'), Cantil (canta- 'endurance').

-s-lo- is not uncommon (cp. -s-li- § 98). O.C.Sl. tesla veslo, see p. 199 above. Pruss. san-insl-e f. 'girdle' O.C.Sl. sŭ-vęslo n. 'band, fetter' u-vęslo n. 'diadem' for ŕgh+s-lo-*, ✓ aňgh- 'tie, press tight', cp. O.C.Sl. qz-lŭ 'knot'. Lith. mók-sla-s 'teaching', krisla-s Lett. krisl-s 'refuse, fragment' for krit-sla-*; mészla-s Lett. mésł-s, both usually in pl., 'dung, sweepings' beside Lith. mėž-iu Lett. měschu 'I cleanse out' (I § 414 p. 303); gý-sla 'vein, sinew', cp. O.C.Sl. ži-la 'vein'; ŭsl-ŷ-s 'one who scents out' ŭsl-ě 'nostril' for ŭtsl-* beside ŭdžiu 'I smell': mŭ-sl-ě 'riddle'. O.C.Sl. čislo 'number' for čīt-slo* (cp. čismę § 117), pręslo 'gradus' for prentslo* from Slav. prend- or prent- (see Miklosich, Etym. Wörth. 262), maslo 'oil, salve' beside maz-ati 'to smear' (I loc. cit.).

-e-lo-. In Baltic this is preserved in -e-l-jo-, as Lith. dīd-eli-s 'great' (beside dīdi-s 'great' like Gr. μεγάλο- beside μέγας), er-ēli-s 'eagle' (cp. O.C.Sl. orŭlŭ); usually with diminutive meaning, as in Lith. parszēli-s 'little pig' galvėlė 'little head'. Cp. also Pruss. names like Dargelo Dargels (darga- 'dear'). In Slavonic the simple -elo- also occurs, though rarely: e. g. dręselŭ (beside dręsŭkŭ) 'sorrowful, peevish', cvětēlŭ 'flower', plēvelŭ 'weed' beside plēva Pruss. pelwo 'chaff'.

-o-lo-, -a-lo- or -ə-lo-. In Baltic -ala- is fairly common, as in Lith. mižalaī pl. Lett. mīfals 'urine', Lith. ūž-vaškała-s 'bed-cover' (cp. O.C.Sl. oblěklo 'clothing' for ob-velk-lo*), āvala-s 'foot-covering' (cp. aūla-s p. 210), veikała-s 'business', snaigala 'snowflake'. In Slavonic it is rarer; O.C.Sl. sokolŭ 'falcon'.

Remark 3. For the combinations -o-lo-, -a-lo-, -ə-lo- I can find no sufficiently certain parallels in the other languages to prove that they are genuine pre-Slavonic suffixes. In the case of -o-lo-, Gr. μαινόλης and the like must be disregarded; on the other hand Skr. karmāra- 'smith' rācāla- 'talkative' and Goth. slahal-s might be regarded as positive evidence. -ə-lo- appears in Skr. ani-la-s 'wind' (beside āni-mi).

Balt. -ē-la- -ē-l-ja-. This is derived from a verb in -ē-ti in Lith. tekčla-s tekčl-i-s 'grindstone, running on an axle' (Lett. tezzele-i-s, usually fem. tezzele), from tekėti 'to run'; and is also found in the numerous nomina agentis, which often imply contempt, e. g. paklydėli-s 'rover, gad-about' from klydėti 'to wander about', netikėli-s 'ne'er-do-weel' (tikti 'to suit'), padūkėli-s 'raving madman' (pa-dūkti 'to go mad') nudėgėli-s 'one ruined by a fire' (nu-dėges 'burnt out'). Cp. O.C.Sl. part. želē-lū beside želėti 'to wish', vidē-lū beside vidėti 'to see'; see below. Examples of -ē-l-ja- as a secondary suffix are kirmėlē 'worm' from O.Lith. kirmi-s, gen. kirmio 'worm', musėlē 'fly' from musė 'fly'; further, diminutives formed from words of more than two syllables, like avinėli-s 'little ram' from āvina-s 'ram', kepurėlē 'little hat' from kepurė 'hat', kirmėlėlē 'little worm' from kirmėlē. The origin of this secondary -ēlja- is not clear.

-ī-lo-. Lith. akýla-s 'observant' (beside akýta-s 'furnished with eyes' and akýva-s 'furnished with eyes, inquisitive'), beside akýti 'to get eyes, become porous'. Cp. O.C.Sl. part. chvali-lū beside chvali-ti 'to praise'.

In Slavonic the suffix -lo-, which formed nomina agentis, was used very freely, and hence was developed the so-called part. praet. act. II; as bi-lū beside bi-ti 'to strike', with jesmĭ practically equivalent to a perfect, 'I have struck'. Other examples are nes-lū beside nes-ti 'to carry', by-lū beside by-ti 'to be' (cp. Gr. qũ-lo-v, qĩ-lĩ), zna-lū beside zna-ti 'to know', dĕla-lū beside dĕla-ti 'to do, make', želē-lū beside želē-ti 'to wish', chvali-lū beside chvali-ti 'to praise'. Cp. Lat. legulu-s 'one who picks (fruit)' O.H.G. ezzal 'ravenous' (O.C.Sl. jalū for ēd-lū*), tregil 'bearer', Gr. σιγᾶλό-ς 'silent', μιμηλό-ς 'imitative', Lith. tekčla-s ('runner') 'grindstone', akýla-s 'observant'.

Diminutives. Lith. -e-l-i-s and -ē-l-i-s have been mentioned; with parszėli-s compare Lat. porculu-s porcil-ia O.H.G. farhel-i n. 'sucking pig', with ratėli-s, Lat. rotula. ragėli-s 'little horn' may be directly connected with O.C.Sl. rog-l-ĩ Mod.Sloven. rogelj beside rogũ 'horn', though in the Slavonic languages the diminutive sense is lost. The pet names, however, in Slavonic belong to this class; e. g. Serv. Božilo beside Božo Bogo-ljub, Bratilo beside Brato Brato-ljub; cp. Pruss. Butil Dargelo p. 211.

§ 77. The European suffixes -dh-ro- -dh-rā- and -dh-lo- -dh-lā-).

In Greek, Italic, Slavonic, and perhaps also in Germanic, these suffixes are found beside -tro- -tlo- (§ 61) and -ro- -lo- (§ 74. 76) with similar meaning. They are used in substantives mainly to denote the means, or a tool, or a locality. They sprang from the coalescence of the so-called 'determinative' dh (Skr. rā-dh-āmi, Gr. πλή-θ-ω, Lat. pū-b-ēs, O.C.Sl. i-d-a, cp. § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20) with a following -ro- -lo-, and are therefore parallel to such combined forms as Gr. -θ-μο- (§ 72) and to -s-lo- (§ 76), and others. Cp. Gr. ἄρ-θ-ρο-ν 'joint, limb': ἄρ-θ-μός- 'joining, connexion'; βά-θ-ρο-ν 'step, threshold, seat, foundation': βα-θ-μός- 'step'; σκ-ε-θ-ρός- 'exact, precise, careful': σχ-ε-θ-έμεν 'to hold, have' (σχ-ε-θ- for the normal σκ-ε-θ- is due to association with ἔ-σχ-ο-ν and similar forms, cp. I § 496 p. 364 f.); κῆλη-θ-ρο-ν 'magic drug': κηλη-θ-μός- 'enchantment'; κῆλη-θ-ρο-ν 'winnowing fan': κῆλη-θ-μός- 'movement'; Lat. sta-b-ulu-m, Czech. stá-dlo Lower Sorb. sta-dlo 'herd, drove': Gr. στα-θ-μός- 'standing place', O.C.Sl. Pol. sta-d-o Czech stádo 'herd'; Lat. fa-b-er: Gr. τε-θ-μός- θε-θ-μός- 'statute' (for the initial τ-θ- cp. σκεθρός σχεθέμεν); Italian (Tusc.) pevera 'a wooden funnel' = Lat. plē-b-ra* (beside Lat. plē-tra* implied in Milanese pídria 'wooden funnel' and other forms, cp. Lat. palpe-bra beside palpe-tra): Gr. πλή-θ-ω 'I am full'²⁾ and many similar examples. With the forms having ε, α Lat. e after the root syllable, as Gr. σκ-ε-θ-ρός-, ἔδ-ε-θλο-ν, μῆλ-α-θρο-ν, κρεμ-ύ-θρα, Lat. illec-e-bra mand-i-bulu-m condūc-i-bili-s should be compared (besides σχ-ε-θ-έμεν mentioned above) γηθίω for γᾱf-ε-θέω* = Lat. gaudeō for gāv-e-deō*, φλεγ-ί-θω, ρεμ-ί-θομαι, ἐργ-ά-θω, διωκ-ά-θω etc.

1) Cp. Ascoli's essay cited in footnote 1 on p. 118; and Fr. Hanssen, Die Aktivbedeutung der Adjectiva auf bilis im archaischen Latein, Philologus N. F. I 274 ff.

2) Add here Gr. πλή-θρο-ν εἶδος μέτρον in Hesychius, if the reading is right.

The great majority of the nouns that belong to this class are certainly later formations which arose independently in the course of the separate growth of the various families of language. Isolated examples may date from older times, cp. Lat. sā-bula, in-sābulu-m, Czech ši-dlo Pol. szy-dło O.C.Sl. ši-lo 'punch, awl', common ground-form sīū-dhlo-* -dhla-; Gr. Hom. λύ-θρο- 'contamination', Lat. dē-lū-bru-m pol-lū-bru-m, common ground-form lū-dhro-*; Lat. sta-bulu-m (stā-*), Czech stá-dlo (stā-*).

In consequence of their equivalent functions and similar sound -dhro, -dhlo- were in many cases confused with -tro-, -tlo-. On this point see § 62 p. 121 f. In Slavonic the older t-suffix was completely ousted by the dh-suffix; the substitution of the dh for t is especially clear in the word for 'plough' O.C.Sl. ralo oralo Czech. rádlo Pol. radło, where all the other languages, even Lithuanian, show -tro- -tlo-.

Remark. Some have wished to derive this suffix from -thro-, -thlo-. To this hypothesis, it must be confessed, no phonetic objections can be raised (I p. 407 footnote). But its only object is to re-establish the theory of the original identity of this suffix with -tro-, -tlo-, and I do not see how any probable ground can be given for assuming that the latter had split into double forms at so early a period. In other forms the aspirated tenuis appears for the tenuis in Aryan only (cp. I § 475 p. 350 f., § 553 p. 405 ff.), and hence we may at least demand evidence for the existence of an Aryan suffix -thra- = -tra-.

To the examples given above a few may be added from the separate groups of languages.

Greek. ὄλε-θρο-ς 'destruction', λάλη-θρο-ς 'talkative', μύλω-θρο-ς 'miller', τέρ-θρο-ν 'end, point', πλ-ί-θρο-ν πέλ-ε-θρο-ν 'acre, hide of land' (cp. πτ-ε-ρό-ν: Skr. pat-a-rā- p. 182), ῥέ(φ)-θρο-ν ῥεῖθρο-ν 'stream', μέλπη-θρο-ν 'delight', κόρη-θρο-ν 'besom', ἐπι-βά-θρᾱ 'means of climbing, ladder', κοιμή-θρᾱ 'sleeping-place', ἀλινδῆ-θρᾱ 'place to roll in, place of exercise (for horses)' ῥ-θλο-ς 'cant, empty talk' (from ῥεῖ 'it rains'), ἐσ-θλό-ς 'excellent', θέμε-θλο-ν 'foundation', γένε-θλο-ν and γενέ-θλη 'descent, family, offspring'. Where λ precedes, the form -θρο- may sometimes have arisen from -θλο- by dissimilation, cp. I § 266 p. 215.

Italic. In proethnic Italic -dhro- -dhlo- became -fro-, -flo-. These remained in Umbro-Samnitic, while in Latin they passed into -bro-, -blo-. See I § 370 p. 281. For the anaptyxis in Lat. -bulo-, -bili- see I § 269 p. 218. Pr. Ital. sta-flo-*: Lat. sta-bulu-m sta-bili-s, Umbr. sta-flarem 'stabularem' Pelign. pri-stafalacirix 'antistita for -staflā-crīx* = Lat. prae-stabulā-trix*.

Lat. crī-bru-m, flā-bru-m, ventilā-bru-m. dolā-bra, verte-bra, tere-bra and ē-lece-bra ('enticer', fem.). crē-ber (from crē-scō), candēla-ber (beside candēla-bru-m), Mulci-ber (gen. -berī, a new formation instead of -brī*); occasionally the forms have been transferred to the i-declension, as anclā-bri-s, ale-bri-s (beside ali-bili-s). trī-bulu-m, pā-bulu-m, vocā-bulu-m, medica-bulu-m, lati-bulu-m, mandi-bulu-m and mandi-bula, fā-bula. Once or twice we find -i-bulu-m as a secondary suffix; for example sessibulu-m (sessu-s sessili-s), tūribulum (tūs). From this suffix are formed a large number of adjectives which have passed into the i-declension, as sta-bili-s, nō-bili-s, mō-bili-s, flē-bili-s, dē-lē-bili-s, sānā-bili-s, ad-mīrā-bili-s, sepeli-bili-s, vola-bili-s, intel-ligi-bili-s, in-vendi-bili-s. In a few cases -i-bili-s is a secondary suffix; e. g. odibili-s (odiu-m), illātibili-s (il-lātu-s), flexibili-s (flexu-s), persuāsibili-s (per-suāsu-m).

Just as -clo- became -cro- by dissimilation in lucru-m (for lu-clo-m*) and in other words (I § 269 p. 217), so it may sometimes have happened that after a preceding l, -blo-, -bli- became -bro-, -bri-.

Germanic. The proethnic Germanic forms -āra-, -āla-, e. g. in O.H.G. hri-ttara f. 'riddle, sieve', may represent Idg. -tro-, -tlo- quite as well as Idg. -dhro- -dhlo-; cp. § 62 p. 121. O.H.G. hri-ttara may be compared equally well with Lat. crī-bru-m 'sieve' (which contains Idg. -dhro-) or with O.Ir. criathar 'sieve' (Idg. -tro-). I know of no case where the dh-suffix could be identified with any degree of certainty.

Slavonic. O.C.Sl. želo 'point, sting' Pol. żą-dło. Czech by-dlo Upper Sorb. by-dlo 'dwelling' Pol. by-dło 'cattle, property, means'. O.C.Sl. črǫpalo 'scoop' Pol. czerpa-dło. O.C.Sl. klepalo

'sounding-board (of an instrument), bell' Pol. klepa-dlo. O.C.Sl. čedilo 'strainer, filter' Pol. cedzi-dlo. O.C.Sl. bělilo 'means for whitening, white paint'.

§ 78. The Suffix -bho- -bhā-.

This suffix was confined to a small area, and it is only in Balto-Slavonic (and possibly Germanic) that it shows any degree of fertility. As a secondary suffix it was no doubt used even in the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic, to form names of animals. To judge from Sanskrit, in this usage it was generally or always accented.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. ṛṣa-bhā-s 'bull' points to an Idg. ṛsp̥-bhó-s* (ersp̥-bhó-s*) 'bull' beside Avest. aršan- 'male, man' Gr. ῥοσην ἄροσην 'male'), and we could at once accept the form as really proethnic, if the suggested connexion of Gr. Εἰραφ-ιώτης Lesb. Ἐρραφειώτᾱς, a title of Dionysus, with Skr. ṛṣabhá-s is correct. It does not seem to me, however, that Wackernagel (followed by Solmsen, see Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 126 ff. 352 ff.) has satisfactorily removed the difficulty of assuming an assimilation of rs to ρρ in proethnic Greek.

Aryan. Here the suffix is almost confined to names of animals. In Sanskrit besides ṛṣa-bhā-s we have with similar meaning vr̥ṣa-bhā-s, beside vr̥ṣan- 'male, man, bull'. śarabhá-s a fabulous creature with eight legs, enemy of the lion and elephant, suggests Gr. κίραφος 'fox', κόραφος a bird, in Hesych. (compare no doubt κορώνη, so that the bird must have belonged to the raven family), κάλαφος ἀσκάλαφος a kind of owl. śērabha- name of a snake. rāsabha-s 'ass' (the only Skr. form with the accent upon the root), from ras- 'shriek, roar, bray'.

Greek. Εἰραφιώτης, κίραφος, κάλαφος ἀσκάλαφος, see above. ἔλαφος 'stag' ground-form el̥g-bho-s*, beside ἐλλός for ἔλν-ος*, O.C.Sl. jelen- (gen. jelen-e) 'stag', Lith. ėln-i-s 'stag, elk' (cp. § 114). Thus κόραφος too (see above) no doubt stands for korn̥g-bho-*, cp. Lat. corn-īx. κιδάφη σκιδάφη 'fox'. ἔριφος 'kid', with which Stokes would connect O.Ir. heirp erb (pl. herbind) 'capra, damma'; this word however cannot have lost

κόσσυφο-ς Att. κόττυφο-ς 'thrush'.

κόλαφο-ς 'blow with the fist, box on the ear'. κρόταφο-ς 'temple' (of the forehead) beside κρότος, κροτέω, (named from the pulsation?). Denomin. ψηλαφάω 'I grope'. κέραφο-ς σκέραφο-ς 'abuse, calumny'. φλήναφο-ς 'chattering', subst. 'chatter'. ἐδαφος n. 'base upon which a thing rests', no doubt transferred to the es-stems by assimilation to ἔδος n. κορυφή 'peak', cp. κόρυ-θ- 'helmet' κόρυ-δος 'tufted lark'. ἄργυρο-ς 'gleaming like silver'.

Other examples of this kind are given in Lobeck Proleg. p. 291 ff.

Italic. Perhaps we should class here Lat. mor-bu-s, beside mor-ior, cp. Lith. dār-ba-s and the like (see below).

Old Irish. Perhaps heirp erb 'capra, damma'; see above.

Germanic. From this suffix are no doubt derived the Gothic adverbs in -ba, as ubilaba 'badly, wickedly' báittraba 'bitterly', agluba 'hardly, scarcely', ana-láugniba 'secretly'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. anksztý-ba-s 'of an early kind, appearing early', beside anksztì adv. 'early', and, modelled on this word, vėlyba-s 'of a late kind' beside velaĩ adv. 'late'. Further, numerous abstract substantives in -y-b-ė, derived from adjectives, as auksztýbė 'height, highness' from auksztu-s 'high', jaunýbė 'youth' from jáuna-s 'young', bailýbė 'timorousness' from bailù-s 'timorous', kantrýbė 'patience' from kantrù-s 'patient'; Lettish has preserved the older unextended -iba, as augstība, jáunība. Again we have primary nomina actionis in -yba -ybė, as dalybos pl. 'division of an inheritance' beside dalyti, 'to divide', tikyba tikýbė 'faith' beside tikėti 'to believe'; cp. Lett. tizzība 'faith', mázība 'teaching, instruction' (mázīt 'to teach'). Lastly there are a few substantives in which we have the suffix added immediately to the root: dār-ba-s 'work', hence darbù-s 'diligent' and dīrbu 'I work', beside darýti 'to do'; gar-ba (Szyrwid) and garbē 'honour', hence garbù-s 'honourable' and gerbiù 'I honour', beside giriù 'I praise'; similarly Lett. schkir-ba 'a split, rift', beside schkir-t (Lith. skīr-ti) 'to split, part, divide'.

In Slavonic the suffix appears in substantives in -ba. O.C.Sl. qtro-ba 'intestines, belly' beside je-tro 'liver', see § 75 p. 189. 197 f. zūlo-ba 'wickedness' from zūlū 'wicked'. Serv. ruġo-ba 'disgraceful character' beside rug O.C.Sl. raġū 'disgrace', grdo-ba 'indecenty' beside O.C.Sl. grīdū 'proud, arrogant'. O.C.Sl. tatī-ba 'thievery, theft' from t atī 'thief', gostī-ba 'entertainment, cheer' from gostī 'guest'. Starting from forms like these -ība became an independent ending, e. g. družība 'companionship, friendship', from drugū 'companion, friend', sūlība 'embassy' from sūlū 'ambassador'. Cp. tatī-stvo, giving rise to sūl-īstvo § 61 p. 117. The use of -ība was extended by the fact that the form became associated with verbs in -i-ti (like gosti-ti družī-ti); after this connexion had been established, abstract substantives in -ība were made directly from these verbs (cp. Miklosisch, Vergl. Gr. II 213 ff.). A few nouns in -ība were formed from the participle in -tū (-to-), as ženit-ība 'wooing, marriage, wedding' (also ženit-īstvo), gosit-ība 'hospitality', orat-ība 'tillage', sēt-ība 'sowing'; this group of forms arose during the time when the part. pass. was still formed with -to- in these verbs.

§ 79. The Suffix -to- -tā-.

This suffix was both primary and secondary in the proethnic and later periods. We may classify its usage under four headings.

1. -to- -tā- as a primary suffix in participial adjectives and substantives connected with them¹).

The suffix was used to form a participial noun immediately from the root, e. g. klū-tó-* 'heard' from kley- 'hear'. This formation must have been very common in the Indo-Germanic period.

The root (in the strict sense, cp. § 8 Rem. 1 p. 20) might, generally speaking, be replaced by any element or combination of elements which acted as a verbal stem; hence forms like uema-to* 'vomited' Skr. vami-ta- Gr. ἐμι-τό-ς (ἐμε-το-ς) Lat.

1) Bordellé, De linguae Latinae adjectivis suffixo to a nominibus derivatis, Düsseldorf 1873. Birt, De participiis Latinis quae dicuntur perfecti passivi, Index lect. Marburg. 1883—84 (cp. with this treatise Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 550 ff.).

vomi-tu-s, or like dorki-to-* 'brought to sight', Skr. darśi-tā- Goth. ga-tarhi-þ-s, partic. of dorkeið*, causal of ✓derk- 'see', and those developed in the separate languages like ἀγανη-τό-ς (ἀγαπάω) Lat. piscā-tu-s (piscārī) Goth. fiskō-þ-s (fiskō-n).

The addition of -to- to thematic present stems was no doubt a later process, even though it may have begun in the proethnic period; cp. e. g. Skr. darś-a-tā-s 'visible, worth seeing' Gr. ἐρπ-ε-τό-ν 'creeping thing', Gall. nem-e-to-n O.Ir. nemed n. 'sanctuary' (properly 'what is revered'). Cp. -e-ti- § 100. -o-to- also may be a proethnic form: Gr. βίο-το-ς βιο-τή 'life, livelihood', O.Ir. biad n. 'livelihood', Lith. gyva-tà 'life, livelihood' O.C.Sl. živo-tū 'life, living thing'.

The meaning of these participial forms was generally passive, and with the exception of the last group (darśa-tā-s etc.), that of a perfect participle passive. But the passive sense can hardly have been originally attached to the suffix itself. Numerous forms occur with an active-intransitive sense which dates from the earliest period, such as bhū-tó-* 'become, grown', stā-tó-* 'having a position, standing', sru-tó-* 'having a flow, flowing'. The idea of completion or being complete, and hence of being in a particular condition seems to have been the essential element in the meaning of the forms derived from the verbal stem. Hence we have also active to-participles from active verbs, such as O.H.G. wīs 'skilful, wise' Gr. ἄ-ιστο-ς 'unskilful', Gr. τλητό-ς 'enduring' ὑπ-οντο-ς 'entertaining suspicion', Lat. cōn-siderātū-s 'considerate, thoughtful' cēnātū-s 'who has dined' (cp. Mod.H.G. ein gelernter schlosser 'a trained locksmith' lit. 'who has learnt', ein erfahrener mann 'an experienced man', ein ehrvergessener mensch 'a dishonourable fellow', lit. 'one who has forgotten honour' etc.¹)

1) It need hardly be assumed that this sense was first introduced into the participles when they were compounded with other words and the meaning of the compound was epithetised (mutatum, § 50); e. g. Gr. ἄ-ιστο-ς 'being without anything known, without knowledge', Lat. in-cōnsiderātū-s 'being without anything considered, without consideration'; and that it was only on the model of this group of words that the signification was extended to some of the participles when uncompounded.

At the same time, I do not suppose that the use of the to-participles is original in Latin deponents, where they share all the constructions of the present nt- participle and the finite verb, e. g. omnia cōfessus like omnia cōfītēs and omnia cōfīteor. This usage arose only after compound tenses like cōfessus sum had become part of the system of the finite verb.

The idea of completion and of being brought to an end is often replaced by one of capacity or possibility, as in Gr. λν-τό-ς 'capable of being freed'. This change of meaning is no doubt proethnic in Idg. morto-s* 'mortal' (Skr. mārta- Gr. βροτό-ς). But we find that in the separate languages this usage is seldom or never found except in participles compounded with the privative particle, or in some other form of negative expression. Compare, for examples of the first kind, Skr. á-marta-s a-mṛta-s Gr. ἄ-μβροτο-ς 'immortal', Skr. a-tārta-s 'unsurpassable', á-jīta-s 'unfading', á-dabdha-s 'invulnerable, infallible', á-parīta-s 'unconquerable', Gr. ἄ-λντο-ς 'indissoluble', ἄ-μειπτο-ς 'blameless', ἀν-έκπληκτο-ς 'not to be confounded, or terrified', Lat. in-victu-s 'invincible' in-fectu-s 'not to be done, impossible', in-numerātu-s 'innumerable', Goth. un-saht-s 'incontestable', un-atgāht-s 'unapproachable', cp. also O.Ir. dī-brihe 'importabilis'; and of the second, οὐκ ἀρεκτό-ς 'not to be borne', οὐκ ὀνομαστό-ς 'not to be named' in Homer. Hence we may infer that this meaning first arose in negative expressions. It spread most widely in Greek; further examples are νοητό-ς 'comprehensible', θαυμαστό-ς 'wonderful', βατό-ς 'passable, practicable (of roads)'.

In every language we meet with a number of forms in -to- which stand in no actual connexion with any verbal system, and are therefore simply adjectives, as Skr. śī-tā- 'cold', Lat. al-tu-s 'high', Goth. raiht-s 'right'. Some of these may date from a period of the proethnic language in which the adjectives formed with -to- had not yet been associated with the verb, and thus may never have been participles at all.

Even in the Indo-Germanic period these to-formations were often used as substantives, partly to denote living beings (masc., fem.) and concrete material things (neut.), partly as abstract substantives (§ 158). In the latter usage this suffix, like -o-, is often found in the masculine. The feminine -tā-, forming abstract substantives, had even then become secondary. This point will be further discussed in the next section.

The to-stems formed immediately from the root usually have the weak grade of ablaut in the root-syllable, e. g. klu-tó-* klū-tó-. Beside this, however, we often find the forms of the strong grade, especially in substantival uses. With this is generally united a difference of accent. Cp. e. g. kléu-to-m 'hearing' beside klū-tó-s* 'heard', mór-to-s 'mortal' beside mṛ-tó-s* 'dead'¹). Here too it is not clear how the different grades were originally distributed. Compare the relations of the different grades in ti-stems, § 99.

Remark 1. Analogy often gave rise to mixed forms. For example, Germ. múr-þa-n* n. 'murder' beside Skr. mṛ-tó-m has the accent of mér-to-* or mór-to-* (Skr. már-ta-), Germ. zúl-þa-n* n. 'gold' that of ghél-to-* (Lett. fe'l-t-s) or ghól-to-* (O.C.Sl. zlato), and vice versa, Gr. μορ-τό- (Hesych., — if the word is rightly accented) beside Skr. már-ta-s has the accent of mṛ-tó- (Skr. mṛ-tá-s); Gr. θερό- is a confusion of θεατό-* (= mṛ-tó-s*) and μῶρ-τό-*. There are many other instances.

So far as I can see, we are not warranted in referring forms like Gr. μορτό- φῶρο-, O.H.G. hal-d = pr. Germ. χāl-þa-z*, O.C.Sl. zlato = pr. Slav. zol-to*, to ground-forms with ī, ī (mī-to-s* etc.), though it would be phonetically possible (see I § 306 p. 241 ff.). Cp. Gr. κοι-τό- κοί-τη beside κρί-ται, οἰ-τό- beside εἰ-μι, νόσ-το- beside νόμαι, βρο-τή beside βρέμω Lith. bras-tà beside brėdū, and so forth.

Where participles of this kind have strong-grade vocalism, we can hardly help suspecting in many cases that it is due to the analogy of other forms of the verbal system; e. g. Gr. δεικ-τό- beside ἰδεῖσα etc. contrasted with Skr. diṣ-tá-s (from √deik-).

Indo-Germanic. klū-tó-* 'heard, famous', √kley-: Skr. śrutá-s (Avest. srūta-), Gr. κλυτό-, Lat. in-clutu-s, O.Ir. cloth (O.Bret. clot 'glory'; perhaps f.), O.H.G. Hlot-hari Lothair (Kλυτόστρατος* would have the same meaning) hlāt ('loud');

1) The use of strong-grade forms as substantives no doubt indicates that originally the Noun had but one set of forms for both its adjectival and its substantival meaning. Isolation from the adjective in use brought with it isolation in form. Cp. § 158.

γενε-τη 'birth, origin', made masculine γενε-της 'begetter, offspring' (cp. under Greek p. 229). With respect to the vowel-gradation of the stem these forms stand on a level with such others as Gr. γε-τος, while such forms as Gr. κμη-τος (beside κάμα-τος) no doubt correspond to the Skr. bhṛ-tā-.

Causative and Denominative formations: dorki-to-* from dorkēiō* 'I bring to sight, show', √ derk- 'see': Skr. darśi-tā- 'shown' (darśáyami), Goth. ga-tarhi-þ-s 'blameworthy, notorious' (ga-tarhja 'I point out, blame'). uosi-to-, from uoséiō 'to make put on, clothe', √ ues 'put on something': Skr. vāsi-tā- 'clothed' (vāsáyami), Goth. vasi-þ-s 'clothed' (vasja). moni-to-, from monéiō, √ men- 'think, intend': Skr. mānī-tā- 'honoured' (mānáyami), Lat. moni-tu-s 'made aware, reminded, taught' (moneō); Skr. mānī-ta-m 'a showing honour to'. The character of the formations in the several languages is so different, that it is somewhat doubtful whether to-participles were formed from true denominatives in Indo-Germanic; cp. e. g. Skr. mantri-ta- 'advised, discussed' (mantráyami, mántra-s), Gr. δωρη-τος 'presented with, given' (δωρέω, δῶρο-ν).

In the separate languages these participles served as the model for a number of adjectives in -to- derived immediately from substantives or adjectives, and meaning 'furnished with, made into' and the like; e. g. Skr. anākūrītā- 'with young shoots' from anākura- 'young shoot', arunītā- 'reddened' from arunī- 'red', Gr. θυσανωτός 'tasselled' from θύσανο-ς 'tassel', Lat. cordātu-s from cor (cord-), atrātu-s from ater, Goth. un-gēniþ-s 'unmarried', from gēn-s 'woman', Lith. kalnāta-s 'mountainous' from kálna-s 'mountain', bradatū 'bearded' from brada 'beard'.

In Aryan, Greek and Italic -to- is used also as a secondary suffix, and added immediately to the noun-stem, just as if this were a verb-stem. In Aryan this only occurs in compounds, so that here -to- has the same function as -iō- in adjectival compounds (see § 63 p. 126); e. g. Skr. án-ap-ta- 'not watery' from ap- 'water' Avest. hu-patar'-ta- 'well-winged' from a form patara-* 'wing' (§ 74 p. 182); cp. Lat. auro-clāvātu-s, Eng. hare-hearted, lily-livered, and the like (see under Germ. p. 234). Similarly Gr. ἀ-γέρας-το-ς 'unhonoured by gifts, unrewarded' from γέρας 'gift of honour', ἀ-χείμαν-το-ς 'without storms, without cold' from χείμα χειμῶν 'storm, winter's cold'; but along with these we have γελασ-τό-ς from γέλαω, a denom. verb from γελας-* 'laugh' (Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 109), ἀκεις-τό-ς from ἀκίομαι, denom. from ἄκος n. 'remedy', and the like. Lat. liber-tu-s (Falisc. lofer-ta 'liberta'), from Lat. liber, sceles-tu-s from scelus -er-is. We may conjecture that the participial -to- was added immediately to noun-stems in the class of Indo-Germanic substantives in -m̥-to- and -m̥-to-, which will be discussed separately in § 82 p. 249. This group of words undoubtedly belongs to the proethnic period.

Examples of -e-to- -o-to- are given above, p. 219, and under the separate languages below.

Aryan. Skr. cyu-tā- Avest. šū-ta- 'driven, shaken': Gr. ἐπι-συντο-ς 'pressing forward', ground-form q̥iu-tó-*. Skr. hu-tā-hū-tā- Avest. zū-ta- 'called upon, invoked': Goth. gu-þ n. Skr. ūḍhā- 'carried', for pr. Ar. uḍhā-* i. e. uḡh+to-*, Lat. vec-tu-s, Lith. vėsztā-s 'carried' √ ueḡh-. Skr. drugdhā-m 'insult' Avest. druxta- O.Pers. dūrūxta- 'betrayed, deceived' (cp. I § 482 Rem. 1 p. 356), √ dhreḡh-. Skr. -i-ta- Avest. O.Pers. basta- 'bound' (cp. I § 482

Many -to- participles have quite the character of adjectives. A few examples may be given. Skr. dyāhá- 'firm' (Lat. cti-s forti-s, transferred to the i-decl., √ dhergh-), śyē-tā-nīte, śī-tā 'cold', sūr-ta 'clear', tyś-tā 'rough', tig-itā 'sharp', lupl. vā-vā-ta 'dear'. Avest. sar-ta 'cold, cool': Lith. szál-t-s 'cold'.

Further examples of the substantival value in these forms are: Skr. dū-tā Avest. dū-ta m. 'messenger' (one gone into the distance); Skr. su-tā-s 'soma-juice' (that which has been pressed out): Skr. ghata-s 'blow, killing'; Skr. gār-ta-s 'high chair'; Avest. ka-ta m. Armenian. mar-d 'man' ground-form mṛ-tó-*: Skr. mṛ-tā etc., see above p. 222. has-t 'firm': O.Sax. fas-t 'firm', root-form Idg. pas- or pəs-. A doubtful form is dr-and 'door-post, threshold': Skr. ā-ta 'setting, framework of a door' Lat. an-ta 'four-cornered door-pillar, pilaster' (cp. I § 253 p. 206 f.).

In extended formations: ard-ar 'upright': Skr. ṛ-tā 'right, properly made'. erd-nu-m 'I swear': Osset. ar-d ar-t 'oath', O.C.Sl. ro-ta f. 'oath'.

Greek. Here the to- participles were less closely connected with the other forms of the verbal system than in Aryan, Italic and elsewhere. They were restricted to the attributive use.

λυ-τό-ς 'that can be loosed' βου-λῦτό-ς 'time when the oxen are unyoked': Lat. so-lū-tu-s, O.Icel. lū-ð-r 'crushed to powder, exhausted'. ἄ-γνωτο-ς 'unknown, ignorant': Skr. buddhá- 'awakened, enlightened, made acquainted, known', √ bheydh-. ζυγ-τό-ς 'yoked, put to': Skr. yuk-tā 'yoked', Lat. jūnc-tu-s

Examples of words formed directly from nouns are: κοντιωτό-ς 'furnished with punting poles' (κοντό-ς) καρνωτό-ς 'shaped like a nut (κάρυον)'; words like these gave the type from which σαλπιγγωτό-ς 'shaped like a trumpet' (σάλπιγγ) and others of the same kind were formed; further, ἀγέραςτο-ς 'without gifts of honour' (γέρας), ἀτρίβαστο-ς 'not worn, unharmed' (beside ἀτριβής), and other words.

Idg. -e-to- (cp. -e-ti- § 100). ἐλε-τό-ς 'that can be grasped'. εὔρε-τό-ς 'to be found', εἰρε-τή-ς 'inventor'. Denominative forms: ναιε-τάω 'dwell', ἀρι-δείκετο-ς 'worth seeing, remarkable'. δακε-τό-ν 'biting creature'. Cp. also ἀν-ήνυτο-ς 'that cannot be completed' beside ἀ-νύ-ω (Skr. sa-nó-mi), πι-νυ-τό-ς 'wise' for πυ-νυ-το-* I § 48 p. 41 (cp. Skr. pu-ná-mi 'I purify, clear up'); these words therefore contain the -νεμ- -nu- which is used in forming the present stem. With -o-to-: βίο-το-ς βιο-τή 'life, livelihood': O.Ir. biad etc., see above, p. 219.

Further examples of substantives formed with this suffix are: νόσ-το-ς 'return home': Skr. ás-ta-m Avest. as-te-m 'home' for us-to-m* (Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 483), O.H.G. nes-t n. Abstract tā- stems were employed to denote persons of the masculine gender (§ 149. 157); hence came the large class of masculines in -τᾱ-ς, like γενέ-της act. 'begetter', pass. 'he that is begotten' beside γενε-τή 'origin, birth', and κρι-τή-ς 'judge', δέκ-τη-ς 'receiver', προ-φητή-ς 'interpreter of oracles, soothsayer', ποιη-τή-ς 'maker, poet', ἐδνω-τή-ς 'bride's father', ἰκέ-τη-ς 'suppliant'; cp. § 80 p. 239 f.

Italic. In this group of languages the to- participles filled a larger and more important place than in any other.

Remark 2. The ending -so-s, which had a regular phonetic origin in scissu-s visu-s ēsu-s morsu-s per-culsu-s and similar forms, spread beyond its proper sphere, e. g. lapsu-s, fixu-s, sparsu-s, mulsu-s (beside mulctu-s), cēnsu-s, hausu-s (beside haustu-s). This was furthered by the analogy of the s-perfect. The parallelism of con-cussu-s: con-cussi, laesu-s: laesi, sēnsu-s: sēnsi gave rise to fixu-s beside fixi, sparsu-s beside sparsi, etc. On the analogy of pendō: pēnsu-s, we find in-tēnsu-s formed beside ten-tu-s (pres. tendō), cp. p. 161 footnote 2. Conversely we have com-estu-s instead of com-ēsu-s on the analogy of haus-tu-s ges-tu-s.

In Latin the terminations -a-to- -i-to- -e-to- became indistinguishable. moli-tu-s (molere), ali-tu-s beside al-tu-s (alere), pī(n)si-tu-s beside pī(n)su-s (pīnsere), O.Lat. ad-gretu-s for gred(i)-to-s* (I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368) beside ad-gressu-s (ad-gredi); moni-tu-s (monēre); habi-tu-s (habēre); domi-tu-s (domāre), veti-tu-s beside vetā-tu-s (vetāre), im-plicitu-s beside im-plicātu-s (im-plicāre). Cp. the abstract nouns in -itiō § 100.

prīvā-tu-sa mā-tu-s etc. olētū-m 'ordure', monē-ta. vesti-tu-s, fini-tu-s etc. statū-tu-s, tribū-tu-s etc. Participles were formed directly from nouns more frequently in Italic than in the other groups of languages: ānsā-tu-s from ānsa, barbā-tu-s from barba, ātrā-tu-s from āter, auri-tu-s from auri-s, cīnctū-tu-s from cīnctu-s (gen. cīnctūs) and, by a further transference of ending, e. g. gradatū-s from gradu-s (gen. gradūs), arcuatū-s from arcu-s (gen. arcūs), dentatū-s from dēns (gen. dent-is), galērītū-s from galēru-s, patrītū-s from pater, nāsūtū-s from nāsu-s. An isolated example has -ōtu-s: aegrōtu-s from aeger (stem aegro-). -to- is also added immediately to the stem as a secondary suffix; e. g. liber-tu-s Falisc. loferta 'liberta', jūs-tu-s, sceles-tu-s, Umbr. mersto 'iustum' = mers-(e)s-to* med-(e)s-to* from meṛ-s mers 'ius', Lat. onūs-tu-s, vetus-tu-s, über-tu-s, senec-tu-s; often to denote places which contain anything, as arbus-tu-m, cārec-tu-m, virgul-tu-m. Hence come also the adjectives in -ōnsu-s -ōsu-s, as formō(n)su-s vīrōsu-s, for -oyensso- i. e. -o-unt + to- (see I § 238 p. 199 f., § 501 p. 368, II § 127): cp. Avest. ašavasta- 'pure, upright' (n. 'purity, uprightness' from aša-vant- 'possessed of purity, pure, upright').

Adjectives. Lat. sanctu-s Umbr. sahta Osc. saahtúm, see p. 230 above. Lat. citu-s, catu-s, curtus, slātu-s lātu-s 'outspread, wide' (for stf-to-*, cp. O.C.Sl. stelja 'sterno'), ex-celsu-s, pēnsu-s, at-tentu-s, altu-s, beātu-s argātu-s, and other examples.

Substantives. Lat. lēgātu-s Osc. līgatúis 'legatis'; Lat. hortu-s Osc. húrtúm: Gr. χόρ-το-ς 'grass, place for grazing, courtyard', O.Ir. gor-t 'seges' lub-gort 'vegetable garden' (cp. I § 389 p. 291); Lat. lectu-s lectu-m 'lying-place', lutu-s lutu-m, cubitu-s, palātu-s palātu-m. Lat. dictu-m, jussu-m, strātu-m, tēctu-m, in-cestu-m, olētu-m. Lat. multa Umb. motar Osc. moltam, see p. 230 above, Lat. Vesta, of-fēnsa, im-pēnsa, re-pulsa, sub-sessa, secta, fossa; Umbr. totam 'civitatem'. Osc. toṽto τωfto 'civitas' pr. Ital. toyta-*: O.Ir. tuath f. 'people', Goth. þiuda 'people', ground-form teptā-*, $\sqrt{\text{tey-}}$ 'tumere'.

Old Irish. The participial -to- still survives as a verbal suffix, in the preterite passive, a periphrastic formation which is only found in the 3. sing. and 3 pl. (the verb substantive has been dropped). ro alt 'educatus est' (alim 'educo'): Lat. al-tu-s. ro chēt 'cantus est' (canim 'cano'): Lat. can-tu-s. do-breth Mid.Ir. 'datum est' (do-biur 'I bring, give'): Skr. bhy-tā etc. ro fess 'scitum est': Skr. vittā etc. ro both 'one was': Gr. γν-ρό-ν 'growth' Lith. bū-ta-s 'dwelling, house' Skr. bhū-tā 'become'. ro chloss 'auditum est', $\sqrt{\text{kley-}}$. ro erbad 'commisum, creditum est' beside pres. 3. sing. erbaid 'credit'. This group of forms no doubt sprang from the impersonal use of the neuter.

In some words the old participial form has a purely adjectival value. necht 'pure': Skr. nik-tā- 'washed', Gr. ἄ-ριν-το-ς 'unwashed'. cloth 'famed': Skr. śru-tā- etc., see p. 221 nocht 'naked': Goth. nuqaþ-s. gnāth 'known, accustomed': Skr. jñā-tā- etc., see p. 221. Generally the participles which were used as adjectives were not also used as the pret. pass., cp. cloth beside ro chloss.

The participial meaning still survives in -the, an extension of the suffix by -io- (cp. Gr. ἀμβρόσιος: ἄμβροτος, Skr. mārtiya-: mārta-, O.H.G. wīsi 'wise' Mid.H.G. sīhte 'shallow'). brithē brethe 'brought': Skr. bhṛ-tā-. cēte 'cantus'. er-ite 'susceptus' beside 3. sing. pres. conj. -air-ema 'suscipiat': Lat. ēm-p-tu-s. tuicse 'electus' beside to-gu 'choice', from -gus-t-iō-: Skr. juṣ-ṭā- jūṣ-ṭa- 'beloved, desired', Gr. γεσ-τό-ς 'tasted, to be tasted', A.S. ge-cost 'valuable' ✓ gēus-. Sometimes the idea of capacity, possibility is implied, as in rithe 'vendible' (also 'sold, given up') beside re-nim 'I give up, sell', dī-brithē 'importabilis'. There is certainly a connexion between the use of -the-forms as participles, and the conversion of the predicative -to-participle into a preterite passive. Preference was given to the existing -tīo-forms in order to make a distinction in form answering to the distinction in sense; and then new -tīo-forms were made at will and used as participles. The same thing happened in Cymric; only the suffix employed there for the participles was not -tīo-, but -(e)tic which came from -tīco- (Zeuss-Ebel, Gr. C. p. 532).

On the other hand, we have the simple -to- -tā- in partic. used as substantives. gor-t m. 'seges': Gr. χορ-τος, see p. 232 above. mlicht blicht m. (Mid.Ir.) 'milk': Lat. mulcto- etc., see above p. 222. der-met n. 'a forgetting': Skr. ma-tā-m, see p. 222 above. nemed (Gall. neme-to-n) n. 'sacred thing' ('something honoured'), ✓ nem-. dliged n. 'law'. biad n. 'means of livelihood': Gr. βίο-τος βιο-τή 'life, livelihood' etc., see p. 219 above. both f. 'dwelling-place, hut'; cp. above ro both. loth f. 'filth': Lat. lu-tu-s lu-tu-m. breth f. 'judgement, sentence'. im-thecht f. 'going round, change'. ed-bart ed-part f. 'oblatio'.

Cp. Gall. amb-actu-s 'bondman, servant' orig. 'one sent about, messenger' (see p. 228), Celtu-s Crestu-s Ate-gnatu-s Ate-gnata, Παισῶροι pl. ('pilati'), Sematu-s Cirata, and many similar forms.

Germanic. -to- was a living participial suffix in derivative verbs (Causative and Denominative), e. g. Goth. nasip-s O.H.G. gi-nerit 'saved' from nasjan nerien 'to save'; Goth. ga-tarhiþ-s 'blame-worthy, notorious' from ga-tarhjan 'to mark out, blame': Skr. darśitā- 'shown'; paúrsiþ-s 'thirsty' from paúrseiþ mik 'I am thirsty', lit. 'it thirsts me': Skr. tr̥ṣitá- 'thirsty'; Goth. salbōþ-s O.H.G. gi-salbōt 'anointed' from salbōn 'to anoint'; Goth. habāiþ-s O.H.G. gi-habēt 'had' from haban habēn 'to have'. Further in Gothic, we have such partic. attached to the preterite-presents, e. g. mund-s 'meant, thought' beside man 'I think, mean': Skr. matá- etc., skuld-s 'owed' beside skal 'I ought, maht-s 'able, possible', beside mag 'I can'. Lastly they occur in certain strong verbs which have preterites in -ta, e. g. Goth. vaurht-s O.H.G. gi-worht -worht beside Goth. vaurkjan O.H.G. wurcen 'work': Avest. varšta- 'worked, done' Gr. ἄρρητο-ς 'undone' ✓ uer-g-, Goth. pūht-s* O.H.G. gi-daht (pr. Germ. puaχ-ta-*, I § 214 p. 181) beside þugkjan dunken 'to seem', Goth. brāht-s* O.H.G. brāht (pr. Germ. branχ-ta-*) beside briggan bringan 'to bring'. In all other cases -eno- -ono- was the participial suffix in use (§ 67 p. 149 ff.), and in O.H.G. it appears also in preterite-presents (gi-wizzan from weiz 'I know', gi-torran from gi-tar 'I dare', and occasionally in the strong verbs with t-preterites (brungan, side by side with brāht).

The suffix also formed participles directly from nouns. Goth. un-gēniþ-s 'not having a wife', from gēn-s 'woman'. O.H.G. gestirnōt 'having a brow or front' from gistirni gestirne n. 'brow', Mid.H.G. ge-jāret 'aged' lit. 'be-yearred'. O.Icel. hærd-r 'covered with hair'. In the development of Anglo-Saxon and Norse there appears a special group of adjectival compounds derived in this way, e. g. Engl. hare-hearted, hare-lipped, bare-footed, bare-headed, O.Icel. bjart-litað-r 'bright-coloured', sex-hofdað-r 'six-headed', gull-billað-r 'with golden bridle': cp. Skr. án-aptā- 'not watery' Lat. auro-clavātu-s p. 224.

Idg. -e-to- is no doubt to be traced in O.H.G. hulid n. 'velamentum', egida f. 'harrow' (: Mod.Cymr. oged O.Corn. ocet 'harrow') and other words. -o-to- in Goth. naqap-s beside O.Icel. nökkveð-r nökkvið-r O.Ir. nocht 'naked' (cp. Skr. nag-na- with the participial suffix -no-), Goth. liuhaþ n., side by side with O.H.G. lioht n. 'light'.

It is common in adjectives. Further examples are: Goth. vun-d-s O.H.G. wunt 'wounded': Gr. φατο- in φατάλαι. οὐλαί (Hesych.). Goth. bi-ūht-s 'accustomed': Lith. j-ūnktu-s 'accustomed' (cp. Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 269). O.H.G. zorah-t O.Sax. torht toroht 'clear, bright': Skr. dyṣṭā-s 'seen', common ground-form dṛk-tó-*. Goth. faúrh-t-s O.Sax. forht 'timid'. O.H.G. zar-t 'dear, fine, beautiful' beside Skr. a-dṛta-s 'considerate, treated with consideration, honoured'? Goth. kal-d-s O.H.G. kalt 'cold': cp. Lat. gelu, O.C.Sl. gol-otŭ 'ice' 1). Goth. raih-t-s O.H.G. reht 'right': O.Pers. rāsta 'upright, just' (for rāsta-* 'on the analogy of forms with raz-'), Gr. ῥεκτός 'extended, outstretched', Lat. rēctu-s, ground-form rēk-to-*, $\checkmark$ reḡ-. Goth. bairh-t-s O.H.G. beraht 'bright'. O.H.G. lioh-t 'beaming'. Goth. dáu-þ-s O.H.G. tō-t 'dead', from O.H.G. touwen 'to die'. Goth. haf-t-s O.H.G. haft 'captured, fettered': Lat. cap-tu-s.

Substantives. Goth. mō-þ-s (stem mō-da-) 'anger' O.H.G. muot m. 'spirit, mind, courage', beside O.C.Sl. sū-mě-ti 'to dare'. A.S. ðroh-t m. 'work' O.Icel. þrött-r 'strength', cp. O.H.G. drucchen 'to press'. O.H.G. haf-t m. n. A.S. haeft m. O.Icel. hapt n. 'bond, fetter', cp. Goth. haft-s 'captus'. O.H.G. O.Sax. fros-t A.S. forst m. O.Icel. frost n. 1) Do the last two words, zart and kalt, come from Idg. dṛ-to-* gl-to-* or dor-to-* gol-to-*? There is the same doubt as to O.H.G. scar-t 'injured, mutilated'.

'fearful, timid'. Goth. ras-ta 'a length of road' O.H.G. rasta 'rest, repose, a length of road'. O.H.G. slah-ta 'killing, slaughter'. A.S. zūð f. 'battle' pr. Goth. þiu-da O.H.G. diota 'people': Osc. torito etc., see p. 232 above.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian the to-participle is still in regular use with a passive sense in verbs of all classes. gīr-ta-s 'famed': Skr. gūr-ta-s 'approved, welcome, pleasant', ground-form gr-to-* and gr̥-to-*. pil-ta-s 'poured, shed': Skr. pūr-tā- 'filled', ground-form pl̥-to-* and pl̥̥-to-*. kiřta-s 'hewn' (pres. kert-ù): Skr. kytta-s 'cut off, split', ground-form qrt̥-tó-*, √ qert-. sūk-ta-s 'turned' (pres. suk-ù). at-sėkta-s 'traced out, found out': Lat. sec-ta sectārī. dė-ta-s 'laid' (pres. dedù): Skr. -dhi-ta- etc., see p. 223 above. jėszkó-ta-s 'sought' (pres. jėszkau). pa-veizdėta-s 'examined, revised' (pres. pa-vėizdmi). táiky-ta-s ('properly united' (pres. táikau). áuksin-ta-s 'gilded' (pres. áuksinu). baľnú-ta-s 'saddled' (pres. baľnú'ju). Also act.-intrans., but only rarely, as bú-ta neutr. 'been', e. g. czion yrà búta 'people have been here'¹): Skr. bhū-tā- 'become': važiũ-ta-s 'riding (in a carriage)' (pres. važiũ'ju 'I ride').

Partec. in -ė-ta-s and -ũ-ta-s are often formed directly from nouns. dulkėta-s 'dusty' from dulkės pl. 'dust'. skylėta-s 'perforated' from skylė 'hole'. kalnũ-ta-s 'mauntainous, full of mountains' from kálna-s 'mountain', gaurũ-ta-s 'with delicate hair' from gaurai pl. 'delicate hair'. asũ-ta-s 'with a handle' from asà 'handle', lũpũta-s 'lipped' from lũpa 'lip'.

In Old Church Slavonic -to- was but little used as a participial suffix. It occurs regularly in forms from roots ending in a nasal, e. g. žę-tũ 'hewn, mown': Lith. giñ-ta-s 'hunted, driven' (used of cattle), Skr. há-ta-s etc., see p. 225 above; pę-tũ 'stretched, hung': Lith. piñ-ta-s 'twisted'; ję-tũ 'taken':

1) Jis rādo svėtimo búta 'he found that there was a stranger' properly 'the existing of a stranger', with the same nominal construction as the passive participles have.

Lith. iñ-ta-s 'taken'. Besides these, it occurs in certain roots with rĩ, i, ẽ before the suffix, e. g. pro-strĩtũ 'outstretched': Skr. st̥g-tā-s etc., see p. 222 above; vi-tũ 'wounded': Lith. vỹ-ta-s 'twisted' (of cords); pẽ-tũ 'sung'. Elsewhere -eno- (-no-) was the usual form, see § 67 p. 151 and p. 154 f.

Partcc. in -a-tũ, from nouns, are common. bradatũ 'bearded' from brada 'beard': Lat. barbātu-s, cp. also Lith. barzdũta-s. rogatũ 'horned' from rogũ 'horn': cp. Lith. ragũta-s. ženatũ 'having a wife' from žena 'woman'. mažata 'maritata' from mažĩ 'man'.

-e-to -o-to- in Balto-Slavonic. The former is sometimes found in Slavonic, as O.C.Sl. trep-etũ 'tremor' Little-Russ. trep-eta 'aspen'; O.C.Sl. kreč-etũ 'cicala'. -o-to-: Lith. gyvatà 'life, livelihood'. O.C.Sl. životũ 'life, living being': Gr. βίο-το-ς etc., see p. 219 above; Lett. luppata-s 'patch, shred' (lup-t Lith. lũp-ti 'to pare, flay'); Lith. sũkata 'giddy sickness (of sheep)' sũk-ti 'to turn'), adatà Lett. addata 'needle' (Lith. ad-ỹti 'to stitch'); O.C.Sl. klokotũ 'bubbling' (subst.), klopotũ 'noise' Pol. kłopot 'unrest', Czech blekot 'yelping' (subst.) (O.C.Sl. blekotati 'to bleat' Russ. blekotatĩ 'to stammer'), dusot 'roar', sikot 'hiss', lakota 'eager desire'.

In Adjectives it is common. Lith. spĩsta-s 'pressed, thick' (beside spintũ spĩsti 'to fly out in swarms', of bees): Lat. spissu-s. Lith. skỹs-ta-s 'with a thin stream', dialectically also 'pure, clear' of liquids, skũis-ta-s 'clear, shining', O.C.Sl. ẽis-tũ 'pure, holy', beside Lith. skẽdžiu 'I part, separate, rarefy'. Lith. geĩ-ta-s O.C.Sl. žlũ-tũ (pr. slav. gĩl-tũ*) 'yellowish'. § 80. 2. -tā- as a secondary suffix, forming abstract substantives¹⁾.

The suffix -tā- which, as we have seen, formed primary abstract substantives in the proethnic and later periods, as Avest. cis-tā- 'wisdom', Gr. ἀρετή 'virtue', Lat. multa 'punishment', O.Ir. ed-bart f. 'oblatio', Goth. skan-da 'shame', Lith. gel-ta 'yellowness', O.C.Sl. vr̃is-ta 'position, stage', (see § 79), had also begun to be used in the proethnic period as a secondary suffix, and formed abstract substantives from substantives and adjectives alike. It seems to have been even then extended to -tat- -tāti- (§ 102), and in some languages it was partly or wholly superseded by this suffix or by -tūt-(i)- (see loc. cit.).

-tā- was fertile in Aryan, Greek, Germanic, and Slavonic.

Indo-Germanic. Lat. juven-ta, Goth. junda 'youth' pr. Germ. iun̥un-dō*, ground-form iun̥un-tā*, beside Skr. yuvan- 'young, young man' Lat. juven-; cp. iun̥un-ti-s*, § 101. Before -tā-, o-stems had either -o- or -e-; the difference was doubtless connected with a difference in accent (cp. especially Germ. -é-pō- and -e-dō-). Skr. pūrṇa-tā- 'a being full, fullness', O.H.G. fulli-da O.Sax. fulli-tha O.C.Sl. plūno-ta 'fulness', beside Skr. pūrṇá-s Goth. full-s O.C.Sl. plūnū 'full'; Skr. ghōra-tā- 'awfulness', Goth. gáuri-tha 'trouble, beside ghōrá-s 'awful' gáur-s 'troubled'; Skr. kṛṣṇa-tā- O.C.Sl. črīno-ta 'blackness', beside kṛṣṇá-s, črīnū 'black'; Skr. dīrgha-tā- O.C.Sl. dlūgo-ta 'length', beside dīrghá-s, dlūgū 'long'.

Aryan. Skr. dēvā-tā- 'divinity' from dēvā-s 'god'. nagnā-tā- 'nakedness' from nagnā-s 'naked', cp. O.C.Sl. nago-ta 'nakedness'. avīra-tā- 'want of sons, or children' from a-vīra-s 'without sons, or children'. Avest. yešnya-tā- 'adorableness' from yešnya- 'adorable'. Skr. bandhū-tā- 'relationship' from bāndhu-ṣ 'relative, relationship'. agō-tā 'want of cattle' from á-gō- 'without cattle', cp. Gr. πολυβούτης 'one rich in cattle'. aprajās-tā- 'want of offspring' from á-pra-jas- 'without offspring'.

Greek. Here these abstract substantives were used of persons (cp. Skr. dēvā-tā- 'divinity' then 'deity, god', O.C.Sl. juno-ta 'young man', orig. 'youthfulness'); and they were altered to look like masculines by a change of form in the nom. and gen. sing., just as γενετή became γενετή-ς (see § 79 p. 229 f.). It is now impossible to distinguish the forms in which this change first took place and which then served as models for the rest. The feminines in -tā in their abstract meaning fell out of use in prehistoric times, replaced no doubt by forms in -tat-; compare e. g. βαρύν-της -της-ος 'weight' with Skr. guru-tā-

'weight', Goth. kaúriþa 'burden', βραδύ-της -τη-ος (also -τής-της) 'slowness' with Skr. mṛdu-tā- 'softness'. The following are examples of this change to the masculine gender: — ἀγρό-της 'dweller in the country' from ἀγρός, δημό-της 'fellow demesman' from δῆμος, ἵππό-τα 'charioteer' (-τα is the vocative form, which was also used as nominative, see the Author Morph. Unt. II 199 f. Fleckeisen's Jahrb. 1880 p. 660, G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² 318) from ἵππος. οἰκέ-της 'member of one's household' from οἶκος, which served as the type for ἐννέ-της 'sharer of one's bed, husband', beside ἐννή and the like. πολύ-βού-της 'one rich in cattle' from βούς. ναύ-της 'sailor' from ναῦς.

The primary and secondary formations had two points of contact. First, e. g. οἰκέ-της and γενέ-της had the same ending -έτης; and secondly certain of them could be regarded equally well as denominative or as participial formations, e. g. κορυς-τής 'helmed, armed man, warrior' κεράς-της 'horned creature, ram' αἰχμη-τής 'javelin-thrower'.

Italic. Examples are rare. juven-ta (see above, p. 239) and its opposite senec-ta, Mājes-ta Vulcan's consort. It is clear that -tat(i)- and -tāt(i)- have spread at the expense of -ta-.

Latin perhaps, as well as Greek, may have had masculines in -tā-: eques equitis like ἵππό-τα and the like. See on this point § 123 Rem. 1.

Germanic. All the forms excepting Goth. jun-da (see above, p. 239) had -iþō- or -iðō-. (the latter is rare, e. g. Goth. áupida 'wilderness' from áup-s 'waste, desolate'). -i- represents the Idg. -e- of the o-stems; but here and there Idg. -i- may have been the original sound, as in O.H.G. gi-meini-da 'community' beside Goth. ga-máini- 'common, communis'. Even in proethnic Germanic -iþō- (-iðō-) was transferred to other classes of stems, e. g. to those in -u-; the word jun-da escaped this change merely because the stem from which it was derived (= Skr. yuvan-) had fallen out of independent use.

These abstract substantives were far more frequently derived from adjectives than from substantives.

Goth. vargiþa 'damnation' from varga-* m. O.H.G. warg m. 'outlawed criminal, banished evildoer'. Goth. veitvōdiþa 'evidence' from veitvōþ-s 'witness'. A.S. ðýfð O.Icel. þýfð 'theft' from ðeóf þjōf-r 'thief'. Goth. háuhiþa O.H.G. hōhida 'height' from háuþ-s hōh 'high'. O.H.G. heilida O.Icel. heilð 'health' from O.H.G. heil O.Icel. heill 'healthy'. Goth. niujiþa 'newness' from niuji-s 'new'. faþrniþa 'age' from faþrnei-s 'old'. tulgiþa 'safety, fortification', from tulgu-s 'firm'.

In West-Germanic and Norse -iþō- was associated with the verbs in -jan, since verbs of this kind were often connected with the nouns from which the -iþō- forms were derived and -i- was a characteristic mark of their conjugation, cp. e. g. O.H.G. hōhida beside hōhen (Goth. hauhjan) 'to exalt'. Hence arose analogical primary formations, which were most common in High German, as O.H.G. gi-hōrida 'hearing' formed from gi-hören (Goth. ga-hausjan) 'to hear', ir-lōsida 'release' (subst.) from ir-lōsen (Goth. us-lausjan) 'to release'. Later on these were formed from other verbs than those in -jan; as O.H.G. far-manida 'contempt' from far-manōn, gi-habida 'bearing, behaviour' from gi-habēn, ant-findida 'feeling' from ant-findan.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian -tā- is quite rare in this use, e. g. sveika-tā 'health' from sveika-s 'healthy'. Possibly -tā was not pure Lithuanian, but borrowed from Slavonic; cp. nogatā (nūgatā) 'nakedness' from Pol. nagota, siratā 'orphan' from Pol. sierota Little-Russ. syrota.

Old Church Slavonic. rabota 'servitude' from rabŭ 'servant', gnusota 'dirtiness' from gnusŭ 'dirt', sramota 'shame' from sramŭ 'shame'. dobrota 'goodness' from dobrŭ 'good', pīstrota 'motley colouring' from pīstrŭ 'motley', bělota 'whiteness' from bělŭ 'white', žestota 'hardness' from žestŭ 'hard'. Some have become 'concrete: sirota f. 'orphan', orig. 'bereavement', from sirŭ 'bereaved, orbus' and junota m. 'young man', orig. 'youth' from junŭ 'young'. Cp. above, p. 239, Gr. ὑπό-της etc., and § 157.

O.Icel. flestr see p. 244. 247 f. The root-syllable had originally the weak form of Ablaut, and -to- was accented; this is shewn on the one hand by Gr. κράτ-ιστο-ς beside κρείσσων κρείσσων, ὀλίγ-ιστο-ς beside ὀλιζων and the like, on the other hand by Skr. jyēṣṭhá-s kaniṣṭhá-s and O.Fries. lērest, with r for pr. Germ. z, beside lēssa and the like (see Kluge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VIII 519 ff., Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 40 f.); cp. also the accentuation of -to- in numerals like Skr. catur-thá-s Gr. εἰκοσ-τό-ς O.H.G. sibun-to (pr. Germ. -dō*). In the separate branches of language, both the vocalism and the accentuation of these superlatives were influenced more or less strongly by the comparative forms, themselves at the same time reacting upon the latter.

The new suffix -isto- was primary to start with, like the comparative -ies-. But in all the different branches in which it was fertile, i. e. in Aryan, Greek and Germanic, it was very soon used along with -ies- as a denominative (cp. § 58 p. 106 f.).

Aryan. In Sanskrit we find -tha- and -ta-, and (always with the aspirate) -iṣṭha-. In Avest. -tha- is represented by pux-ḍa- 'fifth' (cp. Skr. pañca-thá-) and hapta-ḥa- 'seventh' (Skr. saptá-thā-). -tha- therefore certainly dates from protoethnic Aryan. Cp. I § 475 p. 350 f.

Remark 2. I cannot follow those who would infer from this another protoethnic suffix -tho-, so long as no undoubted example of the aspirate has been found in the European branch. Whence comes the aspirate in Gr. λοισθο-ς 'last'? — The question of the Indo-Germanic Tenues Aspiratae is not decided even by Moulton's essay, ingenious as it is, in the American Journal of Philology VIII 207 ff., since he is only concerned with the evidence in Greek. What, for instance, do we gain by deriving Gr. τίτατρο-ς from τεταρ-θό-ς* and thus reconciling it with Skr. catur-thá-s, if all the while Lat. quar-tu-s is left out of consideration? (Moulton p. 208.) Why is not the Latin word quarbus*, with b for pr. Ital. ḃ?

-ta- occurs e. g. in Skr. tr-t-īya- Avest. pri-t-ya- O.Pers. ši-t-īya- 'third'; beside which we have also Skr. tri-tá-s (on which tr-t-īya- is based), the name of a divinity to which another, dvitá-s, was created as a contrast (cp. the Italic forms), Skr. ṣaṣ-ṭá- 'sixtieth', sapta-tá- 'seventieth' and the like; cp. also Skr. pañcát- f. 'a group of five' daśát- f. 'a group of ten'.

-isto-. Skr. máh-iṣṭha- Avest. maz-išta- 'greatest': Gr. μέγ-ιστο-ς. Skr. ás-iṣṭha- Avest. as-išta- 'quickest': Gr. ὤξ-ιστο-ς. O.Pers. maṭ-išta- 'greatest', beside Avest. mas-yah- 'greater': Gr. μίχ-ιστο-ς 'longest, greatest'. Skr. vás-iṣṭha- Avest. vah-išta- 'best'. Skr. yáv-iṣṭha- 'youngest', compar. yáv-īyas-, pos. yúvan-gar-iṣṭha- 'heaviest', compar. gár-īyas-, pos. gurú-. sthéṣṭha- 'most constant', beside sthi-rá- (O.H.G. stara-blint 'stone-blind'), for pr. Ar. sthaiṣhta-* Idg. stā-is-to-* (just as the optative stem Skr. sth- is for stā-i-*, see I § 116 p. 108); similarly sphéṣṭha 'richest, fattest' beside sphi-rá- (O.C.Sl. sporū 'rich'), for spā-isto-*; the ē spread to the comparative, and sthéyas- and sphéyas- took the place of sthā-yas-* and sphā-yas-* (we can hardly assume a form sthā-īyas-* or sthā-iyas-*). On the other hand the analogy of śré-yas- and pré-yas- gave rise to the superlative forms śréṣṭha- 'fairest' préṣṭha- 'dearest' (which Avest. sraēšta- shows to be as old as protoethnic Aryan): in the Veda occur the regular śray-iṣṭha- or śriy-iṣṭha- (pos. śrī-rá- Avest. sri-ra-) and pray-iṣṭha- or priy-iṣṭha- (pos. priy-á-).¹ It is also possible that Skr. jyēṣṭha- 'mightiest' (comp. jyā-yas-) and Avest. fraēšta- 'plurimus' (comp. frā-yah- Skr. prā-yas-) was formed on the analogy of sthéṣṭha-; for the Gr. πλεῖστο-ς points to an Idg. plē-isto-*, and the character of these stems, as we know it, in other words, justifies us in restoring this form.²) It cannot be shewn that pr. Ar. ai (jiāiṣtha-* prāiṣtha-*) became ai by any regular phonetic change. The words dhéṣṭha- 'most generous' and yéṣṭha- 'swiftest', to be read in Veda as trisyllables, I should perhaps regard as written for dhāyīṣtha yāyīṣtha- (or perhaps dhēyīṣtha- yēyīṣtha-, the original a being replaced by ē), cp. bhāyīṣtha-.

1) One of the two forms must be inferred for metrical reasons. In the passages of the Rigveda which concern us the forms of the later language, śréṣṭha- and préṣṭha-, are the traditional reading.

2) Osthoff now takes a different view (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 443); however, he supposes an Idg. plō-istú-s*. On O.Icel. flestr see below, p. 247 f.

A few noun stems form superlatives in the same way, with -iṣṭha- in place of -tama-. Skr. bráhm-iṣṭha- 'a Brahman in the highest degree' from bráh-man- (similarly compar. bráhm-īyas-). drádh-iṣṭha- 'firmest' (instead of dárh-iṣṭha-) from dydhá- ground-form dhṛgh+to-* (similarly compar. drádh-īyas-); this formation was modelled on such forms as kraśiṣṭha-: kṛśá- 'lean', bhraśiṣṭha-: bhṛśa- 'strong, violent'.

Greek. ἔνα-το-ς 'ninth' for ἐνφα-το-ς*: Goth. niun-da, Lith. deviñ-ta-s O.C.Sl. devę-tŭ- (cp. I § 152 p. 138). The analogy of εικοσ-τό-ς 'twentieth', τριακοσ-τό-ς 'thirtieth' gave rise to such forms as ἐκατοστό-ς 'hundredth', διᾱκοσιοστό-ς 'two-hundredth', χιλιοστό-ς 'thousandth'; and also, πόστο-ς 'which (in a series)?', πολλοστό-ς 'one of many, multesimus' ὀλιγοστό-ς 'one of few'.

The -ατο-ς of ἔνατο-ς δέκατο-ς spread considerably by analogy: πρωφ-ατο-ς* (Att. etc. πρωτο-ς Dor. πρᾶτο-ς) 'first' instead of πρωφο-ς* (I § 306 p. 242 II § 64 p. 134), τρίτ-ατο-ς 'third', ἑβδόμ-ατο-ς 'seventh', ὀγδό-ατο-ς 'eighth'; ὑπ-ατο-ς 'uppermost', ἔσχα-ατο-ς 'outermost', μέσση-ατο-ς 'midmost', νέ-ατο-ς 'novissimus'; βέλτ-ατο-ς 'best' (for its etymology see Wackernagel Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 301 f.), γέροτ-ατο-ς 'most eminent'. The -ατο- of τρίτατο-ς βέλτατο-ς etc. was regarded as a simple suffix and taken into general use as the common superlative suffix for stems whose comparative was formed in -τερο- (cp. § 75 p. 193); e. g. ὠμότατο-ς, σοφιώτατο-ς, παλαιότατο-ς, εἰδαιμονέστατο-ς, κύντατο-ς. A further accumulation of superlative elements is seen e. g. in ἔσχα-ατώτατο-ς, κυντότατο-ς, which looks like an attempt at κυντατώτατο-ς* (cp. κυντερώτερο-ς) καλλιστότατο-ς, ἐγγιστότατα, and conversely πρωτίστοτο-ς. Cp. Ascoli Curtius' Stud. IX 339 ff.

Remark 3. Bezenberger (Beitr. V 94 ff.) attempts a different explanation of -ατο-; but I am convinced that it is untenable (see Morph. Unt. III 68 f.).

ground-form plē-isto-s*; see pp. 242, 244 above. Later on, analogical formations were made from noun stems: κάλλ-ιστο-ς 'fairest' from τὸ κάλλος, ἄλπν-ιστο-ς 'loveliest, most agreeable' beside ἔπ-αλπνο-ς, τέρπν-ιστο-ς 'most delightful' from τερπ-νό-ς, πρέσβ-ιστο-ς 'oldest, most honourable' from πρέσβυ-ς. Here -ιστο- took the place of -τατο-, as was also the case in ἐγγ-ιστα beside ἐγγύ-τατα 'nearest', πέρσ-ιστα beside πορρω-τάτω πορρώ-τατα 'furthest forward'.

Italic. Lat. sex-tu-s, Umbr. sestentasiaru sextentariarum Osc. Σέστες 'sextius': Skr. śaṣ-ṭhá-s etc., see p. 242 above. Lat. quintu-s Quinctiu-s, Osc. Πομπτιες 'Quinctius': Avest. pux-ḍa- (the u is remarkable), Gr. πέμπ-το-ς Goth. fimfta- (in our records found only in composition), Lith. peñk-ta-s O.C.Sl. pę-tŭ. Lat. ter-tiu-s, Umbr. tertiām-a 'ad tertiam', by the side of which stands Lat. trit-avo-s (if this and not strit-avo-s was the true form of the word), for the first part of which either trito-s* or tritio-s* may be assumed as the earliest form (see § 34 p. 59): Skr. tri-tá-s ṭṛt-īya-s (p. 243), Gr. τρι-το-ς Lesb. τέρ-το-ς, Goth. pri-dja Lith. trėczia-s O.C.Sl. tręŕŕŭ. In any case the forms ter-to-* ṭṛ-to-, which are connected by ablaut are older than tr-i-to-, which was derived directly from the cardinal (tr-i-tr-ei-), though there would be nothing in the least irregular in its formation, if the -to- of the ordinals is really the participial suffix, as was suggested in Rem. 1 (p. 242). We have it extended by -io- in ter-t-iu-s etc. as in Skr. dvī-t-īya- 'second' and túr-ya- tur-īya- 'fourth' (§ 63 p. 133). Side by side with cottī-diē (see above, p. 242), we have quo-tu-s to-tu-s quo-tumu-s (§ 73 p. 178). In Latin the superlative suffix -isto- gave place to the new formation -issimo-; contrast e. g. ōc-issimu-s (comp. ōc-iōr) with Skr. āś-iṣṭha- (āś-īyas-) Gr. ὠκ-ιστο-ς (ὠκ-ίων). It is not clear in what way this substitution took place, see § 73 Rem. p. 179.

Remark 4. It must be left an open question whether -isto- is still preserved in proper names, whether e. g. Nosti-u-s stands for Novist-iu-s* and is to be compared with Skr. náv-iṣṭha-s, as Pauli (Altital. Stud. II 140 f.) assumes.

Old Irish. cōiced O.Cymr. pimphet 'fifth': cp. Skr. pañca-thá-s. Similarly sessel Mod.Cymr. chuweched 'sixth'; as to the cause of this new formation see Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 214. We frequently find the termination -mad, which arose from an extension of older forms in -ηmo-; as sechtmad Mod.-Cymr. seithuet 'seventh' (cp. Lat. septimu-s), dechmad Mod.Cymr. decuet 'tenth' (cp. Lat. decimu-s), cētmad Bret. kandved 'hundredth', see § 72, 2 p. 168. In protoethnic Celtic -eto-s was the termination of all these words, and the difference of vocalism between O.Ir. cōiced (with e) and sechtmad* (with a) depends upon the kind of sound in the preceding syllable: sechtmad is due to the older form sechtamet(os)*. tress- 'third' in comp. no doubt stands for tris-to-, i. e. tris (= Skr. trī-ś Gr. τρί-ς) + -to- (beside it in Mod.Cymr. we find the form trydydd from tri-tijo-s*) cp. Lat. trīni for tris-no-* § 66 p. 146 and O.H.G. dris-ki 'ternus' zweis-ki 'twofold'.

-isto- in Keltic gave place to -mo- (-is-ηmo-), see § 72, 2 p. 169, cp. e. g. O.Ir. lugem 'smallest' (compar. laigiú) as contrasted with Skr. lāgh-iṣṭha-s Gr. ἐλάχιστο-ς.

Germanic. The numerals passed into the n-declension. Goth. saiḥsta O.H.G. seḥsto O.Icel. sétte sétti 'sixth': Skr. ṣaṣ-ṭhá- etc., see p. 242 above. Goth. niunda O.H.G. niunto O.Icel. nūnde nūndi 'ninth', pr. Germ. niun-dá-n-* (I § 179 p. 156): cp. Gr. ενατο-ς. In Goth. ahtu-da O.H.G. ahtodo 'eighth', we have a formation peculiar to Germanic, cp. Gr. ὀγδο(ς)ή-κοντα Vulgar Lat. octuā-ginta.

-isto-. In the oldest West-Germanic the inflexion of the superlative was almost exclusively weak (n-declension); in Gothic and Norse it was both strong and weak. Goth. sut-ist-s O.H.G. suaz-isto 'sweetest': Skr. svād-iṣṭha-. Goth. háuh-ist-s O.H.G. hōh-isto 'highest'. Goth. māist-s O.H.G. meisto 'most' (compar. māiza mēro), cp. Umbr. mestru fem. 'maior', common ground-form mā-isto-* beside the pos. O.Ir. mā-r Goth. -mēr-s 'great'. The O.Icel. flest-r 'plurimus', together with the compar. fleire, which cannot be referred to plēis-* (Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 444), I suppose to have been altered on the analogy of mest-r meire; cp. pp. 242 f. 244 and § 135. We often find new formations from noun-stems: Goth. jūh-ist-s* (inferred from jūhiza) O.H.G. jung-isto O.Icel. ǫrst-r (for ǫst-r*, r being inserted from the compar. ǫre) and yingst-r 'youngest', from Goth. jugg-s etc. = pr. Germ. iunwā-gá-s* Skr. yuva-śá-s; this new form took the place of another which answered to the Skr. yáv-iṣṭha-s; this must have been before Verner's law came into operation, as the word has -h- instead of -g-, which shews that in the noun from which it was formed (iūwāhá-) the breathed spirant had not yet become voiced (I § 530 p. 386 f.). Goth. alp-ist-s (inferred from alpiza) O.H.G. altisto 'oldest' beside Goth. al-pei-s O.H.G. al-t 'old'. Accumulated endings of comparison are seen in e. g. Goth. af-tum-ist-s A.S. aef-tem-est 'hindmost, last' beside Goth. af-tuma, O.H.G. af-tr-isto 'last' beside af-tro- af-tero.

Since -ista- and -iz-en- became denominative so early in proethnic Germanic, it is not surprising that before that period ended they were added to ǫ-, the adverbial termination of the o-stems, just as was the Gr. -raro- -τερο- in σοφώ-τερος ἀνω-τέρος etc. (§ 75). Thus arose forms like Goth. sniumundōs 'more hastily', from sniumundō 'hastily', frōdōza 'more shrewd' frōdōst-s 'most shrewd', from frōþ-s 'prudent', O.H.G. blintōro blintōst from blint 'blind' (aftr-ōsto beside aftr-isto (see above) and the like), O.Icel. spakare spakast-r from spak-r 'intelligent'. In Gothic this formation was always strictly confined to o-stems; in Old High German was occasionally extended to other adjectival stems. Pr. Germ. -ǫ-izō- -ǫ-ista-z became -ǫzō. -ǫsta-z, cp. I § 142 p. 127. Slavonic has a similar group of comparatives, the forms in -ě-ŕ; see § 135.

Remark 5. This explanation of the comparative suffix in Germanic has not been universally accepted. (Johansson, De derivatis contractis, p. 182). But it is certainly not disproved by the forms māiza āiv-s (for māis- āiwo-*). It is quite possible that āi had here become āi (see I § 614 p. 464) before this new method of forming comparatives had been adopted in proethnic Germanic. Each period has its own phonetic laws.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. desziñ-ta-s O.C.Sl. desc-tŭ 'tenth': Gr. δέκα-τος etc., see above, p. 242.

-isto- in Lithuanian gave place to -iaūs-ia- which (in spite of J. Schmidt's objections, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 378) is no doubt connected with Slav. -uchŭ -ŭchŭ (Miklosich Vergl. Gramm. II 289 ff.); whilst in Slavonic the comparative displaced the superlative formation.

§ 82. 4. The Suffixes -m̃-to-, *-ũ-to-*¹⁾.

In proethnic Indo-Germanic there were a certain number of formations in -to- which were extensions of stems in -men- and -uen-. kleu-m̃-to-*: Skr. śrō-mata-m 'renown' O.H.G. hliumunt m. 'report, reputation' beside Avest. srao-man- n. Goth. hliu-ma m. 'hearing', $\sqrt{}$ kleu- 'to hear'. Gr. ὀνόματα pl. 'names' Lat. cōgnō-mentu-m, beside Skr. nā-man- n. 'name' Lat. nō-men n. etc. Gr. κασσάματα pl. 'something stitched together, soles; contrivances, plots' (prep. κάτ), Lat. as-sū-mentu-m 'patch put on', Skr. beside syā-man- n. 'band, strip, row', Gr. ἐμὴν -ἐν-ος 'skin, sinew'. per-ũ-to-*: Skr. pār-vata-s 'mountain, rock' Gr. περάτα Lesb. πέρατα pl. 'extremes, boundaries', for περ-φατα* (I § 166 p. 146 f.), beside Skr. pār-van- n. 'knot, joint, break, section' Gr. ἄ-πείρων 'boundless' for ἄ-περ-φων*.

Probably this use of -to- is to be connected with that discussed p. 224, where we saw that the participial -to- could be added directly to noun-stems. From kleu-men-* was first formed kleu-m̃-tó-* (hliumunt indicates that -to- was accented) 'called, famed' (cp. Gr. θανυα-τό-ς beside θάνυα, orig. stem θαν-μεν-*); the neuter, used substantivally, had the meaning 'a being called, renown', and then in High German the gender of the word was altered to match that of ruof, ruom. Gr. ὄνο-ματο-ν* orig. 'the being named, having a name'; Lat. cōgnōmentu-m 'the having a surname', beside cōgnōminātu-s, like sceles-tu-s beside scelerātu-s, liber-tu-s beside liberātu-s. Skr. pār-vata-s is easily explained as an epithet of giri-ś 'mountain'.

Remark. The following formations are akin to those just discussed: Skr. si-mān-ta-s 'crown of the head, boundary' beside sī-mān- m. 'parting of the hair, crown of the head' f. 'boundary', Gr. ἰ-μάντ- (f) 'strap' beside ἰ-μον-ιά 'rope of a draw-well' O.Sax. si-mo 'band, rope' (ἰ-μάντ- instead of ἰ-μάντο-* see p. 250 f.); Skr. hē-man-tā-s 'winter' beside hē-man loc. 'in winter'; aś-man-ta-m 'fire place' beside āś-man- m. 'stone'. In the first word the Idg. ending was perhaps -μη-to-, see I § 230 p. 196; the accent was shifted from -to- to -μη- doubtless through the influence of si-mén-, the stem from which the word was formed, just as in Sanskrit the accent of śrō-man- n. changed śrōmatā-m* to śrōmatam. On the other hand, hēmantā-s and aśmantā-m may be later analogical forms dating from the period after the separation of the languages and based on the strong form of the parent stem, as in vṛṣān-tama- and the like. Or has hēmantā-s any immediate connexion with the Gr. ἀ-χίματρος mentioned on p. 225?

In most languages these combined suffixes, even when they did not die out, survived only in a few old forms and were no longer in living use; in Germanic besides hlumunt the only other example is Goth. sniu-mundō 'hastily' (from sney-men-* 'haste') which presupposes an adj. sniu-munda-* cp. Gr. θανματός. But in Italic -μη-to-, and in Greek -μη-to- and -μη-to- became exceedingly fertile.

Greek. Forms like ὀνόματα are: εἶ-ματα 'clothes' (cp. εὖ-εμίον 'well clothed' Skr. vās-man- n. 'covering'), δέρ-ματα 'hides, skins', ὑπο-δήματα 'sandals', μνή-ματα 'memorials', καλύμ-ματα 'veils', νοή-ματα 'thoughts', ὀρη-ματα 'longings'. Like περ-φατα* we have εἶδ-ατα 'food' in Hom., i. e. ἔδ-φατα or (with assimilation) ἔδδατα (cp. I § 166 p. 147), φορή-ατα φορέατα 'wells' (for φορή-φατα*), στῆ-ατα 'lumps of fat' (for στα-φατα*, $\sqrt{stā}$ - 'to stand'). Stems in -men- and -men- were regularly extended in this way; and -to- also attached itself to neuter stems in -en-: e. g. ἥπ-ατα 'livers' (Skr. yakun- Lat. jecin-), ὄθ-ατα 'udders' (Skr. ūdh-an-), κεφαλή-ατα 'heads' for κεφαλή-ατα* κεφαλή-ατα* (Skr. śirṣ-an-); to which κεφαλή Lesb. κεφάνῃ and κεφαλή-ο-ν (for κεφαλή-ο-ν* κεφαλή-ο-ν*) are related in the same way as κέρνυ-ο-ς to ὀνόματα. The nom. and acc. sing., e. g. ὄνο-μα, and the loc. pl., e. g. ὄνο-μασι, must be forms of the original n-declension without -to-. But along with these there were in use such case-forms as ὀνομα-τα, ὀνομά-των, and ὀνόμα-τος (= Skr. adverbial ablative nāma-tas); and as though these were really to be divided ὀνόματ-α ὀνομάτ-ων ὀνόματ-ος, a new form was made for the locative, ὀνόματι. Thus the το-stem passed over to the τ-declension. In the same way ί-ματ- (see p. 250 Rem.) was no doubt developed from í-μάν-τος*, cp. Skr. śīma-tás.

Italic. Lat. testā-mentu-m, Osc. trístaamentu d abl. 'testamento'. In Latin we sometimes find only the original form in -men, as agmen, crīmen, certāmen; sometimes -mento- as well, e. g. augmen and augmentu-m, suf-fīmentu-m, reginen and regimentu-m, fundāmen and fundāmentu-m; sometimes only -mento-, as armentu-m, caementu-m, dēlectāmentu-m, argūmentu-m, vestīmentu-m. Further, unguen-tu-m was formed from unguen as -mentu-m from -men-, just as in Greek ῥπ-ατα arose on the model of ὀνό-ματα, περ-φατα-* etc.

§ 83. The Suffix -ko- -k̄a-. This is shewn to be pro-ethnic by the word juuṃ-kós* or juuṃ-k̄ós* 'youthful, young', beside Skr. yúv-an- Lat. juv-en- (for the initial sound see I § 117 p. 109 f. § 598 p. 452 f.): Skr. yuva-śás, Lat. juven-cu-s, O.Ir. ḡac ḡc, Goth. *jugg-s*¹⁾. Compare also lōpā-śás 'fox, jackal', Armen. ailuēs 'fox', Gr. ἀλώπη-ξ -ιx-ος and (in the Iambic writer Ananios) -ηx-ος 'fox', with -x- for -xo-, with the same change of inflexion as in μειρα-ξ: Skr. marya-ká-s etc. (§ 84. 129), beside Skr. lōpā-ka-s 'fox' (-ka- had originally a diminutive force), Gr. ἄλωπό-χρους 'fox-coloured' ἄλωπό-ς 'sly', Lith. lūpė 'fox'; in some of the languages, no doubt, the word may have been borrowed and naturalised, nor can we be certain that the suffix of Gr. ἀλώπηξ is not -go-, and so identical with the -ka- of Skr. lōpā-ka-.

Beyond these words a few examples from Aryan are all that can be ascribed with certainty to the suffix -ko-.

Aryan. In Skr. arva-śás ārva-śa-s 'hasty, travelling quickly' from ārvan- (same meaning); ēta-śa-s 'hasty', from ēta-s (the same); babhru-śás babhlu-śa-s 'brownish' from babhrú-ś

1) Here perhaps ῥάκ-ιρῥο- also should be classed (for the diminutive force of -ιρῥο- see A. Döhring, Programm des Friedrichs-Collegiums, Königsberg 1885 p. 15). The youth Hyacinthus and his early death represent the life of the physical world, where maturity is at once followed by decay. If this etymology is correct, it proves the existence of an Indo-Germanic stem juuṃ-* with an initial j̄ (not j), see I § 598 p. 452.

'brown'; rōma-śā-s lōma-śā-s 'hairy', from rōman- lōman- n. 'hair of the head'; an̄ku-śā-s 'hook' beside an̄ku-rā-s (p. 199).

Italic. Lat. juven-cu-s, Umbr. ivengar pl. 'iuvenae', see above.

Germanic. Goth. jugg-s O.H.G. O.Sax. jung O.Icel. ung-r 'young', pr. Germ. iun̄n-ǵá-s* (I § 179 p. 156), see above. For Goth. jūhiza O.Icel. öre 'younger' see I § 530 p. 387, II § 81 p. 248.

Balto-Slavonic. We can scarcely place in this group Lith. pālsza-s 'tawny' O.C.Sl. pelesŭ 'dark grey' beside Lith. paĩ-va-s O.C.Sl. pla-vŭ 'tawny'. These forms no doubt arose (as we may infer from the Russ. pelesyj 'variegated' polosa 'stripe, streak') through a confusion of $\sqrt{pel-}$ with $\sqrt{perk-}$ (Gr. πέλεκος περκνό-ς).

§ 84. The Suffixes -qo- -qā-, -iqo- -iqā-, -īqo- -īqā-, -ūqo- -ūqā-, and -āqo- *-āqā-*¹⁾.

The velar character of the k-sound in the suffixes which we are now to discuss appears regularly and unmistakeably in Aryan, Armenian and Balto-Slavonic (see I § 417 ff. p. 305 ff.). In Greek, Italic, Keltic and Germanic it can be identified with certainty only in the comparatively rare cases where we find the k-sound labialised (kʷ), as in Lat. anti-quo-s, Mod.Cymr. hys-p 'dry'. The remaining examples in this group of languages have only k without any following u; yet it is clear that these forms, except of course such as we have already seen reason to refer to the suffix -ko- (§ 83), did originally contain q not k, because a large number of them correspond exactly to forms in the Eastern group which vouch for -go-; thus examples like Lat. mus-culu-s: Skr. muṣ-kā- Armen. mukn prove that the Latin diminutival suffix -culo- is derived from -go-. It must be confessed, however, that no real difference of meaning can be found between the suffixes -ko- and -go-, and it is therefore quite possible that amongst the examples of -ko- in the Western languages which are given in this section, there may be some few forms which are really derived from -ko-.

-go- is used both as a primary and as a denominative suffix. No general definition can be given of its original function in its primary use. In derivatives -go- and -igo- were used to form adjectives (and substantives based upon adjectives) meaning 'related, or belonging to' the thing or person denoted by the original word, which was generally either an adverb or some case of a noun. Further, -go- was added to substantives, without altering their substantival or adjectival character, but to give a slight modification of meaning; the derivative signified 'a thing tantamount to' or 'that which merely resembles' the original. Hence it was often used to form diminutives. This modification of meaning again, was often lost, so that the derivative was simply equivalent to the original word. As to the functions of -igo-, -ūgo- and -aigo-, see below.

Analogical changes of many kinds, affecting the final sound of the stem to which -go- was added, arose even in proethnic Indo-Germanic, and still more freely after the separation of the languages, but we can seldom trace the course of their development in early times. The facts are exceedingly confused, and the classification which follows must be regarded simply as an attempt to reduce them to some kind of order.

In Greek, Italic and Keltic -go- was often transferred to the consonantal declension, e. g. Gr. μεῖρα-ξ: Skr. marya-kā-s. Cp. Gr. ἁλώπηξ § 83 p. 251 and § 129.

§ 85. 1. -qo- as an original primary suffix. On the whole it is not common.

Indo-Germanic. None of the forms to be mentioned here are found in more than a few languages. Skr. dhā-kā-s 'receptacle', Gr. ῥή-κη 'receptacle', $\sqrt{dhē-}$ 'ῥιθέραι'. Skr. pīva-sphakā-s 'swelling with fat', Lett. spē-k-s 'strength', (beside spē-t 'to be able'), $\sqrt{spē-}$ 'extend, become rich'. It is no doubt also primary in Lat. siccu-s O.Ir. ses-c 'unfruitful' Mod.Cymr. hys-p 'dry' pr. Kelt. siskyo-s*, common ground-form sit-qo-s*, cp. Lat. sit-i-s (I § 419 p. 307).

Aryan. Skr. śuṣ-kā- śuṣ-ka- Avest. huṣ-ka- O.Pers. uš-ka- 'dry' $\sqrt{says-}$ (I § 557, 4 p. 413). Skr. āt-ka-. Avest. a-ḥka- m. 'garment, covering'. Skr. stū-kā- 'tress'. Avest. sao-ke-m 'advantage'.

Armenian. bok 'barefoot' ground-form bhos-qo-* (I § 561 p. 417), cp. O.H.G. bar 'naked, bare' O.C.Sl. bosŭ 'barefoot'. Or is -qo- here a secondary suffix?

Greek. ῥή-κη 'receptacle': Skr. dhā-kā-s, see above.

Italic. Lat. siccu-s, see above. Beside it we have also tesquo-s, for ters-quo-* (I § 269 p. 217), $\sqrt{ters-}$ 'to become dry, arid'. cas-cu-s beside cānu-s for cas-no-s* (cp. Osc. casnar 'senex'); for the function of the suffix cp. pris-cu-s § 88. A stem fa-co-* is implied in -fex (arti-fex etc.), hence fa-c-iō. fācundus and fēcundus imply fā-co-, fē-co-, see § 69 p. 161. tru-c-s beside truāre is no doubt another example, see O. Ribbeck Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. II 122 f.

Old Irish. ses-c, Mod.Cymr. hys-p, see above. bris-c Bret. bres-k 'brittle' no doubt from $\sqrt{bherdh-}$ (Gr. πίρθω); the ground-form will then be bhyrdh+qo-*, see I § 298 p. 236. For Celt. -sk- coming from -tk- see I § 516 p. 376.

Germanic. O.Icel. lōs-k-r 'soft, lazy', pr. Germ. lat-kya-z*, beside Goth. lētan 'to let, permit', lat-s 'lazy, idle', $\sqrt{lēd-}$ lēd-. O.H.G. ras-c and ros-ch 'quick, clever, strong' O.Icel. rōsk-r 'bold, brave', pr. Germ. raskya-z* and ruskya-z*, ground-form rot-qo-* and gt-qo-*, $\sqrt{ret-}$ (O.H.G. rado 'quickly' Goth. raþ-s 'easy'). O.H.G. A.S. horsc 'quick, cutting, clever' O.Icel. horsk-r

'clever', Goth. and-hruskáip 'he investigates', ground-form probably hȳt-go-*, cp. Goth. hard-u-s 'hard' Gr. χατ-ύ-s 'strong'; cp. also Mid.Eng. and Dan. harsk 'rough, hard' with another grade of vocalism. O.Icel. beis-k-r 'sharp', beside Goth. báit-r-s 'biting, bitter', ✓bheid-. For -sk- from -tk- see I § 527 p. 383. Here should also be classed O.Icel. þrosk-r- 'bold' vask-r- 'bold' O.H.G. frisc 'brisk, lively, alert' and other similar words (Kluge Nom. Stammb. p. 89), though only, perhaps, as later formations with a suffix -sk(y)o- abstracted from the older forms with sk = tk (cp. p. 18 f.).

O.Icel. lau-g f. 'bath' from pr. Germ. lau-ǵō-*, cp. O.Icel. lauð-r 'soap' Lat. lav-ere.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pil-ka-s 'grey' beside pelėti 'to grow mouldy' pelė 'mouse', cp. also pelėka-s 'mouse-grey'. Lith. plūs-k-i-s 'one that has ruined himself, spendthrift'. Lett. plus-ka 'slovenly vagabond, scamp' plūs-kas f. pl. 'sluice', beside Lith. plūs-ti 'to begin to swim, run over'. Lett. rusch-ka 'filthy fellow' pe'lnu-ruschk-i-s 'Cinderella'. properly 'ash-stirrer' (Lith. pelen-rūsà and -rūsi-s), beside Lith. rūsinti 'to rummage, stir'. Lett. lišchk-i-s 'flatterer' properly 'licker' kréima-laischk-i-s 'cream-licker', a name of the fore-finger. Lett. spé-k-s 'strength': Skr. pīva-sphaká-s; see above, p. 254. O.C.Sl. zna-kū 'token'. bra-kū 'marriage, wedding', which we may perhaps derive from berq bīrati ✓bher-.

§ 86. 2. -go- as a secondary suffix forming adjectives (and substantives based upon adjectives) from adverbs and inflected nouns with the meaning 'related, or belonging to' what is denoted by the original word, where the nature of the relationship or connexion may vary very widely.

a. From Adverbs.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. anti-ká-s 'coming to an end with or at something, near' (ánti 'over against, in sight of, near'), Lat. antī-quo-s anti-cu-s 'preceding in space or time or order, more important, earlier, old' (ante for anti*). Skr. ánt-ka-m 'that which is turned towards one, the side turned to one, front, face, point' Avest. ainika- m. 'front', Gr. ἐντ-πῆ 'attack, rebuke' (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 223). Skr. nī-ca- low, going downwards', Gr. νί-κᾶω ('bring low, fight down') 'conquer' (hence νί-κη with the meaning 'victory', like Lat. pūgna from pūgnāre, H.G. handel m. from handeln, opfer n. from opfern), Lith. denom. ny-k-stù 'I disappear, pass away' (auksztỹ-naika adv. 'backwards' and others, with non-original ablaut) O.C.Sl. ni-čĭ 'pronus' for nī-k-jĭ*.

Aryan. Skr. ucca-s Avest. uska- adj. 'on high, high' Skr. úka-s 'longing for something' ground-form ud + go- ud + ge-, beside Skr. úd 'up'. Skr. ábhi-ka-s ábhī-ka-s 'coming after a thing, lustful' beside abhī abhī. Skr. ānu-ka-s 'coming after a thing, desirous, dependent' ānū-ka-m 'backbone', beside ānu.

Such forms as these in -īka- -ūka- were in Sanskrit associated with compounds in -y-añc- -v-añc- (-añc- 'directed towards something', cp. § 163), and this led to a number of new formations. See Osthoff loc. cit. 249 ff.

Greek. πέρι-ξ adv. 'around', περισσό-ς περιττό-ς 'superfluous, extraordinary, superabundant' for περι-κ-χο-ς*, beside πέρι. As in the case of the adverbs μοννάξ and ὀδάξ from μοννα-κα-, ὀδατ-κο- (§ 88), a nom. in -κ-ς instead of -χο-ς was first formed, πέρι-ξ instead of περι-χο-ς* (cp. μεῖρα-ξ § 84 p. 253, § 88 pp. 263. 265), and then on the analogy of adverbs like παρ-έξ ἐπ-έξ ἄφ etc. it came to be regarded and used as an adverb.

From a stem περᾶ-κο-* (cp. πέρᾶ 'beyond' πέρᾶ-ν 'on that side') arose περάσσω, the oldest meaning of which was 'press through, go through' (Hom. ἄλα πρήσσοντες), see Leo Meyer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXII 61 ff.

Italic. Lat. reci-procu-s orig. 'directed backwards and forwards' from re-co-* and pro-co-*, cp. O.C.Sl. pro-kŭ. procul is an extension of the stem proco-* by -lo- cp. *simul*¹⁾.

Germanic. O.H.G. abu-h aba-h O.Sax. abhu-h 'turned away, perverse, wicked', (the neut. is used substantively, 'perverseness, wickedness') O.Icel. qfu-g-r 'turned away, perverse', beside af 'from, away': cp. O.C.Sl. opako opaky opače adv. retrorsum, contrarium' pače 'contra, potius' paky 'iterum' (opače: pače = Gr. ἄπο : O.H.G. fo-na, a regular example of proethnic ablaut); cp. also Skr. ápaka-s 'lying behind, remote', which need not necessarily be regarded as a compound of -añc- (cp. p. 256 under Aryan).

1) Detailed arguments in support of this explanation of reciprocus and procul will be found in Rhein. Mus. XLIII 402 ff., where, unfortunately, I overlooked the fact that the same derivation had already been suggested by Corssen, Krit. Nachtr. 136 f.

Balto-Slavonic. O.C.Sl. pro-kū 'remaining over', from pro. prē-kū 'transversus' for per-kū*, from prē.

b. From Nouns. The terminations -o-go- -e-go- which arose when the suffix was added to o-stems were in Aryan and Slavonic also used as primary suffixes.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. dvi-ka- 'consisting of two' (beside this dva-ká- 'two by two, joined in pairs'), A.S. twi-3 O.H.G. zwei-g and zwei gen. zweies, pr. Germ. twī-3uá-* 'twig' (cp. O.C.Sl. roz-ga 'twig' from rozū razū 'dis-'), O.H.G. zweho zwei-fo 'doubt', pr. Germ. twī-3uo-n-* twī-3uo-n-* (I § 444 p. 329); to which no doubt we should refer Gr. δισός διττός 'twofold', for dfi-x-1o-*3. Similarly Skr. tri-ká- 'three by three, threefold' and Gr. τρισός τριτός 'threefold'. The Ion. διός τριός are perhaps to be explained as standing for dfi-x-1o-*3 tri-x-1o-*3. Lat. uni-cu-s, Goth. aina-h-s O.H.G. eina-g 'single', O.C.Sl. ino-kū 'solus'.

Aryan. Skr. sūcī-ka-s adj., 'stinging', subst. 'stinging vermin', from sūcī- f. 'needle', anta-ka-s 'making an end, he that makes an end', from án-ta-s 'end'. uroāru-ká-m 'that which belongs to the gourd-plant (uroāru-3), or comes from it, fruit of the gourd'. sindhu-ka-s 'coming from the Indus (sindhu-3)'. rūpa-ka-s 'in (an assumed) form', from rūpá-m 'form'. Avest. kasvi-ka- 'rather small, rather poor', from kasvi-s 'smallness, dwarfish stature'. Skr. māma-ka-s 'my', asmāka-s Avest. ahmāka- 'our' (is the termination of this word Idg. -o-go- or the suffix -āgo-?). Hence Ar. -ka-, so frequent in Sanskrit in adjectival (epithetised) compounds as Skr. vigata-śrī-ka-s 'whose beauty is past' (cp. Avest. dūrae-srī-ka- 'beautiful at a distance') a-bhrātṛ-ka-s 'brotherless', a-rētās-ka-s 'without seed', sa-patnī-ka-s 'with one's wife'; cp. also Avest. hu-mayā-ka- 'possessing good wisdom'

(hu-mayā). These compounds however may also be classed under § 88 p. 264.

From ánta-ka-s and similar forms arose a primary suffix -aka-, as Skr. sáyaka-s 'meant for throwing' neut. 'missile', nāyaka-s 'guide', pācaka-s 'cooking, cook', prchaka-s 'who asks'. Cp. Slav. -okŭ, p. 260.

To these no doubt should be added vartaka-s vártika 'quail': Gr. ὄρνις (gen. ὄρνικ-ος and ὄρνυγ-ος, cp. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 620) 'quail', with v on the analogy of κόκκυς, ἰβνῖς and the like.

Greek. δι-σός-ς τρι-σός-ς p. 257 above. Λιβυ-κό-ς 'Libyan', from Λιβυ-ς; θηλυ-κό-ς 'feminine', from θῆλυ-ς, as the opposite of ἀρσενικό-ς; in ἀλνκό-ς adj. 'salt' from ἄλ-ς (ἀλι- ἄλο-) the -ν- is surprising. φουσι-κό-ς 'natural', from φύσι-ς, μαντι-κό-ς 'belonging to a seer', from μάντι-ς; cp. Idg. -igo- in ἰππ-ικό-ς etc., § 87. ὄστα-κο-ς 'lobster' no doubt for ostŷ-go-s*, cp. Skr. asthán- 'bone'. The termination -ιακό-ς in ἡλιακό-ς 'belonging to the sun' (ἥλιος-), σκιακό-ς 'shady' (σκιᾶ) and the like has not been explained: are the forms based on -en- stems (such as, say, ήλιεν-*), or should we compare Umbr. curu-ac-o 'cornicem'? 1)

Italic. Lat. amni-cu-s, from amni-s, cīvi-cu-s, from cīvi-s, aedīli-c-iu-s, from aedīli-s. Cp. Idg. -igo- in bell-icu-s, patr-icu-s, patr-ic-iu-s and the like, § 87.

The following forms appear to be connected with the same suffix: Umbr. Kastrušiie 'Castricii' (beside kastruvuf 'fundos' Osc. castrovs gen. 'fundī') and Osc. Iúvkiíuí '*Jovicio', beside Osc. Viínikiíis 'Vinicius'.

Old Irish. sūile-ch 'oculeus' for sūli-co-s*, from sūil n. 'oculus', O.Kelt. are-mori-cī 'those who dwell before the sea' (O.Ir. muir n., Lat. mare for marī*). Cp. Idg. -igo- in cuimn-ech 'mindful of' and the like, § 87.

Germanic. Goth. stáina-h-s (stem stáina-ha-) O.H.G. steina-g 'stony', from Goth. stáina- m. 'stone', Goth. vaúrda-h-s

1) Mahlow, Die langen Vocale 102, assumes that -ιακό-ς with Lat. -icu-s Goth. -eig-s represents an Idg. -iako-, an inference which I cannot accept.

'verbal' from vaúrda- n. 'word', mōda-g-s (stem mōda-ga-) 'wrathful' O.Sax. mōda-g 'excited, spirited', from Goth. mōda- m. 'courage, wrath'. The forms -a-ha- -a-za- alternate according to the place of the accent, by the rule given in § 530 p. 386, cp. Skr. asmāka-āṇḍika- on the one hand, and ēkakā-urvārukā- on the other. The termination -a-za- was transferred to other classes of stems, e. g. O.H.G. nōtag beside Germanic naudī- nauþi- 'need', O.Sax. craftag beside krafti- 'strength'.

Goth. handu-g-s 'wise' (O.H.G. hantag 'sharp') from handu-s 'hand', though it is quite possible that the two words are not connected historically but merely by popular etymology (see Kluge, Nom. Stammb. 86, Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 202)¹).

Chēruscī is explained by Bremer (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XI 3) as coming from χērus-ka-* 'hairy', cp. O.H.G. hār pl. hārīr 'hair'. For -us- cp. O.H.G. angus-t § 101.

In protoethnic and later Germanic we find adjectives in -īza- regularly corresponding to *-i-*stems, as Goth. mahteig-s O.H.G. mahtīg 'mighty' from mahti-, O.H.G. creftīg 'strong' from krafti-. But the same termination appears also in adjectives derived from other classes of stems and equally dating from the oldest period of Germanic, as Goth. váurstveig-s 'active' from váurstva- n. 'work, activity', O.H.G. jārīg 'yearly' from jāra- n. 'year'; and it must therefore be referred to the Idg. suffix -īqo- (§ 89); there is no need to suppose an original -ei-qo- (maxti-* maxtei-*), nor can any argument for such a form be based on the obscure Gothic word ūhtiug 'seasonable'. We conclude then that in protoethnic Germanic -i-za- from *i-*stems was replaced by -īza-, just as in Gothic we have also the older form gabig-s altered to gabeig-s (§ 87). The influence of other derivatives with ī in actual use (e. g. Goth. váurstvei f.) was a factor in the change.

Balto-Slavonic. In the Baltic languages the suffix hardly occurs at all in this use; Lith. pelėka-s Lett. pelėk-s 'mouse-grey' (Lith. pelė Lett. pele 'mouse') was no doubt formed on the analogy of adjectives like jǔdoka-s (from jǔ'da-s 'black', § 89 c). In Slavonic we have -okǔ as a primary suffix, e. g. O.C.Sl. sǔvǔdokǔ 'privy to something, witness', Russ. chodók 'goer, foot-messenger', ǔdók 'eater'; it probably began in derivatives from noun-stems in o (cp. Russ. chod 'way, path' beside chodok), cp. Skr. -aka- p. 258.

1) Osthoff's last suggestion as to handugs (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 419) does not commend itself to me.

§ 87. 3. -igo-, a by-form of the Suffix -go- (§ 86). This suffix forms adjectives from nouns in Aryan, Greek, Italic and Keltic, and it is so common that it can hardly have arisen independently in the separate languages from the ending of such forms as Gr. φυσι-κό-ς (φύσι-ς). Further in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic, as well as in Sanskrit and Latin, -igo- is a primary suffix, and this usage must have been derived from its denominative use; so that clearly it had become a single independent suffix in proethnic Indo-Germanic. But of course there is nothing to prevent our supposing that it did originally spring from noun-stems in -i-.

Aryan. Skr. paryāy-iká-s 'strophic' from paryāyá-s 'rotation, strophe'. It occurs most frequently after the vriddhi-strengthening, which serves also to form adjectives without the addition of any suffix (see § 60 p. 112 f.; cp. māma-ká-s, 'my' beside māma-ka-s, § 86 b p. 257), as vásant-ika- 'belonging to spring' (vasantá-s), várṣ-ika-s 'belonging to the rainy season' (varṣá-m), āhn-ika-s 'daily' from āhan- n. 'day'. But -ika- was not adopted in general use as an adjectival suffix, cp. rūpa-ka-urvāru-ká- etc., § 86 b p. 257.

It is primary in Skr. vṛ́ṣc-ika-s 'scorpion, tarantula', from vṛ́ṣcāmi 'I split, cut asunder'.

Greek. ἵππ-ικό-ς 'belonging to horses' from ἵππο-ς, παρθεν-ικό-ς 'maidenly' from παρθένο-ς, νυμφ-ικό-ς 'bridal' from νύμφη, ἀστ-ικό-ς 'of the city' from ἄστυ, ἐθν-ικό-ς 'national' from ἔθνος n., ἀγων-ικό-ς 'belonging to contests' from ἀγών, ἀνδρ-ικό-ς 'manly' from ἀνῆρ gen. ἀνδρ-ός. From participial stems in -to- there arose a new suffix -τικο-; e. g. κριτικό-ς, μαθητικό-ς, cp. Lat. -tico- p. 261.

By the side of -ικό-ς we find, though only rarely, -κό-ς, as Αἰβυ-κό-ς; see § 86 b.

Italic. Lat. mod-icu-s from modu-s, bell-icu-s from bellu-m, fabr-ica from faber (stem fabro-), gent-icu-s from gēns (stem gent-), histriōn-icu-s from histriō (stem histriōn-), patr-icu-s from pater (stem patr-); participial stems in -to- gave rise to -tico- as an independent suffix, e. g. cēnāticu-s, herbāticu-s, volāticu-s, rūsticu-s, domesticu-s, cp. Gr. -τιχο- above. Similarly -ic-iu-s in caement-iciu-s, sūtōr-iciu-s, patr-iciu-s etc.

The Umbro-Samnite dialects shew that -ico- was proethnic in Italic, so that (say) modicu-s was not developed in Latin out of modo-co-s*: Osc. túvtíks 'publicus' tōtíco nom. fem. 'publica', Volsc. toticu abl. 'publico', Umbr. totcor pl. 'urbici' from tōtico-*, a derivative of toyṭā- 'civitas, urbs'; Umbr. fratreks fratrexs 'fratricus, fratrum magister' fratreca 'fratrica' (e from i, see I § 33 p. 34). Cp. also Osc. Viinikiís 'Vini-cius' and múiníkad abl. fem. 'communi', múltasíkad abl. fem. 'multaticia'. But we also find Umbr. Kastrúsiie and Osc. Iúvkiíuí (§ 86 b p. 258), which are hard to explain with certainty.

-iqo- is a primary suffix in Lat. mord-icu-s mord-ex, med-icu-s, vert-ex; and no doubt also in pōdex for pozđ-ex* ✓ pezd- 'pedere' (I § 594 p. 450). Compare the root-vowel of this word with Goth. gabig-s (pōdex: pēdere = gabigs: giban).

Old Irish. As in Latin, -ico- is a general derivative suffix, i. e. it forms derivatives from all manner of stems. cuimn-ech 'mindful of' from cuman 'thought, remembrance', cretm-ech 'fidelis' from cretm 'fides'; feminines in -iche = Lat. -ic-ia, as tairismiche 'immobility' from tairism-ech 'immovable' (tairissem 'a standing fast'). It is possible however that some of the words in -ech -iche (Zeuss² 810 sq.) contain -iāco- or -āco-.

Germanic. The fertility of -iza- was limited on the one hand by the use of -a-za- -a-za- (§ 86), on the other by that of -īza- (§ 89 a). In Gothic it does not occur as a secondary suffix, but it does in Old High German; e. g. wuot-ig beside wuota-g 'furious'. It is primary e. g. in Goth. gab-ig-s 'rich' beside giban gaf 'to give', cp. Lat. pōd-ex, O.H.G. heb-ig 'at which one must strain or heave, heavy' (beside Goth. hafjan).

But here too other suffixes encroached upon its use, cp. Goth. gabeig-s beside gabig-s, O.Icel. gqfug-r hqfug-r.

On the other hand, -iza- is sometimes found where -za- must no doubt have been original (§ 88); O.H.G. entrig 'strange' (pr. Germ. andr-izá-*) from ander 'other'; possibly however -iza- may here represent Idg. -e-qo- (§ 88 p. 268).

Balto-Slavonic. Here it is not uncommon as a primary suffix. In Lithuanian the root has the vowel of the preterite (cp. Lat. pōdex, Goth. gabigs). Lith. szér-ika-s 'one who gives fodder' from szeriù 'I give fodder' pret. szériaui, kirt-ika-s 'hewer' from kertù 'I hew' pret. kirtaũ, skund-ika-s 'who loves to lament', tup-ika-s 'squatter'. Lett. jum-iķ-i-s 'tile-setter' from ju'mt 'to cover', glūn-iķ-i-s 'spy' from glūnēt 'to lurk', u'rb-iķ-i-s 'borer' from u'rbt 'to bore'. O.C.Sl. žez-ikū 'burning' from žega 'I burn' (trans.), tež-ikū 'burdensome, heavy' from težiti 'to burden', skač-ikū 'grasshopper' (springer), meč-ikū 'bear' (growler), smýč-ikū 'fiddler'; more frequently we have -iči, as yad-iči 'eater' pis-iči 'writer' šiv-iči 'cobbler', živ-iči 'offerer, priest'.

There is a class of substantives derived from adjectives which may contain this Idg. -igo-, though I do not feel certain that it is so, such as Lith. jaunik-i-s 'betrothed husband' (jáu-na-s 'young'), Lett. melniķ-i-s 'black horse' (meln-s 'black'), O.C.Sl. rožanīčī 'bow' (rožanū 'of horn') bradatīčī 'bearded man' (bradatū 'bearded') junīčī 'young bull' (junū 'young').

§ 88. 4. -go- is added to substantives and adjectives without altering their substantival or adjectival character; the meaning of the new word bears to the old much the same relation as Mod.H.G. schwärzlich to schwarz, [Eng. blackish to black], i. e. it denotes something 'tantamount to' or something which is merely 'like' the original. From this a diminutival sense was often developed, and hence -go- was used in forming familiar and pet names. Yet this modification of meaning frequently died out, so that the new word meant simply the same as the old.

The boundary between this class of words and those given under 2 b and 3 (§ 86 and 87) fluctuates considerably. It is often doubtful whether any particular word belongs to one or the other category.

The diminutival -go- is often combined with other diminutival elements, e. g. Lat. -culo- = -go- + -lo-.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. mūṣ-ká-s 'testicle' mūṣaka-s mūṣikā 'mouse, rat' (mūṣ- mūṣa-s mūṣā 'mouse'), Armen. mu-k-n, gen. mkan, 'mouse, muscle', Lat. mus-culu-s (mūs), O.C.Sl. mysica 'arm'. sā-go-* from sā-* 'sow': Skr. sū-kará-s 'pig, boar' (popularly derived from kar- 'to make' as 'that which makes the noise sā'), Lat. su-culu-s su-cula, O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sus' Corn. ho-ch 'porcus', A.S. su-gu f. 'sow' (unless we accept Bugge's derivation of this A.S. word from Idg. suu-*, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 509 f.). Lat. bu-cula, Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow'. Armen. ju-k-n, gen. jkan, 'fish', Pruss. suckans i. e. zu-ka-ns acc. 'fishes', Lith. žū-k-mistra-s 'fish-master', beside Gr. ἰχθῦς Lith. žuv-ì-s 'fish' (for the initial sound cp. I § 554 Rem. 1 p. 407 and Bartholomae Ar. Forsch. II 56). Skr. ajaka ajikā 'little goat' (ajá-s 'he-goat' ajá 'she-goat'), Lith. oszkà (ožỹ-s 'he-goat'). Skr. avi-ká-s avi-kā 'sheep' (ávi-š 'sheep'), Lat. ovi-cula, Lith. avi-kỹnė 'sheep-pen' (avì-s 'sheep') O.C.Sl. ovī-ca 'sheep'. Skr. marya-ká-s 'mannikin' (márya-s 'man, young man'), Gr. μῆραξ 'girl', later also 'boy' μειράκιον 'boy'. Skr. pāsu-ka- m. pl. 'dust' (pāśú-š 'dust'), O.C.Sl. pēsū-kū 'sand'.

In names of persons: Skr. dēvaka-s dēvika-s beside dēva-s dēva-datta-s, Gall. Divicō Divicia beside Divō Dēvo-gnāta; Skr. śunaka-s beside śunas-karṇa-s, Gr. κῦραξ beside Κύρ-αγο-ς; Skr. sana-ka-s beside sana-śruta-s, Gall. Seniccō Seneca beside Bret. Hen-car, O.H.G. Sinigus (Latinised) beside Sino Sin-hart.

sene-go-* (seno-go-) meaning probably 'oldish', from seno- 'old' (Skr. sána-s &c.): Skr. sana-ká-s 'former, old', Lat. senex senica, (Gall. Seniccō, Seneca; O.Ir. senchas 'antiquity', see § 108), pr. Norse sinigōstēr nom. pl. masc. 'oldest' from sinig-* (cp. F. Burg, Die älteren nord. Runeneinschr. 1885, p. 130 f.). Frankish Sinigu-s (Goth. sineig-s 'old' see § 89 a), Lett. senz-i-s (z for k) 'old inhabitant, a man of olden time'. Armen. ancu-k O.C.Sl. qzū-kū 'narrow', beside Skr. qhú-š 'narrow'.

Aryan. Skr. aśva-ká-s 'little horse' from áśva-s 'horse', śíśu-ká-s 'little child' from śíśu-ś 'child', rāja-ká-s 'petty king' from rājan- 'king'. Avest. drafša-ka- m. 'little banner' from drafša- m. 'banner', aper'nāyū-ka- m. 'little child' from a-per'-nāyu- m. 'child' (orig. 'not of full age'), kaini-ka- 'little girl' beside kainin- f. 'maid, maiden'.

Familiar and pet names, e. g. Skr. vasu-ka-s O.Pers. vahu-ka beside Skr. vasu-ś vasu-datta-s Avest. vohu-data-, Skr. datta-ka-s dattika-s beside datta-s datta-śatru-ś agni-datta-s.

No difference of meaning can be detected in the following examples. Skr. vádha-ka-s and vadhá-s 'murderer', ásta-ka-m and ásta-m 'home', iśu-ká- and iśu-ś f. 'arrow', uda-ká-m and udán- n. 'water', Avest. mašyaka- and mašya- m. 'mortal, man', pasu-ka- and pasu-ś m. 'cow' (cp. Skr. paśu-ká- a small animal), O.Pers. spana (Herodotus) and Avest. span- 'dog'.

Similarly there is no serious difference in meaning between Skr. arbha-ká-s and árbha-s 'small', nágna-ka-s and nagná-s 'naked', ējāt-ká-s and ējant- 'trembling, quivering', anīyas-ká-s and ánīyas- 'thinner, finer' (cp. Lat. melius-culu-s). Thus adjectival compounds like vigata-śrī-ka-, which we noticed in § 86 p. 257, may also be classed here. In Sanskrit, forms like śikṣu-ka-s 'imparting, generous' (śikṣu-ś the same), pramādyu-ka-s 'falling into ruin, perishing' (pramā-yu-ś, the same) and the like gave rise to an independent primary suffix -uka-, e. g. dāśuka-s 'biting', vi-kāsuka-s vi-kasuka-s 'bursting'.

For feminine substantives the usual suffix is -ikā- (corresponding to masc. -aka-), as nāsikā- du. beside nāsa- du. 'nose', iyattikā- fem. of iyattakā- 'so small'. Whilst the forms in -aka- express the fem. by simple differentiation (Motion) of the masc.-neut. stem -aka-, -i-kā- was originally derived from fem. i- stems (cp. also Avest. nāirika- beside nāiri- nāirī- 'wife', carāitika- 'girl, wife' beside carāiti- carāiti- 'wife').

Armenian. A further suffix -en- was added to the stems of the substantives formed with -go-. We have already noticed mukn 'mouse, muscle' from mus-go-* or mūs-go-* (I § 561 p. 417) and ju-k-n 'fish'. To these should be added armukn, gen.

Greek. With a diminutival or contemptuous sense, more or less obscured: μειράξ 'girl' (p. 263), δέλφαξ 'pig, sucking pig', βῶμαξ 'small altar', λίθαξ 'stone', λεῖμαξ 'meadow'. Attached to these are unmistakable diminutives like μειράκ-ιο-ν 'little boy' σπινθηράκ-ιο-ν 'little spark' (cp. ἀσπίδ-ιο-ν 'little shield' § 63 p. 128). Add also pet names like Ἰππακο-ς beside Ἰππο-ς Ἰππ-αρχο-ς Ἀρχ-ιππο-ς, Πύρακο-ς beside Πύρρο-ς, Λύβραξ beside Λάβρο-ς, Φαῖναξ beside Φαῖνο-ς, Μόλνκο-ς Μόλνξ beside Μόλο-ς Μόλ-ορχο-ς Ἀγγί-μολο-ς.

The α which precedes the -x(o)- in -ακο-ς -αξ points to -y-go- as the earlier form (cp. ὄσταχο-ς § 86 p. 258 and Skr. rajaká- for rajñ-ka-*, Germ. -unə-za-). Thus Ἰππα-κο-ς (: Ἰππων), λεῖμα-ς (: χεμίων) and the like may have set the type for this group of forms; Ἰππακο-ς: Ἰππων = O.H.G. Berhtung: Berhto (see below, p. 267). μειράξ for μερια-ξ* (: Skr. marya-ká-s) may perhaps be an extended form from a stem μεριγ-*.

ὀδαξ 'with the teeth, mordicus' was derived from a stem ὀδατ-κο-* ὀδακx(o)-* 'tooth': Skr. a-datka- 'toothless', A.S. tusc or tāsc O.Fris. tusk O.Icel. tosk-r 'tooth' pr. Germ. tuns-ka-, common ground-form dnt-go-, beside ὀδοίς; Goth. tunþ-u-s 'tooth' (cp. I § 527 p. 383). But δάκνω obviously influenced its meaning and perhaps its form also. In the same way we have γνύ-ξ 'with bended knees' from γνυ- 'knee'. As to their use as adverbs see § 86 p. 256.

πηλί-κο-ς 'how great? how old?' τηλί-κο-ς 'so great, so old' from ṇāli-* tālū-* = Lat. quali-s tali-s: similarly O.H.G. Alemann. we-lēr 'how produced?' so-lēr 'thus produced' pr. Germ. -li-χa-*, cp. also O.C.Sl. kolikŭ tolikŭ § 89 a. Beside Att. ήλίκο-ς ήλιξ stands βαλινιώτης (more correctly -τας) σνρέφηβος. Κρηῆτις in Hesychius, which points to a form suāli-*.

Italic. Lat. homun-c-iō 'mannikin' from homō. albi-co-* 'whitish' nigrico-* 'blackish' in albicare nigricare. pris-cu-s beside prius. paucu-s for pavi-co-s* (cp. pauper for pavi-per*). sene-x seni-ca: Skr. sana-ká-s see above, p. 263.

The usual suffix is -culo-, i. e. -go- + -lo-, the second of which is itself diminutival (§ 76 p. 205 f.). This extension of the suffix dates from proethnic Italic, and in many words was no doubt intended to revive the diminutival force which at the time was disappearing or had quite disappeared. Lat. ovicula: ovica* (Skr. avi-ká) = lupula: lupa; similarly pauculu-s: paucu-s = frigidulu-s: frigidu-s.

bū-cula: Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow'. su-culu-s: O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sow', Lat. diē-cula, Osc. zi-colom 'diem' (the diminutival sense of -colo- has disappeared). Lat. fūni-culu-s, classi-cula, spē-cula, nūbē-cula, frāter-culu-s, amātor-culu-s, homun-culu-s, aedificātiun-cula, mus-culu-s, corpus-culu-m, arbus-cula, corculu-m (i. e. cord* + culum).

Remark 1. The i in crāticula, febrīcula, apīcula and similar words may be variously explained. The first analysis must certainly be crātic-ula not crāti-cula. Cp. § 89 a p. 271.

seniculu-s: senex, nigriculu-s: nigricāre, leviculu-s, dulciculu-s, pauperculu-s, melius-culu-s, tardius-culu-s, (cp. prīs-cu-s and Skr. aṇīyas-ká-s).

Keltic. O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sus' Corn. ho-ch 'porcus': Skr. sū-karā-s see p. 263 above; we must no doubt add O.Ir. socc 'ploughshare', properly 'pig's snout', see Thurneysen, Keltorum. 112 f. 1). Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow': Lat. bū-cula. aire (gen. airech) 'princeps' for aria-k-s*, Skr. ārya-ka-s 'honourable man', from aryá- 'devoted, pious'. Proper names: Gall. Divicō Divicia, see above, p. 263.

Remark 2. Here may also be mentioned O.Ir. menicc Mod.Cymr. mynych 'frequens', though their relation to Goth. manag-s 'much', and O.C.Sl. mūnogŭ 'much' is not clear. Does the Slav. word contain Idg. -go- (§ 91)? Or should we regard it as a word borrowed from Germanic? Cp. Schleicher in his and Kuhn's Beitr. V 112 f.

1) Cp. Gr. ὑν-ς ὕνῃ 'ploughshare', which is usually connected with ὑ- (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 81).

-go- was added to -en-, which formed substantives denoting a thing or person standing in some characteristic relation to the idea of the original word; hence arose in proethnic Germanic the suffix -un-za- (and beside it -in-za-, with no difference in meaning). The suffix -go- in this use in historical times is merely an amplification of the suffix to which it is added, and has no special meaning of its own; at most we may credit it with some part of the idea of pity or contempt implied in words like O.H.G. arming 'homo pauper, miser' abansting 'homo invidus', which are common enough. We may compare the relation of O.H.G. Berhtung Berhting: Berhto (gen. Berhtin), arming: armo (gen. armin) 'poor' with that of Gr. Πύργατος: Πύργος. This compound suffix was soon added to stems with l-suffixes, e. g. O.H.G. sidil-ing 'settler' from sedal 'seat', edil-ing 'man of noble blood' from edili 'noble'. Thus there arose an independent suffix -(i)lunza- -(i)linza-, which was fertile in North and West Germanic.

Remark 3. It is difficult to determine the relation between -inza- and -unza-. The latter form appears to be older, e. g. in tribe names like Greuthungi (Amm. Marc.). The most natural assumption is that at the time when the connexion between -unza- and the en-stems was still recognised, e (later i) was introduced through the influence of the cases which had the strong form -en- (later -in-). Yet it is quite conceivable that -unza- and -iza- were contaminated (§ 87 p. 261), or that -inza- started from stems in -in-, which existed in the pre-Germanic period (see § 115); -inza- -inza- would come from -inza- -inza- just as junza-* junza- 'young' from jūnza-*, see § 83 and I § 179 p. 156; cp. Berhting, O.Icel. Birting-r 'a brilliant, famous man' by the side of Goth. bairhte O.H.G. perahti f. 'brightness'; O.Icel. speking-r 'wise man' beside speke -i f. 'wisdom'. There is a good deal of evidence for the last explanation, which seems to me the best; if it be correct, then the -inza- forms must have been originally adjectival (§ 86 b p. 259); Rem. 4. p. 268.

Examples. O.H.G. hūsingā pl. 'penates' ('those who belong to the house') O.Fris. hūsing 'member of the household', O.H.G. chamarling 'chamberlain' hofiling 'courtier', būring būling būwel-ing 'peasant' from. bār, bū 'habitatio', sidiling 'settler' from sedal 'seat', A.S. bedling 'he who lies lazily in bed, effeminatus', O.H.G. sarling 'who is hidden in armour (saro), soldier', fūstiling Mid.H.G. viustinc 'mitten', Mid.H.G. hendelinc 'glove', O.Icel.

fingrung-r 'finger-ring', Mid.H.G. bertinc 'lay brother' from bart 'beard', O.H.G. wihseling 'changeling', zwineling 'twin', O.Icel. vetrung-r 'a beast one winter old'. hofðing-r 'chieftain, captain'; names of families and tribes like A.S. Skyldungas O.Icel. Skjöldungar; A.S. Hrēdliŋ 'son of Hrēdel'; O.Icel. attung-r 'kinsman' from att 'race', O.H.G. chunniling 'kinsman' from chunni 'race', O.Icel. systrung-r 'mother's sister's son' O.Fris. susterling 'sister's child', O.H.G. sunufatarungo pl. 'the people of the son and the father'. These is but one example in Gothic, gadiŋg-s 'cousin': O.H.G. gatiling gatuling O.S. gaduling.

The use of these forms in the feminine as abstract substantives in Norse and West-Germanic was no doubt established by the same process as in e. g. O.H.G. forahta 'fear' contrasted with foraht Goth. faúrht-s 'full of fear' (§ 79 p. 235 f.); similarly Lat. fabrica 'formation manufacture', (from faber); cp. also § 158. O.Icel. haðung 'an insulting' from hað 'insult, scoff', launung 'secret' from laun (the same), with which primary formations like kvisting 'murdering' (from kvista 'to murder') became associated. O.H.G. werdunga 'dignitas' from werd; primary in e. g. hantalunga 'handling', from hantalōn 'to handle'. In O.Icel. we have also side by side birting-r 'bright one' and birting 'brightness', ginnung-r 'deceiver, impostor' and ginning 'deceit', and the like.

Remark 4. If -inza- -inžō-, were derived from the suffix -in- which is itself used to form abstract substantives (see Rem. 3), we should further have to consider whether the fem. -in-žō-, as in O.Icel. birting, was not formed immediately from the *in-*stem by the addition of -go- merely as an amplification.

Adjectival stems were extended by -go-, e. g. O.H.G. gōra-g 'pitiful' beside Goth. gáur-s 'sorrowful', O.Icel. qrðug-r 'steep' beside Gr. ὀρθός Lat. arduo-s (I § 306 p. 241). Here must be classed also O.H.G. entrig 'strange' (from ander 'other'), if the termination is Idg. -tre-qó-, not -tr-igó- (§ 87 p. 262). -žgo- was generally substituted for the original ending as in Goth. sineig-s 'old' (contrast Skr. sana-ká-s p. 263), see § 89 a p. 271.

O.H.G. Alemann. welēr 'how made?' see above, p. 265.

Remark 5. The origin of this word is therefore distinct from that of O.H.G. wie-līh Goth. hvi-leik-s 'what sort of', a compound of Germ. -lika- 'body, form'. But the termination -li-za- was associated with this by popular etymology, just as in Skr. -i-ka- -ū-ka- -ā-ka- were associated with -ānc- (see p. 256).

Balto-Slavonic. -ugo is common to Baltic and Slavonic as a diminutive suffix. There can be no doubt that it first appeared in u-stems, cp. O.C.Sl. synūkū 'little son': synū, gen. synu 'son'. So Lith. parszūka-s 'little sucking pig' beside pařsza-s, medūka-s 'little tree' beside mēdi-s, O.C.Sl. cvětūkū 'floweret' beside cvětū gen. cvěta. In Slavonic the same suffix was also used for the extension of adjective stems, yet with the loss of what was originally its special sense: qzūkū 'narrow': Armen. ancuk anjuk 'narrow' (Skr. qhú-ṣ), sladūkū 'sweet' (Lith. saldū-s); others are not derived from u-stems e. g. bridūkū 'bitter', lēpūkū 'ornament'. Cp. further Pruss. names like Banduke (banda- 'useful') Wyrucke (vira- 'man').

Similarly the diminutival -i-go-, which first appeared in i-stems, was extended beyond its original sphere in both Baltic and Slavonic. Yet -i-go- itself is not used with this function, but only -i-q-jo- -i-q-iā-, which contains the additional suffix -jo-. Proethnic examples are: O.C.Sl. orl-ca 'sheep', cp. Lith. avi-k-lynė 'sheep-pen': Skr. avi-kā etc., see p. 263 above; O.C.Sl. mysica 'arm' orig. 'little mouse, muscle': Skr. mūṣika 'mouse, rat', cp. loc. cit. In both these words the original diminutival sense was lost. Other examples are: Lith. rankikė 'little hand', kumelikė 'little (bad) mare', mamikė 'little mother' (in Lith. only feminines), O.C.Sl. kamenīcī 'little stone', korablīcī 'little ship', dětica collective 'little children' (děti 'children'), dvěřica 'little door' (dvěři 'door'). Compare also Prussian names like Teviko (tewa- tāwa- 'father').

Here should also be classed Lith. -in-inka- Lett. -(i)n-ika-en-ika- (i comes from en), combinations of suffixes which denote any kind of relation to the original word, e. g. Lith. darb-iniņka-s (Lett. da'rbinik-s) 'worker' from dārba-s 'work', dařž-ininka-s (Lett. da'r/ņik-s) 'gardener' from dařža-s 'garden', pūs-ininka-s

'owner of half a measure of land, small proprietor', lauk-inīnka-s 'dweller in the fields, countryman', Lētūv-ininka-s 'a Lithuanian' from Lētuvā 'Lithuania', Lett. gudrinik-s 'wiseacre' from gudr-s 'wise', sweschinik-s 'stranger' from swesch 'strange', Rīdfinik-s 'man of Riga' from Rīga 'Riga', uppenik-s 'dweller by a river' from uppe 'river'. By the side of this suffix, with a similar meaning, stands Lith. -in-yka- Pruss. -n-ik-i- O.C.Sl. -n-iko-, which I refer to Idg. -īqo-, see § 89 a. The second part of Lith. -in-inka- should no doubt be identified with Germ. -un-za- (cp. I § 249 p. 204 f.), and it must be assumed that in Baltic there once existed forms like dvarinka-s* dvarenka-s* 'courtier' (should we add here the forms měsēcī 'month' zajęcī 'hare', which are quite isolated in Slavonic?) and that their suffix was confused with -(i)n-īka- (dvārinyka-s O.C.Sl. dvorīnikū) producing Lith. -in-inka- (dvārīninka-s) Lett. (-n-enka-*) -n-īka-.

REMARK 6. I prefer this view to that proposed in I § 219, 4 p. 186, which I have now abandoned, that Slav. -ik-ū is the phonetic equivalent of Lith. -inka-s. I have to thank Leskien for suggesting the above explanation.

§ 89. 5. -īqo- -īqā-, -ūqo- -ūqā- and -āqo- -āqā-. The long vowels preceding the q may, like the i of -igo- (§ 87), represent the final of a noun-stem; but it is not clear in what particular words these forms of the suffix first appeared. No general definition of their functions can be given.

a. -īqo-. Cp. Skr. ānī-ka- § 86 a p. 256, sācī-ka- sa-patnī-ka- § 86 b p. 257.

Aryan. It is rarely denominative: Skr. āṇḍ-īka-s 'bearing eggs', from āṇḍá-m 'egg'. More frequently it is primary: Skr. dīś-īka-s 'conspicuous' dīś-īka-m 'aspect' dīś-īkā 'appearance', vydḥ-īkā-s 'augmenter', mṛḍ-īkā-m 'pity, grace'.

In Greek it is rare. πέρδ-ις 'partridge' (properly 'peditor', though its resemblance to πέρδω may perhaps be due merely to a freak of popular etymology), βέμβ-ις 'top'.

Italic. Denominative forms: umbil-īcu-s (cp. Gr. ὀμφαλό-ς), rubr-īcu-s rubr-īca, lect-īca and others. Primary forms: am-īcu-s, mend-īcu-s, pud-īcu-s, and others; add also pēdicāre from a stem pēd-īco-* with the same meaning as pōdex (§ 87 p. 261). -īc-io- and -t-īc-io- (cp. -t-ico- § 87 p. 261) are derived suffixes e. g. novīciū-s, ad-ventīciū-s. Some nouns in -īqo- have passed into the consonantal declension: fēlīx, pernīx.

Perhaps we should also class here crātīcula and the like, see § 88 Rem. 1 p. 266.

In Germanic. -īza- appears with various functions. It forms adjectives from nouns, e. g. Goth. mahteig-s 'mighty' from mahti- 'might', O.H.G. spenstīg 'alluring' from spanst f. 'allurement, enticement'; here -īza- has taken the place of an older -za- (-i-za- -a-za- etc.), see § 86 p. 259. It extends adjectival stems without altering their adjectival character, e. g. Goth. andanēmeig-s: anda-nēm-s 'pleasant', O.H.G. wirdīg: īverd 'worthy', rihtīg: reht 'right'; -za- has the same function, e. g. in O.H.G. gōra-g: Goth. gáur-s 'troubled', see § 88 p. 268; there can be no doubt that in this use also -īza- has spread beyond its original sphere, cp. Goth. sineig-s instead of orig. sene-qo-* or seno-qo-* (p. 263). Finally it occurs as a primary suffix, e. g. in Goth. gabeig-s beside the older gabig-s, see § 87 p. 261.

Balto-Slavonic. Both branches have -īqo- as a secondary suffix, in substantives which are generally derived from adjectives, and express any kind of relation to the original word. In Baltic (Lith. and Pruss.) these forms are nearly always derived from nouns with an n-suffix, Lith. -in-yka-s Pruss. -n-ik-i-s, in Slavonic from others also. In Lithuanian -ininka-s is exactly equivalent to -inyka-s, but the two suffixes are distributed amongst the various dialects; in some the first, and in others the second was alone in use; in many of the districts bordering on Slavonian territory the Slav. -īnikū- may have helped to establish the form -inyka-s (there are a large number of such words borrowed from Slavonic, e. g. metelnyka-s 'impostor' = Pol. mietelnik). Lith. darbinyka-s beside darbiniñka-s, etc., see § 88 p. 269 f. Pruss. laukinik-i-s 'vassal, feudal dependant' (Lith. laukinyka-s laukiniñka-s), slidenik-i-s 'leading hound', stubonik-i-s ('booth-owner' hence) 'cupper, surgeon'. O.C.Sl. zlatikū a gold coin (zlatū 'golden'), sīrebrīnikū sīrebrīnika 'silver coin' (sīrebrīnū for the pāvaká-s of the Mss.), jālpāka-s beside jālpaka-s 'tal-kative', bhikṣāka-s 'beggar'.

Greek. νῆαῖς 'youth': O.C.Sl. novakū 'novice'. θώραξ Ion. θώρηξ 'breastplate'. ὄρηξ Lesb. ὄρηαῖς 'little sprout or shoot'. πῆληξ 'helmet'. σφήξ 'wasp', which no doubt is for σφ-ακ- i. e. 'a creature that lives in swarm', compare Skr. sabh-ā 'assemblage' Goth. sib-ja 'kinsman' (Baunack, Stud. auf dem Geb. des Griech. I 25).

Italic. In denominative formations: merācu-s from meru-s, lingulāca from lingulu-s, verbēnāca from verbēna; opācu-s is no doubt to be compared with op- ob- -āx is common both in primary and secondary use: bibāx, loquāx, persequāx, mordāx, audāx, pūgnāx, vērāx.

Old Irish. -āko- is common to all Celtic languages, forming adjectives from substantives, as in marcach Mid.Cymr. marchawc 'equester' from marc 'horse', cumachtach Mid.Cymr. kyfoethawc Corn. chefuidoc 'mighty' from cumachta 'might'. It is also found in proper names, as Gall. Dumnācu-s Mid.Cymr. Dyfnawc, Gall. Teuto-bōdiacī (pl.) Mid.Ir. Buadhach, Gall. Bena-cū-s; its originally adjectival character appears clearly in place-names in -ācum like Gall. Avitācum i. e. 'praedium Aviti' (Zeuss² 806).

Germanic. Goth. áinōhō Luke 8, 42, fem. of áinaha 'unicus', which is usually adduced here, is most probably nothing but a scribe's mistake (perhaps caused by áinōhun?).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. tōk-s gen. tōk-io O.C.Sl. takū 'talis'; similarly kōk-s kakū 'qualis?', jōk-s 'any one' jokū 'qualis', anōk-s 'of that kind' onako adv. 'so', dvejōka-s dvojakū 'twofold' trejōka-s trojakū 'threefold'. There are only one or two examples to add from Slavonic: e. g. O.C.Sl. jedinakū 'aequalis' dru-gako adv. 'otherwise' (cp. Lith. rėnōka-s rėnōk-s 'of one kind' kitōk-s 'of another kind'), but in Baltic this suffix was very fertile in forming new adjectives from those already in use to express an approach to the meaning of the original: Lith. jūdō-ka-s 'blackish' (jūda-s 'black'), silpnōka-s 'weakish, rather weak'

(silpna-s 'weak'), saldōka-s 'sweetish, rather sweet' (saldū-s 'sweet'), didōka-s 'rather large' (dīdi-s 'large'); in Lettish it became the ordinary comparative suffix, as in sa'ldāk-s 'sweeter' (sa'ld-s), labbāk-s 'better' (lab-s).

-āgo- was further employed in Balto-Slavonic to form substantives from adjectives to denote something characterised by the quality which the adjective expressed. So Lith. naujōka-s O.C.Sl. novakū 'novice' (Serv. novak 'new moon') from naūje-s novū 'new': Gr. νεᾶς; Lith. trecziōka-s 'threepenny-bit' (strictly a coin worth three copper groschen) szesztōka-s (twice as much), O.C.Sl. tretijakū 'a three-year-old'; O.C.Sl. junakū 'a youth'; O.C.Sl. bujakū 'fool, blockhead'; finally personal names in -akū, as Russ. Gojak, Czech Lstak, Modlak.

The difference in accentuation between trejōka-s and trecziōka-s should be noticed. The Gliding¹) (geschliffen) accent in tōks replaced the Incisive (gestossen) in consequence of the loss of the final syllable, cp. tōkio.

§ 90. The Suffix -sko- -ska- and (in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic) -isko- -iskā-. We have to consider chiefly the primary noun-suffix -sko-, which is identical with the verbal suffix -sko- forming present stems. Occasionally we meet with forms which point to an original -sgo-. I must leave it an open question whether to regard these as two entirely distinct forms, or to suppose that the velar was substituted for the palatal in the original suffix by some secondary process, cp. I § 467 p. 342 f. I confess however that the latter view seems to me more probable.

Indo-Germanic. pyk-skā* 'question, investigation, enquiry' (cp. Skr. pychāmi Lat. poscō, √ prek-): Skr. pycha-, Armen. harç (gen. harçi, transferred to the i-declension), O.H.G. forsca. is-skā* ais-skā* (cp. Skr. ichāmi 'I long for, desire', √ aīs-): Skr. ichā-

1) I am very sorry to depart from Dr. Wright's translation of these terms in Vol. I (p. 558 f.) but the rendering 'slurred' for geschliffen and 'broken' for gestossen seem to me a little misleading.

'longing, wish', Armen. aic 'enquiry' (only found in the accusative and then only in certain phrases), O.H.G. eisca 'an asking, demanding'. Skr. vāñchā 'wish' O.H.G. wunsc m. 'wish, desire', beside Skr. vāñchāmi 'I wish', √ yen- 'find pleasure in something'; in Sanskrit, the nasal is due to the analogy of kindred forms (Bartholomae Ar. Forsch. II 91), vā-ch* is for uṇ-sk-*, and wunsc for uṇ-skō-*.

Aryan. There are but few examples to be added from Sanskrit. mūrchā- 'weakness' beside mūrchāmi 'I freeze, grow torpid' (compare mūrkhā- 'stupid, dull, unintelligent' which may be classed with sargā- and the like, I § 467, 1 p. 342 f.), beside mār-tā-s 'curdled'; if Goth. un-tila-malsk-s 'thoughtless' and O.Sax. malsc 'haughty' come from the same word, its form in pr. Idg. would be m_l-skō-*. mlēchā-s 'foreigner, barbarian', beside mlēchāmi 'I jabber'; the Pāli form milakkha- is still obscure, in spite of E. Kuhn's attempt to explain it in his Ztschr. XXV 327.

Armenian. See above. Perhaps also p'uḥ 'breath, flatus' beside ḫcem 'I breathe, blow', cp. Gr. φύσα 'blister, weal' φύσκη 'intestine, sausage' beside φύσα 'blowing, blast', √ phu- or sphu- (the weak form).

Greek. δίσχο-ς 'quoit' for διχ-σχο-ς*, beside διχεῖν 'to throw'. βο-σκή 'fodder, pasture', beside βόσχω 'I feed'.

Here apparently we must class the diminutives¹⁾ in -ισχο- (which do not occur in Homer), as παῖδισχο-ς 'little boy' παιδίσκη 'little girl', οἰκίσχος οἰκίσκη 'little house', χοιρίσχο-ς 'little pig', ἐφρίσκη 'little pitcher'. These may be connected with presents in -ισχω (like ἐφίσχω), and the (primary) forms on which the rest were modelled (cp. ἁρεσχο-ς 'pleasing' beside ἀρέσχω) may have arisen when such presents still had the sense of becoming, of gradual realisation, compare νεανίσχο-ς with Lat. adulēscēns.

Italic. Lat. ēscā for ēd+scā* and its opposite pōscā. Also rescu-s properly 'eaten away'), beside rescor, if this group of words contains -sko- (cp. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 606; Baunack, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 561 ff.).

1) Janson, De Graeci sermonis diminutivis in ισχο-ς, Thorn 1836.

Germanic. O.H.G. forsca eisca wunsc Goth. -malsk-s see above p. 275. O.H.G. frosk O.Icel. frosk-r 'frog' for pr. Germ. fruz-ska-*, cp. A.S. frozza 'frog'. —

Here must be classed the secondary adjectival suffix, Germ. -iska-, Lith. -iszka-, Slav. -isko-. It denotes origin and connexion, or fitness and quality.

Germ. Goth. judaivisk-s 'Jewish', þiudisk-s 'ἑθνικός' O.H.G. dintisc 'German'; O.H.G. frencisc 'Frankish', Goth. mannisk-s 'human', gudisk-s 'divine', funisk-s 'fiery', O.H.G. irdisc 'earthly', antarisc 'strange', dorfisc 'belonging to a village, rustic, clownish', mordisc 'murderous', altisc 'old'.

Lith. prūsizska-s 'Prussian', lētūviszka-s 'Lithuanian', dēviszka-s 'divine', tēviszka-s 'fatherly', dañgiszka-s 'heavenly'; substantives are formed from it by -io-, e. g. namiszki-s m. namışké f., 'member of a household', mūšiszki-s 'one who is ours', Klaipėdiszki-s 'inhabitant of Memel', tēviské 'patrimony or father's house, fatherland, home'. O.C.Sl. rumīskū 'Roman', židovīskū 'Jewish', kūncžīskū 'princely', dětīskū 'childish', nebesīskū 'heavenly'.

The history of this suffix involves considerable difficulty.

Remark. It may be suspected that the Balto-Slavonic suffix was borrowed from Germanic (see I § 587 Rem. 2 p. 442): in Romance indeed -isco- (Ital. grechesco, donnesco) was borrowed from Germanic and Slav. -arī Lith. -oriu-s came from Germ. -arja-. It is quite possible that it is a compound suffix -is+ka- (compare § 86) (cp. Skr. arētās-ka- mastīška-); and if so it would be a question whether O.H.G. allisc and other forms derived from adjectives did not contain the comparative stem (cp. Skr. anīyas-kā- p. 264). Finally it is conceivable that it is an analogical modification of Idg. -igo- (§ 87).

§ 91. The Suffix -go- -gā-. The following forms may be quoted towards proving the existence of a suffix -go- in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

Skr. ārbha-ga-s 'youthful' beside ārbha-s arbha-kā-s 'small, young'. śṛaga-m 'horn' may be regarded as derived from a form śṛga-* = Goth. haurn, just as O.H.G. scincha f. 'hollow of the thigh, shank': scina 'leg-splint', Dan. manke: O.H.G. mana 'mane' (Kluge, Festgruss an Böhntlingk, 1888, p. 60).

Armen. kṛun-k 'crane': O.H.G. chranu-h A.S. cornu-c 'crane' beside A.S. cran Gr. γέγραυο-ς 'crane'. Also srn-kun-ē (gen. sruni-ē) pl. 'shinbones, calves'? Armen. -k however also represents Idg. q.

In Germanic -ka- is a common suffix. With chranuh we may compare certain other names of birds, such as Goth. ahak-s 'dove' O.H.G. habuh A.S. hafoc 'hawk', which resemble Greek bird-names in -γ-, like κόρυς (see Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 424 f.). In other words it has generally more or less of a diminutival force, as O.H.G. armihha 'paupercula', fulihha 'she-foal', snurihha 'little daughter-in-law', and adjectives like O.H.G. altih 'old' O.Sax. luttic O.Fries. litik 'small' (cp. Skr. ārbha-ga-s). By the side of the O.H.G. scincha mentioned on p. 276 should no doubt be placed O.H.G. zinko 'tooth, prong', which is connected with Mid.H.G. zint O.Icel. tind-r, ground-form dend-go-, from the stem dent- 'tooth'.

In Balto-Slavonic also -go- is fairly frequent; but this may equally well represent Idg. -gho-. Lith. isz-ei-gà or isz-ei-ga 'exit' beside isz-eiti 'to go out', O.C.Sl. slu-ga 'servant' from ✓kley- 'hear' (slu-tije, slovo etc.), stru-ga 'current, ship' from ✓srey- 'flow' (stru-ja, o-strovū etc.). Lith. melāg-i-s m. melāg-ė f. 'liar', compare -in-ga-s in such words as varginga-s 'pitiful, miserable' from vaṛga-s 'misery' (and -in-ka-s § 68 p. 271). O.C.Sl. roz-ga 'twig' beside rozū razū 'dis-'. O.C.Sl. mq-žī 'man' for -g-je, cp. Skr. mānu- Goth. mann- 'human being, man'. Lith. kėtvėr-g-i-s adj. 'of four years', trei-g-ỹ-s 'of three years' and the like, O.C.Sl. četrī-gū Russ. četrer-g 'Thursday'.

Remark. We must remember that the suffix -go- may have been developed from -go- in the protoethnic period. See I § 469, 7 p. 346. By the side of -go- we may perhaps recognise a similar suffix -gu- Gr. περίο-γυ-; περίο-βυ-; 'old' and in Lith. žmo-gū-s 'human being'; περίο-γυ-; should stand beside Lat. pris-co- (cp. § 135) as Skr. ārbha-ga- beside arbha-kā- and as O.H.G. zinko beside A.S. tusc or tūsk § 88 p. 268. A different explanation of -γυ- -βυ- is given by Bezzenger in his Beitr. IV 345.

II. Suffixes in -i.

§ 92. In the i-suffixes we have a triple Ablaut: i, e_i, o_i (e-series, I § 311—314). i e. g. in nom. and acc. sing. masc. fem. -i-s -i-m; e_i e. g. in nom. pl. masc. fem. -e_i-es; o_i in gen. sing. -o_i-s. We have not enough evidence to determine exactly the connexion between these grades of Ablaut and the varying conditions of Accent in the original declension.

In the proethnic period the i-stems were masculine, feminine and neuter. The first two had originally the same declension. Differences only arose after the separation of the languages, e. g. Skr. acc. pl. ávīn m. ávīṣ f. 'oves'.

i-stems often pass into the inflexion of the -ī-: -iē- stems (§ 109), and into that of the monosyllabic -ī-: -i_i- stems (§ 109 Remark 2).

§ 93. The Suffix -i-. This was always a primary suffix. It is secondary only in nouns originally belonging to other declensions which have been transferred to the inflexion of the i-stems. The change of declension is due sometimes to a mere association of similar forms which leaves the meaning unaltered, as in Lat. nāv-i-s nāv-i-um *nāv-i-bus*¹⁾ (contrast Skr. nāū-ṣ nāv-ām nāu-bhyás); sometimes it denotes a change of meaning, the new signification being taken from that of other i-suffixes (as -ti- -ni-), as in O.C.Sl. žestoc-ī 'hardness' from žestokū 'hard'.

-i- as a primary suffix is found in substantives and adjectives. The substantives are most commonly masculine and feminine, and they may be either abstract or concrete.

Indo-Germanic. Substantives.

Masculine and Feminine ou-i-s* 'sheep': Skr. ávi-ṣ m. f. (instead of ávi-ṣ* on the analogy of the cases which began with avy-? see I § 78 p. 69 f.), Gr. ōi-ς ol-ς m. f., Lat. ovi-s m. f., O.H.G. ou f., Lith. aci-s f. (O.C.Sl. ovī-ca § 88 p. 269). Skr. áh-i-ṣ m. Avest. ažiṣ m. 'snake, dragon', Armen. iž (gen. iž-i) 'viper', Lat.

1) For the transference of -i-stems into the i-declension, see § 109 Rem. 1.

angu-i-s m. f. (O.Ir. esc-ung 'eel', a compound with esc 'swamp'), Lith. ang-l-s f. 'adder'; cp. also Gr. ἐχίς m. f. 'adder, viper' ὄφις m. 'snake, dragon'. Avest. er^hz-i-š Gr. ὄφης m. 'testicle'. us-i-s* m. 'sword': Skr. asī-š Lat. ēnsi-s. Skr. -jan-i-š jān-i-š Avest. jaini-š f. 'woman', Goth. qēns (stem qēn-i-) f. 'woman', beside Skr. gn-d- etc., see § 60 p. 111.

Neut. oqi-* 'eye': Armen. ač-ĕ (gen. ačaç) pl., Gr. ὄσσε for ok^h-i-e* du. n. (Att. ὄρρι-ς must have arisen through a fusion of ὄρρ- = oqi-* and ὄττ- = oqi-*), in Gothic in and-augi-ba adv. 'coming into sight, openly' (for the áu cp. I § 444 Rem. 3 p. 331), Lith. aki-s f., O.C.Sl. oči du.; add Skr. ákṣi n. There were a few other proethnic neuters, as O.C.Sl. uš-i 'ears' But only a part of the cases were originally taken from these stems, the rest were formed from stems in -en- (cp. e. g. Skr. akṣṇ-d (instr.) beside ákṣ-i etc., § 114). In several languages, however, the i-declension was carried through all the cases and the gender was changed. In others however the i-inflection remained defective. Cp. § 114 and Joh. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 16 ff.

There appears to be no one adjectival stem which is found simultaneously in more than one language. Here however we must notice tr-i-* 'three' (cp. Skr. ty-tīya- 'tertius' etc.): Skr. tráy-as loc. tri-śú, Armen. ere-ĕ instr. eri-v-ĕ (I § 263 p. 214), Gr. τρεῖς τρι-οί, Lat. trēs tri-bus O.Ir. trī dat. tri-b, Goth. þreis dat. þri-m, Lith. trỹs loc. tri-sè O.C.Sl. trij-e trij-e loc. trī-chŭ.

Aryan. Substantives.

Masculine and Feminine. The suffix is especially used to form nomina agentis (m.) and abstract verbal substantives (far more commonly f. than m.). Skr. v-i-š Avest. v-i-š m. 'bird': Lat. av-i-s (the loss of the root-syllable in Sanskrit is a trace of the Ablaut of the original declension). Skr. kav-i-š 'sage' Avest. kav-i-š m. 'king'. Skr. gir-i-š Avest. gai-ri-š m. 'mountain' (should we connect it with gurú- 'heavy'?) Skr. va-vr-i-š m. 'husk, covering' Avest. vaoiri- (cp. I § 160 p. 144) in us-vaoiri-š 'shelled, without shell'. Skr. ś-i-š m. 'singer, sage', kīr-i-š m. 'singer of praises', arc-t-š m. 'beam', dhvan-i-š m. 'tone, sound', nīdh-i-š m. 'establishment, store, treasure' (ni-dha-); rúc-i-š f. 'gleam, light', kyš-i-š f. 'ploughing', róp-i-š f. 'violent pain', gráh-i-š f. 'seizure', nábh-i-š f. 'middle'. Avest. vaēið-i-š m. 'announcer', vair-i-š m. 'canal, pond'; baoið-i-š f. 'smell, perfume' vaið-i-š 'flowing, stream'.

The dative of the nomina actionis is used as an infinitive in Vedic and Avestic, e. g. Ved. ḍṛśáyē 'for seeing', yudháyē 'for fighting', Avest. savayōi 'to use' (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 20).

Neuters. Skr. ākṣi- Avest. aši- 'eye', see above p. 279. Skr. ásthi- 'bone', dádhi- 'curds'. Avest. uši- 'understanding, thought'.

Adjectives. Skr. hár-i-š Avest. zairi-š 'golden yellow'. Skr. śúc-i-š 'shining, pure', gṛbh-i-š 'containing in oneself', kēp-i-š 'trembling', máh-i-š 'great'; often in reduplicated forms, as cá-kr-i-š 'making', dá-dh-i-š 'bestowing', tá-tur-i-š 'overcoming', ba-bhr-i-š 'carrying', da-d-t-i-š 'giving', sā-sah-i-š 'conquering, victorious'. Avest. darš-i-š 'violent, mighty' cp. Skr. dā-dhṛṣ-i-š 'courageous, bold', Avest. da-das-i-š 'biting'.

We find a class of words transferred to the i-declension in order to denote relation of any kind to the original word. In Sanskrit they generally imply origin. The initial syllable has the vridhhi strengthening regularly in Sanskrit, and often in Iranian. Skr. sá-rath-i-š 'charioteer' from sa-rátha-s 'riding in the same chariot', pá-urukutsi-š 'descendant, son of purukútsa-s'. Avest. māzdayasni-š 'belonging to the worshippers of Mazda', from mazda-yasna- 'one who worships Mazda' var'pra-jni-š 'victorious' from ver'pra-jan- 'victor', daštayāni-š 'son of daštayāna-'; O.Pers. pātišuvāri-š 'a man from Patishuvar'. It is difficult to say on what model this class of forms was made, cp. Lat. decemjugi-s 'and the like' (p. 281). Compare the vridhhi-formations in -a- § 60 p. 112 f.

Armenian. iž (gen. iž-i) 'viper': Skr. āh-i-š etc., see p. 278 above. aic (gen. aic-i) 'goat': Gr. aiyu- in aiyi-þoro-s 'pasturing goats'. From old neuter forms are derived ač-ē pl. 'eyes' (see p. 279 above) and sirt (gen. srt-i) 'heart': Lith. szird-i-s 'heart' beside Goth. hairtō.

Greek. Here it is not common. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. ῥ-ι-ς m. f., ἔχ-ι-ς m. f. ῥφ-ι-ς m., see above p. 278 f. τρώχ-ι-ς m. 'runner', στρώφ-ι-ς 'adroit, sly fellow', κόρ-ι-ς m. 'cimet', ἔρ-ι-ς f. 'strife': Skr. ár-i-ṣ 'enemy'; πόρ-ι-ς 'heifer, maiden', ράχ-ι-ς f. 'backbone, back', τρόπ-ι-ς f. 'ship's keel', μῆν-ι-ς f. 'wrath'. There remains one original neuter, ῶσσε, see p. 279 above, whilst all the other proethnic neuters of this class were driven out of use by new formations.

The Adjective τρώφ-ι-ς 'thick, fat, strong' was no doubt originally a substantive, 'thick, strong appearance'.

Italic. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. Lat. ov-i-s m. f., Umbr. ovi acc. 'oves': Skr. áv-i-ṣ etc., see p. 279 above. Lat. av-i-s f., Umbr. avif acc. 'aves': Skr. v-t-i-ṣ 'bird'. Lat. ax-i-s m.: Lith. asz-i-s O.C.Sl. os-ŕ 'axle'; torris m. (✓ters-), orb-i-s m., corb-i-s m. f., crāt-i-s f.; ap-i-s f., trud-i-s f., scob-i-s f., sit-i-s f., rāv-i-s f. Osc. slagím 'regionem'.

Neuters. Lat. mar-e: O.Ir. muir n. O.H.G. meri n. (perhaps however the Idg. form is mā-ri*, cp. Gr. ῖρ-ι); sal-e (stem sal-i-, also m.): Armen. αλ (gen. αλ-ι) 'salt', Gr. άλι- in άλι-πόρφυρο-ς 'sea-purple', O.C.Sl. sol-ŕ f. 'salt'; conclāv-e, præsaep-e (also præsaep-i-s f.). aur-i-s too was originally neut.: Mid.Ir. au ō, dat. pl. auib, O.C.Sl. uš-i du., Lith. aus-i-s.

Adjectives: rud-i-s, jug-i-s, dulc-i-s, grand-i-s, turp-i-s.

In Latin the i-declension was invaded by a large number of words which did not belong to it originally, as ped-i-bus, nāv-i-bu-s nāv-i-um nāv-i-s, juven-i-s. This is especially note-worthy in adjectives, and particularly in compound words. In these the -i- often seems to be merely a sign of their adjectival character. simili-s 'like': Gr. ὁμαλό-ς 'even', humi-li-s: Gr. χθαμαλό-ς 'low', see § 76 p. 202 f. in-ermi-s (also in-ermu-s) from arma pl., ex-somni-s from somnu-s, im-belli-s from bellu-m, im-berbi-s (also im-berbu-s) from barba, multi-formi-s from forma, bi-corni-s from cornu. We have examples of a similar transference in other languages; with the change in inermi-s etc. compare especially the parallel change in Irish.

The proethnic variation between -tat- and -tati- (civitat-um and ēvitāti-um), noct- and nocti- and the like must have been an important factor in enlarging the i-declension.

Old Irish. aird m. or f. 'point at the corner or end': Gr. ἄρδ-ι-ς f. 'arrow-point, sting'. aig f. 'ice'. muir n. 'sea' (Gall. Mori-tasgu-s): Lat. mare n. O.H.G. meri n. (though the Idg. form was perhaps mā-ri*); gein n. 'birth', guin n. 'wound', buid n. 'victory'.

air-dirc 'famed' ē-cndirc 'absent': cp. Skr. dr̥ś-i-ṣ 'a seeing'; maith 'good' (Gall. Mati-donnu-s), tais 'soft, gentle' (Gall. Taxi-magulu-s), tin 'tender' (Gall. Teni-genonia.)

Adjectives, especially compound adjectives, frequently passed over to the i-declension; as ē-nirt 'strengthless, weak' from nert 'strength', so-choisc 'docibilis' from cosc 'an instructing', ess-amin 'fearless' from omun 'fear' (cp. Gall. Ex-obnu-s Ex-omnu-s). Also substantives, as samail 'likeness, picture' and therefore also its derivative co-smil 'like'. The same may be seen in Latin (p. 281).

Germanic. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. The verbal abstract nouns are much more commonly m. than f. Goth. baúr A.S. byre m. 'son'. Goth. náu-s (acc. pl. nav-i-ins) m. 'dead man': O.C.Sl. nav-i 'mortuus'. O.H.G. win-i m. 'friend': Skr. vasu-vāni-ṣ 'desiring riches' vani-ṣ 'desire, longing'. O.Icel. kon-r m. 'one who belongs to a family, relative', elg-r m. 'elk'. Goth. balg-s m. 'leather bottle, skin'. Goth. hug-s O.Sax. hug-i m. 'thought, spirit' pr. Germ. huz-i-s*, Goth. gum-s O.Sax. kum-i O.H.G. chum-i m. 'a coming', Goth. mun-s O.Icel. mun-r m. 'view', Goth. slah-s O.Sax. sleg-i m. 'blow' (the difference between the -h- and the -g- corresponds to the original variation of accent in the different cases of the same declension), O.H.G. biz O.Sax. bit-i m. 'bite', O.H.G. fang A.S. fenz O.Icel. feng-r m. 'capture'. Goth. qēn-s f. 'woman': Skr. -jāni-ṣ. Goth. vēn-s f. 'hope' O.H.G. wān m. 'faith, hope', unless it is to be analysed as wē-(e)ni-* and so belongs to § 96 (p. 288). O.H.G. chur-i f. 'choice'. O.H.G. chur-i f. 'choice'. O.H.G. wurt f. O.Icel. Urð-r f. 'fate' pr. Germ. yurd-i-s*. For the treatment of the nominative ending -i-s in these forms see I § 660, 1 p. 514, § 661, 2 p. 517. Neut.

O.H.G. meri 'sea' (cp. Goth. mari-sáiv-s): Lat. mare n. O.Ir. muir n. (though perhaps the Idg. form was mā-rī*).

Adjectival i-stems were confused with io-stems in pre-ethnic and later Germanic.

Balto-Slavonic. Substantives. Masculines are rare. Lith. vag-i-s 'thief'; O.C.Sl. nav-ī 'dead': Goth. náu-s 'dead man' (see above); O.C.Sl. medv-ěd-ī 'bear' (honey-eater'), cp. jad-ī f. 'food'; glad-ī 'hunger'. The feminine is more frequent. Lith. asz-i-s O.C.Sl. os-ī 'axle': Lat. ax-i-s. Lith. pil-i-s 'stronghold, castle': cp. Skr. pur-i-ś 'town', though these two words may be independent extensions of an orig. stem pl-*. Lith. āt-ils-i-s 'repose, ease', rūd-i-s 'rust'. O.C.Sl. lŭž-ī 'lie': O.H.G. lug A.S. lyge (pr. Germ. luzi-*) m. 'lie'. O.C.Sl. věd-ī 'knowledge': Avest. vaeið-iš 'herald'. O.C.Sl. sīč-ī 'urine', o-stež-ī 'clothing', chot-ī 'desire, craving', blęd-ī 'error, deceit', rěč-ī 'speech', vodo-tečī vodo-točī 'water-course, channel'. The following imply old neuter forms: O.C.Sl. du. oči 'eyes' (cp. Skr. akṣī) and uši 'ears', Lith. aki-s f. and ausl-s f., see p. 281.

Adjectives in -i- are not found in the historical period of Lithuanian, so that Lith. dīdi-s 'large' loc. didi-mė cannot be classed here. The word was no doubt a substantive originally, like Gr. ρόγις (see above p. 281). In Slavonic too the adjectives in -i- have died out. Possibly however they are represented by indeclinable forms in -ī, such as O.C.Sl. is-plŭnī beside plŭnŭ 'full' sugubī beside sugubŭ 'doubled', svobodī 'free', which Mahlow, (Die langen Vokale, p. 121) compares with Lat. in-ermi-s O.Ir. ē-nirt (p. 281 f.): see however Leskien, *Handbuch*² p. 72 f. 94 f.

In Balto-Slavonic, as in Latin, the forms of the i-declension invaded other classes of stems. E. g. dat. pl. Lith. akmen-i-ms O.C.Sl. kamen-i-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. ak-mŭ O.C.Sl. kamy 'stone') like Lat. homin-i-bus, Lith. moter-i-ms O.C.Sl. mater-i-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. mótė 'woman' O.C.Sl. mati 'mother') like Lat. matr-i-bus, Lith. debes-i-ms O.C.Sl. nebes-ī-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. debes-i-s m. f. 'cloud' O.C.Sl. nebo n. 'heaven') like Lat. gener-i-bus. Many words were thus transferred entirely, or almost entirely, to this declension, as Lith. dant-i-s f. 'tooth' (gen. pl. dant-ŭ), žag-i-s f. 'goose' (gen. pl. žas-ū), debes-i-s; O.C.Sl. krŭv-ŭ f. 'blood' (gen. sing. krŭv-e), kamen-ŭ beside kamy, vŭs-ŭ 'village' (Skr. vīś-).

In Slavonic -i- is a secondary suffix in feminine abstract nouns like žestočŭ 'hardness', from žestokŭ 'hard', zelenŭ 'viriditas', from zelenŭ 'viridis', zŭlŭ 'wickedness', from zŭlŭ 'wicked', toplŭ 'warmth', from toplŭ 'warm' (cp. § 98). The type for these new formations was set by such pairs of forms as da-nŭ 'gift' and da-nŭ 'given', bra-nŭ 'fight' and bra-nŭ 'fought', pę-tŭ 'fivefold character, five' and pę-tŭ 'fifth'.

§ 94. The Suffixes -ni- (-ŭni-) and -eni- (-oni-).¹⁾

The two forms are related in the same way as -no- and -eno-. Hence we analyse e. g. dōni-s* (Lith. dūni-s O.C.Sl. danŭ 'gift') as dō+eni-*. See § 65 p. 138.

These suffixes appear to have been always primary.

Amongst the substantives formed with -ni- -eni-, the verbal abstract nouns are a prominent class, widely represented in Aryan, Germanic and Balto-Slavonic. These stand in the same relation to the participial suffixes -no- -eno- (-ono-) as the noun suffix -ti-, which also forms verbal abstract nouns (§ 100), to the participial suffix -to- (§ 79 p. 218): e. g. Skr. lū-ni-ś 'a tearing away': lū-na-s 'torn away' = hū-ti-ś 'call': hū-ta-s 'called'. And it is certainly not an accident that these nouns in -ni- are most common in the languages in which the no- stems occupy a prominent place among the forms of the infinitive.

In Germanic and Balto-Slavonic we often find -sni- instead of -ni-. The origin of the -s- is not quite clear. Possibly it should be sought in forms like leuqs-ni-s* 'gleam' (Avest. raoxšni-š), cp. -s-no- § 66 p. 140 f. With Lith. deksni-s 'burnt patch of ground' cp. O.C.Sl. žestŭ for gek-s-to-* p. 79 p. 237.

Remark. Sometimes it is not easy to decide whether in any particular word we have this suffix or an en- stem extended by -i- (i. e. transferred to the i-declension). The latter is certainly the case e. g. in Skr. śun-i-ś Avest. sūn-i-š Lith. szun-i-s Pruss. sun-i-s 'dog' beside Skr. śrā gen. śūn-as,

Lat. carn-i-s beside carō carn-is, O.C.Sl. ďin-ī 'day' jelen-ī 'stag' beside gen. sing. ďin-e jelen-e, srěsen-ī beside Lith. szirszū, gen. szirszeŋs, 'hornet, gadfly'. Perhaps also in Skr. ṛṣṇi-ś ṛṣṇi-ś 'male, strong, mighty' ṛṣṇi-ś m. 'ram' Avest. varšni-ś 'ram' beside Skr. ṛṣṇān- 'male', Skr. prēti-ś 'full of love' beside instr. prēn-ā 'through love, through affection', Gr. ὄρνις (pl. ὄρνιθες) 'fowl' O.H.G. arn (pl. erni) 'eagle' beside Goth. ara, gen. arins 'eagle'. Cp. § 65 Rem. p. 139.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. ag-ni-ś m. Lat. īg-ni-s 'm. Lith. ug-ni-s f. O.C.Sl. og-nŭ m. 'fire'; the relation of the different root-vowels is obscure. Skr. śrō-ṇi-ś m. f. 'hinder parts, hip', Lat. clū-ni-s m. f., O.Icel. hlau-n f. 'hip-bone, hinder-part', Lith. szlau-ni-s f. 'hip, upper part of the thigh, shaft-bar (of a carriage)'; how is this related to Gr. κλόων-ς 'os sacrum'? (cp. the Author, Zum heut. Stand der Sprachwiss. 1885, p. 70 f., Holthausen, Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 590). lū-ni-s* f. 'a loosing, tearing loose': Skr. lā-ni-ś 'a tearing loose, cutting off', Goth. lū-n-s 'means of loosing, ransom' (von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 81, Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 121). Avest. raśni-s 'truth' pr. Ar. raṣ-niś* (I § 403 p. 298), Goth. ga-rēh-sn-s f. 'intent, plan', ✓reḡ- (Avest. rāzayeiti 'he arranges'). Skr. śrēṇi- 'light, pure' (in śrēṇi-dant- 'with bright teeth'), Goth. hrái-n-s 'pure'; cp. also O.C.Sl. srě-nŭ 'white' (Kluge gives a different explanation, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 525).

Aryan. Skr. śrō-ṇi-ś m. f. Avest. srāo-ni-ś f. 'hinder parts'. Lat. clū-ni-s etc.; see above. Skr. tāh-ni-ś m. 'beast of draught', yō-ni-ś m. 'lap, womb', ghṛ-ni-ś m. 'heat, sun-shine'. Skr. jūr-ni-ś 'glow', sy-nt-ś śf-ni-ś 'sickle', mē-ni-ś f. 'offensive weapon, missile', śrē-ṇi-ś f. 'row, line', gīr-ni-ś f. 'a swallowing'. Avest. raoxš-ni-ś f. 'gleam, brightness', fšao-ni-ś f. probably 'riches, food, nourishment'.

Adjectives. Skr. śrēṇi- 'bright, pure', see above, tār-ni-ś 'hastening', bhāt-ni-ś 'hasty, fiery', pṛś-ni-ś 'spotted, variegated', Avest. raoxš-ni-ś 'gleaming, clear'.

The Aryan suffix -ani- may in some words be referred to -ṇni-; perhaps in kṣip-ṇi-ś f. 'blow' and other words in -ani-.

Compare Skr. -ána- from -ṇó- § 66 p. 142, and -anú- for -ṇnú- § 106.

Armenian. srun-ē (gen. sruni-ç) pl. 'shinbones, calves', compared with Lat. crūs.

Greek. Here the suffix is extremely rare. For κλόνι-ς see p. 285. εὔ-νι-ς 'bereft, mulcted' is a certain example, cp. Skr. ū-ná-s 'deficient in something' Goth. v-an-s 'absent, lacking'. But ῥνι-ς ῥννι-ς 'ploughshare' (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIX 81), σπάνι-ς 'rarity, want' and one or two others are very doubtful.

Italic. Lat. Fōnēs 'dei silvestres' (Gloss.) beside Faunus, Umbr. fons (pl. foner) 'propitius, favens', cp. fav-eō; the word seems to have been originally a substantive, meaning 'favour'. Lat. ṛg-ni-s m.: Skr. ag-ni-ṣ etc. see p. 285. pēni-s m. f. for pes-ni-s* beside Skr. pás-as Gr. πέος n. 'penis' (I § 570 p. 427). amni-s m. f. for ab-ni-s*, compared with O.Ir. abann 'stream' (I § 511 p. 375). fūni-s m. f., fīni-s m. f., crīni-s m. f.

It is not clear how far the Adjectives in -ni- were brought into this class of stems merely through a secondary change of declension, cp. § 93 p. 281. com-moini-s com-mūni-s (Osc. múiníkad abl. 'communi' see § 87 p. 261) corresponds to Goth. ga-máin-s 'common' pr. Germ. za-majni-z.* omni-s for op-ni-s*, beside op-s (cp. Goth. all-s § 66 p. 147), sēg-ni-s, lēni-s, mūni-s, im-māni-s, in-clīni-s and others. It must not be forgotten that the uncompounded words may have been originally substantives.

Old Irish. táin 'a harrying, raid' for tu-ag-ni-* or tu-ag-ni-*, similarly imm-ain 'a driving, riding' (passing into the analogy of the i-stems, see Stokes, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 290), from √ag- 'agere', cp. I § 523 p. 380. buain 'harvesting' for bong-ni-*, beside bongaim 'I gather, make harvest'. cluain 'meadow, mead'. -ṇni- may be contained in O.Ir. colinn (gen. colno) f. 'corpus, caro' Mid.Cymr. celein Mod.Cymr. celain celan, which point to colani-* (or colanni-*, cp. § 117 Rem. 3).

Germanic. The Substantives in -ni- and -sni- are feminine and mostly abstract. O.Icel. hlau-n 'hip-bone': Skr. śrō-ni-ś etc.; see above, p. 285. Goth. siun-s 'looking, power of sight, visage, appearance' pr. Germ. si(ʒ)u-ni-s*, beside Goth. saihvān 'to see', √ seq-; see I § 441 p. 327 f., § 444 c p. 330. Goth. anda-viz-n-s 'sustenance, support' vāila-viz-n-s 'welfare, good condition' from visan. sōk-n-s 'disputed question', táik-n-s 'notice, token' √ deik- deig-, dáu-n-s 'vapour, smell'. Goth. ana-busn-s 'bidding, charge, command' for -butsni-*, beside ana-biudan, us-beisn-s 'expectation, patience' for -būtsni-*, beside us-beidan (I § 552 p. 404), ga-rēh-sn-s 'intent, plan' (cp. Avest. raš-ni- p. 285), rōh-sn-s 'court, courtyard'.

The adjectival -ni- corresponds to the adjectival -i- (§ 93 p. 283), and, like -i-, was confused with the īo-declension. Goth. hráin-s O.Sax. hrēni 'pure': Skr. śrēni- 'bright, pure'; see p. 285 above. Goth. ga-máin-s 'common': Lat. com-moini-s com-mūni-s, see p. 286. Goth. ana-siun-s 'visible', skáun-s 'beautiful' (noticeable, worth looking at' beside O.H.G. scourcōn), ar-ni-ba adv. 'safely, heedfully'.

In Balto-Slavonic we find only substantives, which in both branches are almost exclusively feminine, often with s or (in Slav.) z prefixed (-sni-, -zni-).

Lith. ug-ni-s f. O.C.Sl. og-nǐ m. (the only masc.) 'fire': Skr. ag-ni-ś etc., see above p. 285. Lith. bar-ni-s f. 'quarrel' O.C.Sl. bra-nǐ f. 'battle'. Lith. kul-ni-s f. 'heel', vil-ni-s f. 'wave', szak-ni-s f. 'root', pus-ni-s f. 'snow-drift', krós-ni-s 'stove, oven', dek-sni-s f. 'burnt patch of ground' lup-sni-s (and lupszni-s f. 'shell peeled off', žink-sni-s f. 'step'; the forms are frequently transferred to the īo-declension (masc.), as žinksnis gen. žinksnio = žinkani-s. O.C.Sl. stri-nǐ 'stem' stǐg-nǐ 'way, road', po-jas-nǐ 'girth', pri-kaz-nǐ 'tale, history, example', śe-nǐ 'shade' (no doubt to be compared with Skr. chay-ā 'shade', I § 393 p. 293 f., § 414 Rem. p. 303 f.), pě-sni 'song', kū-zni 'deceit', ži-zni 'life'.

Indo-Germanic. bhāni-s*: Armen. ban (gen. banj) 'dóyos', A.S. bēn O.Icel. bēn ben f. 'prayer' pr. Germ. bōni-z*, O.C.Sl. bani f. 'table, spell' (the s is a later insertion). We may place here, but with more hesitation, Goth. as-an-s f. 'harvest, summer' (cp. asnei-s O.H.G. esni 'day-labourer'), Pruss. ass-ani-s 'autumn' O.C.Sl. jes-enĩ f. 'autumn'.

Aryan. Skr. -áni- beside -aní- (is the latter for -ṇt-? see § 95 p. 285 f.). iṣ-áni-ṣ f. 'impulse, motive' śar-áni-ṣ 'injury, transgression', aś-áni-ṣ f. 'missile'. car-áni-ṣ 'mobile', cakṣ-áni-ṣ 'brightener, illuminator', rurukṣ-áni-ṣ 'able or willing to destroy'. Skr. sarva-jyāni-ṣ f. 'complete ruin' Avest. zyāni-ṣ f. 'harm', Skr. hāni-ṣ f. 'abandonment, decrease, loss', glāni-ṣ glāni-ṣ f. 'relaxation, discouragement'.

Armenian. ban 'λόγος': A.S. bēn etc., see above.

Italic. Lat. pāni-s m., also pāne n., beside pā-bulu-m.

Germanic. Goth. as-an-s f. 'harvest, summer'?, see above.

A.S. bēn O.Icel. bon bön f. 'prayer': Armen. ban etc., see above. The comparison of Goth. vēn-s 'hope' with O.H.G. wār (Bremer, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XI 274) is still uncertain; see § 93 p. 282. The suffix was fertile in forming feminine abstracts connected with weak verbs and derived from the present stem; these words end in -īni- -ōni- -aini-, as Goth. lāisein-s 'instruction' from lāisjan 'to instruct', laþōn-s 'invitation' from laþōn 'to invite', þulđin-s 'patience, endurance' from þulan 'to endure'. The form of the suffix was -eni- (as opposed to -ono- in the infinitive, which appears in lāisjan and þulan): lāisain-s = ground-form loisei-eni-s*, pr. Germ. -ii-īni-, cp. 3. sing. Goth. lāiseiþ, þulđin-s = ground-form t̥l̥l̥ēi-eni-s* pr. Germ. -ēi-īni-, cp. 3. sing. þulđiþ, laþōn-s like 3. sing. laþōþ; see I § 142 p. 127. These abstract forms were very numerous even in protoethnic Germanic; but the separate Germanic languages differ in the extent to which they made use of the established types. In Gothic the three methods of formation were in full use together: the form in -ein-s was the most, that in -ōn-s the least common; further examples are af-lagein-s 'remission', ga-hrāinein-s 'purification', frijōn-s 'caress, kiss', þaháin-s 'silence'. But in High German the only forms which appear are those in -īni-, and these are very numerous; but they were phonetically modified by confusion with secondary abstract nouns in -īn- (§ 115), as O.H.G. toufīn and toufi

'baptism' = Goth. dáuþein-s, mendīn mendī 'joy', restīn restī 'rest, repose'.

Balto-Slavonic. Pruss. ass-ani-s O.C.Sl. jes-enī f. 'autumn'?, see p. 288 above. Words in which the suffix was contracted with the vowel ending of the stem to which it was added, often show an inserted s (z). Lith. dūni-s dūsni-s f. O.C.Sl. danī f. 'gift'. O.C.Sl. basnī f. 'fable, spell': Armen. ban etc., see p. 287 above, prē-stanī f. 'omission' from prē-stati 'to omit, cease'; na-dēznī 'hope' from dēti 'ponere'. These nouns are also formed from derivative verbs, and are based upon the stem of the infinitive; as bojaznī f. 'fear' (bojati se), kajaznī f. 'repentance' (kajati se), prijaznī prijaznī f. 'love, friendship' (prijati prijati), bolēznī f. 'pain, sickness' (bolėti). Compare Pruss. biānsa-n acc. 'fear' beside biā-twei 'to fear', eb-signāsna-n acc. 'blessing' beside be-signāt-s part. 'blessed'.

§ 97. The Suffix -mi-. There are a few original substantives in which -mi- is primary, but the suffix never became fertile. Nearly all apparent examples from later periods are obviously nothing but -mo- -mā- forms which have passed into the i-declension.

No general definition can be given of the function of this suffix.

Indo-Germanic. qr-mi-s* 'worm' (compare Lat. cur-vo-s?): Skr. kṛ-mi-ś m., O.Ir. cruim f. Mod.Cymr. pryf pr. Kelt. kṛi-mi-*, Lith. kirmī-s, gen. kirmio, transferred to the io-declension (and now obsolete) from which was formed kir-m-ėlė (§ 76 p. 212). With the same suffix, and formed in imitation of the word qr-mi-s*, but from other roots, we have Lat. ver-mi-s m. O.H.G. ur-m (pl. urmi) m. 'worm' and Gr. ἔλ-μῆ-s f. 'intestinal worm'. uḷ-mi-s*: Skr. ūr-mi-ś m. 'wave', A.S. weolm weolm m. 'welling up, wave' pr. Germ. uol-mi-z* (I § 306 p. 243). Avest. dā-mi-ś 'creation, creature' (dāmi-data- 'gracious to created beings?'), Gr. θέ-μῆ-s f. (with secondary formations which have invaded its declension) 'ordinance, right, √ dhē 'set, establish'.

Aryan. Skr. kṛ-mi-ś, ūr-mi-ś, Avest. dā-mi-ś, see above. Skr. bhū-mi-ś f. (also bhūmī-, see § 106 Rem.) Avest. bū-mi-ś f. O.Pers. bumi- f. 'earth'. Skr. raś-mi-ś m. 'rein, strap', kār-mi-

'action, performance' in tuvi-kürmi-š 'mighty in action', sūr-mi-š f. 'light, shining flame'. Avest. dā-mi-š (dq-mi-š, see I § 200 p. 169) f. 'wisdom, insight', from dā- 'know, understand'.

Greek. ἔλ-μυ-ς, θέ-μυ-ς, see above. φῆ-μυ-ς 'speech, talk, report' beside φῆ-μυ.

Italic. Lat. ver-mi-s, see above. A change from the o- to the *i-*declension produced in-ermi-s, sub-limi-s and the like; see § 93 p. 281 and § 95 p. 286.

Old Irish. cruim, see above. cnāim m. 'bone' pr. Kelt. cnā-mi-*, beside Gr. κνή-μυ 'shinbone', compare Aeol. κνᾶ-μυ-ν acc. (pl. Hom. κνημῖδες) 'greaves'.

Germanic. O.H.G. wur-m, A.S. wiel-m, see above. By a change from the o- to the *i-*declension, Goth. hái-m-s f. 'village' beside pl. hái-mō-s, ar-mi-ns m. acc. pl. 'arms' beside the old *o-*stem O.H.G. aram O.Icel. ar-m-r (§ 72, 3 p. 171).

O.C.Sl. sedmǐ f. 'the number seven', osmǐ f. 'the number eight' were formed from the ordinals sedmǔ, osmǔ on the analogy of petǔ: petǔ and so forth.

§ 98. The Suffixes -ri- (-rri-) and -li- (-lli-)¹.

There are a few original nouns in which these suffixes are primary. -li- is very fertile in Italic. A large number of the examples of -ri- -li- which date from later periods, just as those of -mi-, arise simply from the transference of other stems into the *i-*declension.

No general definition can be given of their function.

Idg. -ri-. Skr. ás-ri-š f. 'the sharp side of a thing, corner, border, cut edge', Gr. ἄκ-ρι-ς f. 'point', esp. 'hill-top' ὄκ-ρι-ς f. 'point, corner, border', Lat. oc-ri-s m. 'hill-top'; compare Gr. ἄκ-ρο-ς etc.; see § 74 p. 184. Gr. ἰδ-ρι-ς 'knowing', O.Icel. vit-r 'wise' (pr. Germ. uit-ri-z*), √ ueid-. Skr. vádhi-ri-š 'gelded, castrated' Gr. ἔθ-ρι-ς, the same (cp. G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 68).

¹) C. von Pucker, Die [lat.] nomina derivata auf -alis (-aris) und -arius, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 113 ff.

-li-. Lat. tāli-s quāli-s, O.C.Sl. tolī adv. 'so much, tantum' kolī adv. 'how much, quantum', and (derived from -li- stems) Gr. τηλί-κος πηλί-κος, O.H.G. Alemann. welēr solēr, O.C.Sl. tolikū kolikū; see § 88 p. 265, § 89 p. 272.

Aryan. Only the evidence of the kindred languages can determine whether in any particular word we have Idg. -ri- or -li-.

-ri-. Skr. ús-ri-ś see above jī-rī-ś 'flowing water', beside jī-rá-s 'lively, rough': Lat. vi-reō O.C.Sl. ži-rŭ, see § 74 p. 182 f. śubh-rī-ś with the same meaning as śubh-rá-s 'gleaming, beautiful': Armen. surb 'pure', see § 74 p. 183. ús-ri-ś with the same meaning as us-rá-s 'of the morning' (adj.): Gr. αὔ-ρι-ος, see § 74 p. 181.

-li-. Skr. tū-li-ś f. 'brush', beside tū-lī f. 'cotton, wick, brush' tū-la-m 'panicle, tuft': Gr. τύ-λη τέ-λη, see § 76 p. 198. Skr. dhā-li-ś f. 'dust': cp. Lat. fūlīgō 'soot', Lith. dūlkė f. 'mote'. Avest. tiy-ri-ś m. 'arrow, missile' beside tiy-ra- 'sharp, pointed': Goth. stik-l-s, § 76 pp. 200, 207.

In the following examples it is not clear whether the suffix originally had r or l. Skr. bhū-ri-ś 'abundant, great, many', neut. bhū-ri Avest. būiri. Skr. áragh-ri-ś m. 'foot', vák-ri-ś m. f. 'rib'. áb-hri-ś f. 'hoe, spatula'. Avest. maoiri-ś m. 'ant' for pr. Ar. mau-ri-ś* (I § 160 p. 144), cp. Skr. vam-rá-s m. vam-rī f. 'ant'. — Skr. aṅgú-ri-ś aṅgú-li-ś f. 'finger' beside aṅguśtha- Avest. aṅgušta- m. 'toe'. There are also a few adjectives in -uri-ś, where we can hardly assume either -pri- or -lli-, as sáhuri-ś 'mighty', jásuri-ś 'exhausted, weary'.

Italic. Lat. oc-ri-s m., Umbr. ukri-per oc-ri-per 'pro ocre': Gr. ὄκ-ρι-ς, see above. Lat. ut-ri-s m., to be compared perhaps with uteru-s. secūri-s, cp. figūra and similar forms. Lat. sac-ri- (e. g. sacrem porcum) beside sac-ro-, Umbr. sakre n. 'sacrum, hostia' beside sakra 'sacras'. Lat. acer ac-ri-s, beside Gr. ἀκ-ρος; Osc. akrid 'acri' or 'raptim' might also be referred to a stem akro- (cp. amprufid 'improbe'). Lat. put-

-ri-s. Umbr. pacrer pl. 'pacati, propitii', cp. Goth. fag-r-s 'suitable' pr. Germ. faȝ-rá-s* § 74 p. 187. Cp. -bri- beside -bro- in anclābri-s etc., § 77 p. 215.

In Italic tāli-s quāli-s (p. 291) served as the types for a large group of adjectives; as Lat. æquali-s, liberali-s, nātali-s, vēnāli-s, vītali-s, dōtali-s; Umbr. verfale 'verbale, templum', sorsalem 'porciliarem', Tefrali abl. 'Tefri proprio'; the change of l to r by dissimilation seems to have taken place in pre-ethnic Italic when there was already an l in the word (cp. I § 269 p. 217): Lat. ālari-s, palmāri-s, militāri-s, lūnāri-s, lūminari-s, Umbr. staflarem 'stabularem'. The analogy of vīta: vītali-s gave rise in Latin to the forms fidēli-s (fidē-s), famēlicu-s (famē-s); ovīli-s (ovī-s), hostīli-s (hostī-s), and then further, to virīli-s (vir), puerīli-s (puer), hastīli-s (hasta); tribūli-s (tribus), īdūli-s (īdūs) pl.), whence pedūli-s (pes). Cp. Gr. τοῖο-ς ποῖο-ς: παντοῖο-ς ἀλλοῖο-ς § 63 Rem. 2 p. 128 and O.C.Sl. takŭ kakŭ: jedinakŭ drugako § 89 c, p. 273.

-li- in Latin adjectives frequently arises from the transference of o-stems into the i-declension, and the group of original forms in ālī-s (-ēli-s -īli-s -ūli-s) may have helped to effect the change. simili-s: cp. Gr. ὁμαλό-ς (in Celtic also an i-stem, O.Ir. samail, see below), humili-s: cp. Gr. χαμαλό-ς, pestīli-s etc., see § 76 p. 202 f. 205. Further agili-s: Skr. ajirá-s, bibīli-s, coctīli-s etc., p. 204. Cp. also stabīli-s nōbīli-s etc., § 77 p. 215.

There is one substantive in -li-, Lat. tōlēs pl. m. 'wen on the neck', for tons-li-*, from tens- 'stretch' (Goth. at-pinsan 'to draw towards one', Lith. tęs-ti 'to stretch by pulling'); tōnsillae 'tonsils' points to an older form tons-lo-* or tons-lā-*.

Old-Irish. All the apparent examples of this suffix known to me may have originally been ro- *lo-*stems (cp. § 93 p. 282). lēir 'diligent'. dūil f. 'creature, element' (beside dāl). būail, gen. bēla, f. 'axe'. samail 'likeness, picture' with the adjectives derived from it, as co-smīl 'similar': cp. Lat. simili-s.

In Germanic the suffix is extremely rare, and forms only adjectives, in which as in other i-stems, there is a confusion with the io-declension. O.Icel. vīt-r 'wise': Gr. ἰδ-ρα-ς, see

Balto-Slavonic. O.C.Sl. ďib-rĭ f. 'ravine'. Lith. ang-lī-s f. O.C.Sl. ag-lī m. 'coal'. O.C.Sl. by-lī f. 'plant, vegetable' beside part. by-lŭ, rĕb-lī f. 'bud, shoot', sop-lī (beside sopĕlī) f. 'flute', sŭch-lī f. 'dry wood, brushwood' beside u-sŭch-lŭ 'dry' (cp. I § 588 Rem. 2 p. 444), tek-lī f. 'resin', properly 'outflow', beside part. tek-lŭ. In -ĕ-li- (cp. -ĕ-lo- § 76 p. 212 f.): gybĕlī f. 'destruction', kapĕlī f. 'bath', peĕalī f. 'care, grief', sopĕlī f. 'flute', svirĕlī f. 'flute', obitĕlī f. 'dwelling', obutĕlī f. 'shoe', dĕtĕlī f. 'deed'. In -s-li- (cp. -s-lo- § 76 p. 211): jasli pl. f. 'crib' for ĕt-s-li-* beside jastŭ 'he eats', gasli pl. f. 'zither' beside gadž 'I play on the zither', myslī f. 'thought' beside Goth. ga-máud-jan 'to remind', otŭ-raslī f. 'sprig' beside rastā 'I grow'. Some of these forms with -li- must no doubt be explained in the same way as žes-točĭ (§ 93 p. 278. 284); toplī (beside toplŭ) has already been mentioned in that section.

§ 99. The Suffix -ti-. In Indo-Germanic this was a common primary suffix, and formed feminine nomina actionis. In Aryan, Balto-Slavonic, (and Keltic, cp. § 156) regular infinitives were developed from these abstract verbal nouns; e. g. Skr. pītáy-ē O.C.Sl. pi-ti 'to drink'.

Here and there we find nomina agentis also formed with -ti-, and some of these occur in more than one language; as Lat. hos-ti-s Goth. gas-t-s O.C.Sl. gos-tĭ, O.Ir. tāid O.C.Sl. ta-tĭ. All these forms may originally have been nomina actionis, the word which denoted a state or capacity being applied to the person in whom it was realised; thus Skr. citti-š f. 'understanding, state of being intelligent' also means in the Rig-Veda 'he who is intelligent'. And even adjectival stems, like Skr. pā-ti-š, 'stinking', were developed from these abstract nouns. Cp. § 80 p. 238 f., § 108. 149. 155.

In denominative abstract nouns, -ti- is rare; examples are numerals like penq-ti-s* 'fivefold character'. The -ti in Skr. ká-ti seems to be connected with this use of the suffix.

The root-syllable nearly always has the vowel in its weak grade. The accent is sometimes on the suffix, sometimes on the root, and in Sanskrit and Germanic the same word often shows both, as Skr. matí-ṣ and máti-ṣ, O.H.G. gi-burt (pr. Germ. burđi-*) and Goth. ga-baurp-s (pr. Germ. búrpi-). It is therefore probable that originally the accentuation varied in the different cases and corresponded to the different grades of the root; say nom. sing. mén-ti-s nom. pl. mytēi-es*. In the process of levelling, the weak form of the root-syllable generally prevailed, and as the same readjustment happened also in the to-participles (§ 79 p. 221), the two are no doubt connected. In the Slavonic infinitive, mén-ti-* was the type usually followed; which is due to the influence of the supine in -tū (§ 108).

These ti-stems were extended by the suffix -en-, and hence were formed a large class of abstract nouns in Italic and Keltic such as Lat. men-tiō beside *mēns*¹⁾, O.Ir. er-mítu 'honour'; these were not unknown even in Germanic and Greek, cp. Goth. ra-þjō = Lat. ra-tiō, and Gr. δωρίv-η. Cp. § 115. In Italic and Keltic a large proportion of the ti-abstracts were replaced by this newer formation.

These nouns could be derived from any form which served as a verbal stem, not merely from the root (in the strict sense of the word); hence words like Skr. údi-ti-ṣ f. 'speech' (beside part. udi-tá-s), Lat. moni-tiō (beside moni-tu-s) and Gr. ὁρᾶ-αι-ς f. 'seeing', Lat. satiās occupātiō. O.Ir. saigid 'a searching', Lith. sėdėti O.C.Sl. sěděti 'to sit'.

The addition of -ti- to the stem of the thematic present or aorist as in Skr. romá-ti-ṣ Gr. λάχε-αι-ς was no doubt a secondary development, although perhaps it may have begun even in the proethnic period; cp. -e-to- § 79 p. 218 f.

We may add a few more examples of the variation of the accent in Sanskrit (there are more words with the accent on the root-syllable in classical Sanskrit than in Veda): tyṇ-ti- tṛp-ti-, kīr-ti- kīr-ti-, bhū-ti- bhū-ti-, hē-ti- hē-ti-. Masculine and Adjectival forms are rare; besides those given under Indo-Germanic cp. Skr. dhū-ti-š m. 'shaker' (f. 'shaking', Gr. θῦσις f. 'raging, roaring'), vāś-ti-š 'desirous', Avest. rāi-ti-š m. 'distributor' (f. 'distribution, alms', Skr. rā-ti-š 'alms, gift').

With reduplication we have e. g. Skr. car-kṛ-ti-ṣ f. 'laudatory mention, praise', dī-dhi-ti-ṣ f. 'devotion', Avest. za-zāiti-ṣ f. 'throwing away'. Cp. the Greek forms p. 299.

Sometimes we have -e-ti-, e. g. Skr. vas-a-ti-ṣ f. 'nest', dr̥ś-a-ti-ṣ 'aspect', ram-á-ti-ṣ f. 'place of pleasant sojourn' rám-a-ti-ṣ 'gladly tarrying', ar-a-ti-ṣ m. In Aryan the dative of the -ti- abstracts served as an infinitive, e. g. Ved. pī-táyē 'to drink' Av. ker'-tē 'to fulfil' (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 20 f.).

In Greek it is a living suffix, especially fertile in forming nomina actionis from derived verbs. χύ-σι-ς 'outpouring, gush, libation': Skr. ā-hutiṣ f. 'the offering of oblations' λύ-σι-ς f. From derivative verbs: ὄρασι-ς 'seeing' (ὁράω), αἰτησι-ς 'prayer, demand', (αἰτέω), ἀξίωσι-ς 'thinking worthy' (ἀξιόω), κάθαρσι-ς 'purifying' (καθαίρω), ὕφανσι-ς 'weaving' (ὕφαινω), κηρύξι-ς 'proclamation, announcing' (κηρύσσω).

With reduplication: e. g. ποιφύξι-ς 'a snorting' from ποι-φύσσω. Cp. the Aryan forms p. 298.

With -e-ti- we have e. g. σχε-έ-σι-ς 'holding, condition', λάχ-ε-σι-ς 'lot, fate', εὑρ-ε-σι-ς 'finding'. Cp. also ἄ-νυ-σι-ς 'completing'. In correspondence with these nouns we find the partic. ἄ-σχετο-ς, εὔρο-το-ς, ἄν-ήνυ-το-ς § 79 p. 229.

-ti- was so widely used in Greek and formed so many new words that it is often impossible to tell whether a given word arose in Greek or is really Indo-Germanic. It is not probable that forms like φεύξι-ς ῥεύσι-ς ἔεψι-ς Arcad. ἔσ-τεσι-ς (beside φύξι-ς ῥύσι-ς τίσι-ς), in which the root-syllable is in the strong grade, are to be referred simply and immediately to the ablaut variation of the stem in Indo-Germanic (see p. 294).

As to the association of the *-ti-*stems in compounds like τεροψί-μυθο-το-ς with the σ-aorist, see § 30 p. 52.

In Italic, -ti- was no longer a living suffix. But its extension -tidn- (-tin-) was very fertile.

a. -ti-. Lat. cu-ti-s f.: O.H.G. hū-t O.Icel. hū-ð f. 'skin' pr. Germ. hū-ði-*. tussi-s f., no doubt to be connected with tundō. fus-ti-s m. stī-ti-s f.: Avest. vaē-ti-ṣ etc., see p. 295 above. fors f., Osc. fortis adv. 'forte' Pelign. forte gen. 'death', common ground-form mṛ-ti-s*. sors, also sor-ti-s f., beside serō. ars f.: Skr. ṛ-ti-ṣ f. 'method, kind, way'. pars f., beside por-tiō, see forti-s O.Lat. forti-s originally followed the o-declension: Skr. dṛḍhā-s 'established, firm', √ dhergh-.

I § 306 p. 242. grā-tēs pl. f., beside grā-tu-s. mēns, beside men-tiō, see p. 295 above. gēns, beside nā-tiō, see p. 295 above. messi-s f., beside metō. res-ti-s f.: Armen. z-gest, gen. z-gesti, 'garment'. Umbr. ahtim-em 'in actionem' beside ahtu 'actui', Lat. agō. Lat. hos-ti-s m. 'foreigner, enemy': Goth. gas-t-s m. 'stranger, guest', O.C.Sl. gos-tŭ m. 'guest, companion, friend' (the root meaning is perhaps 'injury, harm', compare Skr. ghas- 'to consume'; see the Author, in Curtius' Stud. V. 228 ff.). nox f.: Skr. nāk-ti-ṣ f. Goth. nah-t-s f. Lith. nak-ti-s f. O.C.Sl. noš-tŭ f. 'night'; yet this word noq-ti-* may not belong to the oldest stratum of ti- nouns, but be only an extension of noq-t-* (§ 123). cōs, gen. cōtis, f., cp. Skr. śā-ta-s 'whetted, sharpened', Gr. κῶ-vo-ς 'cone'. quies, gen. quētis, f.: Avest. šyēiti-š, see above, p. 297. From satiāre: satiās, gen. satiātis, f. 'sufficiency, repletion'.

b. -tiōn-. Lat. junc-tiō: Skr. yuk-ti-ṣ f. 'a yoking, setting going', Gr. ζεύξι-ς f. 'a yoking, putting to', Lith. inf. junk-ti 'to yoke'; the nasal of the Lat. and the Lith. form came from the present stem (Lat. jungō Lith. jūngiu). circum-litiō: Lith. inf. lė-ti 'to pour'. fissiō: Skr. bhitt-ṣ f. 'a breaking'. por-tiō beside pars, see p. 299 above. cul-tiō, from colō for cuelō* (I § 427 a p. 313, § 431 a p. 320). ēm-p-tiō (the regular form would have been, en-tiō*, see I § 207 p. 174): O.Ir. inf. air-itiu 'accipere', O.C.Sl. raġo-jętŭ f. 'manipulus, sheaf' inf. Lith. iīm-ti O.C.Sl. ję-ti 'to take'. men-tiō beside mēns, see above, p. 295. nā-tiō cōg-nā-tiō Umbr. natine 'natione, gente', beside gēns, see above p. 295. of-fensiō, from of-fendō. coctiō: Skr. pak-tŭ-ṣ etc., see p. 295 above. gestiō, beside gerō. messiō (cp. messi-s) see above. lec-tiō: Gr. λέξι-ς f. 'speaking, expression'. sta-tiō; the stem from which this is derived, sta-ti-*, may be contained in Umbr. statita 'statuta': Skr. sthŭ-ti-ṣ etc., see p. 297 above. ra-tiō: Goth. ra-þjō f. 'reckoning, account', beside Lat. rē-rī ra-tu-s. ac-tiō beside Umb. ahtim-em 'in actionem'. cap-tiō: Goth. anda-haft-s f. 'rejoinder, answer' Mid.H.G. haf-t f. 'a holding, hold'. cantiō Skr. ák-kū-ti-ṣ f.

'intention'. auctiō: Lith. inf. áuk-ti 'to grow', ✓ aug-. scānsiō, beside scandō. nō-tiō: Skr. prá-jñāti-ṣ etc., see above p. 296. con-crē-tiō. From derivative verbs: Lat. occupatiō dominatiō captatiō Osc. medicatinom 'judicationem' fruktatiuf 'usus, fructus', Lat. largitiō sortitiō, tributiō. It should be observed however that the great fertility of -tiōn- often makes it doubtful whether any given word really represents an original ti-stem, e. g. fissiō auctiō.

Lat. monitiō, vomitiō, sorbitiō, ex-spuitiō. {Osc. úittiuf 'usio, usus' for oit(i)tiuf*, see I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368, § 633 p. 474. Cp. monitu-s and so forth, § 79 p. 231.

Old Irish. fēith f. 'sinew': Avest. vaē-ti-ṣ etc., see above p. 295. tāid m. 'thief': O.C.Sl. ta-tŭ m. 'thief'.

-ti- was a living suffix, and formed abstract verbal nouns which were feminine (for the infinitives see § 156). buith 'being': Skr. bhū-tŭ-ṣ bhū-ti-ṣ f. 'good condition, well-being', Gr. qú-ai-ç f. 'nature', O.C.Sl. za-bytŭ f. 'forgetting, forgetfulness', inf. Lith. bū-ti Slav. by-ti 'to be'. brith 'carrying': Skr. bhṛ-tŭ-ṣ etc., see above p. 295. blith 'grinding, molere', beside melim 'I grind' (I § 212 p. 179). cleith (Mid.Ir.) 'concealment, hiding', beside celim 'I conceal'. saigid 'seeking out', beside saigim 'I seek out', compared with Lat. sāgiō. iar-figid 'questioning', cp. Lat. vocātiō.

Adjectives in -ti-, like blāith 'soft, gentle' (ground-form mŭ-ti-s*, I § 306 p. 243), ē-cm-ailt 'insolens', may have originally belonged to the o-declension. Cp. § 93 p. 282.

Some of the feminine abstract substantives in -tiu are also used to form infinitives (§ 156). er-mitiu 'honour' toim-tiu 'meaning, intent': Lat. mentiō, see above p. 295. air-itiu 'accipere': Lat. ēemptiō, see above p. 300. clōsi(u) 'hearing': Skr. śru-ṣ-tŭ-ṣ f. 'a gratifying, courtesy', O.Sax. O.Icel. hlus-t f. 'hearing', Lith. inf. klūs-ti 'to ask' (I § 467, 2 p. 343). epelt(i)u 'death', sinking', beside at-bail 'he dies, perishes'. aicsiu 'seeing' from -cas-tiō*, beside ad-chess 'visum est'. aigthiu 'fearing', for -agithiu*. Sometimes we find this extended form side by side with the shorter form in -ti-; e. g. dat. do saichtin and do saighin (both Mid.Ir.) = do saigid 'to seek out'.

Germanic. In protoethnic Germanic -ti- was fertile; but later on it passed almost, if not entirely out of use. This was due to two causes; to the variation caused by phonetic change (cp. e. g. Goth. anda-hafti-, ga-mundi-, ga-dēdi- (pronounced -dēdi-), ga-qumþi-, ga-vissi-), and to the almost complete loss of the to- participles, which broke down its formal connexion with the verb.

Goth. *us-tauht-s*¹⁾ 'completion, fulfilment' O.H.G. zuh-t 'drawing, training': Lat. duc-tiō, √ deuk-. Goth. fra-lust-s 'loss, destruction' (compare O.H.G. lus-t 'pleasure', perhaps in the sense of 'being free, unrestrained'), beside Goth. -liusan: cp. Gr. λύ-σις. Goth. saiuh-t-s O.H.G. suh-t 'illness', beside Goth. siukan 'be ill'. Goth. lis-t-s O.H.G. lis-t 'craft, trick' beside Goth. leisan 'to experience, learn': O.C.Sl. lŭs-tŭ f. 'deceit, trick'. Mid.H.G. trif-t 'driving, pasturage, meadow' O.Icel. drip-t 'snow drift', beside Goth. dreiban 'to drive'. O.H.G. scur-t 'shearing': Gr. σάφ-σις f. 'shearing', √ (s) ker-. Goth. ga-faurd-s 'a meeting, high council' O.H.G. far-t 'travelling' ground-form př-ti-* and př-ti-*, √ per-. O.H.G. ga-turst A.S. ge-dyrst 'boldness': Skr. dhyṣ-ṭi-ṣ 'boldness', √ dhers-. Goth. fra-vaurht-s O.Sax. far-wurht 'misdeed, sin': Avest. anvaršti-š i. e. anuvaršti-š f. 'suitable conduct'. O.H.G. gi-dult 'patience': Lat. ob-lātiō (-tlāti- for tŭ-ti-*), √ tel-. Goth. ga-qumþ-s 'meeting' O.H.G. cumft cunft 'coming' O.Icel. sam-kund 'meeting': Skr. gá-ti-ṣ etc., see above, p. 295. Goth. ga-kumþ-s 'a being acquainted' ga-kund-s 'a making acquainted, persuasion', O.H.G. kunst 'wisdom': Avest. ā-zainti-š f. 'knowledge, understanding', see p. 296 above. As to ft and st in the last-named forms see I § 214 p. 180 f. and § 529 p. 386. O.H.G. ana-dāht 'devotion' for þaræχ-ti-*, beside Goth. þagkjan (pret. þāhta) 'to think'. O.H.G. sih-t 'sight, power of sight', beside Goth.

1) The forms which follow are feminine unless it is otherwise stated.

saihvan 'to see': cp. Lith. sèk-ti 'to follow'? (cp. I § 419 p. 307). Goth. fra-gift-s 'bestowing' O.H.G. gif-t 'gift', beside Goth. giban 'to give'. Goth. ga-qiss 'agreement', beside ga-qip̃an (pret. ga-qap̃). O.H.G. sta-t O.Sax. ste-di 'place, stead': Skr. sthí-ti-ṣ etc., see above p. 297. Goth. ga-dēp-s (st. -dēdi-) O.H.G. tā-t 'deed': Avest. ni-dāiti-ṣ etc., see above, p. 296. Goth. anda-haft-s 'rejoinder, answer' Mid.H.G. haf-t 'hold': Lat. cap-tiō. Goth. ga-skaft-s O.H.G. gi-scaft 'creation, creature', beside Goth. ga-skapjan 'to make'. Goth. mah-t-s O.H.G. mah-t 'might': O.C.Sl. moštĩ f. 'might' inf. mošti 'to be able or capable'. Goth. gas-t-s m. O.H.G. gas-t m. 'guest': Lat. hos-ti-s, see above p. 300. Goth. slauht-t-s 'slaughter' O.H.G. slah-t 'striking, slaying': Gr. λάχ-τι-ς 'pestle for pounding, pounding' (λαχιζω, Lat. lacerō)? Goth. aiht-t-s O.H.G. eh-t 'property, possession': Av. iš-ti-ṣ f. 'goods, riches' (Skr. iṣ-). O.H.G. ur-chnāt 'agnitio': Skr. prá-jñā-ti-ṣ etc., see p. 296 above. O.H.G. nā-t 'seam': Gr. νῆ-σι-ς f. 'spinning'. O.H.G. hano-crāt 'cock-crow' (A.S. crāwan 'to crow'): Lith. inf. gró-ti 'to croak'. O.H.G. bluo-t 'blooming, bloom', beside Lat. flō-s. Mid.H.G. gruo-t 'a being green', beside Gr. χλω-ρός 'light green, yellow'. The following no doubt come from weak verbs: Goth. fahēp-s (st. fahēdi-) 'joy' (see Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 32), Goth. ar-báiþ-s (st. arbáidi-) O.H.G. arabeit 'work, need'.

Now and then we find -s-ti- instead of -ti-, as Goth. an-st-s O.H.G. an-st 'favour, grace' (compare O.Icel. qf-un-d 'ill-will'), beside O.H.G. unnan 'to bestow', O.H.G. span-st 'enticement', beside spanan 'to entice', Goth. háif-st-s A.S. hāst beside O.Icel. heip-t 'strife', O.H.G. trust for truh-st* beside truh-t O.Icel. drött 'troop, following'. This s came originally from forms like O.Sax. O.Icel. klu-s-t 'hearing' = Skr. śruṣ-ti-ṣ (p. 301), Mid.H.G. bluo-s-t (cp. A.S. blōstm and Lat. flōr-ēre) beside bluo-t 'bloom': in West-Germanic, forms like kunst must also have had some influence, if the conjecture given in I § 529 Rem. p. 386 is correct. Cp. -s-tuō- § 61, -s-tro- § 62, -s-lo- § 76, -s-tu- § 108, -s-men- § 117.

In the Germanic dialects many of these words became masculine without any change of meaning; this must be distinguished from the change of gender in such words as gasti 'guest'. Cp. von Bahder, Verbalstr. 76 f.

Goth. ra-þiō 'reckoning, account': Lat. ra-ti-ō, see above p. 300.

Balto-Slavonic. Here -ti- was very fertile, forming all the infinitives of Lithuanian, Lettic, and Slavonic. And it should be noticed that in this group of languages the phonetic changes which the suffix underwent were very slight (O.C.Sl. noštī for pr. Slav. notχī*, I § 462 p. 338).

Lith. plu-ti 'to become flooded, overflow' O.C.Sl. plu-ti Russ. ply-t' 'to flow, swim': Skr. plu-ti-ṣ f. 'overflowing, flood', Gr. πλύ-σι-ς f. 'washing', √ pleu-. Infinitives in Baltic and Slavonic were closely connected with the finite verb; hence the action of analogy caused many changes in the grade of the root-vowel. For the phenomena in Slavonic cp. Leskien, Archiv f. Slav. Phil. V 497 ff.

In Lithuanian we sometimes find -s-ti-, as ugnā-deksti-s beside ugnā-dekti-s (p. 305), cp. dek-s-ni-s § 95 p. 287. -ti- stems frequently passed into the analogy of -ja- and -ė- stems, e. g. kry-ti-s gen. -tės f. and kry-ti-s gen. -czio m. 'purse-net, hoop-net', szli-ti-s and szli-tė f. 'heap of sheaves'.

Infinitives of derivative verbs; Lith. jėszkó-ti O.C.Sl. iska-ti 'to seek', Lith. sėdė-ti O.C.Sl. sėdē-ti 'to sit'; Lith. gany-ti O.C.Sl. goni-ti 'to protect, tend'.

§ 101. 2. -ti- is used to form secondary abstract substantives. This use is exactly parallel to that of the participial suffix -to- and the abstract nominal suffix -to- -ta- (which were originally identical); both of these, as we have seen, could be added directly to noun stems in the proethnic and later periods (§ 79 p. 224 f. § 80 p. 238 ff. § 82 p. 249 ff.).

The forms which can be most confidently referred to the proethnic language are a group of abstract nouns connected with the ordinals in -to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.) penq-ti-s* f. 'fivefold character, the number five, a group of five': Skr. pañcātī-ś, O.Icel. fimt, O.C.Sl. peŕtī; with these should no doubt be compared O.H.G. fast f. 'fist' pr. Germ. funŕxti-z* and O.C.Sl. peŕstī f. 'fist' (-st- for -kst- as in těste, see I § 545 p. 399 f.), common ground-form paŕq-sti-s*¹⁾. Skr. śaṣ-tī-ś f. 'a group of nine' and 'ninety', O.Icel. nīun-d f. O.C.Sl. devę-tī f. 'a group of nine'. Skr. daśa-tī-ś 'a group of ten' and 'a hundred', O.Icel. tīun-d f. 'a group of ten', Lith. dėszim-ti-s f. O.C.Sl. desę-tī f. 'a group of ten'. These numeral forms naturally suggest the conjecture, that we have the same suffix in Skr. tá-ti (nom. acc.) 'so many' ká-ti (nom. acc.) 'how many?', Lat. tot toti-dem, quot: these words may have been originally neuter.

1) Cp. paŕq-* in O.H.G. funfu and elsewhere (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 193 f., Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 512) and for meaning, Goth. figgr-s 'finger', which is doubtless connected with this numeral. — Vol. I § 249 p. 205 should be corrected accordingly.

Remark. In Greek we find numerals in -tv-; in place of such forms as penq-ti-s* (see § 108). In proethnic Indo-Germanic there were forms in -i- parallel to these in -ti- (see § 123).

Beside Idg. iuuṇ-tá* 'youth' (§ 80 p. 239) there seems to have been a second form iuuṇ-ti-s* f. with the same meaning: Skr. yuvati-ṣ 'maiden, young woman' (the abstract is used for the concrete, § 155), O.H.G. jugund A.S. ƷeoƷoð 'youth' (Engl. youth both as the period and the person), prehist. Germ. iuʒúnþi-* for iuuṇþi-* (Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 504). Lat. sēmen-ti-s f. 'seed, seed-corn, seed time', originally 'the being sown'.

Further it is possible that stems in -es-ti- -os-ti- (cp. Lat. scles-tu-s onus-tu-s and the like) date from the proethnic period. In the words in which they occur, the termination -esti- -osti- is used as a simple and indivisible suffix. Skr. gábhasti-ṣ f. m. 'a thing separated into different parts, hand, fork, shaft (of a carriage)', pulastí-ṣ 'hair of the head, wearing smooth hair', palasti-ṣ 'gray with old age' (dubious). Lat. agresti-s, orig. 'a belonging to the country, rusticity'? O.H.G. angust f. 'anxiety' O.C.Sl. azostŭ 'strait, narrowing', cp. also Lat. angustu-s angustiae. In Lithuanian we have -esti-s, which passed over to the -io- declension: kalbesti-s f. 'speech', beside kalbesni-s m. 'talk' and kalbesi-s m. 'dialect' kalbesė f. 'speech'; mōkesti-s m. (gen. -esczio), beside mōkesni-s m. 'payment'; lūkesti-s f. 'awaiting, hope'; rūpesti-s f. m. 'care'. In Slavonic there are a large number of feminine abstract nouns in -ostŭ (but -j-estŭ, see I § 84 p. 80) formed from adjectives, and, more rarely, from substantives: besides O.C.Sl. azostŭ (cp. azŭkŭ 'narrow'), which has been mentioned, other examples are dlŭgostŭ 'length' from dlŭgŭ 'long', dobljestŭ 'bravery' from doblŭ 'brave', zvr̥rostŭ 'wildness' from zvr̥rŭ 'wild animal', boljestŭ 'illness' from bolŭ 'one who is ill'.

Other forms are more isolated, e. g. Skr. addha-ti-ṣ (concrete) 'one who has learnt the truth, sage' beside addhā 'in truth', Goth. gamáin-þ-s f. 'community' beside ga-máin-s 'common, joint' (cp. gamáin-dāþ-s § 102 below, and p. 311).

For -ti- in -tāti- and -tūti-, see the following section.

§ 102. The Suffixes -tāti (-tāt-) and -tūti (-tūt-)¹⁾. The former occurs in Aryan, Greek, and Italic; the latter in Italic, Celtic and Germanic. They formed feminine abstract nouns from adjectives and substantives. -tāti- appears to have arisen through the addition of -ti- (§ 101) to -ta- (§ 80 p. 238 ff.), cp. Skr. dēvā-tā- and dēvā-tāti-, Skr. guru-tā- and Gr. βαρύ-της, Lat. juven-tā- and juven-tāti-. The accumulation of suffixes would be like that in Skr. -tvā-tā-, cp. § 56 p. 103 f.; Lat. juven-tāti- : juven-tā- : Skr. yuva-ti- = puruṣa-tvāta- : puruṣa-tva- : puruṣā-tā-. -tūti- may have come from -tu- stems (§ 108) rather later. The parallel forms -tāt- and -tūt- beside -tāti- and -tūti- resemble doublets like Idg. noq-t-* : noq-ti-* 'night', dekṇ-t-* : dekṇ-ti-* 'ten-fold character', Skr. sam-i-t- f. beside sám-i-ti- f. (§ 123), and the shorter forms no doubt contain the suffix -t-.

Most of the words which occur in more than one language have -tāt(i)-: Skr. sarvā-tāti-ṣ sarvā-tāt- 'perfection'. Avest. haurva-tāt- 'safety', Gr. ὅλο-της 'totality, entirety', beside Skr. sārva-s Gr. ὅλο-ς 'whole'; Gr. νεό-της 'youth', Lat. novi-tās, beside Gr. νεό-ς Lat. ново-s. With -tūt(i)-: Lat. juven-tūs, O.Ir. óitiu 'youth' (dat. óitid) for (i)omētū(s)* (-iu for -u is due to the palatal character of the preceding syllable). A form with -tūt(i)- in one group of languages sometimes corresponds to a form with -tāt(i)- in another, as O.Cymr. duiu-tit 'deitas': Skr. dēvā-tāt-; O.Ir. beo-thu 'life': Gr. βιό-της; O.Ir. oen-tu 'unitas': Lat. ūni-tās; Goth. gamáin-dāþ-s: Lat. communi-tā-s. In many words -tūt(i)- may have ousted -tāt(i)-, which on the whole is certainly older.

For the loss of a syllable in forms like Avest. amer'tat- beside amēr'ta-tāt- 'immortality', Gr. ποτή- 'drink' for noro-*

-tār-, Lat. acc. luculentatē beside luculenti-tatem, see I § 643 p. 481 f.

Aryan. In Sanskrit, -tāti- and -tāt- (the latter is rarer) are only found in Veda, and even there not frequently. In Avestic we have only -tāt, where it is comparatively commoner than either form in Sanskrit. Skr. uparā-tāt- 'neighbourhood, environs'. Avest. upara-tāt- 'superiority', beside Skr. ūpara- 'nearer'. Avest. upara- 'upper'. Skr. gṛbhītā-tāti-ṣ 'state of being caught' from gṛbhītā-s 'caught', jyēsthā-tāti-ṣ 'sovereignty' from jyēsthā-s 'mightiest', satyā-tāti-ṣ and satyā-tāt- 'truthfulness' from satyā-s 'truthful', āsta-tāti-ṣ 'homestead, home' from āsta-m 'home', śā-tāti-ṣ 'health, bliss' from śām- n. 'health, bliss'. Avest. drva-tāt- 'durability, soundness' from drva- 'durable, sound', fratema-tāt- 'sovereignty' from fratema- 'first', hunar-tāt- 'virtue' for hunar-ta-tāt-*, compared with Skr. sūnṛta-s 'beautiful, glorious', ušta-tāt- 'prosperity, welfare' from uštā- 'well-being', yavaē-tāt- 'eternal duration' from yavē adv. 'always', dat. of yu- n. 'eternity' (cp. yuraē-ji- 'ever living').

Remark. From the last word we once find the phrase yavaē-ca tāitē 'for ever' (usually the word is yavaetāitē). Thus -tāt- was regarded as a compounded word (this appears also in other ways); and it seems to have been popularly connected with tan- 'stretch out'. Cp. Mod.H.G. brōsāme (O.H.G. brośma), which has no etymological connexion with sāme(n), but has been associated with 'it'; furthermore we find even in Greek παιρ-ό-της like παιρ-ό-μορφο-ς and Goth. mikil-dūþ-s = mikila-dūþ-s* like gud-hūs = guda-hūs* p. 311.

Greek. Here we find only -τᾱτ-, which was substituted for the -tā- used in forming abstracts (§ 80 p. 239 f.), and appears only in the combinations -ο-τᾱτ- and -υ-τᾱτ-. ὀρθό-της 'straightforwardness, rightness' from ὀρθό-ς: Lat. ardui-tas. σκαίο-της 'awkwardness' from σκαίο-ς 'awkward': Lat. scaevi-tas. κακό-της 'wickedness' from κακό-ς. ἀγνό-της 'purity, chastity' from ἀγνό-ς. βίο-της 'life' from βίο-ς. θεό-της 'godhead' from θεό-ς. ἐν-ό-της 'unity' from εἷς 'one'. παν-τό-της 'totality' from πᾶς. Hom. ἀνδ-ο-τῆρ-α acc. 'manhood' (more correctly no doubt ἀνδρῆτα; see I § 204 p. 170) from ἀνίρ ἀνδρ-ός. In the last three examples -ο- appears as it does in compounds, e. g. παιρ-ό- μορφο-ς; cp. also Lat. libidin-i-tās. βαρύ-της 'gravitas' from βαρύ-ς; cp. Skr. guru-tā- (§ 80 p. 239 f.). γλυκύ-της 'sweetness' from γλυκύ-ς. βραδύ-της (βραδυτής) 'slowness' from βραδύ-ς. ταχύ-της 'swiftness' from ταχύ-ς.

Italic. In Latin we cannot distinguish -tāti- from -tāt-, -tūti- from -tūt-, since in very many points the consonantal declension was assimilated to that of the i-stems. It may have been these very suffixes, with their double forms taken along with such doublets as noct- nocti- etc., that helped to establish the confusion. The variation in the gen. pl. (cīvitātium and cīvitātum) is of special importance (§ 93 p. 281).

boni-tās from bonu-s. dūri-tās from dūru-s. anxie-tās from anxiu-s. quāli-tās from quali-s. civī-tās from cīvi-s. liber-tās from līber. ūber-tās from ūber (in imitation of which was formed viduertās from viduo-s; notice the parallelism in meaning). facul-tās from facili-s, with the later by-form facili-tās. volup-tās from volupe volup. majes-tās from māior (cp. § 135 Rem. 1). hones-tās from honōs. tempes-tās from tempus. vetus-tās from vetus, or for vetusti-tās* from vetus-tu-s. voluntās for volunti-tās* from volēns. libidin-i-tās from libidō, cp. Gr. ἐν-ό-της (see above). Pelign. Herentas 'Venus' Osc. Herentateis 'Veneris, Volupiae', from herest 'volet', formed from the part. pres., like Lat. voluntās.

-tūti- -tūt- is very much rarer. Lat. juven-tūs (: O.Ir. ōitiu), senec-tūs beside juven-tās juven-ta, senec-ta, from juven-i-s, senex. virtūs from vir. servi-tūs from servo-s. There can be no doubt that -tūdō (gen. -tū-din-s), e. g. in servi-tūdō alti-tūdō, is closely related to this suffix.

In Old Irish we have -tāt-, which we may ascribe to protoethnic Celtic. ōitiu 'youth': Lat. juven-tās; see above, p. 308. oen-tu 'unitas' for oen-thu* (th (þ) after n was replaced by the tenuis by a comparatively late change). beo-thu (gen. be-thath) 'life'. The suffixes -atu -etu, in derivatives from adjectives in -e (iō-stems), are especially frequent; as torbatu 'utilitas' from tor-be 'utilis', dommetu 'paupertas' from domme 'inops', oendatu 'unity' from oen-de 'single', ildatu 'pluralitas from il-de 'pluralis', fiuchaidatu 'humiditas' from fiuchaide 'humidus'; the origin of this -atu -etu is doubtful').

Germanic. It occurs only in Gothic, in certain substantives in -dūþi-, derived from adjectives; as mikil-dūþ-s 'greatness' from mikil-s (mikila-) 'great', gamáin-dūþ-s 'community' from ga-máin-s (ga-máini-) 'common'. The loss of the vowel before the suffix is like that in ga-máin-þ-s (§ 101 p. 307 f.) and in compounds, e. g. gud-hūs brūþ-faþ-s (§ 40 pp. 69, 71 f.).

III. Suffixes in -u.

§ 103. The u-suffixes have a triple ablaut: u, eu, ou (e-series, I § 311—314). u e. g. in nom. and acc. sing. masc. fem. u-s u-m. eu e. g. in nom. pl. masc. fem. -eu-es. ou in gen. sing. -ou-s. The connexion of this ablaut with the original conditions of accent in the different cases cannot be exactly determined from the evidence now at our disposal. No clear explanation has been given of Gr. ταυα(F)-ό-ς compared with ταυ-ί-, Lat. grav-i-s compared with Skr. a-gr-u-, Skr. pr̥thiv-ī compared with pr̥th-ú-, which seem to imply -eu- as one of the proethnic forms of the suffix. The best analysis of the words is ταυα-Fό-ς, gra-vi-s, pr̥thi-ṛī, i. e. to suppose that the root-syllable was extended by ə, as in θρυά-τηρ and the like (I § 110 p. 103 ff.).

From the proethnic period downwards we find u-stems in all three genders. The masculine and feminine stems had originally the same inflexion; differences only arose during the developement of the separate languages, as in Skr. acc. pl. sūnūn m. 'sons', hānūṣ f. 'jawbones'.

Remark. For ū-stems like Skr. śpaśrū-ṣ O.C.Sl. svekry Gr. ρέκρυ-ς, see § 109 Rem. 2.

1) "It is hard to decide whether -atu came from -antu, or from the union of two dental suffixes (perhaps -ato-tūt-). Zimmer (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 461) regards the acc. corphadid as a true phonetic spelling (cp. I § 212 Rem. p. 179); yet, as he himself remarks, it may be merely a mistake of the scribe's. Mid.Ir. sochmattu 'possibility' perhaps supports t rather than d. Unfortunately the modern Celtic languages have lost the suffix. Personally I incline towards the second assumption; compare e. g. no-erladaigtis 'they obeyed' beside aurlatu 'obedience'." Thurneysen.

§ 104. The suffix *-u-*¹⁾. This is always primary, and most common in adjectives. The evidence of Sanskrit, Greek, Germanic and Lithuanian proves that in Indo-Germanic these adjectives were nearly always oxytone and had the root-syllable in the weak grade. But the strong grade must have been at one time regular in a certain number of the cases. It is true that such forms as Skr. prathú-ṣ Lith. plātù-s beside Skr. pr̥thú-ṣ, Skr. svādú-ṣ Gr. ῥῑδύ-ς O.H.G. suogi beside Goth. sut-s, cannot be taken to prove this, since a certain amount of assimilation between the forms of the three degrees of comparison (positive, comparative, and superlative) may be assumed in all these cases, and must be assumed in some; but it is fairly shewn by the variation between e. g. Goth. filu and Skr. purú-ṣ. Notice also the variation of form within the weak grade itself, e. g. grr-u-* and -gr-u* 'heavy' (I § 313 p. 250 f.). The feminine of these adjectives was differentiated by -iē- -ī- in the proethnic and later periods; e. g. Skr. tanv-ī beside the masc. tan-ú-ṣ (see § 110).

The substantives were masculine, feminine, or neuter. The variations of ablaut differed in different words. Note gon-u-* ġen-u-* ġn-u-* 'knee' and the like, and pek-ú-* and -pġk-u-* 'cow' (vol. I loc. cit.).

Slav. der-o-o* dr-ŭo-o (usually in pl. dr-ŭv-a) 'wood', Idg. dor-u-* der-u-* dr-u-*. We have a corresponding variation of ablaut in another neuter word, Skr. sān-u- sn-u- n. m. 'peak'. Skr. bāndh-u-ṣ m. 'relationship, relation', qś-ū-ṣ m. 'stem', ci-kit-ū-ṣ f. 'insight, understanding', pārś-u-ṣ f. 'rib': Avest. per's-u-ṣ m. 'rib', tāl-u n. 'palate', tráp-u n. 'chin'. Avest. sēnəh-u- sēnəgh-u- f. 'instruction'.

Armenian. barj-r, gen. barju 'high', ground-form bhṛgh-u-*. anju-k ancu-k 'narrow', (extended by -go-, see above p. 313). bazu-k 'arm' has the same addition, compare Skr. bahú-ṣ (see above, p. 313), but the word may have been borrowed from Persian. Other derivatives from u-stems: cn-aut 'jawbone, cheek', beside Skr. hán-u-ṣ etc. (see above, p. 313), cun-r (pl. cunk-R) 'knee', beside Skr. jān-u etc. (see above, p. 313), and other words.

Greek. θρασ-ύ-ς 'bold': Mid.H.G. türr-e 'bold' Lith. drąs-ūs 'bold' (this word like drąs-à 'boldness' which is closely akin, was modified through the influence of driś-; see I § 285 Rem. p. 228), √dherś-. βραδ-ύ-ς 'slow': Skr. mṛd-ū-ṣ 'tender'. παχ-ύ-ς 'thick': Skr. bah-ū-ṣ 'thick, much', common ground-form bhṛgh-ū-s*; can we compare Lith. bing-ūs 'stately, stiff, proud' in spite of the palatal gh (cp. Avest. baṛzah- n. 'size, strength')? see I § 467, 2 p. 343. λυ-ύ-ς 'clear-sounding', γλυκ-ύ-ς 'sweet', ταρφ-ύ-ς 'thick' βαθ-ύ-ς 'deep', δασ-ύ-ς 'thickly overgrown', ήν-ύ-ς 'stout, good', τρᾶχ-ύ-ς τρηχ-ί-ς 'rough, uneven, rugged', βριθ-ύ-ς 'heavy', ὄξ-ύ-ς 'sharp, piercing'.

πῆχ-υ-ς m. 'fore-arm, something bent': Skr. bah-ū-ṣ m. etc., see above p. 313. πέλεκ-υ-ς m. 'axe': Skr. paraś-ū-ṣ parś-u-ṣ m. 'axe'. σιάχ-υ-ς ᾠσταχ-υ-ς m. 'ear of corn'. γῆρ-υ-ς m. 'voice'. γέρ-υ-ς f. 'chin, jawbone': Skr. hán-u-ṣ etc., see above p. 313. ἄρκ-υ-ς f. 'hunter's net'. μέθ-υ, γόν-υ, δόρ-υ n., see above pp. 313, 314. πῶν n. 'herd' for πωι-υ*: cp. Skr. pay-ū-ṣ 'guardian', beside Gr. ποι-μήν Lith. pė-mū 'herdsman' (cp. § 105 Rem. p. 318). γλάφ-υ n. 'grotto, cave'.

Italic. We seem to have a trace of the old adjectival u-stems in Lat. īdūs pl. fem. sc. noctēs, 'the bright (nights)', from $\sqrt{a}idh-$ 'burn, be clear'. Compare also acu-pedi-u-s beside Skr. aś-ú-ṣ Gr. ὤξ-ύ-ς 'swift'. The other Latin forms of this class have gone over to the i-declension: grav-i-s, ten-u-i-s, sudvi-s for syād-u-i-s*, see above pp. 312, 313; and no doubt levi-s, pingui-s. The form of the feminine (cp. Skr. tanv-ī) must have had something to do with this change of declension.

Masc. lac-u-s: O.Ir. loch 'lake' n.; compare Gr. λάκκο-ς 'hole, pit', which according to the rule given in vol. I § 166 p. 147 implies a stem lakv-*. im-petu-s, alg-u-s, grad-u-s. Fem. trib-u-s Umbr. trifo 'tribum', which can scarcely come from tri- 'three' + $\sqrt{b}hu-$; dom-u-s: O.C.Sl. dom-ŭ 'house'; ac-u-s, col-u-s (also m.). Neut. pec-u- Umbr. pequo 'pecua' beside Lat. pec-u-s, see p. 313 above; gen-u see p. 313 f.; veru Umbr. berva 'verua' berus 'verubus': O.Ir. bir 'sting, spear', common ground-form ger-u-*; spec-u (beside spec-u-s m. f.); gel-u.

Old Irish. tiug (gen. tig) 'thick': O.H.G. dicchi 'thick, dense' (Goth. þik-u-s* or þiq-u-s*). il 'much': Skr. pur-ú-ṣ etc.; see p. 312 above. fiu 'suitable, worthy' or 'suitability' Mod.Cymr. gwiw 'proper, fitting, worthy' Gall. Visu-rîx pr. kelt. ues-u-*: Skr. vás-u-ṣ vás-u (p. 314), see Thurneysen in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 148 f. dub 'black'. fiuch 'wet'. From an Indo-Germanic u-stem come also tana Corn. tanow Bret. tanav 'thin', cp. Gr. ταρ-ν- τανν-(f)ο- etc., p. 312 f., and § 103 p. 311.

Germanic. The adjectival u-stems were partly absorbed into the io-declension, the point of connexion being the original feminine formation with -iē- -ī-. Goth. kaúr-u-s 'heavy': Skr. gur-ú-ṣ etc., see above p. 312. Goth. þaúrs-u-s O.H.G. durr-i 'dry, arid': Skr. tyś-ú-ṣ etc., see above, p. 312. Goth. aggu-u-s 'narrow' instead of aggu-s* through the influence of the weak form aggv- = Skr. ahv-, O.H.G. eng-i O.Icel. qng-r: Skr. qh-ú-ṣ etc., see above p. 313. Goth. O.H.G. fil-u (A.S. fealo = pr. Germ. fal-u*, Fris. ful = ful-u*) 'much': Skr. pur-ú-ṣ etc., see above p. 312. Goth. hard-u-s O.H.G. hart hert-i 'hard': Lith. kart-ù-s 'bitter'. A.S. myrg-e 'lasting a short time' O.H.G. murg-fāri 'caducus, fragilis, transitorius': Gr. βραχ-ύ-ς 'short', common ground-form mrgh-ú-*. Goth. tulg-u-s 'firm', qairr-u-s 'soft'. A.S. spit-u O.H.G. spiz m. 'spear', properly something 'pointed', compared with O.H.G. spizzi 'pointed'.

Goth. mag-u-s O.S. mag-u m. 'boy': O.Ir. mug 'slave, servant'. Goth. hair-u-s m. 'sword': Skr. śar-u-ṣ m. f. 'missile' Goth. haid-u-s m. 'kind, way' O.H.G. heit m. f. 'persona, sexus, rank, position' A.S. hād m. 'family, position, nature': Skr. kēt-ú-ṣ m. 'phenomenon due to light, picture, form'. A.S. aelf Mid.H.G. alp (alb-) m. 'goblin, elf' was originally, no doubt, an -u-stem: Skr. rbh-ú-ṣ 'artistic, a sculptor'. Goth. kinnu-s f. 'cheek' instead of kinu-s*, A.S. cin f. 'chin': Skr. hán-u-ṣ etc., see above p. 313. Goth. hand-u-s f. O.H.G. hant (dat. pl. hantum) f. 'hand'. Goth. falhu n. 'money' O.H.G. fih-u n. 'cattle': Skr. pás-u etc.; see p. 313 above.

In Germanic the u-inflexion of consonantal stems largely increased the number of the substantives in -u-; the point of contact is seen in forms like (Goth.) acc. sing. fōt-u acc. pl. fōt-uns. Cp. § 56 p. 103, § 160, 1, § 161.

Balto-Slavonic. Adjectives in u-have survived only in Lithuanian, but there they are very common; and their number was considerably increased by the fact that a parallel form in -u-s could be made to any adjective in -a-s; e. g. asztrù-s § 74 p. 187 f., gailù-s § 76 p. 210, gėdrù-s beside gėdra-s, drungnù-s beside druņgna-s. Most of the cases passed into the -io- inflection; cp. the Germanic section, p. 316. platù-s 'broad': Skr. prth-ú-ṣ etc.; see above, p. 313. dras-ù-s 'bold': Gr. δρασ-ύ-ς; see above, p. 315. sald-ù-s 'sweet': O.C.Sl. sladü-kü 'sweet'. dub-ù-s 'hollow', dyg-ù-s 'prickly', baug-ù-s 'timorous', staig-ù-s 'hot-tempered', smag-ù-s 'malleable'. It is only rarely that the root has the accent, as in tánk-u-s 'thick'. The existence of pairs like drqsù-s 'bold' and drqsù 'boldness' led to the use of -u- as a denominative suffix; e. g. tamsù-s 'dark' from tam-s-à 'darkness', czēsù-s 'timely' from czēsà-s 'time' (a borrowed word). In Slavonic adjectival u-stems are found in derivatives with -go-; besides sladü-kü we have e. g. tñü-kü qzü-kü (p. 313).

In Balto-Slavonic the substantives in -u- are all masculine. Lith. med-ù-s O.C.Sl. med-ŭ 'honey': Skr. mādh-u n. etc.; see above, p. 313. Lith. virsz-ù-s 'the upper, outer part' O.C.Sl. vrich-u adv. 'above'. Lith. dang-ù-s 'heaven' beside dengiù 'I cover', vid-ù-s 'the inner part', ał-ù-s a drink like beer. O.C.Sl. dom-ŭ 'house': Lat. dom-u-s (✓dem- 'build'), vol-ŭ 'ox', pol-ŭ 'side'. In Slavonic all u-stems were inflected as o-stems.

§ 105. The Suffix -iu-. This must be regarded as proethnic, even though we cannot point with certainty to any one example which dates from the Indo-Germanic period. It should be noticed how frequently we find -iu- and -io- side by side, as Skr. vā-yú-š Lith. vė-ja-s 'wind', Gr. v-iú-ς and v-ió-ς 'son'. Skr. yāj-yu-š 'revered as divine' and 'revering, pious' and yaj-ya-s 'venerandus'.

Remark. The explanation of Skr. pāy-ú-š pr. Gr. πωι-υ* (§ 104 p. 315) as containing the suffix -u-, not -iu- (similarly Skr. stāy-ú-š tāy-ú-š Avest. tāy-u-š 'thief' cp. Skr. stē-nā-s, Skr. dhāy-ú-š 'thirsty' cp. dhē-nā-) is based on the hypothesis mentioned in vol. I § 150 p. 136, which would allow us to assume such a root as e. g. pōi-, not pō-. If this hypothesis be correct, it is natural to conjecture that the suffix -iu- may have sprung from these nouns, pōiu-* being analysed as pō-iu-* etc. On this model then were formed e. g. Skr. vā-yú-š (Idg. uē-), dhā-yu-š 'generous' (Idg. dhē-), and later on -iu- was added to consonant stems, as Skr. dās-yu-š. So far as I can see there is nothing to prevent our assuming that this process took place in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

Aryan. Skr. dās-yu-š m., a title both of the gods' enemies, the demons, and of the unbelieving tribes, Avest. dañhu-š f. (cp. I § 125 p. 115, § 558 p. 415) O.Pers. dahyu- (nom. sing. dahyāu-š) f. 'land, district, neighbourhood'. Skr. man-yú-š m. 'excited thought, zeal, displeasure, anger' Avest. mainyu-š m. 'spirit, genius'. Skr. vā-yú-š m. Avest. va-yu-š m. 'wind': the Avestic form is no doubt for uə-iu-*, see I § 109 p. 101. Skr. mṛ-t-yú-š m. 'death': perhaps identical with the Armen. u-stem marh mah (gen. marhu mahu) 'death', see I § 360 p. 276; it is based on a stem mr-t-, see § 123.

Skr. bhuj-yú-ṣ 'flexible', śundh-yú-ṣ 'neat, pure', dhd-yu-ṣ 'generous', sáh-yu-ṣ 'strong'. The commonest forms are adjectives which are connected with derivative verbs, and mean 'seeking after, desiring something' or 'possessing, performing, exhibiting something' and the like. Examples are aśvayú-ṣ 'desiring horses', śravyú-ṣ 'ambitious', dēvayú-ṣ 'reverencing the gods', udanyú-ṣ 'containing water' vīrayú-ṣ 'behaving like a hero'; cp. part. dēvayánt- 'reverencing the gods' and feminines like aśvayá 'desire for horses'. Avest. aṇhu-yu-ṣ a proper name, beside aṇhuyēmi 'I govern' aṇhuyā- f. government'.

Armenian. Perhaps we should class here marh 'death'; see above, under Aryan.

Greek. Lac. Arcad. v-iv-ḡ 'son', Cret. v-iv-ḡ, Att. úv-ḡ (inser.), Hom. gen. víōs etc., beside víó-ḡ úó-ḡ, which can scarcely have come from the former by dissimilation: cp. Skr. su-ta-s 'begotten, son' (cp. W. Schulze, De reconditioribus quibusdam nominum in -YΣ exeuntium formis, Commentationes philologicae Gryphiswaldenses, Berol. 1887, p. 17 ff.).

According to Wackernagel (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 295 ff., XXVII 84 ff.) substantives in -εῦ-ḡ like νομεῦ-ḡ 'herdsman' (nom. pl. Cypr. -ḡF-εs) also belong here, and should be compared immediately with the Sanskrit nouns in -ayu-ṣ. Yet some difficulties still remain; should we, for instance, assume Idg. -eju-s or -ēju-s for the nom. sing.? The latest discussion of these stems is by Johansson (De derivatis verbis contractis linguae Graecae, 1886, p. 73 ff.).

Germanic. Goth. drun-ju-s m. 'noise', stub-ju-s m. 'dust', (cp. O.H.G. stuppi 'dust'); perhaps also -vaddju-s f. 'partition, wall, rampart' (O.Icel. vegg-r, O.Sax. acc. pl. wegos i. e. weijos), where ddj came from j (I § 142 p. 127).

Baltic. In Lithuanian -iu- is common, both in primary and secondary use. It forms only masculines. gỹr-iu-s 'praise, glory', vỹr-iu-s 'eddy', skỹr-iu-s 'separation', vỹ-lu-s 'enticement, trick' spēcziū-s 'swarm' cp. spēcziū inf. spēsti 'to swarm' (of bees).

There a large number of nomina agentis, as pirdžiu-s, 'peditor' sūkcziu-s 'trickster', audėju-s 'weaver', rācziu-s 'wheelwright', bezdālu-s 'who sends forth many blasts', and other appellations of living beings to denote a particular characteristic, as skar-mālu-s 'scamp' (skārma-la-s 'rags torn off') bėdžiu-s 'poor creature' (bėdà 'need'), kytrūlu-s 'wiseacre, coxcomb' (kytrū-s 'clever'), ragūcziu-s 'horned thing' (ragūta-s 'horned'). In Lithuanian -ju- was far more fertile than in the other European languages. Brückner assumes that the whole group of nouns in -ju- is a purely Lithuanian formation (Archiv f. slav. Phil. III 254 f.), but this is improbable.

§ 106. The suffix -nu- (-ṇnu-). This is rare in most of the languages. It usually forms substantives.

Indo-Germanic *sǵ-nu-s m. 'son': Skr. sūnú-ṣ O.H.G. sunu Lith. sūnù-s O.C.Sl. synŭ.

Aryan. Skr. sū-nú-ṣ Avest. hunu-š m. 'son': Lith. sū-nù-s etc., see above. Skr. bhā-nú-ṣ 'gleam, sun' Av. bā-nu-š m. 'gleam, light'. Skr. dhē-nú-ṣ f. 'milch cow' Avest. daē-nu-s f. 'female' (of animals). Skr. dā-nu Avest. dā-nu n. 'trickling moisture, dew', also Skr. dā-nu-ṣ. Skr. vag-nú-ṣ m. 'sound, cry', sthanú-ṣ m. 'stick, stump'; dhṛṣ-nú-ṣ 'bold', gṛdh-nú-ṣ 'eager, greedy'. Avest. taf-nu-š m. 'heat, heat of fever', barš-nu-š f. 'peak, height'; zaē-nu-š 'equipped'.

In Sanskrit we find also -anú-, as krand-anú-ṣ m. 'bellowing' nad-anú-ṣ m. 'din', vi-bhañjanú-ṣ 'breaking to pieces'. This -anú- is parallel to -anī-, as is shewn by kṣip-anú-ṣ 'missile' kṣip-anīṣ 'a cut with a whip'. Hence no doubt it should be derived from -ṇnu-. See § 95 p. 285.

Forms like ky-t-nú-ṣ 'active' (lōka-kyt-nú-ṣ and lōka-kṛ-t 'making a clear space', see § 123) gave rise to the fairly common adjectival suffix -tnu- (cp. -t-van- § 116 and the like): dar-tnú-ṣ 'breaking to pieces', dravi-tnú-ṣ 'running', mādayi-tnú-ṣ 'intoxicating'.

The adjectival suffix -snu- was no doubt derived from more than one typical form. kraviṣṇú-ṣ 'greedy of raw flesh' (kraviṣ- 'raw flesh'), rōciṣṇú-ṣ 'shining' (rōciṣ- 'light'); cariṣṇú-ṣ

'wandering', gamiṣṇú-ṣ 'going', cyāvayīṣṇú-ṣ 'setting in motion', jīṣṇú-ṣ 'victorious', nī-ṣatsnū-ṣ 'sitting down'. vadhasnū-ṣ 'carrying a murderous weapon' beside vadhasná-m 'murderous weapon' (see § 66 p. 142), as Avest. zaṇnu-ṣ 'equipped, beside zaṇe-m 'equipment, weapon'.

Greek. Here -vv- is very rare. Hom. ῥοῦ-vv-ṣ 'footstool' beside Att. ῥοῦ-vo-ṣ 'seat, bench'. λυ-νύ-ς 'smoke, vapour'.

Italic. The suffix is rare. Lat. ma-nu-s f., Umb. manuv-e 'in manu', no doubt standing for mā-nu-*, from $\sqrt{mē}$ - 'measure'. Lat. cor-nu n. and cor-nu-s beside the rare cor-no- n.: Gall. xáq-vv-ṣ (schol. Iliad, Σ 219, Eustath. 1139, 57) beside xáq-vo-v acc. 'trumpet' (Hesych.), Goth. haúr-n n. 'horn' (§ 66 p. 147); cp. Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 188. pī-nu-s f., also pī-no- f., cp. Gr. πί-rv-ṣ. The dative vēnui beside vēnō vēnu-m from ves-no-* or vēs-no-* (§ 66 p. 142 under Armenian) is certainly a late change of declension.

Old Irish. lī-n 'number' ground-form plē-nu-*. Cp. also orgun orcun f. 'killing, to kill' for orgonu orgunu according to Stokes, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 291; but orgundā-* might equally be assumed as its original form.

Germanic. Goth. su-nu-s O.H.G. sunu O.Icel. sun-r m. 'son': Skr. sū-nú-ṣ etc., see p. 319 above. Goth. þaúr-nu-s m. 'thorn' beside the *-o-*stems O.H.G. dorn O.Icel. þorn; there is, however, no reason why we should not assume that þur-nu-* was the pr. Germ. form; O.C.Sl. trī-nū may also be an original *u-*stem, but note Skr. tī-ṇa-m 'stem of grass'. Goth. asilu-qatrnus f. 'μυλός ὀνικός, millstone' (its suffix may be compared with that of O.C.Sl. žrī-ny f. 'mill') beside O.H.G. chwir-na 'millstone, mill' O.Icel. kver-n 'mill', Lith. gīr-nos pl. 'millstones, mill'.

Balto Slavonic. Lith. sū-nū-s O.C.Sl. sy-nū m. 'son': Skr. sū-nú-ṣ, see above p. 319. O.C.Sl. či-nū m. 'rank, order', beside Skr. ci-tā- 'ranged, trooped'. In Lithuanian there are a few adjectives, which however may be simply modifications of forms in -na- (see p. 317): e. g. drung-nū-s 'lukewarm' (beside druṅg-na-s), gad-nū-s 'useful', szvel-nū-s 'tender, soft to touch'; with -s-, dū-snū-s do-snū-s 'generous'.

§ 107. The Suffixes -ru- and -lu-. These are original in a few nouns. They are more or less fertile in Baltic as adjectival suffixes.

Indo-Germanic. -ru-. dak-ru* n. 'tear': Gr. δάκρυ, Lat. dacru-ma lacru-ma lacri-ma (I § 369 p. 279 f.), Corn. dagr pl. dagrou; hence no doubt Germ. táxra-* (O.H.G. zahhar O.Icel. tár) and tagr-á-* (Goth. tagr A.S. teazor) originally had -ru-; another word which no doubt was formed in imitation of this, though from a different root, is Skr. ás-ru n. 'tear', cp. Skr. kṛ-mi-ś: cp. Lat. ver-mi-s: cp. Gr. ἐλ-μυ-ς § 97 p. 289. Skr. śmáśru n. 'beard, moustache' for smaś-ru* (I § 557, 4 p. 413), Armen. moruḵ (mōru-ḵ muru-ḵ) 'beard' (though this comparison is not quite certain); compare Lith. smak-rà 'chin' (I § 467 p. 343).

-lu-. Skr. dhā-rú-ś 'sucking' Gr. θη-λν-ς 'giving suck, female', beside Gr. θη-λή 'mother's breast' Lat. fē-lāre etc., see I § 256 p. 210. Skr. bhī-rú-ś bhī-lu-ś Lith. bai-lù-s 'timorous'.

Aryan. Only the evidence of the cognate languages can decide whether the suffix is Idg. -ru- or Idg. -lu-. Idg. -ru- may be assumed in: Skr. ás-ru Av. as-ru n. 'tear' beside Skr. aś-rá-m 'tear' (see above), and Skr. śmaś-ru n. 'beard' (parallel to this we find hári-śmaśāru-s 'with light coloured beard'); see above.

In the following instances it is doubtful whether we have Idg. r or l. Skr. pṛ-ru-ś no doubt meaning 'making to bubble, swell'. Avest. duž-vandru-ś 'desiring evil'. Skr. patá-ru-ś 'flying', like pata-rá-s § 74 p. 182. Skr. vandā-ru-ś 'praising, glorifying', ptyā-ru-ś 'despising, scorning', patayā-lú-ś 'flying'. Is śát-ru-ś 'foe' = śát-ru- or śát-tru-?

Greek. δάκρυ n., see above. κάκρυον f. κάκρον (κάκρυον) n. 'roasted barley' and βότρυς m. 'bunch of grapes' may be classed here provisionally.

Italic. Extended by -mā-: Lat. dacru-ma (see above). Perhaps we should class here tonitru-s m. tonitru n., whose formation seems to resemble that of Skr. stanayi-tnú-ś (compare § 106 p. 320) and tanyatú-ś 'thunder' (§ 108).

Germanic. Goth. ái-ru-s O.Icel. ǫ-r-r ǫ-r-r m. 'messenger', ✓ei- 'go'; also A.S. ār 'messenger', which is no longer recognisable as an u-stem. Goth. hūh-ru-s m. and O.H.G. hungar m. (of which the same may be said) 'hunger', pr. Germ. χun̥χ-ru-z* and χun̥χ-rū-s*. Pr. Germ. flō-ru-* Mid.H.G. vlur m. f. 'corn-field, ground' A.S. flōr m. f. 'house-floor, barn-floor': O.Ir. lā-r 'flooring, floor'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian there are a considerable number of adjectives in -rū-s and -lū-s: bud-rū-s 'watchful', suk-rū-s 'active', kant-rū-s 'patient', ėd-rū-s 'ravenous' (ėd-rà 'fodder') isz-matrū-s 'sharp-sighted' (cp. O.C.Sl. mot-r-iti 'to look'), buk-lū-s 'crafty, sly' isz-teklū-s isz-tenklū-s 'sufficing'. Parallel to these we sometimes have forms in -ra-s -la-s, as gėd-rū-s and gėd-ra-s 'bright, clear', and gai-lū-s gai-la-s 'ill-tempered, snappish' (of dogs). The a-form appears in most cases to be older than the other, and it must sometimes be pre-supposed, even where it does not occur, e. g. in asztrū-s 'sharp' beside O.C.Sl. ostrū Skr. catur-aśra-s Gr. ἄστρος (§ 76 p. 184 and p. 187).

§ 108. The Suffix *-tu-*¹⁾. This was a common primary suffix used in forming abstract substantives (verbal nouns, nomina actionis) even in the proethnic period. These were masculine; but through the influence of the gender of other abstract nouns, they became feminine universally in Greek, and sometimes in Aryan and Germanic. In Aryan, Latin, Balto-Slavonic (and Keltic, see § 156) they are found attached to the verbal system as infinitives (gerunds, supines); and it is possible that this association with the verb, which gave rise to a large number of new formations, began at least in part before the end of the proethnic period. And in this connexion it is especially important to observe that we find the acc. -tu-m used after verbs of motion in precisely the same way in Sanskrit, Latin, and Balto-Slavonic; e. g. Skr. hótum ēti 'he goes make sacrifice',

1) Th. Benfey, Die Suffixe ru, tu sammt ātu, Kuhn's Ztschr. II 215 ff.

Lat. cubitum it, Lith. eĩksz vėlgytũ 'come and eat', O.C.Sl. česo izidoste vidětũ? 'quid existiis visum?'

Only a few masculine and feminine substantives formed with this suffix are other than nomina actionis, and their uses can easily be derived from the meaning of an abstract verbal noun. The nomina agentis (as Skr. mán-tu-š m. 'counsellor' beside mántu-š m. 'counsel, advice', Goth. hliftu-s m. 'thief', O.Icel. vqrð-r m. 'watcher, waiter' beside vqrð-r m. 'watch') show the same change of meaning as Lat. hosti-s O.Ir. táid; and the few adjectives that occur (as Skr. tapyā-tũ-š 'hot, glowing') are parallel to such forms as Skr. pā-ti-š 'stinking'. Cp. § 99 p. 293, §§ 149. 155.

There are a few neuter substantives as Skr. vās-tu Gr. ἄσ-τν.

Originally the accent varied in the different cases in connexion with differences in ablaut, e. g. ēi-tu-* i-tu-* (from ei-* 'go'); such a distinction is preserved in Skr. ē-tu-m*: i-tv-ā. In Sanskrit the variation survived in these cases, which had been incorporated into the verbal system, because, through the difference in their use, their connexion in form was forgotten, but in the complete declension of any one noun the differences were levelled; in some cases the type ei-tu-* was adopted (e. g. māntu-š), in others itu-* (e. g. ṛtũ-š). Other survivals of the old gradation are seen in (e. g.) Gr. κλει-τν-ς and κλι-τν-ς, Lith. lẽ-tu-s and ly-tũ-s. In Latin and Lithuanian the supine was influenced by the to-participles and the abstract nouns in -ti-, so that the type itu-* prevailed: e. g. Lat. da-tu-m da-tũ like da-tu-s (da-to-s) da-tiō, Lith. mĩlsz-tũ like mĩlsz-ta-s mĩlsz-ti (✓ melg-). On the other hand, the corresponding form in Slavonic generally shows the type eit-* and itself influenced the ti-infinitive (e. g. O.C.Sl. mĩls-tũ and mĩls-ti); this is certainly connected with the comparative disuse of the -to- participle in this group of languages (§ 79 p. 336).

These nouns could be based upon any form which served as a verbal stem, not merely on the root (in the strict sense); hence forms like Skr. vāmi-tu-m inf. 'to vomit'. Lat. vomi-tu-s m., Skr. jīvā-tu-š f. 'life' (cp. Av. jyā-tu-š f. 'life'), Gr. βοη-τν-ς

f. 'cry', Lat. appara-tu-s m. andī-tu-s m., O.Ir. scarad 'a severing' Goth. vratō-du-s m. 'journey', Lith. jėszkó-tū O.C.Sl. iska-tū 'to seek'.

-e-tu- is found like -e-to- § 79 p. 219 and -e-ti- § 100 p. 294), e. g. Skr. kr-á-tú-ṣ 'power, strength' vah-a-tú-ṣ m. 'bridal procession', Gr. ἔρv-μo-ς 'truthful' from ḗ-rv-* instead of h-ετ-v-* 'existence' (✓es-).

'thought'; jyā-tu-ṣ f. 'life'. Skr. jīvā-tu-ṣ f. 'life' (no doubt with the same ā as Avest. jyā-tu-ṣ; though we might also regard it as ā = Idg. o, cp. Lith. gyva-tū O.C.Sl. živo-tū Gr. βίο-το-ς), inf. ā-śvā-sayi-tu-m 'to cause to breathe again, console' from ā-śvās-aya-ti 'makes to breathe again, consoles'.

With -e-tu-: Skr. kr-ā-tu-ṣ m. 'power, strength, power of mind', Avest. xr-a-tu-ṣ m. 'understanding, insight', from kar- 'set at work'. Skr. vah-a-tú-ṣ 'bridal procession', tan-ya-tú-ṣ m. 'thunder', tap-ya-tú-ṣ 'hot, glowing'. Avest. r-a-tu-ṣ 'fixed time' beside Skr. ṛ-tú-ṣ.

In classical Sanskrit the accusative, in Veda also the dative and genitive-ablative served as infinitives; e. g. śrō-tu-m, śrō-tav-ē, śrō-tōṣ. The formation of compounds like śrōtu-kāma- 'desire to hear' shows that even in later times the feeling that the form in -tum was a case had not quite died out. The instrumental (śru-tvā, orig. 'with hearing') was used as the (so-called) gerund, logically connected with some noun in the sentence to denote an action accompanying or (generally) preceding the action of the verb, e. g. śrutvā cabruvan (ca abruvan) 'and hearing (or having heard) they spoke'. All such forms could be used in this way, except those derived from thematic stems (kr-ā-tu- etc.).

Armenian. Amongst the tu-stems (e. g. zar-d, gen. zar-du 'adornment') there seem to be none which can be ascribed with certainty to proethnic Indo-Germanic. Hübschmann (Arm. Stud. I 46) with some hesitation connects orē, gen. ortu, 'calf' with Skr. pr̥thu-ka-s 'the young of an animal, child, boy' (Gr. πόρ-τι-ς πόρ-ταξ 'calf').

Ncuters: only qī-tv and āσ-τν, see above pp. 325, 326.

In the other Indo-Germanic languages, we find numerals in -ti-s, as penq-ti-s* f. 'fivefold character, the number five' ἔτυ-μο-ς 'truthful' from ἔτυ-* 'existence' (instead of h-ε-τυ-*, cp. Dor. ἐντες, Lesb. ἔσσα) ground-form s-e-tu-*, from ✓es- 'esse'.

Italic. The Substantives in -tu-s are masculine. Lat. ac-tu-s, Umbr. ahtu 'actui'. Lat. adi-tu-s: Skr. svāitu-ṣ (svā-ṣtu-ṣ) 'having its own course' inf. ē-tu-m ger. i-tv-ā, Lith. eĩ-tũ O.C.Sl. i-tũ 'to go'. rūc-tu-s: Lith. rūk-tũ 'to belch', ✓reug-. duc-tu-s. or-tu-s. morsu-s beside mordeō. ē-ven-tu-s: Skr. gān-tu-ṣ etc., see above p. 325. sēnsu-s beside sent-iō. con-spectu-s. tex-tu-s: 'Lett. tes-tu 'to hew with an axe'. ēsu-s: Skr. āttu-m 'to eat', Lith. ēstũ 'to devour', O.C.Sl. jastũ 'to eat', ✓ed-. sta-tu-s, sup. sta-tu-m sta-tũ, prae-stitu-m and prae-stātu-m: Skr. inf. sthā-tu-m ger. sthi-tv-ā from tīṣṭhā-ti 'he stands', Lith. pa-stótũ 'to become' O.C.Sl. sta-tũ 'to place oneself'. sa-tu-s: Lith. sė-tũ 'to sow'. fē-tu-s. cap-tu-s. rap-tu-s. can-tu-s. quaes-tu-s. auc-tu-s: Lith. auk-tũ 'to grow', ✓aug-. haus-tu-s. fla-tu-s. flē-tu-s. gemi-tu-s. fremi-tu-s. strepī-tu-s. crepi-tu-s. domi-tu-s. habi-tu-s. exerci-tu-s. conā-tu-s. ap-pardū-tu-s. audī-tu-s. vesti-tu-s. Words like jūdicātu-s (jūdicāre jūdex) gave rise to an independent suffix -ātu- for denoting an office or an official organisation, as principātu-s, ducātu-s, pontificātu-s, senātu-s (cp. German. -ōpu- -ōđu-).

The *tu-*stems (i. e. the so-called supines) form a very large group in Latin. -tu-m was orig. acc., -tũ loc. or instr. Most of the substantives in -tu-s were also used as supines, e. g. ēsu-s 'eating' and ēsu-m ēsũ; on the other hand, it is only a small proportion of the supines beside which we find independent declinable substantives. The freedom with which supines were formed was practically unlimited.

The gender of the neut. subst. ar-tu- beside masc. ar-tu-s was no doubt fixed by that of membru-m, and testu- n. (ters-tu-*, ✓ters- 'dry') by that of testu-m (stem testo-).

Old Irish. Masculines. bi-th, gen. betho, 'world'; Mod.Cymr.

by-d, Gall. Bitu-rīgēs ('world-kings'): Lith. gy-tū 'to revive' O.C.Sl. ži-tū 'to live', √ gei-. i-th 'corn': Skr. pi-tú-ṣ etc., see above p. 325. fiss 'knowledge, knowing', ground-form uid+tu-*: Skr. véthu-m etc., see above ibid. gu-th 'voice'. cru-th 'form' mess 'judging, judgement' beside midjur 'I judge'.

Neut. su-th 'fetus': Skr. sū-tu-ṣ f. 'pregnancy'. sru-th 'stream', √ srey-. rech-t 'right': Lat. sup. rēc-tu-m etc.; see above p. 325.

Like fiss and mess, the numerous masculines in -ad (for -ā-tu-) formed from verbs of the 2. conj. are used as infinitives (cp. § 156), as nertad 'strengthening' from nertaim denom. verb from nert 'strength' (cp. Gr. ἀγογῆναι-ς, Lat. cōnātū-s), and similarly those in (i)ud (for -(i)e-tu-) formed from verbs of the 3. conj., as derchoiniud 'despair, despairing' from derchoinim 'I despair', foillsigud 'showing' from foillsigim 'I show' (cp. Skr. vaha-tú-ṣ anya-tú-ṣ).

-tu- is a secondary suffix in the termination -es-tu- (-os-tu-). ais aes ois (gen. aisso aisa aesa) m. 'age' ground-form aiyes-tu-s*, cp. Gr. αι(φ)ές 'always'; yet Mod.Cymr. oes, since u is not usually lost in Cymric, perhaps indicates that the word is to be derived from a stem corresponding to the Skr. dyuṣ-, which afterwards, we must assume, was confused with the es-stem. senchas m. 'antiquity' (O.Cymr. hencass, pl. hencassou 'old tale') may be an extension of seno-go-* (cp. Skr. sana-ká-s etc., § 88 p. 263), the ground-form being seno-q-os-tu-, or a compound seno-cassu-. dorus n. 'door' (cp. Mod.Cymr. drws Corn. daras), dat. pl. doirsib for doressaib*, and therefore from a stem dyores-tu-* in proethnic Keltic. follus 'clear'.

Germanic. In West Germanic most of the tu-stems (which were common in proethnic Germanic) lost their distinctive character; there was a confusion between the (masc.) tu- and the (fem.) ti-stems, e. g. O.H.G. luf-t m. and f., A.S. lyf-t m. and f. The original form of the tu-stems is best preserved in Gothic.

O.H.G. fri-du A.S. fri-thu m. 'joy' pr. Germ. fri-þu-z*, from Germ. fri- fri 'cherish, spare' (which appears in Goth. freidjan 'to spare' and other words. Goth. li-þu-s m. 'limb', cp. O.Icel. li-m-r 'limb'. Goth. kus-tu-s m. 'trial, proof', O.Icel.

kos-t-r (acc. pl. kosto kostu) m. 'condition', O.H.G. kos-t A.S. cys-t: Skr. jutṣ-ṭv-ā etc. see above p. 325. Goth. luf-tu-s m. O.H.G. luf-t m. 'breeze, air'. O.H.G. fur-t m. 'ford' O.Icel. fjör-ð-r 'firth, gulf': Avest. pešu-s etc., see p. 325 above. O.H.G. durs-t A.S. ðurs-t (ðyrs-t) m. 'thirst', √ ters-. Goth. vul-þu-s m. 'glory'. Goth. lus-tu-s O.H.G. lus-t m. 'desire', for ʃs-tu-s*, if it is connected with Skr. lā-las-a-s (I § 299 p. 238, II § 100 p. 302). Goth. þūh-tu-s m. 'thought', from þugkjan 'to think'. O.Icel. rētt-r m. 'right': Lat. rēc-tu-m etc., see above p. 325. O.Icel. hōtt-r hätt-r m. 'way, sort, kind', beside haga 'to arrange'. Goth. vahs-tu-s O.Icel. vøxt-r m. 'growth'. Goth. dáu-þu-s O.H.G. tō-d m. 'death'. O.H.G. blas-t O.Icel. blōst-r blast-r n. 'blast'. Goth. flō-du-s O.H.G. fluo-t m. 'flood'. With the meaning changed to that of a nomen agentis we have e. g. Goth. hlif-tu-s 'thief', O.Icel. vqrð-r 'watchman'.

-s-tu- is rare (cp. -s-ti- § 100 p. 303 and -s-tu- -s-tro- etc., see § 61 p. 117). Goth. maih-s-tu-s O.H.G. mist m. 'ordure', beside O.Icel. mīga 'mingere'. O.Icel. lōst-r m. 'mistake' for laḡ-s-tu-*, beside O.H.G. lastar n. 'crime, vice' (suffix -s-tro-, § 62 p. 121), cp. O.H.G. lahan 'to blame'.

The termination -ð-þu- (also -ð-ðu- through the original variation of accent), which appears in derivatives of the weak verbs in -ðn, became an independent suffix (cp. Lat. -atu- p. 328). Goth. gáunðþu-s m. 'sorrow' from gáunðn 'to sorrow', oratóðu-s 'journey' from oratón 'to travel'; O.H.G. wegōd m. 'help' from wegōn 'to help', klagōd m. 'lament' from klagōn 'to lament'; O.Icel. laðað-r m. 'invitation' from laðu 'to invite'. The following are examples of nouns beside which there is no corresponding verb in -ðn: Goth. gabaurjōþu-s 'desire' mannis-kōdu-s 'humanity', O.H.G. strūtōd 'strife' leichōd 'hymenaeus, concubitus', O.Icel. unað-r 'delight'. In O.H.G. the formations in -isōd inōd -ilōd -alōd are especially common, as rīchisōd 'lordship' from rīchisōn 'to govern', ellinōd 'zeal, emulation' from ellinōn 'to be zealous', swintilōd 'giddiness' from swintilōn 'to become giddy', hantalōd 'laying on of hands' from hantalōn 'lay hands on, handle'. On the other hand in Anglo-Saxon and Norse we find the termination -nōþu-, which came from verbs in -nōn -nan (e. g. A.S. haftnōð 'hold' beside hæftnian, O.Icel. batnað-r 'improvement' from batna); this became fertile and usurped the place of the older -ōþu-; e. g. A.S. fuzelnoð instead of, and parallel to, fuzeloð 'fowling', from fuzelian, O.Icel. dugnað-r 'strength, help', from duga.

The weak verbs in -atjan (Gr. -αῖεν) gave rise to the suffix -assu- (Gr. ἀσαστέ-ς from ἀσπάζουαι, p. 327), which was very fertile in all branches of Germanic except Norse, especially in the extended form resulting from its addition to n-stems, -n-assu- (Goth. -in-assu-). In West Germanic we have also (-n)-iss(u)- and (-n)-uss(u)-, whose i and u are variously explained (von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 119 ff.); and further various modifications of the final -u-, due to the analogy of feminine and neuter abstract substantives: fem. (-n)-iss-ō- (-n)-uss-ō-, (-n)-iss-jō- (-n)-uss-jō-, (-n)-ass-ī- (-n)-iss-ī- (-n)-uss-ī-, neut. (-n)-ass-ja- (-n)-iss-ja- (-n)-uss-ja-. Examples are Goth. ibnassu-s 'equality, fairness' (A.S. emness), beside A.S. emnettan 'adaequare' = Goth. ibnatjan*; ufarrassu-s 'overflow, abundance' from ufar. These forms are especially frequent in connexion with verbs in -inōn; as hōrin-assu-s 'adultery' beside hōrinōn, which gave the type for words like blōt-inassu-s 'divine service' (from blōtan). O.H.G. rāt-ussa f. 'riddle' offan-ussi f. 'opening'; ir-suochnissa f. 'experimentum' gi-miscnissi f. 'mixture' gi-hörnissi f. 'hearing'. -nissa -nissi had often the appearance of a denominative suffix, and hence it gave rise to a large number of formations like O.H.G. got-nissa f. 'godhead' rein-nissa f. 'purity' churt-nassi f. 'shortness'. In Upper Germany these suffixes were extended by -iþo- (§ 80 p. 240), hence -nissida -nussida, as in (O.H.G.) fir-loranissida 'loss'. fūlnussida 'idleness'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. ly-tù-s lē-tu-s m. 'rain' (supine lỹ-tū 'to rain' lẽ-tū 'to pour'): Lat. sup. li-tu-m li-tū, Goth. acc. sing. lei-þu O.H.G. lī-d m. n. 'fruit-wine'. Lith. pẽ-tū-s pl. 'midday meal, midday': Skr. pi-tú-ṣ etc., see p. 325 above. It is a moot point whether the adjectives in -tù-s, as sta-tù-s 'blunt, impolite', drums-tù-s 'dark, troubled' (of water), were originally abstract substantives (p. 324), or whether they were modifications of old adjectives in -ta-s (see p. 317). O.C.Sl. kra-tŭ 'a time, occasion' (dŭva kraty 'twice'): Skr. acc. pl. kṛ-tv-as 'so many times'; Lith. kar̃ta-s may have also been originally a u-stem, from which we could then directly derive the form in dù kartù 'twice' szesz̃is kartùs 'six times' and the like.

The largest group of tu-stems are the infinitives (supines), which were formed at will from any verb. The Lithuanian supines in -tu -tū (the quantity differs in different dialects), which should properly be written -tų (their final nasal is still kept in the compound form of the optative, e. g. 1. pl. sùktum-bime), and the Slavonic forms in -tŭ, are acc. sing.; cp. Lat. -tu-m. Lith. dŭ-tū O.C.Sl. da-tŭ 'to give', bŭ-tū bý-tŭ 'to be', ěstŭ 'to devour' jastŭ 'to eat', jěszkó-tŭ iska-tŭ 'to seek', sědē-tŭ sědē-tŭ 'to sit', ganý-tŭ goni-tŭ 'to tend, pasture'; cp. also Pruss. dā-tun dā-ton 'to give' maitā-tun 'to nourish' with other examples. In Old Church Slavonic there is a rare parallel form in -tu, (as by-tu), which may be regarded as gen. or loc., and Prussian has dative forms in -twei, as dā-twei.

IV. The Suffix -i- (-iē-)¹.

§ 109. This suffix was used to form feminines in the proethnic and later periods. It served to differentiate the gender in the same way as a beside o (§ 59 ff.). In this function it was a secondary suffix, since these feminines were derived from the masculine and neuter stem. When a feminine of this kind was formed from o-stems, the stem-final -o was dropped in exactly the same way as before the suffix -iō-; e. g. Skr. vṛk-i 'she-wolf' the feminine of vṛka-s 'wolf' (cp. § 63 p. 126, Rem. 3 p. 132). More rarely -i- has the appearance of a primary suffix,

1) E. Sievers, Über die Feminina auf urgerm. i, Paul-Braune's Beitr. V 136 ff. O. A. Danielsson, Om die indoeuropeiska femininstammarne på -i, Upsala universitets årsskrift 1891. W. Burda, Das slav. Suffix ynja, nom. sg. yni, Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. VI 194 ff.

as in Skr. śám-i 'work' Gr. qúζα 'flight' (for qvy-ia*); it cannot be shewn with certainty that such primary feminine forms existed in the proethnic language.

It is difficult to determine what was the strong form of the suffix -i- in the Indo-Germanic paradigm. For though as a rule the classes of feminine nouns which contain the suffix are easily distinguished in the different languages, yet they show important differences in form which cannot have arisen simply and solely through the operation of phonetic laws. Indeed it is obvious that its declension has been influenced in very many ways by that of other stems. To me it seems most probable that -iē- (sometimes -iĭē-) was the form of the strong-grade in Indo-Germanic. Cp. -iē- -iĭē- : -i- in the optative, as in Lat. s-iē-s : s-i-mus, and the masculine suffix -iē- -iō-, -iĭē- -iĭō- : -i-, -i- (§ 63 p. 122 f.).

Remark 1. The following conclusions seem to me fairly probable. In proethnic Indo-Germanic the nom. sing. ended in -i*; Gr. -iā was formed on the analogy of -iāv; Lat. -iēs Lith. -(i)ė (beside -i) come from the extension of the form -iē- (-iĭē-) to all the cases. The acc. sing. ended sometimes in -i-m* (Skr. -i-m) sometimes in -i-ŋ* cp. the opt. 3. pl. Lat. s-i-ent for s-iĭ-ŋt*, I § 226 p. 193), from the latter we have Lat. -iem (māter-iem), Skr. -iyam (str-iyam), Gr. -iav (πότν-ια), the Skr. and the Gr. form having -m added on the analogy of the terminations -i-m -ā-m etc. Similarly the acc. pl. generally, perhaps always ended in -i-ŋs* Skr. -iyas (str-iyas), Lat. -iēs (māter-ies): in Gr. -i-ŋs is perhaps represented by -iās, the by-form of -iav : -iā: before consonants The so-called Weak Cases with a case-suffix beginning in a consonant had -i-, as loc. pl. -i-ŋu* (Skr. -i-ŋu). Elsewhere the form was -iē- or -iĭē-, e. g. gen. sing. -(i)jēs*. This form of the suffix is regularly represented in Latin, Balto-Slavonic, and Aryan, Lat. māter-iē-, Lith. žem-ė for žem-iē-*. (I § 147 p. 121), O.C.Sl. zem(i)-ja- (cp. stojati for stojēti*, I § 76 p. 66), Skr. viduṣ-yā-. The Ablaut is thus precisely parallel to that of the optative suffix -iē-, e. g. Lat. rab-iēs (gen. sing.): rab-i-em : dar-i-x = s-iē-s : s-i-ent : s-i-mus. In several languages confusion with the iā- stems led to the substitution of -(i)jā- for -(i)jē-: e. g. gen. sing. Gr. ποτν-ιας ἰδυ(ας) (this change was probably due in part to the influence of the heavier form of the acc., sing. and pl. -iav : -iav.) O.Ir. Brigte (cp. Skr. bṛhatyās), Goth. māujōs beside nom. sing. nōtnia ἰδωα, Brigit (Skr. bṛhatī), mavi; so also Lith. marczyūs beside marti. Different views as to the form of the strong grade in this suffix have been maintained by Kluge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VI 391 f., and by Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Pers. 338 f.

-i- was the regular form of the suffix when other suffixes were added to it: e. g. Skr. pātnī-vant- 'accompanied by one's wife', Gr. παῖ- -τη-; beside Dor. πολιῶ-τα- Ion. πολιῶ-τη- 'citizen', Lat. victri-x.

There was a confusion with the i-stems (§ 92 ff.) as well as with the iā-stems. Compare e. g. Skr. nār-ī- and nār-i- 'woman' (see Benfey, Nachr. von der göttl. Ges. d. Wiss. 1876 p. 644 ff., Lanman, Noun-Inflection p. 370), Gr. ληστρο-ί- (gen. ληστροίδος) 'female robber' beside ψάλτε-αι 'girl who plays the guitar', Lat. nept-i-s beside O.H.G. nift (= Goth. nift-i*) Skr. napt-ī-, suāvi-s for syād-u-i-s* beside Skr. svād-v-ī-, Skr. āti-ṣ- Lith. dnti-s beside Gr. νῆσσα 'duck' for var-ku*. In these cases the -i-declension was the older, but the converse change occurs in Sanskrit, stems in -i being inflected in the same way as those in -ī in order to mark their feminine gender, e. g. gen. sing. gātyās beside gātēṣ from nom. gāti-ṣ- nom. sing. bhūmī gen. sing. bhūmyās beside nom. bhūmi-ṣ- (§ 97 p. 289), yurati beside yuvati-ṣ- (§ 101 p. 307).

Finally these stems were confused with the inflexion of monosyllabic stems, such as Skr. bhī- Gr. χι-, in which -i- and -iē- alternated (nom. bhī-ṣ- gen. bhiy-ds-, Gr. χι-ς χι-ός). Hence e. g. Skr. nom. napt-ī-ṣ- gen. napt-iy-as-, Gr. πόλι-ς πόλι-ος.

Remark 2. To this last remark I must add a corollary, lest it should be taken to imply the existence of a third i-suffix, -ī- -iē-, in Indo-Germanic (-i- in all cases whose case-suffix began with a consonant, -iē- where it began with a sonant) in addition to -i- (ei-) and -ī- (iē-). There would be just as much and just as little reason for supposing a parallel suffix -ū- -uē- on the strength of such forms as Skr. śvaśrū-ṣ- śvaśrū-am O.C.Sl. svěkry svěkryū-e Gr. νέκυ-ς νέκυ-α. As a matter of fact it seems to me very probable that all these polysyllabic -ī- -iē--stems and -ū- -uē--stems have simply abandoned their original inflexion in order to conform to the type of such monosyllabic stems as Skr. bhī- Gr. χι-, Skr. bhrū- Gr. ὄφρῦ-, in which -ī- and -ū- are part of the 'root' (cp. § 8 Rem. 1 and 2 p. 20 f.). This change of inflexion will call for further notice when we come to the formation of the cases.

§ 110. Differentiation (Motion or Feminine-formation) of u-stems (§ 103 ff.). Originally the no doubt nom. sing. was -eu-ī gen. sing. -u-iēṣ (yet notice also Avest. vanhu-yd), loc. pl. -u-i-su. Skr. svād-v-ī Gr. ῥδεῖα for σfādēf-ια* Lat. suāv-i-s, beside masc. Skr. svād-ū-ṣ- Gr. ῥδύ-ς 'sweet'. Skr. guro-ī Gr. βαρεῖα 'gravis'. Skr. pythv-ī Avest. per'pvo-ī- Gr. πλατεῖα 'broad, wide'. Skr. tanv-ī Lat. tenu-i-s. In Germanic and Baltic post-consonantal u was dropped before -iē- (-iā-): Goth. kaur-jō- 'gravis' (acc. sing. kaurja nom. pl. kaurjōṣ) for kuru-iō-* (cp. O.Icel. ylg-r I § 444 p. 329); Lith. saldžiō- (gen. sing. saldžiūs) for saldy-iō-*, on the analogy of which was formed the nom. saldī instead of saldv-ī*; Goth. hard-jō- 'hard' Lith. karcziō-

'bitter' (nom. kartī) from masc. hard-u-s kart-ū-s. In this class of adjectives, the unextended form, without -ī-, could also be used for the feminine; e. g. Skr. tanū-ṣ, Gr. ἡδύ-ς θῆλυ-ς (in Homer and elsewhere), Goth. kaúru-s (only -u-s is ever found in the nom. sing.). The nom. in -ī is found in Gothic in the subst. mavi 'girl' for maǵu-ī*, beside the masc. magu-s; the analogy of the cases with this form of the stem, ma(ǵ)u-ī* gave rise to the gen. máujōs instead of magjōs*.

Differentiation of n-stems (§ 112 ff.). Skr. tak-ṣṇ-ī Gr. τέκταινα (for τεκταν-ια*): Skr. tákṣan- Gr. τέκτων 'worker in wood, carpenter'. Skr. rājñ-ī from rājan- 'king' O.Ir. rīgain 'queen', whose ground-form was rēgñ-ī*. Skr. yūn-ī from yúvan- 'young, young man' Lat. jūn-ī-x. We may probably infer from Skr. pátñ Gr. πότνια 'lady' and Gr. δέσποινα 'mistress' for -ποτνια* (I § 488 p. 360), as compared with the masc. Skr. páti-ṣ Gr. πόσι-ς, that -n-ī- could be used as an independent suffix even in the proethnic period.

Skr. śun-ī from śván- śún- 'dog'. pañca-dāmn-ī from pañca-dāman-. maghōn-ī from maghāvan- maghōn- 'giving bountifully, dispenser'. Avest. ašaon-ī from ašavan- ašaon- 'pure' (Skr. ṛtāvan- 'holy, pious'). With Skr. pát-nī we should no doubt compare Skr. pálik-nī hárík-nī, beside palitá- 'gray, hoary' háríta- 'tawny' (as to k for t, see the Author, Morph. Unt. II 198), páruṣ-nī beside paruṣ-á- 'knotty'.

Gr. γείταινα from γείτων 'neighbour'. Θεράπαινα, beside Θεράπ-ν-η, both from Θεράπων 'servant', λέαινα from λέων 'lion' (these masculines were originally n-stems; see § 114, under Greek). -aina was taken into general use as an independent suffix, denoting female creatures: λίκαινα, κάπραινα, ἡμι-θείαινα, etc. Notice further γάλαινα 'voracity, ravenousness' beside φαγών 'devourer'. ἄγκοινα (Att.) beside ἄγκών 'bend of the arm'; we should no doubt compare Hom. ἐπ-ηγκεν-ίδ-ες 'side-planks of a ship'.

Lat. jūn-ī-x, see above. corn-ī-x beside Gr. κορών-η 'crow', cp. also Umbr. cur-n-ac-o 'cornicem'.

In Germanic we have -un-ī- -in-ī- (Idg. -yn-ī- -en-ī-) and -n-ī-. -un-ī- is contained in Goth. lauh-mun-ī 'flash', O.H.G. wirtun (beside wirtin) 'hostess', O.Icel. apynja from ape O.H.G. affo 'ape', and, without any masc. n-stem, as-ynja 'goddess' (masc. as-s) and other forms. -in-ī- appears in Goth. Saur-ini 'Syrian woman' (m. Saur); it is frequent in West-Germanic, as O.H.G. herzohin from herizogo 'duke'; hence came new formations like chuning-in from chuning 'king', esil-in from esil 'ass'. -n-ī- in O.H.G. birn (Hrod-birn etc.) from masc. bero 'bear', Mod.H.G. ricke 'roe' (female) for rik-nī* (I § 214 p. 181, § 530 p. 388) beside O.H.G. rēh n. 'roe' (male and female) pr. Germ. raix-a-*.

The Slavonic feminines in -ynji no doubt belong originally to this class (j has come in from the other cases, as acc. -ynja): bogynji 'goddess' blagynji 'kindness'. They appear to have arisen through an analogical extension of the use of -n-ī- (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 200).

The original inflexion of these feminines was perhaps nom. sing. -en-ī, gen. sing. -n-ies and -n-īēs loc. pl. -n-ī-su.

Differentiation of r-stems (§ 119 ff.). The original endings were doubtless nom. sing. -er-ī, gen. sing. -r-īēs, loc. pl. -r-ī-su. Skr. dā-tr-ī Gr. δό-τειρα for δο-τερο-ια* Lat. dā-tr-ī-x, beside Skr. dā-tār- Gr. δο-τήρ δώ-τωρ Lat. dā-tor 'giver'. Skr. jāni-tr-ī Gr. γενέ-τειρα Lat. gene-tr-ī-x 'mother'. Skr. bhar-tr-ī Avest. bar^hpr-ī ber^hpr-ī 'supporter, mother'. Skr. s-tr-ī Avest. s-tr-ī- 'wife, woman'. Skr. nē-tr-ī 'she who guides', dēś-tr-ī 'she who shows', cōdayi-tr-ī 'she who drives on'; dhō-tār-ī f. 'shaking'. Gr. ἐυνή-τειρα and ἐυνή-τρο-ια 'wife', σώ-τειρα 'saviour lady', ψάλ-τρο-ια 'guitar girl'; we also have -īs -īd-os, as ληστορ-īs 'female robber', ἀλε-τρο-īs 'female miller', αὐλη-τρο-īs (beside αὐλή-τρο-ια) 'flute-girl'. Lat. obstē-tr-ī-x, mere-tr-ī-x, imperā-tr-ī-x, cp. also the Osc. Fuu-tr-eī 'Creatrici, Genetrici'. It is still doubtful whether this Indo-Germanic formation in -tr-ī- can be directly connected with the West-Germanic feminines like A.S. baecestre 'baker-woman', O.Sax. agastria 'magpie' O.H.G. wagastria 'lance', Goth. hvīlf-tri f. 'coffin' and Lithuanian feminines like áuklė 'children's attendant' (i. e. áuk-klė*, from áugu 'I grow up') perē-klé 'brood-hen' (see Kluge, Nom. Stamm. p. 24 and J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 29). They can also be explained as extensions of stems with the suffix -tro- -tlo- (§ 62 p. 118 ff.).

Differentiation of nt-stems (§ 125 ff.). It is certain that the feminine participles of non-thematic tenses which end in a consonant had -nt- in all their cases, e. g. s-nt-ī* f. 'being'; similarly the feminines of -uent-stems had -uent-ī. On the other hand, we find -nt- throughout the paradigm in forms like Gr. αἴσα γνοῖσα (from ἄημι 'I blow' εἶπυν 'I perceived') ground-forms uē-nt-ī* ġnō-nt-ī* (for Skr. vāti, which seems to contradict this, see below). It is not clear how far there was any variation of ablaut in the elements immediately preceding the -ī-suffix in the -o-nt- participles; but it is certain that -nt- sometimes appeared even here.

Skr. sat-ī Avest. hait-ī Gr. Dor. εἶσα Att. οῦσα O.C.Sl. sąsti, beside masc. Skr. s-ánt- etc. 'being', indic. 3. sing. Skr. ās-ti 'is'. Skr. bṛhat-ī Avest. ber'zaiti-, O.Ir. Brigit (O.Celt. Brigantiae dat. sing. with Latinised ending), from masc. Skr. bṛh-ánt- 'being great, exalted'. Skr. vánt-ī (vāt-ī Avest. vāiti- is no doubt a re-formation following the analogy of sat-ī: sánt-am; see V. Henry, Revue Crit., 1887, p. 100), Gr. αἴσα, beside masc. Skr. vā-nt- (Gr. αἴς ἄετ- 'blowing'). Skr. tu-dā-nt-ī and tudat-ī beside tudā-nt- 'tundens', Gr. ἰδοῦσα beside ἰδών ἰδó-ντ- 'beholding'. Skr. bhāra-nt-ī Avest. bare-nt-ī Gr. φέρουσα O.C.Sl. berąsti, beside bhāra-nt- Gr. φέρων φέρο-ντ- O.C.Sl. bery 'ferens'. Goth. huhund-i 'cave' (covering, hiding), frijōnd-i 'female friend'; the participles which were in actual use as such had passed over to the in-declension, as batrandei gen. batrandeins. Lith. sukant-ī gen. sukancziōs from masc. sukās 'turning'. O.C.Sl. berąsti, instead of berąti*, where š has forced its way in from the other cases, as gen. berąšte; in these -št- came regularly from -ti- (I § 147 p. 132 f.).

-uent-ī. Skr. āpa-vati from āpa-vant- 'rich in water', Gr. ὀπό-σσα from ὀπό-τις ὀπό-ντ- 'rich in sap'; in Greek -φετ- appears for Fur-, see § 127. Skr. sáras-vat-i 'rich in water' f. Avest. haraxwaiti- O.Pers. harauvati-.

Differentiation of s-stems (§ 131 ff.).

-es-i. Skr. ródas-i from ródas- 'world', śavas-i f. 'the strong one' from śavas- 'strength'. Gr. Att. ávaidia 'shamelessness' ἀλήθεια 'truth' from ἀν-αυδής ἀληθής. Lat. temper-iē-s from tempus.

The original forms of the part. perf. act. were doubtless nom. sing. -ues-i gen. sing. -us-iēs loc. pl. -us-i-su. Skr. vid-ús-i Avest. vīd-uš-i- Gr. id-vīa, beside masc. Skr. vid-vān Avest. vīd-vā Gr. id-ús 'knowing'. Similarly Lith. vilk-us-i O.C.Sl. vlūk-ŭši 'having drawn'. A feminine of this kind is implied in Goth. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' ('those who have borne'): on the model of the feminine (*-usi -usjōs) was formed a masculine with -ja-. It is natural to infer a nom. sing. -ues-i from the Gr. (Dor. Att.) by-forms in -(f)εία, as γεγον-εία, ἐρρηγ-εία: γεγονεία γεγονυιάς* was levelled on the hand to γεγονεία -είας, on the other to γεγονυία γεγονυιάς (cp. § 136 Rem. 2).

Similarly in primary comparative forms: -ies-i -is-iēs -is-i-su. Skr. jyā-yas-i from jyā-yān 'mightier'. Avest. frā-yah-i- from frā-yā 'more'; an isolated -iši is perhaps contained in Skr. māhiṣi mahiṣi beside māh-īyas-i; see J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 386. Goth. jūh-iz-ei 'younger' (cp. bairandei p. 337). O.C.Sl. boljši beside neut. bolje 'greater': nom. boljši gen. boljšę instead of bolješi* boljšę* (cp. § 135 Rem. 1).

Differentiation of o-stems (§ 59 ff.). -i- was in use as well as -a- in proethnic Indo-Germanic. Skr. ṛk-i O.Icēl. ylg-r O.H.G. wulpa 'she-wolf' (pr. § 111. Of the words in which -ī- appears to be a primary suffix, none show it in more than one language simultaneously. Examples are: Skr. śām-ī 'work'. śác-ī 'strength'.

Gr. φύζα 'flight' for φυγ-ια*. οξύζα 'wood split small, billet' for οχυδ-ια*.

Lat. ac-iēs. scab-iē-s. spec-iē-s. prō-geniēs. dī-luviē-s.

Lith. žinė 'knowledge'. srov-ė 'stream'. rėk-ė 'slice of bread'. dūb-ė 'hollow, pit'.

Many examples are doubtful, as Gr. ῥσσα 'rumour, prophecy'

(beside ᾠψ 'voice, speech'), μοῖρα 'appropriate share, fate' (beside μόρο-ς 'lot, fate'), Goth. bandi 'bond, chain' (beside O.H.G. O.Sax. band n. 'bond').

V. Suffixes in *-n*¹).

§ 112. The parent language had four suffixes ending in a nasal: -en-, -ien-, -uen-, *-men-*²). They have a good deal in common with -o-, -io- -i- -ī-, -uo- -u-, -mo-, and it is not improbable that the forms -ien-, -uen- and -men- were formed in the proethnic period merely by the addition of -(e)n- to such older suffixes.

This process of extension can be seen at work in the separate languages as well; and we must there regard it as a continuation, or renewal, of a tendency which first appeared in proethnic times. Compare, for instance, the developement of the n-declension in Germanic.

The oldest point of contact between the four n-suffixes and the corresponding o-suffixes is found in the representation of n-stems by o-stems in compound words, which began in the proethnic period; e. g. Gr. αἶμο-βαγής and ἄν-αιμο-ς beside αἷ-μα (ἄν-αἷμον); further examples are given in § 12 p. 26 f. This shews that there were even then many parallel stems in -n- and -o- with no difference of meaning; for some reason or other the o-form of these words was preferred in composition, and by degrees this established a general rule for compounds of -n-stems. Another principle of formation, exemplified in most of the languages in forms like Skr. aśm-īya-s beside áś-man-, Gr. χειμ-ίη beside χεῖ-μα χει-μῶν, seems to have arisen in the proethnic period. Further in almost all the languages, in some of them very frequently, we find parallel forms in -n- and -o- each of which is completely declined, some of them indeed having a slight difference of meaning (to this point we shall return later on); e. g. Skr. vák-van- and vák-va- 'turning, rolling' (intr.), dhár-man- and dhár-ma- 'law, ordinance', Gr. στράβ-ωρ 'squinter' and στραβ-ός 'squinting', οὐραν-ίων 'heavenly being' and οὐράν-ιος 'heavenly', ἐθελή-μιον and ἐθελή-μός 'willing', Lat. in-cub-ō and in-cub-u-s, lan-iō and lan-iu-s, alluvi-ō and alluv-iu-m, Goth. sa ráuda 'the red one' and ráuþ-s 'red', in-gard-ja 'member of a household' and in-gard-ja- 'in a house' (adj.), O.Fris. ēth-ma beside O.S. āthom 'breath', O.C.Sl. ra-mę beside ra-mo 'shoulder'. And it often happens that the two forms do not appear in the same branches of the Indo-Germanic family; e. g. Goth. ga-juk-a 'companion' beside Lat. con-jug-u-s, Skr. dy-un- 'life, time of life' Gr. αι-(f)ών 'space of time, eternity' and Lat. ae-vo-m, Gr. πυθ-μήν 'ground, earth' and O.H.G. bodam 'ground'.

The Author, Die schwache Form der Nominalstämme auf -n in suffixalen Weiterbildungen und Zusammensetzungen, Morph. Unt. II 148 ff.

2) One form with n is quite unique; ghīem-* ghīem-* (Avest. zyā Lat. hiem-s), which, having due regard to Skr. hēman Gr. χαι-μα, we ought apparently to divide ghī-em-* ghī-em-*. I have attempted to explain this rare word in § 160, 2.

In Aryan, single cases of the -o- -a- -i- -u- -ī- and -r- stems were transferred into the inflexion of the n-declension; e. g. Skr. nom. acc. neut. yugáni (from sing. yugá-m 'yoke', on the analogy of námān-i), gen. pl. Skr. dēvánām Avest. daēvanam (Skr. dēvā-s 'god'). See J. Hanusz, Über das allmähliche Umsichgreifen der n-Declination im Altindischen (Sitzungsberichte der Wiener Akad. d. Wiss. CX.), 1885. Similarly in West Germanic we have O.H.G. gen. pl. gebōno (from nom. sing. geba f. 'gift').

The words formed with these suffixes are generally masculine or neuter, as Skr. tákṣ-an- m. 'carpenter' yak-án- n. 'liver'.

A large group of feminines appears in Italic, Celtic, and Germanic consisting of abstract substantives formed with -īen- (-iōn-); as Lat. cap-iō men-tiō, O.Ir. er-mitiu 'honour', Goth. ga-run-jō 'flood of water' ra-hjō 'ratio'. It may be assumed that these n-stems, which represent a comparatively modern stratum of formation, owe their feminine gender to their character of abstract nouns. And all the other feminine n-stems which appear in Germanic, are as such undoubtedly modern; they are due to a connexion which grew up between the Indo-Germanic suffixes -ōn- -īōn- -īn- and the Germanic feminine forms in -ō- -īō- (= Idg. -ā- -iā-) and -ī-, through the analogy of the relation between Germ. -an- -ian- on the one hand and Germ. -a- on the other. In many words, where the languages vary between masculine and feminine, the masculine is clearly the older; this is true of Skr. sī-mán- 'boundary' (cp. § 117), Gr. κίτων 'pillar', Lat. margō. In Skr. yōṣan- f. 'virgin' (beside yōṣā yōṣāṇā) the gender was determined by the sex. In Skr. vṛṣāṇa tvācam acc. 'streaming, raining cloud', Gr. ἀρηγών Θεά 'adiutrix dea' τρήρων πέλεια 'timid dove', as in the case of Skr. tanú-ṣ Gr. ῥόδύς, we see the masculine form used unaltered in connexion with feminine words (§ 110 p. 335). And in other examples there are similar reasons for regarding the feminine gender as a modern development so that we may fairly assume that nouns formed with n-suffixes were originally only masculine and neuter. For the feminine there was the special form with -ī-, as Skr. takṣ-ṇ-ī Gr. τέκτ-αινα, § 110 p. 335.

§ 113. From the earliest times the n-suffixes show a very complex variation of Ablaut. What are called the strong cases had -en- -on- -ēn- -ōn-, -ien- -ion- -iēn- -iōn- (-ijen- -iion- etc.) and so forth; the weak cases -n- -ṇ-, -in- (-īn-) -iṇ- (-iīṇ-), -un- (-ūn-) -uṇ- (-uiṇ-), -mn- -mṇ-.

In the weak cases, the form of the suffix ending in a consonant preceded the case-endings beginning with a sonant, e. g. Skr. gen. sing. tákṣ-ṇ-as 'of the carpenter' nā-mn-as 'of the name'; and conversely the form ending in a sonant preceded the case-endings beginning with a consonant, e. g. loc. pl. tákṣ-a-su nā-ma-su (-a- -ma- for -ṇ- -mṇ-). Originally also the weak form of the suffix was regular in all extensions of the stem, e. g. takṣ-ṇ-ī fem. of tákṣan- (§ 110 p. 335), yuva-śá-s 'youthful' from yúv-an- 'young' (§ 83 p. 251), śró-ma-ta-m 'hearing' beside Avest. srao-man- 'hearing' (§ 82 p. 249). This deserves especial notice, because in several languages the weak forms of the suffix were banished from the actual declension by levelling and other kinds of re-formation, so that it is only in derivatives that we have any evidence to shew that such forms ever existed in the paradigm. Thus we have e. g. Gr. γειτ-ν-ία 'neighbourhood' beside γίτ-ων -ον-ος, πί-(F)αίνω 'I make fat' for -μῆ-ϊδ-* beside πί-(F)ων -(F)ον-ος, ποι-μν-η ποι-μν-ιο-ν 'herd' ποι-μαίνω 'I pasture' beside ποι-μῆν -μῆν-ος, Lat. jū-n-ī-x beside juv-en- (juv-en-is juv-en-um etc.), colu-mn-a beside colu-men -min-is, O.H.G. -birn 'she-bear' beside ber-o -in 'bear', hliu-mun-t 'call' beside Goth. hliu-ma -min-s 'hearing', Lith. ėl-n-i-s 'stag, elk' beside O.C.Sl. jelen- (gen. sing. jelen-e) 'stag'.

It is more difficult to determine how the strong forms of the suffix were originally distributed. The following points may be regarded as certain.

1. The nom. sing. masc. (fem.) ended sometimes in -ō(n), and sometimes in -ē(n), cp. Armen. šun Gr. κύν-ων πί-(F)ων ἄκ-μων, Lat. ed-ō men-tiō ter-mō O.Ir. cā er-mi-tiu brithem Gall. casa-mo, O.H.G. egg-o skī-mo, Lith. szũ for szũũ ak-mũ* O.C.Sl. ka-my and Gr. αἰχ-ήν ποι-μῆν, Lat. li-en, O.Icel. ox-e ux-e (Skr. ukṣ-ā) skī-me.

2. The nom. acc. neut. had -ō(n) and -ē(n) beside -ῆ -ῃ, cp. Goth. vāt-ō na-mō hairt-ōn-a, Lith. vand-ũ (originally neut.) and O.C.Sl. i-me (cp. Avest. nā-maṇ Skr. nā-mān-i).

3. A certain number of masculine stems had in the acc. sing. and nom. du. pl. -en-, cp. Gr. αἰχ-έρ-α ποι-μῆν-α, Lith. pė-men-į O.C.Sl. ka-men-ě (compare the exceptional forms ukṣ-āṇ-am arya-māṇ-am in Sanskrit).

4. There were locatives singular in -en -en-i, cp. Gr. αἰχ-έρ-α αὐ-(F)έν ποι-μῆν-ι δό-μαρ, Goth. aiths-in (cp. Skr. ukṣ-āṇ-i nā-man-i).

Further the following assumptions seem to me probable.

1. A certain proportion of the masculine stems had -on- in acc. sing. and nom. du. pl., cp. Gr. τίττ-ορ-α πί-(F)ορ-α ἄκ-μων-α, Gall. Ling-ōn-es (nom. pl.), Goth. ah-an ah-man, Skr. tākṣ-āṇ-am āś-mān-am. The variation between e and o in these cases, like that between $\bar{e}$ and $\bar{o}$ in the nom. sing., depended upon the different position of the accent in the word; we have e. g. nom. pl. -én-es and -on-es like nom. sing. -ē(n) and -ō(n). cp. Gr. φο-ίρ-εs φο-ήν as contrasted with ἄ-φο-ορ-εs ἄ-φο-ορ. Cp. I § 311 p. 248 f.

2. The loc. sing. always ended in -en or -en-i, even where the strong cases had -on-. Notice especially the Goth. loc. ah-in ah-min contrasted with acc. ah-an ah-man, as Skr. rājān-i: rāj-ān-am. Compare also Gr. αἰ(F)έρ αἰ(F)ώρ.

In certain instances, the $\bar{o}$ (and $\bar{e}$?), which appear in the European languages in other cases than the nom. sing. masc. and the nom. acc. sing. and pl. neut., had perhaps encroached upon the province of the other forms of ablaut before the end of the protothnic period (should we regard this as a dialectic variation in the parent language?); cp. e. g. acc. sing. Gr. οὐρα-τιον-α, Lat. libell-iōn-em rat-iōn-em, Goth. ga-run-jōn ra-þjōn, O.C.Sl. nom. pl. graždan-e for gord-iān-e(s)*. Yet this form of the stem cannot have spread through the whole case-system, as we see from such forms as Umbr. abl. tribris-in-e na-tin-e, O.Ir. dat. er-mit-in.

We should compare with this the ablaut of the -er- and *-ter-*stems, which is on the whole parallel; see § 120.

Remark. For different views as to the strong forms see Collitz, Bezenberger's Beitr. X 1 ff., and the authorities there cited. It is perhaps not superfluous to insist here that even if Collitz should be right in supposing the existence of Indo-Germanic locatives in -on(-i) (cp. Gr. ἄζονι), this would not be an argument against the hypothesis that in open syllables Idg. o became $\bar{a}$ in Aryan. For the n-stems had originally locatives without i, and e. g. Skr. loc. kar-man can be derived as regularly from original -mon* as from original -men*.

§ 114. The Suffix -en-. This was used from the earliest period to form primary nomina agentis, as Skr. tákṣ-an- Gr. τέκτ-ων 'carpenter, worker in wood, architect'. The root-syllable is usually in the weak grade, but the accent varies between the suffix and the root; cp. Skr. ukṣ-án- beside uṣṣ-an-, Gr. -φο-ήν (πολύ-ροην) gen. ἀρ-ν-ός and γαγ-ών 'jawbone' beside ἄρσ-ην and στράβ-ων, Germ. tuḡ-én-* beside túχ-en-* (O.H.G.

heri-zogo and heri-zoho), rub-én-* (O.Icel. eið-rofe) beside rís-en-* (O.H.G. beti-riso). Cp. Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 544. The -en- stems were substantives when there were adjectives in -o- parallel to them, and hence in some groups of languages, particularly in Germanic, this suffix acquired the function of forming substantives from any given adjective; it had the effect of specialising the idea conveyed by the adjective, by applying it to some one person or thing that possessed the particular quality in an exceptional degree. Hence it is often found in personal names, whether they were formed from a noun consisting of a single stem, or obtained by abbreviation from a compound consisting of two stems (cp. § 18 p. 34 and Osthoff, Forsch. auf dem Geb. der Idg. Nominalstamm-bildung, II 50 f.). Thus Gr. σραβ-ός 'squinting': σραβ-ων 'squinter', Σραβ-ων proper name, Lat. multi-bib-u-s: bibō, rūf-u-s: Rūf-ō, Goth. rāuþ-s 'red': rāud-a 'the red one', Lith. rūd-a-s 'reddish brown': rud-ũ m. 'autumn'. Thus -en- came to be used as a secondary suffix, as Avest. mar-t-an- 'mortal' (subst.) beside mar-ta- 'mortal', Gr. τρή-ο-ων π'λητα beside τρή-ρός 'timorous, shy', Lat. Ca-t-ō beside ca-tu-s. Cp. further Lat. hom-ō Goth. gum-a O.Lith. žm-ũ 'human being, man', properly 'the earthly one', beside Skr. kṣām- jm- Avest. z'm- Gr. γαστ-ων Lat. hum-u-s, Gr. γάστρ-ων 'glutton' from γαστήρ 'belly', Lat. cachinn-ō from cachinnu-s, capit-ō Capit-ō from caput, Goth. vaiur-stv-a 'worker' from vaiurstv 'work'.

Almost all the neuter forms containing -en- denoted some part of the body (cp. § 57 p. 105). In some of them, as we shall see -en- was a secondary suffix.

Indo-Germanic. Masculine. Skr. tákṣ-an- (-an-am) (Gr. τέκτ-ων (ον-ος), beside Skr. tákṣ-a-ti 'does carpenter's work'. Skr. ukṣ-án- (-án-am) Mod.Cymr. ych (pl. ychen) Goth. aúhs-a 'ox', orig. 'the impregnator', beside Skr. ukṣ-á-ti 'emanat, emicat'. Avest. arš-an- (-án-em) 'male, man', Skr. ṛṣā-bhá-s 'bull', for ṛs-ṇ-bho-s*. Armen. gen. aṛn 'of the man' (nom. air), Gr. ἄρσ-ηρ ἄρσ-ηρ Ion. ἔρσ-ηρ (-ερ-ος) 'male', orig. 'making fruitful', beside Skr. árṣ-a-ti 'flows, streams'; cp. Skr. vṛṣ-an (-an-am) 'man, bull', beside várṣ-a-ti makes to stream, rains'. kū-en-* kuy-en-* (kū-n-* kū-y-* kuy-y-*) 'dog' (according to Benfey 'that which produces young often and in great numbers' compared with Gr. κύ-ος 'fetus' Skr. śi-śu-ṣ 'young creature'): Skr. śv-án- śuv-án- (acc. sing. śv-án-am gen. sing. śv-n-as loc. pl. śv-á-su), Armen. šun gen. šan (I § 405 p. 301), Gr. κύ-ων (voc. κύ-ον gen. κυ-ν-ός), O.Ir. cū (gen. con), Lith. szũ (gen. szu-ñ-s). Avest. spas-an- 'watchman' O.H.G. speho 'spy', √ spek-. Lat. ed-ō (-ōn-is), O.H.G. egg-o 'devourer', √ ed-. Lat. as-sedō cōn-sedō (-ōn-is), O.H.G. ana-sezzo 'assessor' O.Icel. drött-sete 'lord high steward', √ sed-.

Denominatives. hom-ō (-ōn-is -in-is) Goth. gum-a O.Lith. *žm-ũ*¹⁾ 'human being, man', see above. Gr. ζούγ-ων-ερ (= Att. ζυγ-ων-ες*). βόες ἐργάται. Ἀάκωνες Hesych., Goth. ga-juka 'comparison', beside ζυγό-ν juk 'yoke'.

In some Indo-Germanic words in which -en- is primary there is no trace of any original use as nomen agentis. iuy-en-* iū-n-* iuy-y-* 'young, young man': Skr. yūv-an- (acc. sing. yūv-ān-am gen. sing. yū-n-as loc. pl. yūv-a-su), Lat. yuv-en- (-en-is), cp. also the form iuy-y-kó-s* which is more widely used, § 83 p. 251; the word is no doubt connected with Lith. jaũ O.C.Sl. ju 'already' see § 66 ad fin. p. 149²⁾. Skr. ás-an- 'stone, sling-stone', Gr. ἄκ-ων (-ον-ος, by a change of declension, see p. 350) 'javelin', cp. also Gr. ἄκ-όν-η 'whetstone' and ἄκ-αυα 'point, thorn'. Skr. mārdh-án- m. A.S. mold-a m. 'head' (ground-form młdh-en-* młdh-en-*, cp. also I § 306 p. 243). Skr. plih-án- plīh-an- plih-an- Lat. li-en (-ēnis) 'spleen' are among the neuter words which denote parts of the body.

Neuter. Skr. ud-án-, Goth. vat-ō, Lith. vand-ũ and und-ũ (which have become masc.), Gr. ῥδ-α-το- with α = y (nom. ῥδ-ατο), 'water'. Skr. údḥ-an- (nom. údḥ-ar) Gr. οῦθ-α-το- (nom. οῦθ-ατο) 'udder'. Skr. yak-án- Gr. ῆπ-α-το- (nom. ῆπ-ατο) Lat. jec-in- (in Gr. κάρᾱ n. for καρᾱσ-α* (-α = -η), ἀμφί-καρᾱνο-ς 'two-headed' for καρᾱσ-ν-ο-*, κάρᾱνο-ν 'head' for καρᾱσ-ν-ο-ν* (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 173 f. 227 ff., Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 69, Danielsson, Gramm. und etymolog. Stud. I, 1888, p. 40 ff.), Lat. cernuo-s for cers-n-uo-s*, O.Icel. hjars-e m. 'head'; the words contain a neuter stem ker-es-* (k̑rr-es-* k̑r-es-*), cp. Skr. śīras-Av. sar-ah- 'head' Lat. cerebru-m for ceres-ro-* (I § 570 p. 428) and below § 134. In like manner, Gr. οὐατο- n. for ους-η-to-* Goth. áus-ō n. 'ear' no doubt implies a neuter *-es-*stem, which appears in Greek in the nom. οὐς Dor. ὠς, if this represents ου-os* and not ους-os* (O.C.Sl. uch-o) (J. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 141, Solmsen ibid. 92). Skr. akṣ-án- Armen. ak-n Goth. áug-ō (cp. I § 444 Rem. 3, p. 331) 'eye', O.C.Sl. ok-n-o n. 'window' ¹⁾). For the use of *-i-*stems to supplement these neuters in -en- as Skr. áskṣ-i gen. akṣ-ṇ-ás, see § 93 p. 279. For the nominatives in r, like Skr. ádḥ-ar, see § 118.

If the Greek infinitives in -ειν- (Dor. Lesb. ην), like φῑεῖν 'to bear', are to be derived from -εσεν* (which is more in accordance with known phonetic laws than to assume they came from -ε-φερ*), we may infer an Indo-Germanic inf. in -s-en* -s-en-i*, which was loc. sing. Compare the Skr. inf. in -s-an-i, as nē-ṣ-án-i from nē- 'lead', gr-ñt-ṣ-án-i beside gar- (pres. gr-ñā-mi) 'praise'.

Aryan. Masculines (and the few Feminines that occur) are rare in Aryan as compared with the classical languages, Celtic and Germanic. Skr. tákṣ-an- 'carpenter' Avest. taš-an-

1) The ṣ of Skr. akṣán- presents certain difficulties. It has been assumed that this is also an extension of an *-es-*stem (cp. O.C.Sl. oko gen. očes-e); but this theory is not supported by Avest. akṣi- = Skr. akṣi- (cp. I § 401 with Rem. 1 p. 296 f., § 556, 1 p. 411; it must be admitted however that ṣ is sometimes written for ś, see Bartholomae, Handbuch § 100 Rem. 2 p. 43) nor by Gr. Boeot. ἄκραλλο-; 'eye' (cp. I § 554 p. 408). Compare also I § 427 Rem. 2 p. 314.

'sculptor', see above p. 345. Skr. ukṣ-án- Avest. uxš-an- 'ox', see above p. 345. Skr. śv-ín- Avest. sp-an- 'dog' see above p. 346. Skr. yúv-an- Avest. yv-an- (read yuvan-, Bartholomae's Hdb. § 91 a p. 40) 'young, young man'; see above, p. 346. Skr. ás-an- Avest. as-an- 'stone'; see above, p. 346. Skr. rāj-an- 'king' beside rāj-án- 'government': cp. O.Ir. rīgain § 110 p. 335; cp. also Lat. rēgnu-m § 65 Rem. p. 139. Skr. mūrdh-án- (-án-am) 'head': A.S. mold-a, see above p. 346. Skr. vi-bhṛ-án- vī-bhṛ-an- 'excellent' beside vi-bhṛ- and vī-bhṛ-a-, words of similar meaning. Avest. arš-an- 'male, man' O.Pers. xšayāršan- 'Xerxes' (for xšaya- 'ruler' + aršan-); see above, p. 345.

In Avestic there are a few examples of -en- in secondary use: mar't-an- beside mar'-ta- 'mortalis'. puṣr-an- 'father of a family' beside pu-ṣra- 'son'. vīs-an- 'member of a clan' beside vīs- 'clan'. hazaxh-an- 'robber' beside hazax- 'deed of violence'. Forms like these originally existed in Sanskrit¹), but they were driven out by the forms in -ín-, see § 115.

Remark 1. In Sanskrit, the nom. sing. in -ā sometimes led to a transference to the ā-declension; e. g. plih-ā- f. beside plih-an-. Cp. -mā § 117 Rem. 2, -tā § 122 Rem. 1, and Gr.Ion. παῖρ, which in the oldest period was neuter (see p. 347 above), but appears later as feminine (gen. παῖρος; etc.).

Neuters. Skr. ud-án- údḥ-an- and other words; see above, p. 346. Skr. mah-án- 'size': compare no doubt Gr. μέγ-α 'magnum', which must be a substantive used adjectivally (μέγας; μέγαν are later forms). dadh-án- 'sour milk' (nom. dádhi): cp. Pruss. dadan 'milk' (an a-stem?). asth-án- 'bone' (ásthi), sakth-án- 'thigh' (sákthi), as-án- 'mouth', dōṣ-án- 'fore-arm', cákšan- 'eye' (cp. akṣ-án-). áh-an- 'day' (nom. áhar), gámbh-an- 'depth'. Avest. ay-an- 'day' (beside ay-ar-), nānḥ-an- 'nose'.

1) The assumption of a nom. sing. krāṇā in Vedic (stem krāṇ-an-), from krāṇá- 'working, active', is based upon a wrong view of the particular passages where the word occurs.

'eye', see p. 347 above. garn, gen. garin, 'Lamb' for gyr-en-*: Skr. úr-an-a-s 'ram' (transferred to the o-declension), Gr. -φρην in πολύ-φρην 'rich in sheep' nom. ἀρήν gen. ἀρ-ν-ός etc. 'ram' (I § 290 p. 232, § 291 p. 233). eln, gen. elin, 'stag': O.C.Sl. jel-en- (gen. jelen-e) 'stag'; it is also found in the extended forms Gr. ἐλ-α-φο-ς 'stag' ἐλλό-ς 'young stag' for ἐλ-ν-ος* (I § 204 p. 170 f., II § 78 p. 216), Mod.Cymr. elain 'hind', Lith. él-n-i-s, gen. élnio, 'stag, elk'.

Greek. The masculine (rarely feminine) *-en-*stems are numerous. Through the generalisation of certain forms of the suffix five types of inflexion arose: ἀρ-ν- 'ram' (acc. ἄρ-ν-α gen. ἀρ-ν-ός)¹⁾; ἀδ-έν- 'gland' ἄρσ-εν- 'male' (ἀδ-έρ-α -έν-ος, ἄρσ-εν-α -εν-ος); ἀηδ-όν- 'nightingale' τέκτ-ον- 'carpenter' (ἀηδ-όν-α -όν-ος, τέκτ-ον-α -ον-ος); πευθ-ήν- 'inquirer' (πευθ-ήν-α -ήν-ος); ἀγ-ών- 'struggle' κλύδ-ων- 'wave' (ἀγ-ών-α -ών-ος, κλύδ-ων-α -ων-ος). No difference of function however was attached to these different forms of the suffix.

Nomina agentis. τέκτ-ων, ἄρσ-ην, κλύδ-ων, see above p. 345 f. ἀρηγ-ών (-όν-) 'helping, helper'. ψευθ-ών (-όν-) 'liar, slanderer'. ψαγγ-ών (-όν-) 'jawbone' (ψαγγ-εῖν 'to eat'). τερεγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'turtle-dove' (τρούζειν 'to coo'). χοαγγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'jay' (χοάζω 'I cry'). αἶθ-ων (-ον- and -ων-) 'burning'. στράβ-ων (-ων-) 'squinter'. γνίγ-ων (-ων-) 'niggard'. σκήπ-ων or σκήμπ-ων (-ων-) 'staff' (σκήμπ-τω 'I support'). κραυγ-ών (-ών-) 'cryer, wood-pecker'. πευθ-ήν (-ήν-) 'inquirer'. Often it is used as a denominative suffix, denoting one who stands in some special relation to what is denoted by the original word. τερήρων (-ων-) epithet of the dove, 'little trembler' beside τερήρ-ος 'timorous'. πρόρδ-ων (-ων-) 'pēditor', beside πρόρδη 'pēditum'. κίβδ-ων (-ων-) 'workman who purifies metals from the dross', beside κίβδη 'dross'. δρομ-ων (-ων-) 'runner', term applied to a light kind of ship and a kind of lobster, beside δρομό-ς 'course'. γούτρ-ων (-ων-) 'glutton', beside γαστήρ 'paunch'. γνάθ-ων (-ων-) 'thick-check, puff-check', beside γνάθος 'cheek'. γύσκα-ων (-ων-) 'fat-paunch, pot-belly', beside γύσκη 'stomach, great-gut'. We should add a number of personal names, such as Στράβ-ων (στράβων, στραβός), Χρέμ-ων (cp. O.H.G. Grimmo), Ἀγάθ-ων (ἀγαθός), Φίλ-ων (φίλος), Δρόμ-ων (δρόμων, δρόμος), Ἀνκ-ων (cp. O.H.G. Wolfo).

Other *-en-*stems are more isolated, and it is not clear how they are to be connected with the different uses of the suffix which we can trace in the parent language. Acc. πύκ-ν-α gen. πύκ-ν-ός (nom. πυνύξ is a new formation) a place of public assembly in Athens (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 169). τέρ-ην (-εν-) 'tender'. αὐχ-ήν(-έν-) 'neck'. εἰκ-ών (-όν-) 'image'. σταγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'drop'. πυχ-ών (όν-) f. 'length of an ell'. ἀγ-ών (-ῶν-) 'contest'. κλύδ-ων (-ων-) 'wave, billow'. λειχ-ήν (-ῆν-) 'scab, eruption'.

In consequence of the similar termination of the nom. -ων, stems of this kind sometimes followed the inflexion of stems in -οντ-. ἄκ-ων, see above, p. 346. Θεράπ-ων (-οντ-) 'servant beside Θεράπ-ν-η Θεράπ-αινα 'maid-servant'. λέων (-οντ-) 'lion' beside λιό-παρδος 'leopard' (like αἰμο-βαφής ἀκμό-θετον § 112 p. 340), λέαινα 'lioness' and Lat. leō (-ōn-). Cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 168 f. 197.

The neuters were associated with the neuter stems in -μεν- and -μεν- and all alike underwent a change of inflexion due originally to their extension by the suffix -to-. See § 82 p. 250. κάρᾱ 'head' for *καρᾱσ-α gen. καρᾱ-τός, κρή-δεμνο-ν 'head-band'; ὕδ-α-τος, nom. ὕδ-ωρ 'water'; οὐθ-α-τος, nom. οὐθ-αρ 'udder'; ἥπ-α-τος, nom. ἥπ-αρ 'liver'; οὐ-α-τος ὠ-τός, nom. οὐς 'ear'; see p. 347 above. ἄλειφ-α (also ἄλειφ-αρ), gen. -α-τος, 'oil for anointing', like Lat. ungu-en.

Infinitives in -ειν for -ειν-; for these forms see above, p. 347. It is possible, but it can hardly be proved, that the Doric infinitives like φέρειν are the locatives of an abstract root-noun in -en- (ἄγ-ειν for instance, beside ἀγ-ών, as αἰ-(F)έν beside αἰ-(F)ών, § 116).

Italic. Masculine (rarely feminine) -en- stems are numerous. Lat. car-ō car-n-is f., Umbr. kar-u 'pars' kar-n-e 'carne carni' Osc. car-n-eis 'partis', beside Umbr. kar-tu 'dividito, distribuito': O.Ir. car-n-a 'flesh'. Lat. hom-ō -ōn-is and -in-is, Umbr. hom-on-us (ō) 'hominibus' Osc. humuns (ū) nom. 'homines': Goth. gum-a etc., see p. 346. Umbr. abr-un-u (ū) 'aprum' (like Lat. burdō beside burdu-s and the like); cp. Lat. aprun-culu-s. Osc. sverrun-ōi (ū) dat. sing. the title of a magistrate.

If we except *carō*¹⁾, the different forms of the suffix were levelled in Latin in such a way that all the cases but the nom. sing. had either -en- -in- or -ōn-. -en- is found only in juven-, but there it is not phonetically regular, see I § 65 Rem. 3 p. 53. We cannot determine how far Lat. -in- represents Idg. -en- or Idg. -on- respectively.

In Latin it forms primary nomina agentis, all with -ōn-. ed-ō ed-ōn-is, as-sedō, see p. 346 above. in-cub-ō: O.H.G. hūf-o 'heap'. ger-ō. vol-ō. bib-ō. rap-ō. mand-ō. err-ō. -ōn- is also found in denominatives, some of which are also nomina agentis, while some denote persons or things which stand in some other special relation to the thing denoted by the original word; such formations were suggested by groups of words like cachinn-ō beside cachinnāre cachinnu-s, fabul-ō beside fabulārī fabula and others. Examples are: gerr-ō from gerrae. simpul-ō from simpulu-m. mer-ō from meru-m. linte-ō from linteu-m. nebul-ō from nebula. bucc-ō from bucca. cox-ō from coxa. petr-ō from petra. strig-ō from striga. The same -ōn- forms many personal names, as Capit-ō from caput, Nās-ō from nāsu-s, Cat-ō from catu-s, Rūf-ō from rūfu-s. The following nouns denoting inanimate objects are nearly related to these appellatives: pīsō (-ōn- in oblique cases and so in all these words) 'mortar' (pī(n)sere), runc-ō 'hoe' (runcāre), sabul-ō 'coarse sand' from sabulu-m, pēr-ō 'a boot rather too loose at the top' from pēra (cp. O.H.G. gēro from gēr and the like p. 354); and no doubt pont-ō 'ponton' from pōns. — In hom-ō -ōn- gave way to -in-, when the consciousness of its original meaning (see p. 346) had died out.

1) Cp. also cor-n- in cor-n-is beside Umbr. cur-n-ac-o 'cornicem' Gr. χορ-ών-ης 'crow'.

Other *-en-*stems are more isolated in point of meaning. juv-en- (nom. juven-i-s, see § 93 p. 281), cp. juven-cu-s Umbr. ivengar pl. 'iuvencae' § 83 p. 251, juven-ta § 80 p. 239, jūn-t-x § 110 p. 335: Skr. yūv-an- etc., see p. 346. pect-en (-in-), li-en (-ēn-) (Skr. plih-án-, p. 346), perhaps the Idg. nom. ended in -ēn*; cp. also sanguen, the older nom. of sangu-in-is etc., afterwords replaced by sanguin-s*, whence sanguīs. turb-ō (-in-). ōrd-ō (-in-). Some few were feminine, as aspergō (-in-), compāgō (-in-), grandō (-in-, also m.), margo (-in-, also m.), virgō (-in-). Lastly, there are some masculines formed with -ōn-, which may or may not be connected with the class of -ōn- forms just discussed, as cūdō, carbō, truō.

Neuters. ungu-en (-in-) Umbr. um-en 'ungen' (umen is otherwise explained by Pauli, Altital. Stud. V 102 f.): O.Ir. imb imm, gen. imme (stem imb-en-) n., O.H.G. anch-o m. (no doubt originally neuter) 'butter'. ingu-en (-in-): Gr. ἀδ-ῖν gen. ἀδ-ῖν-ος 'gland', common ground-form æg-en-*, cp. also O.Icel. okk-r 'swelling'. pollen (-in-), originally pol-en* pol-n-is*; see I § 208 p. 175. jecur jecin-is* produced the form jecin-or-is; see above, p. 346 f.

Old Irish. The masculines (and the rarer feminines) have partly -on- (Gall. Lingon-es, Senon-es and the like), partly -ōn-. We do not find any thing like a large group of nomina agentis.

The following have pr. Celt. -on-, nom. sing. in -ō (cp. -tiu for -tiō, § 115). cū (pl. coin) Mod.Cymr. ci (pl. cwn) 'dog': Skr. śvā etc., see p. 346 above. esc-ung 'eel' ('bog-snake'): cp. Lat. angu-en n. beside angui-s. derucc (gen. derc-on) 'acorn'. Miliuc (gen. Milc-on), Glaisiuc, proper names. Cp. also triath, gen. trethan, 'sea' = Gr. Τριτ-ων.

The following have pr. Celt. -ōn-, nom. sing. in -ōn-s* (cp. Osc. -iuf -íf, § 115 Rem. p. 360). ar-u (pl. arain) 'kidney' is no doubt to be compared with Lat. Praenest. nefrōn-ēs Lanuv. nebr-un-din-ēs, O.H.G. nior-o (pr. Germ. ne(ȝ)ur-en-*) 'kidney', even though the form of the root-syllable in Celtic (Mod.Cymr. eirin) is difficult to explain. lecc-o 'cheek'. id-u 'pangs of travail'.

fiad-u 'witness'. lach-u 'duck'. Ān-u 'mater deorum Hibernensium'. Many of the substantives of this group were feminine; but I do not know how far the gender has been ascertained in particular instances.

It is not probable that ing-e 'nail' (gen. ingan) is a formation of the same sort as men-me 'mens' (gen. menman) for -men-s* (§ 117).

Remark 2. "It can scarcely be maintained that the word for 'nail' in O.Ir. was an n-stem. In any case Stokes' paradigm [Bezenb. Beitr. XI 92] does not agree with the facts in Old Irish. The following is much more likely; — Insular Celt. enguinā* Cymr. ewin f., O.Ir. nom. ingen, a gloss to 'ungula' (hitherto taken as gen. sing.), dat. ingin, dat. pl. ingnib for inginaib*. In Mid.Ir. the word was declined, though not entirely, as an n-stem. The nom. sing. was inga inge just as persa = O.Ir. persan (persona). For the nom. pl. we still have ingne, which is regularly developed from ingina*, but cannot be satisfactorily explained as any case of the n-inflexion". Thurneysen.

Neut. imb 'butter': Lat. ungu-en etc., see above p. 352.

Germanic. Here the -en-suffix attained its widest use in a mass of new formations. Its fertility is especially remarkable in the class of nomina agentis and the nouns connected with them, in which -en- appears as a secondary suffix with what may be called an 'individualising' function, i. e. that of converting adjectives into substantives. Any adjective could be so converted by adding -en- to its stem. These derived forms were brought into close syntactical connexion with the definite article (demonstrative-stem to-*), and so arose what is known as the 'weak' declension of adjectives. Further Idg. and Germ. -ōn- was associated with Germ. -ō- (Idg. -a-) on the analogy of the relation between Germ. -an- and -a-, and so a weak declension was developed for the adjectival a-stems parallel to that of the o-stems.

Masculine. Nomina agentis. Goth. áuhs-a O.H.G. ohs-o O.Icel. ox-e ux-e 'ox': Skr. ukṣ-án- etc., see p. 345 above. O.H.G. speh-o egg-o -segg-o see p. 346 above. Goth. skul-a O.H.G. scol-o 'debtor'. Goth. un-vita 'ignorant one, fool' O.H.G. wizz-o 'knower, sage'. Goth. nula 'fisher'. O.H.G. heri-zogo O.Icel.

her-toge 'duke' pr. Germ. tuz-én-* and O.H.G. heri-zoho pr. Germ. tūz-en-*. O.H.G. bot-o O.Icel. boð-e 'messenger'. O.H.G. geb-o O.Icel. -gjaf-e 'giver'. O.H.G. wār-queto 'veridicus' O.Icel. hrōðr-kveðe 'praedicator laudis' pr. Germ. kved-én-*. Mid.H.G. schad-e O.Icel. skað-e 'damager' pr. Germ. skáp-en-*. Goth. han-a O.H.G. han-o 'cock', beside Lat. can-ere. O.H.G. sceid-o 'sequester'. Further we find denominative forms, some of them also nomina agentis, and some denoting persons or things which stand in some other special relation to the idea of the original word (including many epithetised compounds with ga-). Goth. gum-a O.H.G. gomo O.Icel. gum-e 'human being, man': Lat. hom-ō etc.; see above, p. 346. Goth. vaurstō-a 'worker' from vaurstō n. 'work'. Goth. spill-a 'announcer' from spill n. 'tale'. Goth. ga-razna 'neighbour' from razn 'house'. O.H.G. stiur-o O.Icel. stjör-e 'steersman' from stiura f. 'rudder'. O.H.G. urteil-o 'judge' from urteil 'sentence'. O.H.G. hūc-o 'spouse' O.Icel. hý-e 'attendant' beside Goth. heiva- 'house'. O.H.G. heim-o 'cricket on the hearth' from heim 'house, home'. O.H.G. gi-lanto 'fellow-countryman' from lant 'country'. Further we have names of peoples, such as Teutōn-es, O.H.G. Sahso, Franko, and names of persons, such as O.H.G. Wolfo, Harto, Berhto. The following have a close connexion with the nomina agentis: A.S. drop-a 'drop' ('dripper'), O.H.G. chleb-o 'sticker, glue' and the like.

The following are substantives formed from adjectives: Goth. liuta 'hypocrite' from liut-s 'hypocritical', veiha 'priest' from veih-s 'holy', O.H.G. wīzago 'soothsayer' from wīzag 'marking, surmising', and others.

Through the popularity of the -n-declension substantival o-stems denoting persons were sometimes made into -en-stems without any alteration of meaning, e. g. Goth. svaithra beside O.H.G. soehur Skr. śvāśura-s Gr. ἐνυρό-ς 'father-in-law'.

We find another class of denominatives, akin to those already discussed, denoting objects of the same shape or form as the thing described by the original substantive (cp. Lat. sabulō, pērō p. 351). O.H.G. gēr-o O.Icel. geir-e 'wedge-shaped piece, instrument, or territory', from gēr 'spear'. A.S. mūd-a

O.Icel. munne 'orifice', beside muð 'mouth'. Mid.H.G. kamb-e kamm-e 'comb-like instrument', from kam 'comb'. O.Icel. nagl-e 'nail', from nagl 'finger-nail'. O.Icel. odd-e m. 'triangle', from odd-r 'spear-point'. Add certain words in -ðn- (f.), as O.H.G. bart-a 'axe, broad-axe' beside bart beard'. Cp. Kluge, Nomin. Stammbildungslehre § 79 p. 37.

The most numerous of the remaining substantives are the abstract nouns and the names for parts of the body. Abstract nouns: Goth. ah-a 'thought, understanding', ga-taira 'cleft', O.H.G. scad-o O.Icel. skað-e 'harm', O.H.G. merz-o 'pain', gi-feho 'joy'; add also some words in -ðn- (f.), as Goth. lub-ð 'love', brinn-ð 'fever', O.Icel. tak-a 'taking in, assumption'. One or two of the names for parts of the body are proethnic: A.S. mold-a 'head' see p. 346, O.Icel. hjars-e 'head' see p. 347, O.H.G. nior-o (O.Icel. nýr-a n.) 'kidney'; see p. 352. With these, others were associated: Goth. lōf-a 'flat of the hand', O.H.G. naþol-o O.Icel. nafl-e 'navel', O.H.G. dūm-o (cp. § 72 p. 171). Also feminine forms in -ðn- as O.H.G. gall-ā 'gall' (on the other hand A.S. Ʒealla is m.), Goth. tugg-ð O.H.G. zung-a O.Icel. tung-a 'tongue', O.H.G. zēh-a 'toe'.

Feminine. The original stems in -ðn- were associated in Germanic with those in -ā-, not so intimately indeed as were the -iðn- stems, but closely enough to be attracted into the feminine gender, though we must observe that some of the abstract nouns in -ðn-, like those in -iðn-, may have been feminine before they passed into Germanic. On their analogy feminines in -ðn- were formed at will from the masculine -en- stems which denoted living beings. O.H.G. maga-zoha 'nutrix' from -zoho -zogo. O.Icel. kveld-riða 'noctivaga, strix' from -riðe. Goth. ga-raznð 'neighbour (f.)' from ga-razna. O.H.G. gi-mahha 'wife' from gi-mahho. O.H.G. hīwa 'wife' from hīwo. O.H.G. wīzaga 'sooth-sayer (f.)' from wīzago. Goth. svaihrð 'mother-in-law' from svathra. Goth. qinð O.Icel. kona 'woman' contrasted with Gr. γυνή, Goth. viduð 'widow' contrasted with Lat. vidua. As an example of the weak adjectives we may take Goth. blind-ð beside masc. blind-a 'caecus'.

Neuters, in the genitive and other cases always with -en-. Goth. vat-ō 'water', Goth. áus-ō O.H.G. ōr-a 'ear', Goth. áug-ō O.H.G. oug-a 'eye', see above p. 347. Goth. hairt-ō O.H.G. herz-a 'heart'. O.H.G. wang-a 'cheek', O.Icel. nýr-a 'kidney' beside O.H.G. m. nior-o (on the other hand O.Icel. hjars-e m. beside Skr. n. śirś-án-, cp. also O.H.G. anch-o m. 'butter' beside Lat. ungu-en n. O.Ir. imb n.). Along with these names for parts of the body we find a few other substantives, as Goth. þairk-ō 'hole', áuga-daurō 'window' and kaúrnō 'corn' (a derivative of kaúrn, parallel to masculines like O.H.G. gēr-o and to feminines like O.H.G. bart-a p. 354 f.). In the weak adjectives: Goth. blind-ō beside masc. blind-a.

Balto-Slavonic. Here the -en- stems are rare; a large part of them have fallen out of the n-declension through various processes of re-formation. Generally the suffix appears in the form -en- in all cases except the nom. sing.

Lith. el-n- in éln-i-s 'stag, elk' O.C.Sl. jelen- m. (nom. jelen-ĩ) 'stag': Armen. eln etc., see p. 349 above. Lith. szirsz-ũ m. O.C.Sl. srīš-en-ĩ m. 'horse-fly, hornet', common ground-form kys-en-*: cp. O.H.G. hornaz 'hornet' pr. Germ. χurz-n-ata-z* (I § 303 p. 240). From an original dej-en-* (dij-en-* dĭ-en-) di-n- (deĭ-n-*) 'day' were developed Lith. f. dė-n-à Pruss. acc. dei-n-a-n O.C.Sl. gen. dĭ-n-e (nom. dĭ-nĭ m.): cp. Skr. dín-a-m Lat. nūn-dinae (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 23).

Lith. szũ (aus szu-ũ*, I § 184 p. 160), gen. szu-ñ-s acc. szù-n-ĩ, m. 'dog', also szun-i-s m.: Skr. śv-ā etc., see p. 346 above. rud-ũ m. 'autumn' beside rūd-a-s 'reddish-brown': cp. Lat. Rūf-ō Goth. rāud-a, see p. 345 above. We have an old neuter in vand-ũ m. 'water' (Lett. úd--e'n-s): Skr. ud-án- etc., see above p. 346.

O.C.Sl. step-en- m. 'step', kor-en- m. 'root', nom. stepen-ĩ koren-ĩ. vod-a f. 'water' (inflected as an a-stem) perhaps comes from an Indo-Germanic nominative in -ō.

§ 115. The Suffix *-ien-*¹⁾. This Suffix, which appears in the forms -ien- -ion- -iēn- -iōn-, -iien- -iion- -iīēn- -iīōn- and -in- -in- (-iū- -iū-) arose in derivatives from the stems in -io- -i- and -ī-. We must distinguish two strata in this class of nasal stems.

1. Forms corresponding to denominatives like Lat. hom-ō Lith. rud-ũ Av. mar't-an- (§ 114), as Skr. abhimatīn- 'plotting' (abhi-mati-ṣ 'plot'), ὁὐρανίῳ 'the heavenly one' (cp. ὁὐράνιος), Lat. vulpīō (vulpēs), Goth. arbja 'heir' (arbi n. 'heritage').

2. Abstract Substantives like those mentioned on p. 341 f. e. g. cap-iō, which, if we may judge from δωτίῳ-η and other examples, once existed in Greek as well as elsewhere.

The custom of extending all kinds of stems by an -n-suffix remained in full force through most of the stages in the history of the separate languages, and hence the class of stems which we are now considering was continually enlarged. But we are justified in referring all such nouns as Goth. arbja to the suffix -ien- rather than to -en- (§ 114) — although a priori the word might be analysed either arbj-an- or arbja-n quite as naturally as arb-jan- (cp. e. g. vairstv-an- or vairst va-n-) — simply because they created no new variety of suffix, that is, none which was not in existence in the proethnic period, but merely reproduced the original -ien- type in one or other of its forms.

On the other hand it must be admitted that this suffix had only just begun to be used independently before the separation of the languages. Indeed there appear to be no examples of particular words that contain it which are certainly proethnic; notice however such parallels as Skr. praśn-in- 'questioner' A.S. fricgea 'herald' and abstract nouns like Lat. ratiōn- = Goth. raþjōn-, Lat. mentiō = O.Ir. er-mitiu, which are mostly derived from Indo-Germanic stems in -ti-, see § 100 p. 294.

Aryan. Here we find only denominatives with the suffix in the form *-in-*¹⁾, which spread through all the cases in the proethnic period of Aryan; e. g. nom. pl. -in-as instead of -iān-as*, loc. sing. -in-i instead of -iān-i*. During the same period -i- replaced -iā- (= -iñ-) in the 'middle' cases (e. g. Skr. arcti-bhyas Avest. kaini-bjō) and -ī- replaced -iā in the nom. sing. (Skr. arctī Avest. kainī) on the analogy of the -en- stems (Skr. dat. abl. pl. -a-bhyas, nom. sing. -ā).

Skr. arctin- 'beaming from arcti-š 'beam', cittin- 'intelligent' from cittī-š 'understanding', ūrmin- 'billowy' from ūrmī-š 'billow', atithin- 'wandering' from atithi-š 'guest'. Avest. kainin- f. 'girl' from kanyā- Skr. kanyā 'girl'. Gr. καινός 'new' (kav-lio-s*); for the meaning of the suffix compare Lat. pūs-iō 'little boy'. But we find that the use of -in- as a derivative suffix has spread by analogy to other than -o- stems, almost exclusively however to those in -o- (cp. Gr. μαλακ-ίων from μαλακός, Lat. libell-ōi from libellu-s, Goth. vaurstv-ja from vaurstv); it ousted -an-, which remained only in Avestic (see § 114 p. 348). Skr. parṇ-in- Avest. per'n-in- 'winged', beside Skr. parṇā-m 'wing'. Skr. yav-in- 'rich in corn'. Avest. yep-in- m. 'fields', beside Skr. yāva-s 'corn'. Skr. śvan-in- 'leading dogs', from śvan- 'dog'. O.Pers. vīp-in- 'belonging to a clan' (Avestic shows the older form vis-an-), from vīp- 'clan'. Skr. -yin- after vowels, e. g. svadhā-yin- 'he to whom the svadhā belongs' is like -iī- (Lith. mō-jī-s) p. 122 footnote 2, and -iī- § 110 p. 336.

In Sanskrit forms like mad-in- 'intoxicating, rejoicing' (from māda-s 'intoxication, joyous excitement') were referred to kindred verbs (māda-ti), and hence -in- acquired the character of a primary suffix. See Whitney, Skr. Gram. § 1183.

-min-, and -vin- were no doubt special formations in Sanskrit; examples are rg-mīn- 'singing, jubilating' (beside rg-mīya- 'worthy of praise'), namas-vīn- 'paying reverence.' Cp. below Gr. σρα-μίν-.

1) Prof. W. Streithberg was the first scholar who clearly recognised that Ar. -in- was derived from the original -iēn-. I have followed him also in regarding -i- as the weak form of -iō-, in § 116.

Greek. -ion- -iwn- appear beside -io-, as in οὐραν-ίων (-iwn-) 'the heavenly one, dweller in heaven' beside οὐράν-ιος 'heavenly', Κρον-ίων (-ion- and ῖων-) 'the descendant of Kronos' beside Κρόν-ιος 'belonging to Kronos'. Generally however -iwn- is an independent suffix. Ἀτρε-ῖων 'son of Atreus', from Ἀτρεῖ-ς. μαλακ-ίων 'weakling', from μαλακός 'weak'. δειλακρ-ίων 'wretch, miserable creature', from δειλακρός 'very wretched'.

-in- appears in Ἀδρηστ-ίν-η 'daughter of Adrestos' Εὐην-ίν-η a 'daughter of Euenos' beside Ἀκρισ-ιών-η 'daughter of Akrisios'. Further, in δωτί-ν-η 'gift' beside δῶ-τι-ς 'gift', cp. Lat. datiō beside dōs. This form justifies us in classing here the words δελφίν- m. 'belly-fish, dolphin' (cp. Skr. garbh-in- 'pregnant'), ἀκτ-ίν- f. 'beam, of light', πηρ-ίν- f. 'scrotum', ὠδ-ίν- f. 'travail', γλῶχ-ίν- f. 'point, end' (cp. γλῶσσα for *γλῶχ-ια). The weak form of the suffix was adopted in all the cases, as -in- in Aryan. Closely parallel to these are words in -mīn-: στα-μῖν- and σια-μῖν- m. 'wood that stands upright', ῥηγ-μῖν- f. 'surge, breaker' (beside ῥήγ-μα 'a breaking'), ὑσμῖν- f. and ὑσμίν-η 'flight' (for the -s- cp. § 72 p. 173.). The nom. sing. ends in -īs for *-in-s-, for which -in- was substituted in later Greek.

Italic. -iōn- in the masculine is seen in Lat. vulpiō from vulpēs, pellīō from pellis, restīō from restis, cūrīō 'head of a curia', from cūria, centuriō from centuria, laniō from laniu-s; and it is common as an independent suffix, e. g. libell-iō from libellu-s, cūr-iō 'one wasted by sorrow' from cūra, tenebr-iō from tenebrae, mīr-iō from mīru-s, and the substantives formed from the numerals, ūn-iō bīn-iō tern-iō and so forth. Some of these masculines had a diminutival sense, as homunc-iō senec-iō pūs-iō pūmil-iō, cp. Avest. kainin- p. 358. The Umbr. Vuf-ion-e Vof-ion-e should be mentioned here.

Secondly we have the feminine abstract nouns in -iōn-, and -in- (-īn-?) in Umbro-Samnite; this establishes a variation in the form of the suffix in different cases for the proethnic Italic period. Lat. com-mūniō beside com-mūni-s; Goth. ga-māinei 'community' beside ga-māini- 'communis'; al-luv-iō beside al-luv-iu-m, al-luv-iē-s, con-tāg-iō beside con-tāg-iu-m ob-

-sid-iō beside ob-sid-iu-m, cp. Goth. ga-riud-jō beside ga-riud-i. The following examples show -iōn- in independent use, so that it appears as a primary suffix: Lat. leg-iō re-ligio Osc. leg-in-ei 'legioni, cohorti' leg-in-um 'legionem, cohortem', Lat. cōn-spīc-iō, reg-iō, cap-iō ūsū-capiō, opīn-iō; Umbr. fer-in-e perhaps 'feretro', tribrisu 'ternio' abl. tribris-in-e, Osc. tang-in-om 'sententiam' gen. tang-in-eis, trībarakk-iuf 'aedificatio'.

The form -tiōn- -tin- (-tīn-?) is especially frequent and largely superseded Idg. -ti-: Lat. men-tiō (O.Ir. er-mitiu 'honour'), ra-tiō (Goth. ra-þjō 'ratio'), da-tiō (cp. Gr. δω-τίv-η 'gift'), jūnc-tiō, occupā-tiō, tribū-tiō; Umbr. na-tin-e 'natione, gente', Osc. medica-tin-om 'indicationem', úit-tiuf 'usio, usus', frukta-tiuf 'usus, fructus', statif 'statio, statua'. Cp. § 100 p. 300. With Lat. exerci-tiō compare exerci-tiu-m, with dic-tiō the Osc. med-dirud 'iuris dictione', which no doubt comes from med-dihtiō* as Bansae from Bantiā-* (I § 502 p. 368 f.); see § 163 under Italic.

Remark. The Umbrian nominative termination -iu stands for pr. Ital. and pr. Idg. -iō. On the other hand. Osc. -iuf and -if stand for iōns* -ins* (-ins?*). The latter were later dialectic formations (cp. Lat. sanguis Gr. δαίμας and other similar forms, and see § 114 p. 352, § 117 under Old Irish). The late origin of the ending -ns explains the special treatment of this group of sounds in these words see I § 209 p. 177, § 655 p. 506.

In the Sabine dialect we find also the form -iēn- ner-iēn-em 'fortitudinem', nom. ner-iō, gen. also Νηρίv-ης (Lydus de mens. IV 42), parallel to ner-ō 'brave' Nerō (cp. Gr. Ἄνδρ-ων) from Idg. ner-* 'man'. An-iō gen. -iēn-is (amongst the Romans declined after the Latin fashion, -iōn-is). Should such forms be regarded as derivatives from words with the suffix -iē- (§ 109) (cp. Ner-ia), which would explain the ē?

Old Irish. Besides Eriu 'Ireland' (gen. Ereenn; for the nn cp. § 117 Rem. 3) the only certain examples are the forms which correspond to the Latin feminine abstract nouns in -tiō: air-itiu f. 'accipere': Lat. ēemptiō, aig-thiu f. 'fear' and others. All the cases, except the nom. sing., have -tin-; there is only the dat. (loc.) sing. with its by-form in -te to vouch for -tion* in early Irish. See § 100 p. 301.

In Gallic -iōn- is common: we have names of towns like Brigantio (compared with the participial stem brigant- 'projecting', O.Ir. Brigit = Skr. bṛhat-ī § 110 p. 337), Divio, Cabellio; names of tribes like Suessiōn-es, Κοῦσιων-ες.

Germanic. Masc. -jan- (like -an-). Goth. arbja O.H.G. arpeo 'heir, beside Goth. arb-i n. 'heritage'. Goth. bandja 'prisoner', beside band-i f. 'chain'. Goth. vāi-dēdja 'evildoer' Mid.H.G. übel-tæte A.S. yfel-dæda 'evildoer', beside Goth. ga-dēdi f. 'deed'. Goth. ga-máinja 'partaker', beside ga-máini- 'communis'. The suffix is more frequently independent. Goth. mana-maurþrja O.H.G. murdr-eo 'murderer', from Germ. murþra-* 'murder'; Goth. timr-ja 'carpenter', beside O.H.G. zimbar 'timber'; fisk-ja 'fisher', beside fiska- 'fish'; vaurstv-ja 'worker', beside vaurstv 'work'; O.H.G. scirn-o 'buffoon', beside scern 'jest'; scar-io scaro 'head of a troop' beside scara 'troop'. It has the character of a primary suffix in e. g. Goth. arbi-num-ja 'inheritor, heir', O.H.G. nōt-num-eo 'raptor', O.H.G. sceph-eo scaffo 'conditor', fer-io fero 'sailor'. Feminines (cp. O.H.G. māga-zoha etc. § 114 p. 355): Goth. arbjo 'heiress', O.H.G. ge-betta O.Icel. bedja 'bedfellow (f.), wife'.

The form -iōn- became incapable of denoting male persons (notice that masculines like Gr. ῥεῶνλα-ς Lat. agricola O.C.Sl. sluga are foreign to Germanic). It was preserved on the other hand in names of things which in form are parallel to Goth. arbja etc. (also in a few names of animals), which then became feminine. Goth. snōrjo 'basket woven out of string', beside O.H.G. snuori- f. 'string'. O.H.G. bulga 'leathern sack', beside balgi- m. 'bag'. O.H.G. harra 'hair garment', beside hār 'hair'. Goth. ga-timrjo O.H.G. zimbirra 'building', beside O.H.G. zimbar 'timber'. O.Icel. birkja 'birch-sap', beside bjqrk 'birch'. O.Icel. gedda 'pike', beside gadd-r 'thorn, spine' (cp. Lat. stellio m. 'star-lizard, newt' from stella).

Feminine abstract nouns in -iōn-, whose gender dates from the pre-Germanic period. Goth. gariudjo 'modesty', side by side with ga-riud-i n. (same meaning) (cp. Lat. alluvio and alluviu-m), beside ga-riup-s 'modest, decent'. O.Icel. vitra 'sagacity' beside vit-r 'sagacious'; sælu 'luck', beside sæll 'lucky'. The suffix has the character of a primary suffix in Goth. ga-runjō 'inundation', sakjō 'strife', A.S. æsce 'question', O.Icel. þykkja 'love'. We also find -tjōn-, but this was not fertile in Germanic, which contrasts with its history in Italic and Irish: Goth. ra-þjō 'reckoning' (Lat. ra-tiō), O.Icel. þrætta 'strife'. Parallel to raþjō is O.H.G. redia, a strong feminine, cp. Lat. exercitiu-m beside exercitiō. Side by side with -jōn- is the form -in-, found in abstract denominatives, especially in those derived from adjectival stems: Goth. aglāitei 'rudeness' side by side with aglāiti n. (the same), magapēi 'maidenhood' beside magapī- 'maiden', Goth. gamāinei O.H.G. gimeinī 'community' beside Goth. ga-māini- 'communis' (Lat. commūniō f. beside com-mūni-s), Goth. gōdei O.H.G. guotī 'goodness, excellence' beside Goth. gōþ-s 'good', Goth. managei O.H.G. menigī 'crowd' beside Goth. manag-s 'many, much'. We have seen reason for believing that the same -in- is contained in the suffix -in-ga-, as in O.H.G. Berhting, § 88 Rem. 3 p. 267.

Slavonic. We find -jōn- in the plural of denominative names of inhabitants and classes, as zemljan-e 'countrymen' from zemlja 'land', graždan-e 'citizens' for gord-ian-e* from gradŭ 'city', seljan-e 'country folk' from selo 'cultivated land', mir-jan-e 'laici' from mirŭ 'world'. See I § 585, 3 p. 440.

§ 116. The Suffix -uēn-. This appears in the forms -uēn- -uon- (-uēn-) -uōn- and -un- -uū-, and appears to be derived from the u- and uo- stems, just as -ien- from those in -i- and -io-.

The meaning of the suffix cannot be reduced to any general definition. Amongst the substantives it forms are nomina actionis, which were used as infinitives in Aryan and Greek.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. dy-un- (e. g. instr. dyun-a) n. 'life', Gr. ai-(F)ών (-ων-) m. 'space of time, eternity' ai-(F)έν (loc. sing.) 'always', common ground-form ai-uēn-* (cp. I § 611 p. 461): compare Lat. ae-vo-m, Goth. ái-v-s m. 'time, eternity' ground-form ai-uo-* (cp. I § 612 p. 462, § 614 p. 464). Skr. pī-van- Gr. πī-(F)ων (-ων-) 'fat': compare pī-ue-ro-* Skr. pīva-rá-s Gr. πīε-ρό-ς 'fat' Skr. pī-vas- n. Gr. πīό-της etc., see § 74 p. 182.

Skr. pár-van- n. 'knob, joint, pause, break', Gr. ἀ-πείρων (-ον-) 'boundless' for *περ-φων, πειραίνω 'I bring to an end' for *περ-φω-γω, Skr. párvata-s Gr. πέρρατα πείρατα (see § 82 p. 249): beside these we have Gr. ἄ-πειρος. Skr. agrādvān- 'eating first', Gr. Hom. ἐδ-φατ- or ἐδδ-ατ- n. 'food' (ἐδδ-ατ- is a wrong spelling, cp. I § 166 p. 147 on δειδμεν). Skr. grā-van- m. 'soma-stone' O.Ir. broo brō, gen. broon brōn, 'millstone'.

Datives in -uen-ai are used as infinitives (this appears to have been a modification of the original -un-ai -un-ai introduced in the proethnic period on the analogy of the loc. in -uen(-i); cp. -men-ai § 117). Skr. dā-vān-e 'to give', Gr. Cypr. δο-φερ-αι Att. δοῦναι. Avest. vīd-van-ōi 'to know', Gr. εἰδέναι for *φειδ-φερ-αι (cp. § 136 Remark 1).

Aryan. The original relations of ablaut are preserved most nearly in Skr. sing. nom. maghā-vā ('generous') acc. -vān-am loc. -van-i instr. maghōn-ā, Avest. sing. nom. aša-va ('pure') acc. -van-em gen. ašaon-ō. In Sanskrit, levelling took place in two different directions. On the one hand the form with -van- spread into the weakest cases: e. g. īthar-vā -vān-am -vaṇ-i produced -vaṇ-ā -vaṇ-as instead of un-ā* etc. (cp. the form apaurun-ē dat. preserved in Avestic), a change which was supported by the parallelism of the *man-*stems (āś-man-ā etc.). And the v of forms like ṛtā-vn-ā (we should expect ṛtāun-ā*) came from the other forms with -van- -vān- (cp. I § 160 p. 144), while such a form as pī-vn-, and (here also) the type of the *-man-*stems (arya-mṇ-ā) may have influenced the re-formation. On the other hand, in some neuter words (e. g. dy-un-) a new paradigm was formed by a confusion with *u-*stems which were parallel to them, (from which came e. g. the nom. acc. dyu, cp. Goth. aju-ka- in ajuk-dūþ-s 'eternity'). An interesting survival of -un- on Indian ground appears also in mīth-un-ā 'paired' beside Avest. mīþ-wan- n. 'pair'. Cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 187 ff.

Skr. tāk-van- beside tak-vā tāk-u- 'shooting on, quick'. ṛbh-van- beside ṛbh-vā ṛbh-ū- 'capable, aristic'. ṛk-van- beside ṛk-vā 'singing, praising'. pād-van- m. beside pād-vā m. 'way'. ār-van- 'runner' beside Avest. aurva 'quick' A.S. ar-u 'prompt', ready'. dhán-van n. beside dhán-u- f. 'dune, sandy land'. Avest. er^hā-wan- 'raiser, helper' beside er^hā-wa- 'uplifted, raised up'.

Skr. ādḥ-van- m. Avest. aḍ-wan- m. 'way'. Skr. yā-van- 'going, traveller' Avest. yaon-a- m. 'path, way'. Skr. pāt-van- 'flying', śāk-van- 'able', rā-van- 'bestowing'. Avest. iś-van- 'able', der^hz-van- m. 'fetter'. Skr. snā-van- n. 'bond, sinew', tūg-van- n. 'rapid stream', Avest. karš-van- n. (nom. acc. karš-var^h) name of the seven divisions of the earth.

-t-van-: Skr. kṛ-t-van- 'effecting' Avest. ker^h-p-wan- 'one who brings about', Skr. sū-t-van- 'pressing', sa-jī-t-van 'victorious'. These are based on t-stems like -kṛ-t- 'effecting', see § 123.

Skr. ṛtā-van- 'holy, pious' Avest. aša-van- 'pure', Skr. āthar-van- Avest. āpura-van- (āpaur-un-) 'fire-priest', Skr. dhītā-van- 'rich in gifts', amatī-vān- 'suffering want', samād-van- 'eager for the fray'.

Infinitives. Skr. dā-vān-ē 'to give', Avest. vid-van-ōi 'to know', see above p. 363.

Armenian. siun, gen. sean, 'pillar' for early Armen. sī-van-* or sē-van-*: Gr. κίον m. f. (-ον) 'pillar' for κί-Flon*. n-cases were no doubt originally formed from albeur, gen. alber, 'spring' (I § 263 p. 214): cp. Gr. φοῖαρος φοῖάρος (p. 365).

Greek. αἰ-(F)ών αἰ-(F)έν, πῑ-(F)ων, ἀπειρίων for -πιτq-Flon*, see p. 362 f.

κενε-(F)ών (-ων) m. 'hollow space' from κενε-φό-ς 'empty' (§ 64 p. 135), with which we must certainly class the masculine names of places as οἰνεών οἰνών 'wine-bin', παρθενεών παρθενών 'maidens' apartment', ἀνδριών 'man's apartment', ἵππων 'horse stall', λασιών 'place with thick bushes' (εὐ λάσια 'thicket').

The form -un- is no doubt to be seen in ἐϋθύνα f. 'legal procedure, punishment' for εὐθύν-χα, εὐθύνω* 'I guide straight' for -υν-ιω*; cp. Avest. ašaon-i fem. of aša-van-. Cp. also Hom. ἑϋν-τατα 'in the straightest, truest way' beside ἑϋ-ς. See Osthoff, Forsch. auf dem Geb. der Idg. Nominalstamm-bildung II 24 ff., and the Author, Morph. Unt. II 190. 201 ff. 205 f.

The neuters show the same course of developement as those belonging to the -men- and *-en-*stems (like οὐθ-αρ -ατος § 114

p. 350); but there appears to be no nom. acc. sing. in -fa = -μη. πείρα-τα for περ-φα-τα* (: Skr. pār-va-ta-s) and ἔδ-φα-τα (ἔδ-φαρ), see above p. 363. φρέαρ φρέατος 'well' with -εᾶ- for -ηα- (I § 611 p. 462) Hom. φρήατα (wrongly written φρείατα) for φρη-φα-τα*: cp. Armen. albeur, see above p. 364. στέαρ στέατος 'congealed fat', poet. στεῖαρ i. e. στη-αρ: Skr. sthā-varā- 'standing, immovable'. Other examples of the kind are given by the Author, Morph. Unt. II 225, G. Meyer, Griech. Gramm.² p. 325.

Infinitives. δο-φεν-αι δοῦναι, εἰδ-έν-αι; see above, p. 363. This formation was very fertile in Ionic, Attic and Arcadian. θεῖναι 'to place' for θε-φεν-αι*. ι-έναι 'to go'. δε-δι-έναι 'to fear'. ἄηναι 'to blow' for ᾰφ-η-φεναι*, γνώναι 'to recognise' for γνω-φεναι*. From the contracted forms was taken a termination -ναι, which usurped the place of -μεν -μεναι: thus δύναι, εἶναι (εἶ-μεν for ἔσ-μεν*), φάναι, διδόναι, δεικνύναι. Many scholars refer φέρειν to φρεφ-φεν*, see § 114 p. 347.

Germanic. Goth. spar-va A.S. spearwa O.H.G. sparo m. 'sparrow', √ sper- 'flutter to and fro'.

§ 117. The suffix -men-. This was used from the in the proethnic and later periods to form nomina actionis, which often varied between the meaning of the thing and the action (as Gr. ρέυμα 'a streaming' and 'that which streams'); more rarely to form nomina agentis. The nomina actionis were used in Aryan and Greek as infinitives. The gender varied between neuter and masculine; sometimes even in the same word, as Gr. χεῖμα : χι-μῶν.

The root-syllable had generally the strong grade (the e-form in the e-series). Originally, no doubt, both this and the weak grade stood side by side in each paradigm (cp. Gr. λει-μῶν : λι-μήν, ἄετ-μα : ἀντ-μήν, O.Icel. ljō-me : Goth. laúh-mun-i), but a process of levelling ensued, generally in favour of the strong form.

There is difficulty in ascertaining what was the weak form of the suffix in the ground-forms of certain cases of the noun, as Skr. várt-man-ā várt-man-as (beside nā-mn-ā arya-mn-ā).

Remark 1. From the analogy of Skr. arc-in-ā (-ien-) and Avest. apaur-un-ē (-uen-) — see § 115, 116 — we should expect vert-ṃn-, and therefore St. rart-an-ā. This is supported by Goth. vund-uþn-i f. 'wound' vit-ubn-i n. 'knowledge' (-fn- -bn- for -mn-, I § 215 p. 182) beside laúh-mun-i f. 'flash'. The original paradigm of the latter would have been nom. laúh-ufn-i* gen. laúh-mun-jōs, as in Skr. rart-an-ā (-ṃn-) vārti-ma-bhiṣ (-mṃ-)*. See the Author, Morph. Unt. II 201. 209. 217 ff. We might therefore suppose that várt-man-ā was a re-formation in Aryan due to the analogy of the other cases, vārti-man-i vārti-ma-bhiṣ etc. But although it must be allowed that the weak stem had both these forms in derivatives, yet even in the proethnic period the post-consonantal form -ṃn- may have been displaced by -men-. There is at least a very strong probability that some such levelling process had taken place in proethnic Indo-Germanic in such infinitives as Skr. vid-mán-ē Gr. ιδ-μεν-αι (cp. also Lat. imper. legi-min-i below). The form of the stem represented by Skr. várt-man-ā would then be vert-men-. I should give my judgement with greater confidence, if there were a satisfactory explanation, of the absence of m in Skr. bhūná prēṇā and the like (Lanman, Noun-Inflection p. 533).

Indo-Germanic. kleu-men-* from $\sqrt{\text{kleu-}}$ 'hear': Avest. srao-man- n. Goth. hliu-ma m. 'hearing', cp. also Skr. śrō-ma-ta-m O.H.G. hliu-mun-t § 82 p. 249. Skr. hō-man- n. Gr. χεῦ-μα χῦ-μα χύ-μα n. 'gush'. Gr. ρεῦ-μα ῥύ-μα n. O.Ir. sruaim n. 'stream' common ground-form sreu-men-*. Skr. bhū-man- n. 'existence, earth' bhū-mán- m. 'crowd, fulness', Gr. φύ-μα n. 'growth', Lith. bu-men-ė (no doubt with ū) f. 'the present'. Skr. hē-man loc. 'in winter', Armen. jiun, gen. jean 'snow', Gr. χεῖ-μα 'storm' χει-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'stormy weather, winter'. Skr. bhár-man- n. 'support, fostering, care', Gr. φῆρ-μα n. Skr. várt-man- n. 'road', O.C.Sl. vrě-mę n. 'time' for vert-mę*. men-men-* 'mind, spirit, thought': Skr. mán-man- n., Gr. θρασυ-μέμωνων Ἀγα-μέμωνων for -μεν-μων* (De Saussure, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. IV 432). Skr. vás-man- n. 'covering' Gr. εῖ-μα n. 'garment, covering' εὖ-εἶμων 'well clothed'. Skr. ád-man n. 'food', Gr. ἐδ-μεν-αι dat. inf. 'to eat', Lith. pl. ėd-men-ys (stem ėd-men-i-) m. 'mouth, chaps'. Skr.

dhá-man- n. 'statute, action, seat, dwelling', Gr. ἀνάθημα n. 'erection, something set up, offering' ἐν-θήμων 'keeping something in good order' θημών (-μων-) m. 'heap' θέμα 'something set up, deposit, pledge', √ dhē-. Skr. dā-man- n. 'gift' dā-mán- m. 'gift, giver', Gr. δόμα n. 'gift' inf. δόμεναι, √ dō-. Skr. sthā-man- n. 'standing-place, strength', Gr. ἐπίστημα n. 'what is set up upon something else' στήμων (-μων-) 'warp in the upright loom', Lat. stā-men n., Goth. stō-ma m. 'constituent part, element', Lith. stō-mũ m. 'stature, height of body', √ stā-. Skr. ás-man- m. 'stone, heaven' Gr. ἄκμων 'anvil, thunderbolt'. Skr. áj-man- n. 'road, train', Lat. agmen n. for ag-men* (the vowel owes its length to the following -gm-) and ex-āmen n. for -āg-men* (I § 506 p. 371¹). Skr. ój-man- m. 'strength', Lat. aug-men n., Lith. aug-mũ m. 'excrescence upon bodies or trees'. Skr. sī-mán- m. 'parting of the hair, crown of the head' f. 'boundary, mark' (as to the fem. gender see Rem. 2 below), O.Sax sī-mo m. 'bond, cord, rope', cp. also Gr. ἱμαντ- (ῖ) 'strap' ἱμονῖα 'well-rope' (§ 82 Rem. p. 249 f.); Gr. αἰμασία 'enclosing wall, hedge' seems to be derived from a stem saj-men-*. Skr. syū-man- n. 'bond, stripe, row' Gr. ὑμήν (-εν-) m. 'hide, sinew', κασόμενα n. pl. 'patchwork, soles; plots' (prep. κάτω), Lat. as-sūmen-tu-m 'patch sewn on'. Skr. nā-ma n. Armen. anun Gr. ὄνομα n. Lat. nō-men n. O.Ir. ain-m n. Goth. na-mō n. Pruss. e-mn-a- O.C.Sl. i-mę n. (I § 219 Rem. 2 p. 187 f.) 'name'. Gr. γνώμα n. 'token' γνώμων (-μων-) 'one who knows or shows, sundial, measuring-rod', Lat. agnōmen n. for ad-gnō-men* (connected by popular etymology with nōmen), O.C.Sl. zna-mę n. 'token'.

Skr. jāni-man- n. 'birth' Lat. geni-men (late) beside Skr. jān-man-. Of the same sort are Gr. τελαμών 'shoulder-belt', O.Ir. men-me 'mind' and other examples. See I § 110 p. 104.

Datives in -men-ai used as infinitives (cp. -uen-ai § 116 p. 363). Skr. vid-mánē 'to learn, experience' (side by side with which we also find other cases of vid-mán-), Gr. ἰδ-μεναι 'to know'. Skr. dā-manē 'to give' (cp. p. 367), Gr. δό-μεναι 'to give'. Lat. imper. legimin-ī, in form identical with Gr. λεγέμεν-αι (see below).

1) In the English translation, l. 6. of this paragraph, instead of 'before originally long vowels', read 'after etc.'.

-men- seems further to have been used even in the parent language as a secondary suffix: Skr. arya-mán- m. 'comrade, friend', Mid.Ir. Airem, gen. Areman Eremon, beside Skr. aryá- 'devoted, attached' O.Ir. aire (gen. airech) 'princeps, primus'.

-men- and -mo-, are often interchanged from the proethnic period onwards (see § 112 p. 340 f.); and this led to a certain confusion, which can be sometimes traced in the separate languages, between the -men- forms and the substantives in -mo- which have the o-grade in the root-syllable (see § 72 p. 170). Gr. ol-ma n. 'assault' instead of el-ma* (Skr. é-man- n. 'course') through the influence of ol-mo-s ol-mh. O.H.G. lei-mo m. 'loam' instead of li-mo* (Gr. λει-μῶν) through the influence of the form lei-m m.

In all the Indo-Germanic languages -men- was a fertile suffix, most of all in Aryan, Greek, and Latin.

Aryan. Skr. tōk-man- 'young blade of corn' Avest. taox-man- n. 'bud, family, offspring'. Skr. hē-mán- m. 'impulse' Avest. zaē-man- n. 'zeal'. Skr. dhā-man- n. 'statute, action, seat, dwelling' Avest. dā-man- i. e. dā-man- n. 'creation, creature' (I § 200 p. 168): Gr. ἀνά-θημα etc., see above p. 367. Skr. ās-man- Avest. O.Pers. as-man- m. 'stone, heaven': Gr. ἄκ-μωρ 'anvil, thunderbolt'. Skr. nā-man- n. Avest. na-man- (ā) n. O.Pers. nā-man- n. 'name': Armen. anun etc., see above p. 367.

In secondary use: Skr. arya-mán- m. 'comrade, friend' Avest. airya-man- 'obedient' beside Skr. aryá-, see above.

Sanskrit. dhár-man- n. 'support' dhar-mán m. 'bearer', bráh-man- n. 'devotion' brah-mán- m. 'one who prays', svādd-man- n. svād-mán- m. 'sweetness, loveliness'; vāri-man n. vari-mán- m. 'extent'. ōd-man- n. 'undulation', é-man- n. 'course', vārṣ-man- n. 'height, surface', sād-man- n. 'seat, abode', sā-man- n. 'hymn', trā-man- n. 'protection', yā-man- n. 'course'; jāni-man- n. 'birth', bhāri-man- n. 'a carrying'. hāvī-man- n. 'a calling upon'. ūṣ-

-mán- uś-man- m. 'heat', ō-mán- m. 'favour, help', jē-mán- m. 'superiority'; prathi-mán- m. 'breadth'. dā-mán- m. 'giver', sō-mán- m. 'presser, preparer of the soma'. Forms like prathi-mán- were popularly connected with the parallel adjectives such as prthú- práthīyas-, and hence -i-man- became a secondary suffix, as in dradh-imán- m. 'firmness' from dṛdhá- 'firm' compar. drādh-īyas-, dhūmr-imán- m. 'dark colour, gloom' from dhūmrá- 'dark'.

Avestic. a-pišman- 'without art, without skill'. maṣ-man- n. 'urine', daṣ-man- n. 'eye', paṣ-man- n. 'milk, mother's milk', dūn-man- n. 'cloud, vapour' no doubt = dū-man- (cp. dā-man above), beside Skr. dhū-má-s 'smoke', stao-man- n. 'song of praise, laudation', bar's-man- n. 'bundle of consecrated twigs for offering', caś-man- n. 'eye'. ras-man- m. 'army in line, line of battle': Gr. ὀρεγ-μα n. 'a stretching out, stretch'. urvās-man- 'one who makes others glad, joy-giver'.

Infinitival datives. Skr. vid-mánē, dā-manē, see p. 367 f. above. Skr. dhār-manē 'to support', trd-manē 'to protect'. Avest. stao-mainē 'to praise', xšnū-mainē 'to content'. In Avestic the locative also appears as an infinitive, e. g. caś-man caś-mēnag 'to behold' beside dat. caś-mainē.

Remark 2. The nominative termination -mā (m. and n.) appears sometimes to have led to a transference to the feminine ā-declension; this process may have been aided by the close connexion between the -men- and *-mo-*stems, which dates from before the Aryan period. Thus e. g. Skr. sí-mā = sī-mán- 'boundary' (sí-mā in its turn influenced sī-mán- so far as to give it the fem. gender), dā-mā- beside dā-man- n. 'bond' (also f., according to the grammarians; the change of gender came about in the same way as in sī-mán- f.), O.Pers. tau-mā 'family' = Avest. taox-man-. Cp. § 114 Rem. 1 p. 348, § 122 Rem. p. 383.

Armenian. jiun 'snow', anun 'name', see above, p. 366 f.; for the phonetic changes see I § 202 p. 169. gel-mn, gen. gel-man, 'wool, fleece': to be compared either with Skr. vár-man- 'defensive armour' Gr. ἔρ-ιο-ν 'wool' (✓ uer-) or with Lat. vellus, Goth. vulla 'wool' (✓ uel-). marmin (-min- for -men-, I § 63 p. 50), gen. mar-mn-o-y, 'body, flesh' (which is extended by the suffix -o-): Skr. már-man- n. 'membrum, joint, open part of the body which is especially exposed to mortal wounds'.

Greek. The history of the neuter forms is the same as in the case of the -en- and *-men-*stems; see § 114 p. 350.

χεῦ-μα χῦ-μα χύ-μα, χεῖ-μα χη-μών, φέρ-μα, τέρ-μα τέρ-μων and others; see above, p. 366 f.

'missile', ῥ-μων (-μων-) m. 'thrower, slinger': Lat. sē-men n. O.H.G. sā-mō m. O.C.Sl. sē-me n. 'seed', √ sē-. μνή-μα n. 'memorial', μνή-μων (-μων-) 'mindful'. νόη-μα n. 'thought', νοή-μων (-μων-) 'thoughtful'.

'shatterer'. ἔρ-μα 'ear-ring'. στρω-μα 'something strown, bed, covering': Lat. strā-men n., common ground-form stř-men*; cp. Skr. stārī-man- n. 'a spreading out, strewing abroad' stari-mán- m. 'bed'. πέλ-μα 'sole of the foot': cp. A.S. fil-men 'membrana' O.Fris. fil-men-e f. 'skin'. φλέγ-μα 'brand'. γέννα f. 'race, family' probably was neuter originally, and stands for *γεν-μα: Skr. ján-man- n. πείσμα 'cable, rope' for *πενσμα from √ bhendh- 'bind'; as to σ for θ see p. 372: cp. Lat. of-fendi-mentu-m. βῆ-μα 'step, grade, platform': Skr. vt-gāman- n. 'measure' n. 'thought', beside dhyā- 'think of' dhī- 'appear, resemble, observe, think'. Dor. πᾱ-μα 'that of which one has the disposal, over which one has power, possession', for *κῡᾱ-men-, compared with El. ἐμ-πάω 'bring to effect, accomplish' and with κῦ-ρος (cp. πάμωχος ὁ κύριος Hesych.)¹). σχῆ-μα 'demeanour, form'. ὄρα-μα 'sight'. ὄριμη-μα 'solicitude'. μίσθω-μα 'stipulated payment'.

The nom. acc. sing. neut. of one or two -men- stems ends in ρ, as in some of the neuter stems in -en- and -men-: ἡμαρ, gen. ἡματος, 'day', μῦμαρ μῶμαρ 'blame', λῦμαρ beside λῦμα 'pollution', τέκμωρ and τέκμωρ 'proof' (-μωρ for -μῆρ, cp. ὑδωρ I § 306 p. 243). Cp. § 118.

κευθ-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'hiding-place'. πυθ-μῆν (-μεν-) m. 'depth, ground'. λει-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'damp place' and λι-μῆν (-μεν-) m. 'herd-boy'. τλή-μων (-μον-) 'stead fast, enduring'. ἀλή-μων (-μον-) 'wandering about' (ἀλᾶσθαι). ἐλεή-μων (-μον-) 'pitiful'. τελα-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'shoulder-belt, baldrick' properly 'bearer', √ tel-. τερά-μων (-μον-) 'that becomes soft by boiling'. ἡγε-μῶν (-μον-) m. 'guide'. κηδε-μῶν (-μον-) m. 'one who cares for' a person. -μῶν acquired the character of a secondary suffix, just as Skr. -i-mān-: ἀκρεμῶν (-μον-) m. 'end of a branch, top' from ἄκρο-ς, δαιτυ-μῶν (-μον-) m. 'he who sits at meat, guest' from δαιτύ-ς.

The dative, in -μεν-αι, and the locative, in -μεν, served as infinitives. -μεναι occurs in Ionic (epic) and Lesbian. ἰδ-μεναι, δό-μεναι; see above, p. 367 f. ἔδ-μεν-αι 'to eat' (Skr. ád-man-, p. 366), θέ-μεναι 'to place' (-θημα θέ-μα, p. 367), ἀή-μεναι 'to blow', βή-μεναι 'to go' (βῆ-μα, p. 370), δῦ-μεναι 'to press in, enter' (ἐκ-δύμα 'garment taken off'), βλή-μεναι 'to strike' (βλή-μα, p. 370), δαή-μεναι 'to be versed' (δαή-μων 'versed'). On the model of these were formed: φανή-μεναι τετλά-μεναι, ζευγνύ-μεναι, αἰδέ-μεναι, εἰπέ-μεναι ἄξι-μεναι. -μεν is found in Ionic (epic), Doric, N.W.Greek, Elean, Thessalian, and Boeotian. ἰδ-μεν, δό-μεν, θέ-μεν, ῥ-μεν, ἔμ-μεν (ἰμιν ῆμεν), τετλά-μεν, ὀρνύ-μεν, γερέ-μεν, εἰπέ-μεν, ἄξι-μεν.

1) The nearest cognates of πάμω are collected by J. Baunack in his Stud. I 73 f.

Corresponding to -τ-μο -θ-μο- -σ-μο- (§ 72, 3 p. 173) we find -τ-μεν- -θ-μεν- -σμεν-. -τ-μεν- occurs in λαῖ-τμα 'gulf of the sea', no doubt to be compared with λαι-μός 'throat, gullet', and perhaps in ἄετμα ἀντιμήν. -θ-μεν-: ἵ-θμα 'course'. -σμεν-: πλάσμα 'image, figure' from πλάσσω, κλώσμα 'something spun' from κλώθω, πείσμα 'cable' for πενθ-μα* (σ had not displaced θ in the earliest period of Greek, see I § 204 Rem. 2 p. 171), ἐπι-λήσιμων 'forgetful' from λήθω, ἔρεισμα 'support' from ἐρείδω, σχίσμα 'split' from σχίζω, and the neuter forms in -ισμα and -ασμα compared with derivative verbs in -ίζω -άζω, as νόμισμα 'usage, institution, from νομίζω, ἄσπασμα 'caress' from ἀσπάζομαι; also ἄρμσμα 'joined work' from ἀρμόζω.

Italic. The neuter forms were often extended by -to; see § 82 p. 249 ff.

Lat. nū-men, n.: Gr. νεῦ-μα 'nod'; lū-men for lūc-men*, later lūgmen* (I § 500 p. 367, § 506 p. 371¹), or for lūc-s-men* (cp. illāstri-s and lūna I § 503 p. 369): Goth. laúh-mun-i f. regi-men regimentu-m. tegi-men beside tēgmen. of-fendi-mentu-m. monu-mentu-m. colu-men (columna) beside cul-men.

Masculine forms are rarer. ter-mō (-mōn-) beside ter-men n.: Gr. τέρ-μων etc., see above p. 366. ser-mō (-mōn-). pul-mō (-mōn-).

The dat. sing. in -min-ī was used in Latin as the 2. pl. imp. med.-pass., e. g. legiminī (= Gr. λεγέμεναι), sequiminī. The restriction to the plural, and to the medio-passive meaning was caused by the indicative legiminī = Gr. λεγόμενοι and = λεγόμεναι. See § 71 p. 165.

Old Irish. Neuters. sruaim, ainm; see above, p. 366 f. deilm 'noise'. cuirm 'beer'. gairm 'call, cry'. druim 'back' for dros-men*, compared with Lat. dorsu-m. cēimm cēim 'stepping, step', beside cingim 'I step', lēimm lēim- 'spring' beside lingim 'I spring', grēimm grēim 'progressus' beside in-grennim 'I pursue' (grend-), see I § 523 p. 380. bēim 'striking, blow' beside benim 'I strike': did this come regularly from ben-men-* or was it influenced by the form of these other nouns? With -a-men-: feid-m 'strain', fo-naidm 'bond, compact'.

REMARK 3. The origin of nn in forms like nom. pl. an-mann, dat. pl. an-mannaib, is still quite obscure. The latest discussion of this difficult question is by Stokes (Bezenberger's Beitr. XI 93) and Windisch (Über die Verbalformen mit dem Character R p. 40 f.).

men-me m. (gen. men-man) 'mens' for men-a-men-* (cp. Skr. mán-man- n. 'mind, thought'). The nom. in -men-s* was a re-formation like Lat. sanguis Gr. δαίφίς, for δαίφίς*, cp. also O.Ir. aru, § 114 p. 352, § 115 p. 360.

Masculine and Feminine forms with pr. Celt. -mō* in the nom. sing. (cp. Gall. casa-mo, Sego-mo), gen. Ir. -mon -man dat. -main. The masculine forms appear to be all denominatives: Aire-m: Skr. arya-mán- m., see above p. 368, orbe-m 'heir' from orbe n. (which represents a ground-form orbh-ij-o-m*) 'inheritance', flaith-m 'ruler' from flaith 'rule', dūle-m 'creator' from dūil 'element', brith-m 'judge' from breth 'sentence', olla-m, gen. olla-man, 'princeps poetarum' no doubt connected with oll 'great, mighty'. tala-m (gen. talman), f. 'earth' no doubt for tīl-mō*, √ tel-.

anim f. 'soul' (dat. an-min) may have been originally a -mā-stem (cp. Lat. animā-) and have been transferred to this declension through the influence of menme.

Germanic. The old variation between neuter and masculine was almost entirely obliterated in favour of the masculine. The neuter survives only in Gothic and Norse in a few examples: Goth. na-mō n. 'name' (O.Icel. na-fn n. by a transference to the o-declension, O.H.G. na-mo m.): Skr. nā-man- n. etc., see p. 367 above; O.Icel. sī-ma beside sī-me m. 'rope' (O.Sax. sī-mo m.): Skr. sī-mān- etc., see p. 367 above.

Masculine. Goth. hliu-ma 'hearing' O.H.G. hliu-mun-t 'call', Goth. stō-ma 'constituent part', see p. 366 above. O.H.G. sā-mo 'seed', see p. 370 above. O.Sax. lio-mo 'brightness', see p. 372 above. Goth. hiuh-ma 'heap'. Goth. skei-ma 'light', O.H.G. scī-mo 'brightness, sheen'. O.H.G. kī-mo 'the bursting bud'. O.H.G. glizemo 'brightness', Goth. glit-mun-jan 'to gleam'. Goth. milh-ma 'cloud'. Goth. ah-ma 'spirit'. Goth. blō-ma O.H.G. bluo-mo 'bloom'. This masculine suffix was fertile only in Old Frisian and there only to a limited extent; it became denominative as in Sanskrit etc., e. g. werth-ma 'taxation' from werth 'value'.

-s-men-, like -s-tro- -s-lo- etc. (see § 61 p. 117). O.H.G. rosamo 'aerugo' for rots-mō* beside O.Sax. rotōn 'to rust', cp. O.H.G. rotamo 'redness'. O.H.G. dīhsamo 'prosperity' fram-dehsmo 'increasing prosperity', beside dīhan 'to wax great'. O.Sax. blicsmo 'flash' beside blīcan 'to gleam'. The s came from forms like O.H.G. wahs-amo was-mo 'growth' (wahs-an 'to wax') and O.Sax. brōsmo 'soft part of bread, crumb' (A.S. brȳs-an 'to break in pieces').

-t-men-, like -t-mo- § 72 p. 175 f. O.H.G. wi-damo 'price of the bride, dowry' from ūt- 'bind'; A.S. blōstma 'bloom', cp. Mid.H.G. bluos-t beside bluo-t 'bloom'.

The feminine -mōn- is rare and certainly a late formation: e. g. O.H.G. bluo-ma beside the masc. bluo-mo.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. ak-mū m. O.C.Sl. ka-my m. 'stone'. Lith. szel-mū m. 'gable' O.C.Sl. slě-mę n. 'beam': cp. Lith. szal-ma

'long beam'. Lith. sė-men-s pl. m. 'seed', especially linseed, O.C.Sl. sě-mę n. 'seed': Gr. $\tilde{\eta}\mu\alpha$ etc., see p. 370 above.

In Lithuanian only masculines appear (nom. -mũ gen. -meñ-s etc.); the neuter has died out in the same way as in other classes of stems. sto-mũ 'stature, tallness', aug-mũ 'excrecence', see p. 367 above. pė-mũ 'herd-boy', see p. 371 above. rau-mũ 'flesh of the muscles', no doubt to be compared with O.H.G. rio-mo 'strap, band', common ground-form rey-men-* (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 142). rė-mũ 'heart-burn'. lė-mũ 'trunk, stature'. szer-men-s pl. 'funeral meal' (no doubt from szér-ti 'to feed'). žel-mũ 'sprout, plant'. tesz-mũ 'udder'. ász-men-s pl. 'cutting edge'.

O.C.Sl. brě-mę n. 'burden', vrě-mę 'time', i-mę 'name', zna-mę 'token'; see above, p. . pis-mę 'letter', $\sqrt{\text{pejk-}}$. plemę, 'stem, family' no doubt for pled-mę*, compare plodũ 'fruit'. ra-mę beside ra-mo 'shoulder' (cp. I § 306 p. 241). vymę 'udder' for oyd-mę* (I § 547 p. 400 f., § 666 p. 526). cismę 'number' for čit-smę*, cp. čislo § 76 p. 211.

plamy m. 'flame' for pol-my*, beside pol-ėti 'to burn, uri' pla-naŋti se 'to blaze out'. In a few other examples the only form of the nom. sing. which occurs is one which shows a transference to the i-declension; e. g. pra-men-ĩ 'thread' (gen. pramen-e, like plamen-e); in others we have both forms, plamen-ĩ beside plamy, kamen-ĩ beside kamy.

Remark 4. The original weak form of this suffix perhaps appears in such examples as kaminŋja kamni, which Leskien has collected in his Handb.² § 43 p. 58.

VI. Suffixes in -r.

§ 118. Nom. acc. neut. in -r (-ŋ -ř). We may fairly class among the elements from which noun stems were formed the -r of neuter words like Skr. údhār Gr. $\alpha\iota\delta\alpha\rho$ Lat. uber (O.H.G. ūtār m., but there can be no doubt that it was originally neuter) 'udder' — for further examples see § 114 pp. 347, 350, § 116 p. 364, § 117 p. 371; etymologically it must be connected in most cases with the suffix -ro-, in some words perhaps with -er- and the comparative suffix -ero-. See

§ 74 p. 180. How these forms in -r came to be included in the paradigm of n-stems (e. g. Skr. údhār gen. abl. údh-n-as loc. údh-an-i) is a question we cannot answer. The difference in meaning, which (to judge from the variation of the stem) must once have existed between the nom. acc. and the other cases, had probably disappeared before the dissolution of the proethnic community. With this we may naturally compare the loss of the distinction in meaning, which once existed over and above the difference in gender, between the stems of the masc. Skr. pī-van- Gr. πĩ-(F)ov- and the fem. Skr. pī-va-r-i Gr. πĩ-(F)ειρα f. 'fat'.

In Aryan this nom. acc. form was also used for the pl., just as (e. g.) Skr. nāma 'ὄνομα' and purú 'πολύ' were plural as well as singular; it also served as loc. sing., cp. loc. kárman. This plurality of function may be regarded as proethnic. In Avestic however we have a still freer use; the forms in -ar^o appear indifferently for cases of the most widely different meaning; e. g. karšvar^o 'division of the earth' is used for the gen. sing., dasvar^o 'strength, health' for the dat. sing., as well as for the nominative.

In several branches of language the form in -r was made the basis of a new paradigm, though the change never affected any very large number of words. Thus in Avestic we have dat. sing. zafr-ē nom. pl. zafr-a gen. pl. -zafr-am from zafar^o 'throat, mouth' beside gen. sing. zafan-ō; instr. pl. baēvar^o-biš from baēvar^o 'myriad', Gr. ἔαρ 'blood' gen. ἔαρ-ος beside Skr. asán- n. 'blood'; Lat. uber gen. uber-is beside Skr. údhan-; femur gen. femor-is beside femin-is, jecur gen. jecur-is and jecin-or-is beside Skr. yak-án; O.H.G. wazzar gen. wazzares beside Goth. vatō gen. vatins 'water'.

§ 119. The Suffixes -er- and *-ter-*¹⁾. The two forms of the suffix are found side by side without difference of meaning, like the comparative suffixes -ero- and -tero- (§ 75 p. 188 ff.). It is probable that the form -ter- arose through the addition of -er to a stem formed with a t-suffix.

The nouns in which these suffixes occur are, with comparatively few exceptions, nomina agentis or names of kindred. The former class has -ter- throughout, e. g. jeuq-ter-* 'harnesser', the latter both -er- and -ter-, e. g. daju-er-* 'levir' and pə-ter-* 'father'. -er- is also found in a few substantives which belong to neither of the two groups, as n-er-* 'man' and us-er-* 'dawn'.

The nomina agentis are masculine, and even in the proethnic period feminines were formed for them by means of -ī -iē-, e. g. Skr. jāni-tr-ī Gr. γενέ-τειρα Lat. gene-tr-ī-x 'she that produces, mother', see § 110 p. 336. The names of kindred were masculine or feminine according to the sex they denoted, as pə-te-r* 'father', mā-ter-* 'mother'. It was not till later periods that special grammatical signs were added to mark this, and then only in a few words; e. g. Lat. jani-tr-ī-c-ēs beside Skr. yā-tar- 'husband's brother's wife' Gr. εἰρά-τερο-ῆς 'women married to brothers'.

§ 120. The forms assumed by the suffix -(t)er- in its different grades were very numerous both in the proethnic and later periods. The so-called strong cases had -(t)er- -(t)or- -(t)ēr- -(t)ōr-, the weak cases -(t)r- -(t)ṛ-.

First as regards the weak cases: -(t)r- appears before the case endings which begin in a sonant, e. g. Skr. dat. sing. pi-tr-ē dā-tr-ē, (t)ṛ- before those which begin in a consonant, e. g. loc. pl. pi-tṛ-ṣu dā-tṛ-ṣu. The same forms of the suffix were originally regular in derivatives; e. g. Skr. datr-ī-ṣu loc. pl. fem. beside dā-tar- da-tār- 'dator', bhratr-tvā-m 'brotherhood' beside bhrā-tar- 'brother'. In several languages the weak forms of the suffix were soon driven out by the strong in the declension of the -(t)er- stems, especially in nomina agentis; and all that remain to show that weak forms had ever existed in the case-system are derivatives which contain the weak stem. Compare e. g. Gr. λησ-τερός 'female robber' λησ-τερο-ικός 'inclined to robbery' beside ληϊσ-τωρ (-τωρ-) and ληϊσ-τηρ (-τηρ-) 'robber', Lat. dā-tr-ī-x beside da-tor (-tōr-), mole-tr-īna beside moli-tor (-tōr-), Umbr. uh-tr-etie 'auctoritate' beside uh-tur 'auctor', Lith. dukr-ėlė 'little daughter', pó-dukr-a pó-dukr-ė 'step-daughter' (Pruss. po-duc-r-e) beside duk-tě (-ter-) 'daughter', Pruss. swestr-o O.C.Sl. sestr-a beside Lith. ses-ū (-er-) 'sister'.

With regard to the original distribution of the strong forms of the suffix the following points may be considered certain.

1. The nom. sing. ended sometimes in -(t)ē(r), sometimes in -(t)ō(r), cp. on the one hand Gr. πα-τήρ δο-τήρ Lat. pa-ter (I § 655, 4 p. 503), O.Ir. a-thir (I § 657, 6 p. 509), O.Icel. fa-ðer fa-ðir, Lith. duk-tě O.C.Sl. dŭsti (Skr. pi-tā dā-tā) and on the other Gr. φρά-τωρ μητρο-πάτωρ δώ-τωρ, Lat. sor-or da-tor (I § 655, 4 p. 503), O.Ir. siur for syes-ōr (I § 657, 6 p. 509), Lith. ses-ū (Skr. bhrā-tā dā-tā).

2. A certain number of these stems had in the acc. sing. and nom. du. pl. -(t)er-, cp. Gr. πα-τέρ-α, O.H.G. fa-ter, Lith. dūk-ter-į (Skr. pi-tār-am).

3. There was a loc. sing. in (-er) -eri, cp. Gr. πα-τέρ-ι (Skr. pi-tār-i dā-tār-i).

Further conclusions which I think probable are as follows. All the -(t)er- stems had originally the same inflexion; the difference between -é- : -ē- and '-o- : '-ō- was caused solely by difference of accent. Gr. πατήρ πατέρα : μητρο-πάτωρ, πάτορα, άνήρ : άνέρα : άγ-ήνωρ -ήνορα and so forth, just as φρήν φρένα : ἄ-φρων ἄ-φρονα. Moreover the same variation appears where the words are uncompounded; Gr. δω-τήρ δο-τήρ beside δώ-τωρ, ἑγ-τήρ beside ῥή-τωρ and the like, and Skr. nom. dā-tā beside dā-tā, patā beside pā-tā, Avest. acc. bar^e-tār-em = Skr. bhartār-am beside baśār-em = Skr. bhártār-am (I § 260 p. 212 f.). In Greek there is no trace of a difference in meaning between these latter pairs of forms; in Sanskrit, on the other hand, the nomen agentis as a rule has the character of a participle when the root-syllable bears the accent (the governed nouns being usually in the acc., vāsūni dāta 'bona dans'), whereas, when the suffix is accented, it is a noun pure and simple (usually governing the gen., vāsūnā datā 'bonorum dator'). This distinction may be original, and at one time have prevailed in Greek; indeed, the Lat. da-tūr-u-s vouches for the fact that these nomina agentis had a participial character in the parent language, as they actually have in Iranian. It follows that the difference of accent in this class of words may been originally based on a difference of accent in the sentence. Hence it is probable that

1. The acc. sing. nom. acc. du. had -(t)or- under some conditions, parallel to -(t)er- under others; cp. Gr. δω-τορ-α φρά-τορ-α ἔορ-ες (§ 122), Mid.Ir. siair, Goth. brō-þar svist-ar O.H.G. bruo-dar, Skr. dā-tār-am svās-ār-am.

2. The loc. sing. always ended in -(t)er-i, even where -(t)or- occurred in the strong cases of the same paradigm, cp. Skr. dā-tar-i (with -ā- as much as dā-tār-i), svās-ar-i beside dā-tār-am svās-ār-am; cp. Goth. loc. áh-min: acc. ah-man. Similarly in all the feminine derivatives in -ī -iē- (§ 110 p. 336 f.) -ter-ī was no doubt the original form in the nom. sing.; cp. Gr. ἐν-πάτειρα παμ-μήτειρα (from ἐν-πάτιος παμ-μήτιος) as well as δμή-τιορα (beside δμη-τήρ).

Remark. The assumption that all *-ter-*stems had originally the same inflexion is further supported by the Gr. voc. σῶ-τερ from σῶ-τήρ (just as πά-τερ from πα-τήρ).

Considerable readjustment took place in Aryan and Greek in the inflexion of nomina agentis which accentuated the suffix. In Sanskrit we have dā-ár-am instead of dā-tār-am* through the influence of dā-tār-am; similarly in the other strong cases. In Greek, the form -τήρ of the nom. sing. spread through all the cases: δο-τήρ-α instead of δο-τίρ-α*, δο-τήρ-ος; instead of δο-τε-ός*; and so forth; only a few vocatives singular are excepted, as σῶ-τερ above. On the other hand, the -tér- of the nomina agentis is preserved in the Slavonic -tel- (§ 122): nom. pl. žec'-el-e 'cutters, reapers' = Idg. ghn-tére-s*.

Amongst the names of kindred, bhrā-tor-* (Gr. φρά-τορ-α, Goth. brō-þar) seems to have been associated even in the parent language with forms that had -tér-, such as pā-tér-; e. g. an acc. bhrā-ter-m was formed beside bhrā-tor-m*. Hence in Greek we find the by-forms φρά-τήρ φρά-τερ-ες, in Sanskrit bhrā-tar-am, in Latin frā-ter; hence perhaps O.H.G. acc. bruo-der as well as bruo-dar. Yet while bhrā-ter-m* arose by the side of bhrā-tor-m*, no such form as syēs-er-m* came into use beside syēsor-m* (Skr. svāsār-am, Lat. sor-or), the reason perhaps being that the absence of t in the word prevented its association with forms like pā-tér-* mā-tér-*. But Avestic, West-Germanic and Lithuanian ultimately brought the word 'sister' into close connexion with the other names of kindred; thus acc. Avest. xwarəhar-em, O.H.G. swester, Lith. sėser-i (see below).

In Latin the nominative termination -(t)ōr spread through all the cases: da-tōr-em da-tōr-is etc., sor-ōr-em sor-ōr-is etc.

In Greek -τωρ- is only found in the nom. sing. except in an isolated example: Hom. μήσ-τωρ-α μήσ-τωρ-ες.

In Gothic fadar (contrast πατήρ-α) was formed in imitation of brōþar (φρᾶτωρ-α) svistar (cp. τορ-ες); in Old High German the forms with e, such as fater muoter, had prevailed over bruodar etc. before the date of the earliest monuments of the language.

In Lithuanian we have sesū, but acc. sėser-i gen. seseŕ-s and so forth with -er-: here the analogy of dūk-ter-i (δυγα-τήρ-α) dukter-s etc. has influenced the forms, aided perhaps by the original loc. sing. in -er-i* (Skr. svásar-i).

Compare the relations of Ablaut in the n-stems, which are on the whole similar, § 113 p. 342 ff. and what is said in the Remark there.

§ 121. Ablaut within the root-syllable varied pari passu with the variation in the suffix. pə-tér-* 'father' Skr. duhitár- etc. 'daughter' have the weak-grade-vocalism; on the other hand mā-tér-* 'mother' has that of the strong grade. Cp. I § 670 p. 535. Skr. uṣ-ár- 'dawn' beside Gr. ἠγῆ loc. 'early' for āv(ā)-er-* and ἄριστο-ν for āv(ō)-er-* (see § 122 p. 381).

In nomina agentis, the strong form of the root generally prevailed in Aryan, and that with either accentuation (dā-tar- and dā-tár-); a few variations from this type seem to have survived from the period before varying forms were levelled; as Skr. savyā-ṣṭhar- 'the warrior who stands to the left of the charioteer' (-sthar- = -st-tor-*) beside sthā-tár- sthā-tar-, Avest. a-frītar- 'magician' beside Skr. prē-tár- 'benefactor, lover', Avest. yūx-tar- beside Skr. yōk-tár- 'yoker', Avest. ker'-tar- beside Skr. kar-tár- 'doer'. In Greek we have δο-τήρ: δω-τωρ, βο-τήρ: βώ-τωρ, cp. also πο-τήρ -δετήρ βα-τήρ and ἀφ-ήτωρ; but we also find δω-τήρ ζευκ-τήρ and ἴσ-τωρ (ἴσ-τωρ) with exactly the converse accentuation. In Latin, where -tēr was displaced by -tōr (-tor), we have sta-tor and stā-tor, da-tor, sa-tor, condi-tor and pō-tor, Umbr. fertur (Skr. bhār-tar- bhar-tár-). In the case of in-ventor cēnsor and the like it is impossible to say whether we have the weak or the strong grade. The Latin participles da-tūru-s etc. follow the perf. part. (da-tu-s). In Slavonic we find both the strong (da-telŭ, sŭ-dětelŭ, bljus-telŭ) and the weak grade (žrŭ-telŭ).

§ 122. Indo-Germanic. daiuér-* daiur-* and no doubt also daiur-* (I § 155 Rem. p. 140¹) 'husband's brother, brother-in-law': Skr. dēvár-, Armen. taigr gen. taiger (g for u, I § 162 p. 145), Gr. δαήρ for δαιφήρ* (I § 96 p. 90), Lat. lēvir (gen. lēvirī) for lēver* through popular association with vir (cp. also I § 369 p. 279 f.), A.S. tācor O.H.G. zeihhur (for the c and hh see Bugge, Paul-Br. Beitr. Armen. mair gen. maur, Gr. μήτηρ gen. μητρο-ός (the accent of μήτηρ no doubt follows that of the voc. μητρερ) (προ-μήτωρ), Lat. māter, O.Ir. māthir, Goth. muoter, Lith. motė and mótė ('woman, wife') O.C.Sl. mati. Nomina agentis (in Sanskrit the acc. always has -tār-, in Gr. -τωρ- excepting μήστωρ, and -τήρ-, in Lat. all cases have -tōr-). Skr. nīnānd-ar- 'husband's sister' is an analogical formation, cp. nand-inī- the same. Here should perhaps be classed Avest. atar- (acc. atar-em, nom. (a re-formation) atarš) m. 'fire'; t is in place of pr. Ar. th, as is shewn by Skr. ātharvan- and Avest. āpravan-.

Skr. pi-tār- Avest. pi-tar- p-tar (I § 473, 2 p. 349) O.Pers. pi-tar- (gen. piša, I § 261 p. 261 p. 213) 'father', Skr. mā-tār- Avest. Skr. jāmatar- Avest. zāmātar- 'son-in-law'.

In proethnic Aryan napāt- napt- 'offspring, descendant' (§ 123) was associated with the names of kindred, first in the weak cases: Skr. nāptar- Avest. naptr- (cp. Czech neti below); yet the acc. sing. is Skr. nāptāram Avest. naptārem, like svā-sāram. Skr. gen. pātyur 'mariti' like pitūr (see Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 290).

Remark. In § 114 Rem. 1 p. 348 and § 117 Rem. 2 p. 369 mention was made of the transference of nominatives in -ā and -mā to the ā-declension; we see the same thing in Prākṛit, where duhidā 'daughter' and māḍā 'mother' were inflected like ā-stems. Similarly, in Lithuanian in-tė 'brother's wife', and in some dialects also sėvė 'sister', which is found side by side with se-vė, were declined as ē-stems.

The class of nomina agentis was very fertile. Skr. upa-kṣētár- 'adherent', Avest. xšaē-tar- 'ruler'. Skr. jē-tar- 'conqueror'. Avest. vi-ḍaētar- 'one who looks around, spy'. Towards the end of the Vedic period of Sanskrit, the nom. sing. du. pl. masc. of these nomina agentis began to be used with the present of as- 'esse' as a periphrastic future (cp. Lat. datūrus sum), which became a favourite construction in the classical period. In the third person the copula was usually omitted, and the form of the nom. sing. which had become fused with the verb, was generally kept even in the first and second persons of the plural and dual. Sing. dātāsmi 'I will give' dātāsi datā, du. dātāsvas datāsthas datārau, pl. dātāsmas datāstha datāras. Rarely 3 sing. dātāsti, 1. du. datārau svas and the like.

The adjectival character of the nomina agentis created a neuter form for them in Sanskrit; thus nom. acc. sing. dā-tf (in Veda also -tūr, see I § 285 p. 228), pl. -tṛṇi etc. Cp. Lanman, Noun-Infl. p. 421 ff.

Armenian. Here are found only names of kindred, all of which have been already mentioned: taigr 'brother-in-law', kair 'sister', hair 'father', mair 'mother', dustr 'daughter', elbair 'brother'; see above, p. 381 f.

Greek. δᾱήρ 'brother-in-law', ἀνήρ 'man', ἥρι 'early' ἔρρ-ες προσῆκοντες, see above, p. 381. ἀήρ, gen. ἀέρ-ος, f. m. 'air', Lesb. αῦηρ, compare αῦρᾱ 'air'. αἰθήρ, αἰθέρος, f. m. 'aether', compare αἰθήρᾱ.

πα-τήρ 'father', μή-τηρ 'mother', θυγά-τηρ 'daughter', φοῶ-τηρ 'member of a φοῶτριά'; see above, p. 381 f. εἰνά-τερ-ες 'women married to brothers': Skr. yā-tar- (acc. -tar-am) 'husband's brother's wife' (probably for iṽ-ter-*, see I § 253 p. 207), Lat. jani-tr-i-c-ēs (§ 119 p. 377), Lith. in-tė (gen. in-tės, cp. the Remark on p. 383) 'brother's wife'; it is still doubtful what we should assume as the original form of the root-syllable; there seem to have been both a form with ə following the root-syllable, and a form without, as in Skr. duhi-tár-: Goth. daúh-tar. γασ-τήρ 'belly'.

The nomina agentis in -τηρ-, -τορ- were a fertile class. ἴστωρ ἴστωρ 'knower, witness', ἐπι-ίστωρ 'conscious': Skr. vṛttar- etc.; see above, p. 382. φύ-τωρ 'begetter': Osc. Fuutr-ei 'Creatrici, Genetrici', cp. also Skr. bhavi-tar- 'impending, future', √ bheṃ-. βα-τήρ βαίνων, βαδιστικός (Hesych.), ἐπι-βήτωρ 'mounter, coverer': Skr. gán-tar- etc.; see above, p. 382. βο-τήρ βώ-τωρ 'herdsman', πολυ-βότιον f. 'much-nourishing'. ἀφ-ήτωρ 'slinger, shooter': Lat. sa-tor, √ sē-; some scholars add Skr. s-tr-ī 'wife' (cp. Lat. sator 'begetter') which as regards the form of the root-syllable hears the same relation to sa-tor and -ή-τωρ as Skr. savyē-ṣthar- to Gr. στα-τήρ and Skr. sthā-túr- (p. 382 f.). ἀμυλλο-δετήρ 'sheaf-binder': Skr. ni-dātár- 'fastener', √ dē. ἄκ-τωρ 'leader' ἐπ-ακτήρ 'he who goes out for prey, hunter': Lat. ac-tor. ἀλάστωρ 'not forgetful of punishment, avenging deity' beside ἄ-λαστο-ς λήθ-ω. λαμπ-τήρ 'lighter'. ὀπ-τήρ δι-οπτήρ 'watcher, spy'. ζωσ-τήρ 'girdle'. δια-βλήτωρ 'slanderer' (late). κρᾶ-τήρ 'mixing vessel'. δμη-τήρ 'subduer', Δμή-τωρ, δμή-τειρα 'subduer (f.)'. παν-δαμύ-τωρ, γενε-τήρ γενέ-τωρ, see above p. 383. ἄλ-ε-τρ-ίς 'miller (f.)': ἄλ- for ηλ-? cp. Lat. mol-i-tor.

With -τωρ- we find only μήσ-τωρ, Homer. acc. -τωρ-α, 'counsellor' (but as a proper name Μήστορ-α), beside μήδ-ομαι.

'matris', Lat. frā-ter Umbr. frater 'fratres' fratrom 'fratrum'; see above, p. 382. Lat. ven-ter.

In the group of nomina agentis we may assume that -tōr- had prevailed in all cases even in proethnic Italic; only the derivatives show -tr-. The formation seems to have been in active use in all dialects.

Lat. in-fertor, Umbr. aī-fertur 'infertor, flamen' acc. ars-ferturo dat. -ferture: Skr. bhar-tār-; see above, p. 382. Lat. in-spector, Umbr. speture 'spectori' speturie dat. 'spectoriae': Avest. spas-tar- 'watchman'. √ spek-. Lat. auc-tor, Umbr. uhtur 'auctor' uhturu 'auctorem' uhtretie 'auctoritate'. Osc. embratur 'imperator', regatureī 'rectori'.

Lat. pīs-tōr pīns-tōr pīs-tr-ī-x: Skr. pēṣ-ṭar- 'grinder, crusher'. fictor. vīc-tor. duc-tor. ūs-tor. dē-sertor. tortor for torc-tor*, from torqueō. com-mentor: Skr. man-tār- 'thinker', Gr. Μέντωρ, √ men-. tex-tor: Skr. tāṣ-ṭar- 'foreman, architect, carpenter', √ tek-. ēsor ēstr-ī-x: Skr. attār- 'eater', Gr. ὠμωσθήρ 'eating raw food' (late) νηστειρα f. 'fasting' (late). messor. cor-rēctor. rap-tor. can-tor. al-tor. oc-cīsor, from caedō. sū-tor. sprē-tor. im-plētor. viē-tor. fla-tōr. cūrā-tor, bella-tor; fīnī-tor.

Lat. domi-tor, geni-tor; see above, p. 383. meri-tōr-īu-s mere-tr-ī-x. dēbi-tōr. moli-tor. moni-tor.

The connexion of the Latin participles in -tūru-s, such as da-tūru-s, with these nomina agentis can not be denied, but the ū is obscure (I § 89 p. 85).

In Old Irish only the names of kindred remain.

athir 'father', mathir 'mother', bráthir 'brother', see above p. 381 f. To these the word for 'uncle' was assimilated, Mod.Cymr. ewi-thr O.Corn. eui-ter, cp. Lat. avun-culu-s.

Germanic. scist-ar O.H.G. swest-er 'sister', see above p. 381.

Goth. fa-dar dauh-tar brō-þar O.H.G. fater muoter tohter bruoder; see above, p. 381 f. In O.H.G. another word seems to have been associated with these: swiger, gen. swiger, 'mother-in-law' (Skr. śvaśrā).

In Gothic, -tru-m (for -tr-mi*) in the dat. pl. and -tr-uns (for -tr-ŋs*) in the acc. pl. gave rise to the nom. pl. in -trjus, as brōþrjus, after the analogy of the u-declension. In Old High German the names of kindred were also declined as o-stems and as a-stems (according to their gender), but the feminine forms occur only in the pl., and not until a late period. Thus we have gen. sing. fateres beside fater, gen. pl. only faterā, gen. pl. tohterā beside tohter.

Of the nomina agentis we have only doubtful traces. A.S. bæcestre f. 'baker (f.)' and the like; see § 110 p. 336. A.S. bealdor O.Icel. baldr 'chief', O.H.G. smeidar 'artifex', see Kluge, Nominale Stammbildungsl. § 30. O.H.G. friu-dil fri-dol m. 'beloved' O.Icel. fri-dill 'concubinus': O.C.Sl. prija-tel-i 'friend' Avest. a-frītar- 'one who pronounces a blessing' Skr. prē-tar- 'benefactor, lover': l must have arisen in Germanic, as in Slavonic, (-tel-i) through dissimilation, cp. murmulōn etc. I § 277 p. 221; but there is difficulty in explaining the relation of the vowels in the root-syllable (cp. Brate in Bezzenb. Beitr. XI 187).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. dėver-i-s gen. dėvėr-s O.C.Sl. děver-i 'brother-in-law', Lith. sesū gen. sesėr-s, also nom. sėse on the analogy of mótė etc. (cp. the Remark on p. 383), O.C.Sl. sestra 'sister', see above, p. 381.

Lith. mo-tė and mó-tė 'woman, wife' O.C.Sl. mati 'mother', Lith. duk-tė O.C.Sl. dūšti 'daughter', Lith. bro-ter-ėli-s 'little brother'. O.C.Sl. bra-tr-ŭ bra-tŭ 'brother', see p. 382 above. Lith. in-tė (gen. intės) 'brother's wife' (O.C.Sl. ję-tr-y like svekry): Skr. yā-tar- etc., see p. 385 above; a confusion with genti-s 'a relative' (m. f.) gave rise to the form gent-ě gen. gentėr-s or gentės 'husband's brother's wife'. In Czech the inflexion of neti f. 'niece' (= Skr. napt-i) was assimilated to that of the names of kindred, partly in consequence of the similar ending of the nom. sing.: thus gen. neter'-e, like mater'-e; cp. Skr. náptar- p. 383.

The class of nomina agentis is found only in Slavonic, where it was fertile. In Lithuanian these forms were displaced by those in -toji-s = O.C.Sl. -tajǎ, as ar-tóji-s = O.C.Sl. ra-tajǎ ora-tajǎ 'arator'; as to Lith. -klė see I § 281 Rem. 1 p. 224. Slav. -tel- arose from -ter- by dissimilation; see I § 281 p. 224. -tel- without any additional suffix is still found in nom. gen. instr. pl., -tel-e, -tel-ŭ, -tel-y although the two latter forms may also be regarded as belonging to the o-decl.); elsewhere we have -tel-je-. sŭ-rěstelĭ 'conscius, witness', bljustelĭ 'watchman', žę-telĭ 'reaper', sŭ-dětelĭ 'conditor', zva-telĭ 'caller', zna-telĭ 'knower'; see above, p. 382 f. da-telĭ 'giver', see above, p. 384. prija-telĭ 'friend', see above p. 388. žrĭ-telĭ 'offerer, priest'. vlas-telĭ 'commander' (vladq 'I command, rule'), zi-telĭ 'inhabitant', děla-telĭ 'worker'. sŭ-birateĭ 'collector'. umě-telĭ 'one who understands'. sŭ-vědětĭ 'conscius, witness'. prosi-telĭ 'beggar'. goni-telĭ 'follower'. -itelĭ was also used as an independent suffix: e. g. po-dad-itelĭ 'lender, bail, security', po-greb-itelĭ 'burier'.

VII. Suffixes in -t.

§ 123. The Suffix *-t*¹⁾. In the proethnic language this was a primary suffix; and it was most frequently found, as its use in Sanskrit, Greek and Latin shews, in the final members of compound words. These had the force of a participle, which was generally active and could be either an adjective or substantive. But -t is used in this way only with roots which end in vowels, liquids, or nasals, such as ej-, dhē-, bher-, ghen-. Skr. arthēt- (artha-t-t) 'busy, in haste', Lat. comes stem com-i-t (properly 'one who goes with'), $\checkmark$ ej-. Avest. fratema-dā-t 'one set first, set in front, chief', Gr. $\Theta\eta\varsigma$, gen. $\Theta\eta-r-ós$, 'hired labourer', $\checkmark$ dhē-. Avest. praotō-stā-t adj. 'in the rivers', Lat. anti-sti-t-, $\checkmark$ stā-.

1) De Saussure, Le suffixe -t-, Mémoires de la Soc. de Ling. III 197 ff.

Here must be classed nepōt- nept- (Skr. nāpat 'offspring, descendant' instr. nādbhiṣ for nabd-bhiṣ*, Lat. nepōs, Mid.Ir. niae, gen. niath, 'sister's son', O.H.G. nefo 'nephew, relative' Goth. niþ-ji-s 'cousin, relative', O.Icel. nið-r 'offspring', O.C.Sl. net-ijŕ 'nephew, cousin', see I § 527 Rem. 1 p. 382, § 545 p. 399), if it belongs to the root of pā-ter-* 'father' and if its original meaning was 'not having (a father's) protection, belonging to the family of uncle or grandfather', and hence 'nephew' or grandson'; see E. Leumann, Festgruss an Otto von Böhtlingk 1888 p. 77 f.

Next should be mentioned noq-t 'night' (beside noq-ti-*, cp. the suffix -tati- beside -tat- § 102 p. 308): Skr. nák-t (Gaedicke, Der Acc. im Veda 177, B. Kahle, Zur Entwicklung der Consonant. Decl. im Germ. 32 f.), Gr. νύξ νυκ-τό-ς, Lat. nox (which also forms i-cases), O.Ir. in-nocht 'hac nocte', Goth. gen. nah-t-s dat. nah-t, O.Lith. gen. pl. nak-t-u.

We also find a few substantive numerals (with by-forms in -ti-, see § 101 p. 306 f.). dekṃ-t-* 'decade': Skr. daśát-, Gr. δεκάς gen. δεκάδ-ος (for the δ see p. 392), Lith. pl. dėszimt-s O.C.Sl. pl. desęt-e. In this way were formed Skr. pañcát- Gr. πεντάς πεντάς 'a group of five' (I § 427 a p. 312) beside Skr. pánca Gr. πέντε 'five', and other examples.

Lastly we find a certain number of nouns in different languages with a short vowel between the root and -t-; as Skr. sṛavát- f. 'river', Lat. teges, gen. teget-is, f. 'covering', Goth. mitaþ-s, stem mitad- f. 'measure', Skr. vāghát- 'praying', Gr. ἀγγέρ- 'gleaming', Lat. teres, gen. teret-is, 'turned, round, long'. Not one of these nouns appears in more than one language. Nevertheless it is natural to derive them from a common source.

In several branches of Indo-Germanic, particularly in Aryan, this suffix -t- was taken widely into use in combination with others by which it was extended. The new compound suffixes were used independently and became fertile, e. g. Skr. -t-nu-.

'praising the gods', Avest. ahūm-stu-t 'praising the world'. Skr. dēva-śrū-t- 'heard of the gods, audible to them'. Skr. vajra-bhṛ-t- 'bearing the thunderbolt', Avest. aś-ber-t- 'enduring much' a-ber-t- 'purveyor' (appellation of a priest's assistant). Skr. su-kṛ-t- 'behaving well', Avest. yās-ker-t- 'transacting business'. Avest. taxmār-t- (tazma-ar-t-) 'pressing on hard'. Skr. adhva-gá-t- 'on the way, traveller', $\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$. Less often in unpounded words: Skr. ri-t- 'running', hrú-t- 'injurer, foe', Avest. stū-t- 'praiser'. Moreover these *-t-*stems are found in Aryan as feminine abstract substantives: Skr. sam-i-t- 'hostile meeting', ni-yú-t- 'team', stú-t- 'praise, song', vṛ-t- 'company, following, troop, band', Avest. xšnūt- 'wisdom'. For the Skr. nápat-nápt- 'offspring, descendant' Avest. napāt-napt- (fem. Skr. napt-ī- Avest. napt-ī-) see above p. 390, and for Skr. náptar- Avest. naptar- § 122 p. 383.

Extensions of this suffix gave rise to the suffixes -tya-, e. g. Skr. kṛtya-s 'faciendus' § 63 p. 123 f., -tnu-, e. g. Skr. kṛtnú-ś 'active' § 106 p. 320, -tvan-, e. g. Skr. kṛtvan- 'effecting' § 116 p. 364. Compare Skr. mṛ-t-yú-ś 'death' § 105 p. 318 f.

Skr. nák-t- 'night', see above p. 390. Skr. daśát- 'a group of ten' pañcát- 'a group of five', see above, p. 390.

A few Sanskrit nouns have -at- -it-. sravát- f. 'river'. vahát- f. 'stream'. saścát- f. 'stopping, check'. vēhát- f. 'a cow which yeans prematurely, casts'. vāghát- 'praying, one who prays'. sarít- f. 'river, brook'. yōṣít- f. 'girl, maiden'. harít- 'tawny'. There is one word in -út-: marút- name of the storm-gods.

Greek. $\theta\eta\varsigma$, gen. $\theta\eta-\tau-ός$, 'hired labourer', see p. 389 above. $\piλώς$, gen. $\piλω-\tau-ός$, 'swimmer' name of a fish. $\omegaμο-βρώς$, gen. $-βρω-\tau-ος$, 'devouring raw flesh' ($\sqrt{\text{ger-}}$, cp. I § 306 p. 242). $\alpha\gammaνώς$, gen. $-γνω-\tau-ος$, 'unknown, not knowing'. $\piρο-βλής$, gen. $\betaλή-\tau-ος$, 'thrown forward, springing forward, prominent'. $\δομι-κμής$, gen. $-κμη-\tau-ος$, 'subdued by the spear'.

$\deltaεκάς$, $πεμπάς$ $πεντάς$, see p. 390 above. So also $ἐπτάς$ 'a group of seven' ground-form septm-t-*, $ἐννέας$ 'a group of nine', δνάς τριάς (this word cannot be compared with Lat. triēns, gen. trient-is), ἑξάς etc. In I § 238 p. 199, § 469, 7 p. 346 something has been said of the -δ- in these forms. In the Indo-Germanic case-system (dek̑nt- sept̑nt-* and so forth) there was a variation between t and d, e. g. dat. dek̑nt-ai*, instr. dek̑nd-bhi(s)*. The only question is whether the Gr. -δ- arose from an assimilation of the cases with t to this latter form either in Greek or earlier, or whether the δ was a special Greek development, due to the terminations -ας -ασι, which also belonged to the original d-stems (§ 128). The latter explanation now seems to me the more probable. Cp. λάταγ- § 130 Rem.

ἀργέτ- and ἀργῆτ- 'gleaming' the nom. was perhaps originally -ēt, gen. -et-os and so forth (cp. below A.S. hæle 'hero' for pr. Germ. chalēp*). κέλης, gen. -ητ-ος, m. 'runner, courser', ἔχης m. 'possessor', λέβης m. 'cauldron, bowl'.

Italic. Lat. com-es, anti-stes, nepōs (gen. nepōt-is etc.; the weak form of the stem appears in nept-i-s), see p. 390 above. sacerdōs, gen. -dōt-is, for sacro-dō-t-* I § 633 p. 473 f.; where it must be remembered that -dō-t- can be derived not only from $\sqrt{dō-}$, but also from $\sqrt{dhē}$ (cp. Gr. θω-μός etc. I § 315 p. 254). locu-plēs, gen. -plē-t-is, whose original meaning has not been clearly determined (see Corssen, Krit. Nachtr. 253). man-suēs, gen. -suē-t-is (beside mān-suē-tu-s). Add in-gen-t-, if it originally meant 'unknown, unheard of', and then 'extraordinary, huge', and so comes from $\sqrt{gen-}$ 'know' (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. IV 149 f.).

Lat. nox, see above p. 390.

With -et-: teges (gen. teget-is) f., seges f., merges f.; teres, hebes. An isolated form is caput, gen. capit-is.

Remark 1. With -it-: eques (gen. equit-is) m. (equo-s), pedes m. (pēs), vēles m. (vēlu-m), miles m., circes m. (circu-s), palmes m. (palma), āles subst. m. and adj. (āla). K. Walter (Kuhn's Ztschr. X 194 ff.) holds that these correspond to such Greek denominatives as ἵππo-τα (eques) ἀγρό-τη-ς (§ 80 p. 240). There seems to me to have been a confusion in Latin between tā-stems and compounds with -i-t- 'going' (see com-i-t above), after the vowels preceding the -t- had become indistinguishable through phonetic change. The compounds attracted the tā-stems into their own consonantal declension, a process which was assisted by popular etymology. But it is doubtful whether all these forms (equēs etc.) were tā-stems to start with. It may certainly be assumed of a few examples, such as ped-it-, that (like com-es) they were real compounds of -i-t- 'going'.

Old Irish. niae, gen. niath, (Mid.Ir.) 'sister's son', in-nocht 'hac nocte', see p. 390 above.

With -et-: cing-, gen. cinged, 'hero, warrior' Gall. Cinges-etis Cinget-o-rīx, traig 'foot', cin 'debt', luch 'mouse'. Compare Gall. acc. pl. Namnet-as, and further (with ā) Atrebāt-es (beside O.Ir. atreba i. e. ad-treba 'possidet, habitat') as well as Ir. ascad- (nom. ascae) 'rival, enemy' arad- 'charioteer'; in these words it is difficult to determine the original form of the suffix.

Germanic. O.H.G. nefo 'nephew' for nefō(ð)* has been attracted into the n-declension: Skr. nāpāt etc., see p. 390 above. O.H.G. nift 'neptis, privigna' = Skr. napt-ī.

Gen. sing. Goth. nah-t-s O.H.G. naht-e-s, dat. Goth. O.H.G. nah-t etc. (nom. Goth. naht-s O.H.G. naht 'night'): Skr. nāk-t- etc., see above p. 390. In Germanic the various cases of this word followed different declensions.

Remark 2. Consonantal cases are found in the declension of the feminine nouns Goth. vaih-t-s 'thing' brus-t-s 'breast' as from naht-s; and also from spaurþ-s (spaur-d-) 'race-course' dulþ-s (dul-þ-) 'feast'. The two latter should be compared with such Sanskrit fem. forms as ṛt- stú-t- (see p. 391), if their consonantal inflexion is original.

There is a class of nouns which show a vowel before the -t- (pr. Germ. -þ- or -ð-, following always the position of the accent), which have abandoned their old consonantal inflexion more or less completely. Goth. mitaþ-s (st. mitad-) f. 'measure', beside O.Sax. metod O.Icel. mjǫtuð-r m. 'measurer, orderer, artist, creator'. O.H.G. helid A.S. hæled (also hæle, an old nom. without s, for ȝalēþ*) O.Icel. hǫld-r 'hero'. O.H.G. hehhit 'pike', sceffid 'creator', leitid 'leader'. In Norse this class (nomina agentis) was fertile: e. g. hatu-ðr hǫtuð-r 'hater', skapaðr 'creator' framid-r 'gestor, tributor, dator'.

Goth. mēnōþ-s (dat. mēnōþ, pl. nom. acc. mēnōþ-s) O.H.G. mānōd O.Icel. mānað-r (pl. mānað-r m. 'month'. The nominative form mēnō(þ)* gave rise to Goth. mēna O.H.G. māno, which then developed n-cases like nefo. In this word -t- was a secondary suffix, and so also in Goth. veitvōþ-s (veitvōd-) m. 'witness'; this form will be discussed below in § 176.

Balto-Slavonic. The Lith. nom. sing. mėnũ (gen. mėnesio) may, with O.H.G. mano, be referred to mėnōt*.

Lith. pl. dėszimt-s O.C.Sl. deset-e; see p. 390 above.

Remark 3. The Slav. masc. lakŭti 'elbow, ell', nogŭti 'unguis', pěcatŭ 'seal' form cases according to the consonantal declension; e. g. gen. pl. lakŭtŭ nom. pl. pěcat-e. Have we here a secondary transference to this declension?

§ 124. The Suffixes -tāt- and -tūt- formed feminine abstract substantives from Adjectives and Substantives, and had in the proethnic and later periods the parallel forms -tāti- and -tūti-. They have been discussed in § 102 p. 308 ff.

§ 125. The Suffix -nt-¹⁾. In all periods this suffix formed all the active participles excepting that of the Perfect (§ 136). In most of the separate groups of languages it has remained in living use down to the present day.

nt- participles became simple nouns in all the languages, though more rarely in some than in others. They became partly adjectives pure und simple (with comparative and superlative), such as Mod.H.G. reizend 'charming' and partly substantives, such as Mod.H.G. freund 'friend'. This change from one part of speech to another has taken place at every stage in the developement of the Indo-Germanic languages. Thus for example Mod.H.G. zahn (Lat. dēns) had become a substantive in the proethnic period, freund (Goth. frijōnd-s) in Baudry, Le t du suffixe participial ant, ibid. 393 ff. O. Bechstein, De nominibus Latinis suffixorum ent- et mino- ope formatis, Curtius' Stud. VIII 335 sqq. (I have not been able to work through Ch. Bartholomae's essay, Die ar. Flexion der Adjectiva und Participia auf -nt-, which has just appeared in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 487 ff., so as to make use of it for the following sections, but a cursory survey has shown me, to my great satisfaction, that we have arrived at the same conclusions on certain main points).

proethnic Germanic, heiland (A.S. hælend) in proethnic West-Germanic, and der vorsitzende (O.H.G. furi-sizzando) 'president' in High German. Compare § 144.

-nt- is sometimes added immediately to the root-syllable, e. g. s-ŋt-* 'being' √ es- (Skr. s-ánt- s-at-), sometimes to stems having a tense-determinant, e. g. pres. qi-ny-ŋt-* √ qeḡ- (Skr. ci-nv-ánt- ci-nv-at-), rud-ó-nt-* √ reḡd- (Skr. rud-á-nt-), bhéudh-o-nt-* √ bheḡdh- (Skr. bōdh-a-nt-), fut. dō-sḡo-nt-* √ dō- (Skr. dā-syánt-).

Remark 1. It is a plausible hypothesis that the 3. pl. in -nti and -nt (rudō-nti* = Skr. rudá-nti é rudō-nt* = Skr. á-rudan, cp. Lat. rudu-nt) is simply the bare stem of this participial formation, to which -i was sometimes added on the analogy of the 3. sing. in -ti beside -t etc. If so, the 3. pl. perf. (Gr. λελόγγ-ασαι -αι, Goth. vit-un) was doubtless formed originally with some other suffix; and as a matter of fact the nt- suffix is not used in that tense in Aryan.

The original variation of ablaut is on the whole clear:

In participles formed from non-thematic verbal stems, the suffix varied between -ŋt- and -nt- in the parent language; as Skr. sing. acc. s-ánt-am ci-nv-ánt-am gen. s-at-ás ci-nv-at-ás pl. loc. s-át-su ci-nv-át-su (instead of s-at-sú* ci-nv-at-sú*), cp. I § 226 p. 193, § 230 p. 196 etc.

With thematic stems, on the other hand, the suffix assumed the forms -ó-nt- and -nt-; as Skr. rudá-nt-am rudat-ás rudat-su (instead of rudat-sú*) Gr. ῥιδόντ-α ῥιδατ-ός* ῥιδατ-αι* (replaced by ῥιδόντος and ῥιδόντου ῥιδοῦσι). It is certain that -ó-nt- and -nt- were original; but it is still a little doubtful whether the paradigm also contained -e-nt-. The nom. sing. ended partly in -o-nt-s (and under certain conditions perhaps in -e-nt-s), partly in -ōn (Gr. ῥέγων O.C.Sl. bery; there was no loss of -t, contrast ἔγρον for ἔ-γρον-ντ* I § 611 p. 461).

Remark 2. Special evidence for a form -e-nt- beside -o-nt- and -nt- is given by Mid.H.G. zint O.Icel. tind-r 'tooth, prong' = d-en-t-* beside d-on-t-* (O.H.G. zan, Gr. δόρυτ- etc.) and d-nt-* (Goth. tunþ-). It is possible to assume (with B. Kahle, Zur Entw. der Conson. Decl., 13) that the loc. sing. was originally dént(i)*, cp. loc. sing. -en(-i) -men(-i) § 113 p. 344 and -(ŋ)er-i § 120 p. 379. Another view is also possible. rud-é-nt-* may once have existed beside bhéud-o-nt-, d-é-nt- beside -d-o-nt-* as qe-ty-ε, beside ā-pe-or-ε; § 113 p. 343 f. and πα-τρε-ε; beside φεά-τορ-ε; μητροπάτορες § 120 p. 378; while in the -nt- stems also in either case the loc. sing. may have had -e-, dent-(i)*. This latter assumption would explain very simply the varying declension of these stems in the different languages. Observe especially that in this case there would be no necessity to suppose any levelling of different forms of the stem in participles like Lat. rudēns rudentis etc., inasmuch as rudent- would come as regularly from rudént-* as from rudnt-*.

Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ánt- mṛ-ṇ-at- 'grinding'; Gr. δαμ-ν-άντ- (nom. δαυράς) 'taming', where this strong form of the stem is carried through the paradigm.

A number of participles of this kind became simple nouns even in the parent language. Skr. jāra-nt- 'frail, old,

1) In this section, as in Vol. I § 235 p. 198 f., I have regarded -av- as the regular phonetic representative of original -ū-. This view has been recently attacked by Kōgel in the Literar. Centralbl. 1888 Sp. 1380, in his criticism of Burghauser, who maintained (as I do) that ἔαντι (for ē(ṇ)avti*) was the normal form of the 3. pl. of the root es-; the comparison Skr. sānti = Gr. εἰσὶ (for aertṇi*) = H.G. sind 'is', says our critic, 'almost universally (??) accepted'. In view of this, I am bound to call attention to the evidence of the word π-άντ- = Idg. kū-ūt*- which is shortly to be mentioned in the text; a form which is of especial importance from its isolation, and which in my opinion decides the question of the representation of Idg. ū in Greek distinctly in favour of av. Can any one maintain the alternative that in the proethnic period of Greek π-άντ-* became π-άντ- through the influence of the weak form π-αντ-* = kū-ūt*? This form disappeared in that very period, and in other instances of levelling between different cases it is the reverse process and that only that has been established — e. g. -φετ- for -φαι- on the analogy of -φαι-, φε-ε-σὶ for φε-α-σὶ on the analogy of φαι-. Nor are the objections urged by Meringer (Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 149 f.) against my theory at all more serious. I hope to find an opportunity elsewhere of dealing with his arguments in detail; suffice it here to say, that in maintaining as he does (p. 150) that the e of the Indo-Germanic sound 'u', which he and J. Schmidt assume in place of u, 'natural'y became a in Aryan, he has completely overlooked the fact that before this 'u' the Aryan k-sounds would necessarily appear as c-sounds, which no more happens here than it does before ir = Idg. ṛ.

hoary', Gr. γέρον (-o-rr-) 'old man'. Skr. śá-śvant- śá-śvat- 'complete, whole, every' for *śá-śvant- (I § 557 p. 413), Gr. πάντ- (πᾶς) ᾗ-παντ- (ᾗ-πᾶς) 'all, every', Idg. *k̑n-ūt- *k̑n-ūt- originally perhaps 'coming to fulness', compare Skr. śvā- 'swell out' Gr. κτέω 'am pregnant' κύος 'fetus' (to the same root belongs Dor. πᾶ-μα § 117 p. 370 f.); cp. Goth. all-s § 66 p. 147 and Lat. omni-s § 95 p. 286. Skr. bṛ-hánt- bṛ-hat- 'exalted, high, great' fem. bṛhat-ī, O.Ir. Brigit f. ('she who is exalted'), see § 110 p. 337. *d-ó-nt- *d-ūt- 'tooth' (cp. § 125 Rem. 2 p. 395 f.) from √ed- 'eat': Skr. dánt- dat- (dat-ás dad-bhīṣ), Gr. ὀδόντ- nom. ὀδούς and ὀδών; *ḍar- appears in ὀδᾶξ § 86 p. 256, § 88 p. 265, Lat. dent- nom. dēns (Osc. dunt- = dont- is uncertain, see Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 184), O.Ir. dēt (Mod.Cymr. dant) dat. dēit, Goth. tunþ-u-s O.H.G. zan (see p. 402 f.), Lith. dant-l-s (we still find gen. pl. dant-ũ beside dancziũ)¹; it seems more probable that Gr. Lesb. ἔδοντες was a re-formation, the original word being altered on the analogy of ἔδω, than that a by-form *éd-o-n-t- 'tooth' should have existed side by side with *d-ón-t- in Indo-Germanic; the ó- of ὀδοίς however has yet to be explained; the theory of J. Schmidt (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 51) and G. Meyer, (Gr. Gr.² p. 306) does not satisfy me.

Aryan. Skr. vāh-a-nt- Avest. vaz-a-nt- (nom. vāhan vazas) 'vehens': Lat. vehēns, Goth. ga-vigand-s, Lith. vežās O.C.Sl. vezy, common ground-form *uēgh-o-nt-, beside indic. *uēgh-e-ti 'vehit'. Skr. dhārāya-nt- Avest. dārāya-nt- 'holding', beside indic. dhārāya-ti- dārayeiti; Skr. vāhāya-nt- 'causing to ride, causing to run': Gr. ὀχέων 'causing to drive, ride', Goth. vagjand-s 'setting in motion'. Skr. nāś-ya-nt- Avest. nas-ya-nt- 'becoming lost', beside indic. nāś-ya-ti nas-yeiti. Skr. prchá-nt- Avest. per'sa-nt- 'asking': Lat. poscēns for *por(c)-scent-, beside indic. prchá-ti per'saiti poscit ground-form *pr(k)-ské-ti, √prek-. Skr. vindā-nt- Avest. vinda-nt- 'finding', beside indic. vindā-ti vindaiti, √ueid-.

1) I see no sufficient reason for doubting that in dantũ we still have the old *-nt-*stem (Brückner, Archiv für slav. Phil. III 247). grindũ beside grindziũ from grind-i-s 'deal board', only shews that the word has been influenced by the analogy of such forms as dantũ.

Skr. udan-yá-nt- 'streaming' beside indic. udan-yá-ti. Skr. vak-šyá-nt- Avest. vax-šya-nt- fut. 'about to speak', beside indic. vak-šyá-ti vax-šyeiti. Skr. vá-nt- Avest. vā-nt- 'blowing', beside indic. vā-ti vāiti: Gr. ἄεις, see above p. 396. Skr. snā-nt- 'washing oneself, bathing', beside indic. snā-ti: Lat. nāns. Skr. s-ánt- Avest. h-ant- 'being, true', beside indic. ás-ti as-ti 'is'. Skr. y-ánt- Avest. y-ant- 'going, coming', beside indic. é-ti aēiti. Skr. dād-at- 'giving, dád-h-at- ponens', Avest. dađant- 'giving, ponens', beside indic. Skr. dāda-ti dád-ha-ti Avest. dađaiti; the Avestic form was a new formation, see above, p. 397. Skr. su-nv-ánt- Avest. hu-nv-ant- 'pressing out', beside indic. su-nó-ti hu-naoiti. Skr. krī-ṇ-ánt- 'buying', beside indic. krī-ṇá-ti.

In proethnic Aryan, participles like vā-n-t- 'blowing' lost their nasal in the weak cases on the analogy of sánt-am: sat-ás etc. Compare § 110 p. 337. Beside Skr. mahat- Av. mazat-. (mahat-ā mahád-bhiš, mazaþ) 'great' we have a remarkable form Skr. mahánt- Avest. mazānt- (mahánt-am, mazānt-em). Compare with it the Vedic acc. mahā-m and such compounds as mahā-grāmá-s 'great host'. mahánt- is doubtless a contamination of mahan- (mahān-) and mahat-; compare § 135.

On the whole Sanskrit has preserved faithfully the vowel-gradation of proethnic Aryan; e. g. sing. acc. prchá-nt-am su-nv-ánt-am instr. prchat-ā su-nv-at-ā pl. instr. prchád-bhiš su-nv-ád-bhiš. On the other hand, we find in Avestic the strong form of the stem constantly transferred to the weak cases, as gen. pl. jasent-qm contrasted with Skr. gácchat-ām, dat. pl. ber'zenbyō contrasted with Skr. bṛhád-bhyas.

Participles used simply as nouns. Pre-Aryan: Skr. járant-, Skr. śá-śvant-, Skr. bṛhánt-, Avest. ber'zant- 'exalted, high, great', Skr. dánt- 'tooth' (Avest. dant-an- has the -en- which is so common in names of parts of the body, cp. § 114 p. 345 ff.); see above, p. 397 f. Aryan: Skr. mahnt- Avest. mazānt- 'great', see above, Skr. pṛśant- 'spotted, dappled', dhṛśánt- 'courageous, bold', ṛhánt- 'small, little' (the opposite of bṛhánt-), Avest. sao-šya-nt- fut. part. 'who will help, saviour, preserver'.

Greek. Participles. ῥέων (-o-ντ-) 'flowing', beside indic.

ῥίει ῥεῖ: Skr. sráv-a-nt-, √ srey. φορέων 'bearing', from φορέω φορῶ: Skr. bhārāya-nt-, √ bher-. πέψων (-ο-ντ-) fut. 'about to cook', from πέψω, √ peq-. λιπών (-ο-ντ-) 'leaving', from ἔ-λιπ-ον: Skr. ric-á-nt- √ leiq-. γνούς (-όντ-) 'learning' for *γνω-ντ- (I § 611 p. 461), from ἔ-γνω-ν; μίγεις (-έντ-) 'mixed with, united with' for *μυγη-ντ-, from ἐ-μίγη-ν. τεκταίνων 'making', from τεκταίνω for *τεκταν-χω. τιμάων 'honouring', from τιμάω. δουλόων 'subjugating', from δουλόω. στάς (σtάντ-) 'placing oneself, being in a position', beside ἔ-στη-ν; see p. 396 above. π-ᾱς
 (acc. π-άντ-α gen. π-αντ-ός) 'complete, all' for *κμ-ῡτ-, see p. 398 above; the indic. would perhaps be *κέμ-τι. πέψας (-αντ-) part. aor.
 'cooking', beside ἔ-πεψ-α, instead of *πεπ-σ-άντ- *πιπ-σ-ατ- =
 *peq-s-ῡτ- *peq-s-ῡτ- or perhaps instead of the single form *πέπ-
 -σ-ατ- = *ρέq-s-ῡτ- (which may have been regular in all the cases); the latter view is supported especially by Ved. nom. sing.
dhákṣat (dah- 'burn'). τι-θείς (-έντ-) 'placing' contrasted with Skr. dádḥ-at-; see above, p. 397. ἄγνός (-ύντ-) 'breaking' (trans.)
 contrasted with Skr. śak-nuv-ánt-; see above, p. 399. δαμ-ν-ᾱς (-άντ-) 'taming', see ibid.

In Greek only a few traces remain of the different forms due to the original vowel gradation. Beside φέροντ- a form *φέρατ- = Skr. bhārat- is implied in Heracl. loc. pl. πρᾱσσόν- τασσι and the like: such a form as *φερασσι for *φερατ-σι (Skr. bhārat-su) would be altered to φερόντ-ασσι through the influence of φέροντ- in the other cases. Dor. ἔασσα (Cret. dat. ιάττα) = Skr. s-at-ti has been already mentioned on p. 396. If we may trust a few corrupt glosses in Hesychius, a form φεκατ-, fem.
ᾱ-έκασσα once existed beside ἐκών ἐκόντ-ος 'willing'. See R. Kögel,
 Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 116, J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV
 590 ff.

Remark 1. It is very questionable whether θέρμασσα 'furnace, stove' comes directly from the partic. θέρμων 'warming', as some maintain. It is important to notice that we have the parallel form θερμάνω. Cp. πρό-φρασσα beside πρό-φρων.

Participles used simply as nouns. Pre-Greek: γέρον, πᾱς, ὀδούς, see p. 398. Greek: δράκων 'dragon' (δρακών part. aor.), ἄρχων 'ruler', κρείων 'ruler' (ἐὺρυ-κρείων 'ruling over wide realms'), μέδων 'counsellor, lord' (ἐὺρυ-μέδων): Goth. mitand-s 'measuring', ὀρίζων 'the bounding line, horizon'; ἑκών 'willing', φαέθων 'shining, bright', μέλλων 'future'.

Italic. Participles. Lat. sedēns (-ent-), Umbr. zeřef serse 'sedens'. Lat. prae-sēns, Osc. praesentid 'praesente'. Lat. dūcēns: Goth. tiuh-a-and-s 'drawing', √ deyk-. agēns: Skr. āj-a-nt- Gr. ἄγων, √ ag- 'agere'. monēns for moneient-*, beside moneō (I § 134 p. 121): Skr. manáyant- 'honouring', √ men- 'remember, think'. cōn-spiciēns: Skr. paś-ya-nt- 'seeing', √ spek-. rudēns: Skr. rud-á-nt- 'lamenting', √ reud-. vorreñs (verreñs): O.C.Sl. vrěchy 'threshing', √ uers-. rumpēns: Skr. lumpá-nt- 'breaking'. im-plēns, beside im-ple-t (plē-). flāns, beside fla-t (fla-). albēns, beside albe-t. plantāns, beside planta-t. stāns, dāns, see p. 396 above. mi-nu-ēns ster-nu-ēns may represent immediately the original forms in -ny-ūt- -nuy-ūt-; and similarly li-nēns ster-nēns (li-n-ent- ster-n-ent-), may be directly compared with Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ánt- Gr. δαμ-ν-ávτ-; see above, p. 397.

Few traces can be found of vowel gradation in the stem. If the form -e-nt- did not ever occur beside -o-nt- -ūt- in the original paradigm of the participles from thematic stems (see § 125 Rem. 2 p. 395 f.), then in all the examples of participles of this class in Latin, -ent- must be due to an assimilation of all the cases to those with Idg. -ūt- (e. g. gen. rudent-is = Skr. rudat-ás). The grade -o-nt- is still seen in eunt-is etc. beside iēns, flexu-nt-ēs beside flexentēs, Roman knights on active service, voluntās for volont-i-tās* beside volēns, and other examples; see Bechstein in Curtius' Stud. VIII 344. 348. 352; the forms ferundu-s faciundu-s also are indirect evidence for -o-nt- in the partic.; see § 69 p. 162. In the participles from non-thematic stems, such as prae-s-ent-, -ent- regularly represents both -ūt- and -ūt- (I § 240 p. 200); and this form, which appeared in all the cases, may have helped to establish -ent- in the former class to the exclusion of -o-nt-.

The purely nominal use of the suffix is here more common than in Aryan and Greek. Pre-Italic: Lat. dēns, see p. 398.

Lat. prae-sēns, Osc. prae-sentid. Lat. serpēns, parēns, ad-ulēscēns, cliēns, oriēns (sc. sōl); ē-loquēns, con-gruēns, in-nocēns, sapiēns, abundāns, in-tolerāns. In its adjectival function the participial suffix was fertile even beyond its original sphere; thus such forms as bene-volenter -volentior -volentissimu-s which were attached to bene-volu-s etc., produced māgni-ficenter -ficientior -ficientissimu-s (from -ficu-s).

In Old Irish it is only used as a purely nominal suffix. Brigit f. = Skr. bṛhat-ī and dēt 'tooth', see above p. 398. lōche, gen. lōchet, 'flash', √ leuk-. brāge 'neck'. care cara, gen. carat, 'friend', Gall. Carant-onus Carant-illus. tē, pl. tēt, 'hot' for tepent-* (I § 339 p. 269).

Germanic. Goth. kius-a-nd-s O.H.G. chios-a-nt-i 'trying, choosing': Skr. jōṣ-a-nt- 'being fond of', √ ḡey-. Goth. us-vakja-nd-s 'awakening' O.H.G. wecche-nt-i 'wakening': Skr. vājāya-nt- 'urging, driving on', √ ueḡ-* 'move, be strong'; Goth. fra-wardja-nd-s O.H.G. far-wertte-nt-i 'causing to disappear, destroying': Skr. vartāya-nt- 'causing to turn, or run a course', √ uert-. Goth. nasja-nd-s O.H.G. nerie-nt-i 'saving', √ nes-. O.H.G. feh-ta-nt-i 'fighting': Lat. pec-tēns. Goth. vit-a-nd-s O.H.G. wizz-a-nt-i 'knowing': Skr. vid-ā-nt- 'finding', Gr. id-ó-ō- 'seeing', √ ueid-. Goth. ga-daur̥s-a-nd-s 'venturing': Skr. dhṛṣ-ā-nt- 'courageous'. Goth. salbō-nd-s O.H.G. salbō-nt-i 'anointing', beside indic. Goth. salbō-þ O.H.G. salbō-t.

The original vowel-gradation has disappeared. But an example of original -nt- survives in Goth. hulund-i 'cave, hole' § 110 p. 337.

The participles in actual use were declined in Gothic as weak n-stems; except that in the nom. sing. we have -nds i. e. -nd-a-z* besides the usual form from n-stems: thus, nom. kiusa-nds and -nda, gen. -ndins and so forth. In Old High German this participle was an -io-stem; -nti is the so-called uninflected form. Parallel to it is the inflected form: 'strong' -ntēr, 'weak' -nto. See the sections on the cases.

Participles becoming Substantives:

Pre-Germanic. Goth. tunþ-u-s O.H.G. zan 'tooth', see above p. 398. This variation arose from the original doublet, pr. Germ. tānp-* = d-ó-nt-* and tund-* = d-ūt-*. Such cases as acc. sing. Goth. tunþ-u (instead of tanþ-u* = dónt-η*) gave rise to the u-inflexion; see Kahle as already quoted, 12 ff.

Examples common to all branches of Germanic are: Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. friunt 'friend' ('who loves'), Goth. fijand-s O.H.G. fiant 'enemy' ('who hates'), no doubt also Goth. all-waldand-s O.Sax. alo-waldand 'All-ruler, Almighty' O.H.G. waltant 'ruler, director', and a few similar words. Other examples are found only in single dialects or groups of dialects, as Goth. giband-s 'giver', mērjand-s 'proclaimer', O.H.G. wigant A.S. wīgend 'fighter', O.H.G. helfant 'helper'. These participles, which became substantives only in Germanic, still show an unextended nt-inflexion, though it is nowhere found in all the cases: e. g. nom. pl. Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. friunt O.Icel. frēnd-r = -nt-es* (Gr. -ντ-ες), loc. (dat.) sg. Goth. frijōnd O.H.G. friunt = -nt-i-* (Gr. -ντ-ι); whereas other cases in Gothic and West-Germanic follow the o-declension, as nom. sing. Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. friunt (thus in O.H.G. we have nom. pl. friunta as well as friunt), and in Norse follow the n-declension, as nom. sing. frēnde frēndi.

A still younger stratum is formed by substantives like O.H.G. waltanto 'he who rules', furi-sizzando 'architriclinus', nerrendeo 'preserver, saviour'. Their substantival use was based upon the n-inflexion, to which as participles they were transferred; compare Mod.H.G. der reisende and the like.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. vežās O.C.Sl. vezы 'vehens': Skr. váh-a-nt- etc., see p. 398 above. Lith. velkās O.C.Sl. vlъky 'dragging, drawing': Gr. ἐλκων, √(s)uelq-. Lith. pinās 'plaiting' O.C.Sl. pъny 'stretching, hanging', ground-form pъn-ó-nt-*, √(s)pen-. Lith. mélzās 'milking': Gr. αὐτὴλκων 'milking'; O.C.Sl. mľūzy 'milking': cp. Skr. mṛj-á-nt- 'wiping off, rubbing off'. Lith. límpās 'cleaving, clinging': Skr. límpá-nt- 'smearing', √leip-. Lith. bú-sęs O.C.Sl. by-še fut. 'about to be' (byśašte-je 'τὸ μέλλον', the only relic of the future participle in Slav.): Avest. bū-šya-nt-, common ground-form bhū-si-ó-nt-*, √bheq-. Lith. jėszkas 'seeking', beside indic. 1. pl. jėszkō-me, for jėszkō-nt-* (I § 615 p. 465): O.H.G. eiscōnt-i 'inquiring, asking' Lith. turiš (turint-) 'having', beside indic. 1. sing. turiù 1. pl. tùri-me. O.C.Sl. chvalę (gen. chvalęšta) 'praising', beside indic. 1. sing. chvaljā 1. pl. chvali-mŭ.

The old vowel-gradation has disappeared. Participles belonging to non-thematic vowel stems followed the analogy of stems in -o-nt-, e. g. Lith. ėsaš and ėsaš O.C.Sl. sy 'being', beside indic. ės-ti jes-tŭ. In Prussian however there is a form -sins = Idg. s-ŷt-* or s-ŋt-* (p. 396 f.).

Remark 2. I cannot believe that Lith. dañgujėsis 'heavenly' = danguje loc. + sjs 'being' (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 393). Nor can I believe that O.C.Sl. dadę beside dady 'dans' represents another non-thematic form corresponding to the 3. pl. dad-ęti (= Skr. dād-ati); as to dadę and other forms in -ę beside -y see O. Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjug. 128 f., Leskien Handb. p. 76 f.

In Baltic and Slavonic most of the cases of the -nt- participles were attracted into the ĭo-declension owing to the suffix of the feminine; e. g. gen. Lith. vėžancio O.C.Sl. vezašta. The acc. sing. Lith. vėžant-į still belongs to the unaltered consonantal inflexion.

Lith. dant-į-s 'tooth': Skr. dánt- etc., see p. 398 above. Pruss. dilant-s 'worker'.

§ 127. The Suffix -uent-¹⁾. This Suffix appears in Aryan, Greek and Italic in denominative adjectives; it usually denotes the possession of something, more rarely a resemblance to something.

In the strong cases -uent- = Skr. -vant- Gr. -Fεντ-, and in the weak cases -unt- = Skr. -vat- Gr. -Fατ-*. The latter was displaced by -Fετ- (loc. pl. χαρίσαι = χαρι-Fετ-αι*, fem. χαρίεσσα = χαρι-Fετ-ια*), ε being taken from the cases which had -(F)εvr-. Lat. -ōnsu-s -ōsu-s for -o-unt + to-, a derivative form which also appears in Avestic, see § 79 p. 231 f.

1) See Ebel's (and Bartholomae's) essays mentioned on p. 394 footnote. A. Goebel, De epithetis Homericis in εις, desinentibus, Wien 1858, Schuster, Die homerischen Adjectiva auf -εις, Ztschr. für österr. Gymn. 1859 § 16 ff. O. Schönwerth and C. Weyman, Über die lateinischen Adjectiva auf osus, Archiv für lat. Lexicogr. V 192 ff.

In the proethnic language this suffix seems to have been displaced by -ues- -uos- in a certain number of the cases. We have evidence of this in the proethnic Aryan nom. sing. masc. in -uās* (Avest. -vā, altered in Skr. to -vāṣ -vān, see § 136 Rem. 2), voc. sing. masc. in -uas* (Skr. -vas, Avest. -vō) and the Greek τᾱ-φο*; Hom. τῆος compared with Skr. tā-vant- (see Rem. 1). Observe the similar phenomena in the Aryan -mant- stems (Whitney, Skr. Gr. § 1235): nom. sing. Skr. -māṣ -mān Avest. -mā, voc. Skr. -mas (Avest. -mō*), and notice the Homeric forms τῆ-μο and ῆ-μο (Dor. τᾱμο ᾱμο) (which are probably to be compared with the Aryan stems in -mant-), beside which we have τᾱ-μ in Thessalian; Solmsen (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 77) and Kozlovskij (Archiv f. slav. Phil. X 657 f.) are no doubt right in comparing O.C.Sl. ta-mo 'thither' ja-mo 'whither'.

Idg. Skr. āpa-vant- 'watery', Gr. όνό-εις 'rich in sap'. Skr. viṣā-vant- 'poisonous, poisoned', Lat. vīrōsu-s. Gr. δολό-εις 'crafty': Lat. dolōsu-s. Gr. οἰνό-εις 'made of or with wine', Lat. vinōsu-s 'full of wine' or 'like wine' (sapor, odor).

Remark 1. Further examples of the meaning 'like something' are aestuōsu-s caulāverōsu-s mōnstruōsu-s etc. (Archiv für lat. Lexikogr. V 216 ff.); examples from Aryan are Skr. vṛṣaṇ-vant- 'like a vṛṣaṇ-', īndrasvant- 'like Indra' (the s is due to the analogy of stems in -as-), Avest. draṣṣaka-vant- 'like a small flag, fluttering, undulating' (K. Geldner, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 401). This meaning is specially frequent in the Sanskrit adverbs in -vāt (acc. neut.), such as angiras-vāt 'like angiras' pūrva-vāt 'after the ancient fashion, as of yore', and in the adjectives formed from pronouns such as Skr. tvā-vant- Avest. ḥwā-vant- 'who is of thy nature, like thee', Skr. tā-vant- zītā-vant- Avest. aēta-vant- 'tantus' Skr. yā-vant- Avest. ya-vant- 'quantus', from which we cannot separate Hom. τῆος ῆος Dor. ᾱ; for pr. Gr. τᾱ-φο* ᾱ-φο*.

Aryan. The accent in Sanskrit falls sometimes on the suffix, but oftener on the word to which it is added. Skr. āma-vant- Avest. ama-vant- 'acting with violence, constraining with force, strong', from Skr. āma- Avest. ama- m. 'violence, strength'. Skr. putrá-vant- Avest. puḥra-vant- 'having a son or sons', from putrá- puḥra- m. 'son'. Skr. vastra-vant- 'having a beautiful garment' Avest. vastra-vant- 'provided with clothing', from vāstra-m vastre-m 'garment, vesture'. Skr. agni-vánt-, 'provided with fire', from agnī-ṣ 'fire'. Skr. dhī-vant- 'devout' from dhī-ṣ f. 'devotion', udan-vánt- 'rich in water' from udán- n. 'water', bráhmaṇ-vant- 'accompanied with prayer' from bráhmaṇ- n. 'prayer' (I § 229 p. 195), ṇṣ-vánt- 'rich in men' from nár- m. 'man', marūt-vant- 'accompanied by the Maruts' (marūt-), pad-vánt- 'having feet', from pád- m. 'foot', támas-vant 'dark' from támas- n. 'darkness', nas-vánt- 'with a nose' from nás- f. 'nose'. Avest. gaoma-vant- 'provided with flesh' from gaoma- m. 'flesh', aši-vant- 'holy' from aši-ṣ f. 'holiness', astvant- i. e. astu-vant- (cp. I § 159 p. 143) 'having a body, corporeal' from astu-ṣ m. 'body', *d*biš-vant-* 'hostile, hating' from d*biš-* Skr. dvīṣ- f. 'hate, enmity'. In Old Persian the suffix occurs in the feminine proper name harauvat-ī- = Avest. haraxwait-ī- Skr. sáras-vat-ī (sáras-vant- 'rich in water'); cp. I § 159 p. 143.

We have no certain explanation of the length of the final vowel of the contained stem in Skr. áśva-vant- beside áśva-vant- 'possessing horses' from áśva-, sutá-vant- 'provided with pressed soma' from sutá-, śákti-vant- 'mighty' from śákti-, viṣā-vánt- 'which has or wears different sides, which is in the middle' from viṣu and the like. Cp. mā-vant-, yuṣmā-vant-, tā-vant- in Rem. 1. p. 405 and áśvā-magha-s etc. § 22 p. 38, and also Gr. -ώ-εις -ή-εις in the Greek section.

This suffix was frequently added in Sanskrit to the passive participle in -tá- (§ 79 p. 225 f.), as kṛtá-vant- 'factum habens, having done'. In the course of the Vedic period this was developed into a perf. part. act., which is very common in classical Sanskrit, where it is almost always used as a predicate; e. g. mā na kaścid dṛṣṭavān 'no one has seen me'.

Greek. The F of -Fivr- appears e. g. in Corcyr. inscr. στονόφισσαν = Homer. στονόεσσαν. ἀμπελό-εις 'rich in vines' from ἄμπελο-ς. τιμῇ-εις 'treasured, honoured' (Pamphyl. inscr. τιμᾶ-Feσα) from τιμή. χαρί-εις 'graceful' from χάρι-ς acc. χάρι-v. ύγι-εις 'having growth, blooming' (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 180 ff.). Hom. ἐνρώεις no doubt meaning 'mouldy, musty' from ἐνρός (post-Homerie gen. ἐνρῶ-τ-ος etc.) 'mould'. τελέεις beside τελήεις (see below) 'having fulfilment, fulfilling itself', no doubt for τελεσ-φεντ-*, from τέλος n. κεράεις 'horned' (late) from κέρας. -οεις, proper to the derivatives from o-stems, became an independent suffix: μητι-οεις 'rich in wisdom' from μητις, ιχθυ-οεις 'full of fish' from ιχθυς, ηερ-οεις 'cloudy' from ηέρ, νιφ-οεις 'snowy' from acc. νίφ-α, κλωμακ-οεις 'rocky' from κλιῶμαξ, θυόεις from θύος n.; this is found even where the word is derived from an a-stem: σκιόεις 'shady' from σκιᾶ, μηχανόεις 'fertile in resource' from μηχανή. On the other hand from o-stems we find -ηεις as well as -οεις: μεσηής 'moderate' from μέσος, φοινής 'bloody' from φοινός. The same -ηεις occurs also in θυήεις beside θυόεις, τελήεις 'having fulfilment, fulfilling itself' beside τελέεις, ἐλκήεις 'full of wounds', from ἐλκος n., ῥωπήεις 'overgrown with underwood' from ῥώψ, etc. -ώεις is found in other words besides εὐρώεις; e. g. Hom. κητώεις 'full of hollows' (cp. κητώδης p. 409), ὠτώεις 'eared' (ὠτ-) and in late authors πηλώεις 'loamy, muddy' (πηλός), δενδρώεις 'wooded' (δένδρον).

Remark 2. It cannot be established that Φλειάσιο- contains the α of the -φατ- (see p. 404) which we must assume as the weak form of the suffix (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 591). See Wackernagel ibid. XXVIII 130 f.

Italic. It is found only in the Latin compound suffix -ōnsu-s ōsu-s, where the termination of forms containing o-stems became regular in all words. The suffix of Avest. ašavasta- from aša-vant- is exactly parallel; see p. 404 above. verbōsu-s from verbu-m, officiōsu-s from officiu-m; fāmōsu-s from fāma, silvōsu-s from silva; piscōsu-s from pisci-s; aestuōsu-s from aestū-s; crīmīnōsu-s from crīmen; nivōsu-s from nix, like Gr. νιφ-οεις.

VIII. The Suffix -d- (-ad-).

§ 128. In Sanskrit -ad- occurs a few times, in Greek -αδ- and -ιδ- are found more frequently, in Latin there are a certain number of examples of -d- with a preceding vowel, and in Germanic we have denominative verbs in -at-jan, which seem to correspond to the Greek verbs in -αζειν (-ζ- = -δ-). Side by side with these forms in Greek, Italic, Germanic and Balto-

Slavonic we find other suffixes having d for their distinguishing consonant which appear to be connected with them (-do- may be related to -d- as -to- to -t-). Thus we may be justified in regarding this suffix as proethnic, although there are perhaps only two examples in which -d- appears in more than one branch of language: O.H.G. gramizzōn A.S. zremettan: Gr. χρόμαδο-ς, and O.H.G. albig O.Icel. alpt: O.C.Sl. lebedŭ.

Remark. We must not disregard the possibility that the -d- of this suffix may have come from -t- in the proethnic period, and that not only in the cases with bh-suffixes, such as Skr. दृष्टीद-bhiṣ. See I § 469, 7 p. 346, and cp. II § 130 Remark.

Aryan. There are only three certain instances, all in Sanskrit. दृशád- f. 'rock, great stone, millstone', bhasád- f. 'back parts, pudenda muliebria', śarád- f. 'autumn'. Add vanád-, a doubtful word found in the Rig-Veda, meaning perhaps 'desire'.

Greek. Adjectives and (feminine) Substantives in -ad-: φυγάς 'fleeing', μηγάς 'mixed', μαινάς 'raving', μηκάς 'bleating', τοκάς 'bearing, bringing forth', νομάς 'pasturing', γυμνάς 'naked, stripped for gymnastics, practised', τεφράς 'ash-coloured', χοιράς 'rising up, jutting out', νιφάς 'snow-flake', σιπλάς 'reef', ἰλλάς 'cord, rope', χολάδ-ες 'entrails, intestines', λαμπάς 'torch', πηγάς 'rime, frozen earth', γενειάς 'beard, hair of the beard', πελειάς 'wild dove'. Stems ending in -id- (fem.), the i of which in many words certainly comes from the i-stems: ἔριδ- (ἔριδ-ος etc.) 'strife' beside acc. ἔρι-ν, κάλπιδ- 'jug, vessel' (κάλπιδ-ος etc.) beside acc. κάλπι-ν, ἱρι-ς 'rainbow', ἀνίς 'place for passing the night', αἰγίς 'stormcloud, shield of the gods', ἀσπίς 'shield', γλῦφίς 'notch in the shaft of an arrow', κερκίς 'weaver's comb', ἀκρίς 'locust', ἐπιγουνίς 'upper part of the thigh'. Connected with these δ-formations, and undoubtedly in great part derived from them, are a variety of elements of the nature of suffixes containing -d-. Examples are χρόμαδο-ς (mentioned above), to which κέλαδο-ς 'noise, tumult' is parallel; κόρυδο-ς 'tufted lark', which in its formation comes very close to the cognate Germ. word cherut*- 'stag' (Danielsson, Gramm. und etymol. Stud. I 31); patronymics like Ἀκτορίδης m. from Ἀκτορίς f.; adjectives in -ώδης such as κητώδης 'like a sea-monster' (for the ω cp. κητώεις), which have been incorrectly classed with the adjectives in *-ειδής*¹⁾; and the numerous verbs in -άζω and -ίζω with a characteristic dental which were derived from these δ-nouns, such as δικάζω, νομίζω.

Italic. There are a few examples in -id-, no doubt with Idg. i: Lat. capis (-id-is) f., Umbr. kapiře 'capide', Osc. καπιδιτωμ i. e. capid-i-to-m 'ollarium'; Lat. cassis f., cuspis f., lapis m. Add pecus (-ud-is) f., herēs (-ēd-is) m. f., mercēs f., palūs (-ūd-is) f. Here too are found a variety of formative elements connected with this d-suffix: as in or-dō -din-is (beside or-d-ior), cp. Gr. μελεδών μελεδαίνω, capēdō frīgēdō rubēdō, cp. Gr. ἀχθηδών, χαιρηδών. The -do- of such adjectives as imbridu-s lūcidu-s however cannot be classed here, if they were originally compounds with dō- 'give' (as Skr. jala-da-s 'giving water' artha-da-s 'bringing benefit, generous') (Corssen, Krit. Beitr. 97 ff., Osthoff, Verb. in der Nominalcomp. 121 ff.; see also the evidence given by Thurneysen in his essay, Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -io, 1879, p. 13).

Old Irish. On account of the coincidence of t and d in unaccented syllables it is hard to say what Irish forms belong to this section. Yet it is clearly established that the adjectival suffix -de = -dio-*, e. g. conde 'caninus' talmande 'terrestris', contains an original -d-, not -t-.

Germanic. The verbs in -at-jan should be first mentioned, as Goth. lauhatjan O.H.G. lohazzen 'to shine like lightning' lougazzen 'to burn like fire', Goth. káupatjan 'to box the ears, cuff' (pret. káupasta), svōgatjan 'to sigh', O.H.G. blecchezzen 'to flash', roffezzen 'eructare', snepfezzēn 'to sob'. The following words may also be referred to old d-stems: O.H.G. gremizzi 'provoked' beside gramizzōn gremizzōn, einazzi, dat. pl. einazzēm 'singulativ'; O.H.G. albiȝ m. O.Icel. álpt f. 'swan' (the Icelandic word still keeps the consonantal declension, see Noreen, Alt. Gramm. I § 327. 328): O.C.Sl. lebedĩ 'swan', O.H.G. hiruz A.S. heorot 'stag' (cp. E. Brate, Bezenb. Beitr. XI 184 f.); Goth. stiviti n. 'patience', O.H.G. fiscizzi 'fishery, fishing' and several other similar forms (von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 111 ff.).

Balto-Slavonic. There are no examples with -d-, only -do- -di- and the like; and it must be remembered that Balto-Slavonic d may also be referred to Idg. dh. Lith. pa-klōda-s pa-klōdē 'cloth for spreading underneath' from pa-klōti 'to spread out', and other examples. O.C.Sl. vražīda 'enmity', krivīda 'wrong', and other examples. d = pre-Balt.Slav. d seems to be certain only in lebedĩ 'swan' (see above).

IX. The Suffix -k- and -q-.

§ 129. In § 83—89 we assumed that a certain number of Greek, Italic, and Old Irish words in -k- had formerly been -ko- or -qo- stems, e. g. Gr. ἀλώπηξ (Skr. lōpāśā-s), ὄρνις (Skr. vartaka-s), μεῖραξ (Skr. maryakū-s) νεᾶξ (O.C.Sl. novakū), Lat. senex (Skr. sanakā-s), vertex, filix, bibax, O.Ir. aire (Skr. aryaka-s). In these cases it is sometimes certain and sometimes very probable that there has been an attraction from the o-declension to the consonantal; but we find in the same languages other similar stems in -k- which cannot be explained with any degree of probability as derived from an original -ko- or -qo-. For Greek and Italic the reader may be referred to Leo Meyer's Vergl. Gramm. II 409 ff., 508 ff. In Old Irish, examples of this kind are nathir, gen. nathrach, 'water-snake', lair 'mare', fal 'hedge' (Zeuss-Ebel Gr. C. 805 ff., Wh. Stokes, Bezenberger's Beitr. XI 84 ff. 155). In Aryan there is only one doubtful relic of these forms: vīpāś- f. beside vīpāśā- f. name of a river, which is referred to vēpatē 'is in trembling, whirling motion'.

This being the case, it may be assumed that -k- -q- once existed as suffixes parallel to -ko- -qo-, bearing much the same relation to them as -t- to -to-. And further the transition of such classes of forms as ἀλώπηξ, ὄρνις, senex, aire to the consonantal inflexion may have been aided by the influence of such original k-stems.

X. The Suffix -g- (and -ġ-?)

§ 130. We find suffixes in -g in Aryan and Greek; but not one of the words containing them appears in both simultaneously. Thus it is not safe to assume this suffix for the parent language.

Remark. We must not overlook the possibility that -g- may have come from -k- in the proethnic period, and that not only in the cases with bh-suffixes such as Skr. uśīg-bhiṣ. See I § 469, 7 p. 346. In the case of Gr. λάραγ- (λάραξ) 'drop, dregs': Lat. latic- (latex) it may be assumed that the Greek word originally had k, and passed over to the ordinary inflexion of g-stems simply through the influence of the form of the nom. sing. and of the loc. pl. (-αξ -αξι) (cp. gen. δερυγ-ος § 86 p. 258 and gen. δεκάδ-ος § 123 p. 392); and many other instances are doubtful for the same reason. Cp. § 128 Rem. p. 408.

Aryan. Skr. sanāj- 'old' (beside sanaká-s), dhr̥śāj- 'bold', tṛ̥śnāj- 'thirsty' (beside tṛ̥śnā- 'thirst'), uśīj- 'longing, desirous', vanīj- 'merchant', bhurīj- 'arm'. Forms like instr. pl. uśīg-bhīṣ point to -j- = Idg. -g-.

Greek. ῥοπαξ, gen. ῥοπαγ-ος 'robbing, rapacious', whence ῥοπάζω (the a of Lat. rapāc- shews that it is quite a different word). φάρυξ (-vγ-) 'throat, gullet'. πτέρυξ (-vγ-) 'wing, pinion'. μάστιξ (-τγ-) 'scourge, lash'. The parallel forms -αγγ- γγ- -ιγγ- are more frequent; these may possibly have arisen from an original formation in which a nasal followed the γ-suffix (cp. I § 221 p. 188 ff.), c. g. φάλαγξ 'phalanx', φάραγξ 'steep rock, gorge', λάρυγξ 'larynx' (similarly φάρυγξ is found later for φάρυξ), στόρυγξ 'tooth, prong, point', σάλπιγξ 'trumpet', σμιῶδιγξ 'weal, swelling'.

XI. Suffixes in *-s*¹).

§ 131. The Suffix -es-²). The nouns formed with this suffix in the parent language were partly neuter substantives (generally abstract), with which were associated adjectives like Skr. yaśás- 'glorious, majestic' Gr. ψευδής 'deceitful', and partly masculine or feminine substantives, e. g. nom. Skr. uśás Gr. ἠώς 'dawn'. These two groups bear very much the same relation to one another as the group of neuter and the group of masculine and feminine *-men-*stems, e. g. Gr. χῆμα : χέι-μῶν § 117 p. 365 ff.; we sometimes find *-es-*stems, as we found *-men-*stems, which seem to have had both forms of inflexion from the earliest times; e. g. Skr. tápas- n. 'warmth': Lat. tepor m., Lat. tenus n. Gr. τέρος n. 'bond': Lat. tenor m. At the time of the separation of the languages the neuter forms greatly preponderated. We may begin with these, and the vowel-gradation of the stems will be separately discussed under each of the two classes.

§ 132. 1. Neuter Substantives in -es- and the adjectives connected with them.

From the proethnic period onwards -es- is regular in all cases of the substantives except the nom. sing., which had -os, and in the adjectives also except in the nom. sing., whose ending in the masc. was -ēs, in the neut. -es. The vocalism of the root-syllable is almost without exception that of the strong grade (the e-grade in the e-series), and takes the accent in substantives, while in adjectives it falls on the formative suffix. E. g. Gr. ψεῦδος gen. ψεύδους etc. μένος gen. μένους etc. beside ψευδής ψευδές gen. ψευδέος etc. δυσ-μενής -μενής gen. -μενέος etc.

This double system of declension in the substantives and adjectives was no doubt developed out of a single one. The abstract substantive, denoting a quality, when it was used simply for the owner of that quality, formed a nom. sing. with the mark of masculine or feminine gender in the same way as nouns like Gr. ποι-μὴν πα-τήρ; so also, with a similar indication of gender, an acc. sing. -és-η, nom. pl. -és-es; and the different accent connected with the new meaning caused a differentiation of accent in the other cases corresponding to the new function of the word. There is evidence however that amongst the cases of the neuter substantive there once were also forms with -és-; this is shewn by the datives like Skr. dōhás-ē 'to milk', which are used as infinitives. There must also have been cases where the suffix was simply -s- (the weak-grade form), namely, those in which the case-suffix bore the accent: compare Skr. śīrṣ-ā-m 'head' Gr. κόρον 'temple, forehead' beside Skr. śīras 'head' (I § 306 p. 242), Skr. ś-s-a-s ś-s-a-m Gr. ὤμος for ὠμ-σ-ο-ς* Goth. am-s-a m. 'shoulder' beside Lat. um-er-u-s, Skr. vats-ā-s 'year, calf' beside Gr. φέρος n. 'year', Skr. ōṣa-dhī- f. 'medicinal herb' for aṣ-s-a-* beside āvas 'help, comfort', man-dhātār- 'thoughtful, devout person' for manz-dhātār-* beside mānas 'thought', Lith. tams-à beside Skr. tāmas 'darkness', Lat. farr- for fars-* beside Goth. bariz-ein-s 'of barley' (I § 571 p. 429) and many similar examples (The Author, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 10 f., J. Schmidt, ibid. XXV 26, Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 192)¹⁾. Finally we must observe the frequency of the instances in which the root-syllable shows the weak grade; e. g. Skr. śīr-as beside Lat. cerebru-m for ceres-ro-m* Gr. λίπος 'fat' beside Skr. rēpas 'spot, stain', Gr. πάθος beside πίνθος, Gr. ἄγος 'guilt' beside Skr. āgas 'sin', Goth. ga-digis 'structure, work' beside Gr. τείχος 'wall', Gr. πύος 'pus', Skr. duv-ās- 'eagerly striving' and the like (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 182 f.). We may then reconstruct the paradigm of these neuters as follows: nom. acc. kér-os* 'head', gen. kṛ-s-és (or -ós), dat. kṛ-s-ái*, loc. kṛr-és -és-i*; nom. acc. d-gos* 'sin, guilt' (Skr. āgas), gen. aq-s-és* (or -ós), dat. aq-s-ái*, loc. ag-és -és-i* (cp. Gr. ἄγος ἄγτος). The dat. -és-ai* (cp. Skr. inf. bhiy-ās-ē jiv-ās-ē etc.) was then formed on the model of the loc. -és -és-i. In most instances however, and even in the parent language, the nom. acc. (kéros*) gave the type for the position of the accent and the form of the root in all the cases. With regard to the adjectives we must further observe that the accentuation of the final syllable of the stem was original in compounds also: Gr. ἀν-αγής 'innocent, pure' δυσ-μενής 'ill-disposed', Skr. an-agās 'sinless' (beside án-agās) a-rēpās 'spotless' su-pīvās 'very fat' etc. Along with these there are other words which have the later accentuation, Gr. οὐρανο-μήκης 'heaven-high' μεγα-κήτης 'monstrously great' Skr. su-mānds 'well-disposed' dur-vāsas 'ill dressed', with other examples.

Indo-Germanic. *kléu-os: Skr. śráv-as Gr. κλέφος κλέος 'fame, glory', O.C.Sl. slovo 'word'. *gén-os 'race, family': Skr. jānas Gr. γένος Lat. genus. Gr. στέγος τέγος 'roof, house', O.Ir. tech leg 'house'. *séd-os 'seat': Skr. sadas Gr. ἔδος O.Icel. setr (gen. setrs). *rég-os: Skr. rájas 'darkness, dust', (Armen. erek 'evening') Gr. ἔρεβος Goth. rigis (gen. rigizis) 'darkness'. *nébh-os 'clouds, atmosphere': Skr. nábhas, Gr. νέφος, Lith. debes-ì-s (d- instead of n- is difficult to explain; perhaps it is due to the influence of dangù-s 'heaven', Holthausen in Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 590) O.C.Sl. nebo. *uēid-os: Skr. vēdas 'knowledge', Gr. εἶδος 'form, idea'; add perhaps (with the weak form of the stem) *uīts-, ἴσο-ς Cret. φίσφο-ς 'like'; see § 64 p. 135. Gr. ἄγ-ος 'awe', Skr. yaj-ās- 'honouring', √ iag-. Skr. ándh-as 'plant', Gr. ἄνθ-ος 'bloom'. Skr. dās-as 'glorious deed' Gr. pl. δήνεια 'counsels, wiles', common ground-form *dāns-os. Skr. édh-as 'wood for burning', Gr. αἶθ-ος 'brand'. Skr. ój-as 'strength' Gr. ἐρι-αυγής (late) 'very bright' and *ύγής 'strong, sound' in ύγεία ύγεινός 'Υγεινο-ς, Lat. augus-tu-s. Skr. āp-as āp-as 'work, religious practice', Lat. op-us.

The dative and the locative of nomina actionis served also as infinitives, a usage which is doubtless proethnic. In Vedic infinitives in -as-ē the formative suffix usually bore the accent; this must be due to an early isolation of meaning. Skr. jivās-ē (dat.) 'to live' Lat. vīver-e (loc.).

In several languages -es- sometimes appears in close connexion with other formative elements, which precede it; as in Lat. pīg-nus. These formations existed in the parent language; indeed they were so well established that the compound suffix had the appearance of a primary formation (cp. Skr. kṛ-t-ya-and the like, § 123 p. 391). Skr. pī-v-as Gr. πί-(f)-ος n. 'fat'. In the word mē-n-os* n. (or nom. mē-n-ōs* m., § 133) dat. mē-n-s-ái* loc. mē-n-és-és-i* from $\sqrt{mē}$ 'measure', the mē-n-s-* form of the stem prevailed through all the cases, producing the masc. Gr. μήν gen. μηρός Lesb. μηρν-ος, Lat. mēns-i-s gen. pl. mēns-um, O.Ir. mī gen. mīs 'month'; in Lithuanian mē-n-es-* still survives in the gen. mėnes-io etc.¹⁾ The Aryan mās- and the Old Church Slavonic mēs-ecŭ, which J. Schmidt explains as coming from an Idg. nom. sing. mēs* for mēns* (see I § 220 p. 188), may have been formed directly from the root; see § 134, 1. loiḡ-nōs* 'remainder, what is left over' from $\sqrt{leiḡ}$ 'leave': Skr. rēk-ḡas 'riches' (bequest), O.H.G. lēhan n. O.Icel. lān n. 'loan'.

Of the simple adjectives no example is found in more than one language simultaneously in its adjectival function; e. g. Skr. mahās- 'great' beside máhas- n. 'greatness', yaśás- 'glorious' beside yáśas- n. 'glory', Gr. ψυδής, σαφής. On the other hand several adjectives are so found in composition. Skr. dur-manas- 'ill-humoured' Gr. δυσ-μενής 'ill-disposed', Skr. ny-mānas- 'having a man's mind' Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης, from mén-os* n. Avest. dēuš-r-savah- Gr. δυσ-κλής 'of ill report', from klēx-os* n. Skr. puru-dāsus- 'rich in wondrous deeds', Gr. πολυ-δύναα πολύβουλον, πολύμητιν (Hesych.), from dāns-os* n.

Aryan. Neuters. Skr. śráv-as 'fame glory', Avest. srav-ō 'word, prayer, glory, honour' (with ca 'and' it has the form sravas-ca): Gr. κλῆος etc.; see above, p. 414. Skr. jráy-as 'level, tract', Avest. zray-ō O.Pers. dray-a 'sea'. Skr. nām-as 'obeisance, reverence', Avest. nem-ō 'prayer, invocation' (cp. O.Ir. nem 'heaven' p. 419), $\sqrt{nem-}$. Skr. mán-as Avest. man-ō 'thought': Gr. μῆν-ος 'courage, anger', Lat. Miner-va (I § 569 p. 426). Skr. vác-as Avest. vac-ō 'word, speech': Gr. ῥῆπ-ος ἔπ-ος 'word, speech' $\sqrt{meg}$. Skr. sáh-as Avest. haz-ō 'might': Goth. sig-is (a-stem), 'victory', $\sqrt{seḡh-}$. Skr. práth-as Avest. fraṣ-ō 'extent, breadth': Gr. πλάτ-ος 'extent, breadth' (the root in the weak grade, as in πλατ-ύ-ς), O.Ir. leth 'side'. Avest. raoc-ō

1) Another and less probable explanation of this word has been mentioned in vol. I § 221 p. 189 f.

'light, clearness, brightness' O.Pers. rauc-a 'day', Skr. sva-rōcas 'shining of itself', √ leuq-. Skr. ōj-as Avest. aoj-ō 'strength': Gr. ἐπι-αυγής etc.; see above, p. 414. Avest. tac-ō 'course', drāj-ō 'length', haēc-ō 'dryness'.

Examples of the dative used as an infinitive; pr. Ar. -as-ai*. Skr. Ved. dōhāsē 'to milk' (dōh-as n. milking), bhārasē 'to bear', spārasē 'to obtain'. Avest. avanhē 'to help' (av-ō n. 'help, protection') and by an extended analogy vaocanhē inf. to the indic. aor. vaoc-a-p from vac- 'to speak', srāvayanhē inf. to the indic. srāv-ayeiti caus. 'causes to hear, announces'.

Ar. -n-as, -t-as. Skr. rēk-ṇas 'riches', Avest. raex-nō ('gladness'?), see above p. 415. Skr. ē-nas 'oppression, wickedness, sin', Avest. aē-nō 'enmity, hate, vengeance'. Skr. āp-nas 'possession', ār-ṇas 'wave'. Avest. zaē-nō 'readiness, watchfulness, guard', xwar-nō 'brightness, glory', raf-nō 'joy, happiness'. Skr. drāvīṇas 'property'. Ar. -u-as is found in Skr. pīvas, see p. 415.

In Adjectives. Skr. tarās- 'eagerly striving' beside tāras 'eager striving', apās- 'active' beside āpas 'work', rakṣās- 'injuring, injurer' beside rākṣas 'injury', tavās- 'strong'. proper name, ground-form uedh + tes-*, $\sqrt{uedh}$ - 'lead', Skr. su-mēdhās- 'intelligent', ground-form mūdh + tes-*, see I § 482 p. 356.

Armenian. Here the es-stems have been lost. A part of them became o-stems, as sar, gen. saroy, 'height, peak, declivity': Skr. śiras- Avest. sarah- 'head', common ground-form k̑r-es*.

Greek. πέος 'membrum virile' for πεσ-ος*: Skr. pás-as the same. φέτ-ος ἔτ-ος 'year': Lat. vetus (originally a subst.), Skr. vats-á-, see p. 413 above. θέτ-ος 'heat, summer': Skr. hár-as 'glow, heat'. τέν-ος 'sinew, bond': Skr. tán-as 'offspring', Lat. ten-us. ζεύγ-ος 'yoke': Lat. jūgera jūgeribus, cp. also Mid.H.G. jiuch n. Lat. modes-tu-s p. 418, O.H.G. fahs p. 420. μῆκ-ος 'length'. ἡδ-ος 'pleasure'. αἶθ-ος 'brand': Skr. édh-as, see p. 414 above. ἄγκ-ος 'valley, ravine': Skr. āṅk-as 'bend, curve'. σάκ-ος 'shield'. ψυχ-ος 'cold'. κῦδ-ος 'glory'. ὀίγ-ος 'frost': Lat. frīg-us.

πίος 'fat' for πιτ-ος*: Skr. pīvas, see above, p. 415. ἔϊρος 'wool' for φετ-ος*, cp. Lat. vervex ('laniger'). ἔρ-νος 'sprout, twig'. ἔθ-νος 'multitude, race'. γλῆ-νος 'show, marvel'. δά-νος 'gift, loan', $\sqrt{dō}$ - (cp. § 66 p. 142 f.). τέμενος 'piece of land'. πάχετος 'thickness'. ἔδαφος 'ground, foundation'. κάλλος 'beauty'.

ψευδής 'deceitful, lying' beside ψεῦδος. σαφής 'clear, plain'. ἀσθενής 'weak' beside σθένος. εὖ-μενής 'well-disposed' beside μίνος. ἄπειθής 'unaware, uninvestigated': Avest. baodah- n. 'consciousness, knowledge'. ἀληθής 'unconcealed, true' beside Dor. λᾶθος 'forgetfulness'. δυσ-χερής 'hard to deal with': Skr. háras 'grip'; we should also add χείρ 'hand' if Wackernagel is right in referring χειρ- to χερσ-* (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 131 ff.); the gen. χερσ-ός* would then be explained in the same way as Lat. farr- p. 413. — πλή-ρης 'full' side by side with πλη-ρόω 'I fill' Lat. plē-ru-s.

Italic. Lat. op-os op-us op-er-is, op-er-a, Umbr. ose 'opere' osatu 'operato', Osc. úpsannam 'operandam' (I § 633 p. 474): Skr. áp-as áp-as, see above p. 414. Lat. vet-us vet-er-is ('agedness, or being stricken in years; old creature', hence as an adj.) 'old', vetus-tu-s, Osc. Vezkeí dat., name of a god, Vetusco*' (cp. vetusculu-s): Gr. φέρ-ος. Pr. Ital. med-os* 'measure' (Gr. μέδ-μυο-ς, Goth. mit-an): Lat. modes-tu-s moder-ārī (the o instead of e is due to mod-u-s), Umbr. meř-s mers 'ius, fas' for med(o)s*, the o being lost by syncope, see I § 633 p. 474. Umbr. vas 'vitium' for vak(o)s*, beside Lat. vacāre. Lat. aes, gen. aer-is, which can hardly stand for aĭ-es-, but for aĭs-, the weak form of the stem¹) (the nom. acc. aes instead of orig. a(ĭ)-os* was formed on the analogy of the other cases), aēnus Umbr. aħesnes 'aēnis' for aĭes-no-* (I § 134 p. 121): Skr. áy-as 'metal, iron', Goth. áis (gen. áizis) 'ore, money'.

Lat. nem-us (-or-): Gr. νέμ-ος 'place of pasture'. dec-us (-or-): Skr. daśas-yá-ti 'he honours, is at the service of, is obliging'. Ven-us (-er-), originally n. 'love's enticement': Skr. ván-as- 'charm, sweetness'. scel-us (-er-). temp-us (-or-). terg-us (-or-): Gr. τέρερ-ος τέρερ-ος 'leather, skin', esp. 'the hard hide on an animal's back', corp-us (-or-). pondus and foedus, like modes-tu-s, have exchanged their e for o (pend-os* feid-os*, the latter still appearing in fīdus-tu-s), through the influence of parallel stems in -o- (abl. pondō), cp. Gr. ὄχος above, p. 417, O.H.G. fahs p. 420.

Lat. infin. in -er-e for es-i* (loc.), as vivere (Skr. jīvās-ē), agere, minuere; ferre velle esse are discussed in § 162. fieri is a new formation for (O.Lat.) fiere, modelled on agī, sequī, see ib.

vol-nus, mā-nus, fū-nus, pīg-nus, facinus; mi-nus must also be classed here; see § 135. pectus.

The vowel-gradation which belonged to the -es-suffix in the pre-Italic period (preserved e. g. in gen-us -er-is) was superseded in many words in favour of the form -os- which prevailed over the other forms. This is seen in tempus -oris etc.; yet we have also -es- in the adverb temper-ī, tempes-tu-s, and temper-are. Similarly we have penus -oris etc., whilst the loc. sing. penes (cp. αἰές), which had become a preposition (or postposition), retained the form -es-. -os- is also found in derivatives, e. g. rōbus-tu-s (gen. rōbor-is) onus-tu-s (gen. oner-is), corpus-culu-m (gen. corpor-is) opus-culu-m (gen. oper-is) cp. O.C.Sl. -os-ŕi p. 422.

Adj. pūbēs and pūber, gen. pūberis. Further dē-gener, bi-corpor, both of them probably fairly modern formations having no direct connexion with the original Indo-Germanic type. Similarly the use of vetus (also veter) as an adjective was of recent date; cp. vetus-tu-s like onus-tu-s, veter-ātu-s like sceler-ātu-s. Here we have a repetition of the process by which adjectives of this kind were formed in the original language.

Old Irish. tech teg, gen. tige, 'house': Gr. στέγ-ος τέγ-ος 'roof, house'. nem 'heaven', which we may either compare at once with Skr. nám-as 'obeisance, reverence', so that the original sense was 'object of reverence', or suppose to stand for neb-os* = Skr. nábh-as O.C.Sl. neb-o, its form having been influenced by words containing the $\sqrt{\text{nem-}}$ like Gall. νεμετρον Ir. nemed 'sacred thing or place'. leth 'side': Skr. práthas etc., see above p. 415. au ō (Mid.Ir.), gen. aue, 'ear': O.C.Sl. ucho 'ear'; should we add Gr. οὐς Dor. ὠς 'ear'? (see § 114 p. 347). mag 'level tract of country', Gall. Οὐινδό-μαγος = O.Ir. Find-mag. lōg luach 'price, hire'.

With -nes-: dū-n 'stronghold'; even as early as in Gallic we have Αουγυ-δουνος beside Αουγυου-δουνον. glū-n 'knee'.

In Germanic the old inflexion suffered great changes.

The transference of these nouns to the o-declension, which appears so frequently in Gothic and Norse, seems to have taken place in protoethnic Germanic, and to have been partly due to the analogy of forms like Skr. vats-á- (beside Gr. φέτος), p. 413. Goth. áis (gen. áizis) O.H.G. ēr n. 'ore' pr. Germ. aiz-a-* (Goth. áiza-smiþa O.H.G. ēr-smid, § 40 p. 73): Skr. áy-as etc., see p. 418 above. O.H.G. lefs m. 'lip' beside A. S. lippa m. 'lip' (cp. I § 337 p. 267 f.) for pre-Germ. lebes-* leps-*. Goth. ahs

(gen. ahsis) O.Icel. ax n. O.H.G. ahir ehir n. 'ear of corn': Lat. ac-us. O.H.G. fahs O.Icel. fax m. 'hair', no doubt due to contamination of a form pek-os* n. with pok-o-s* m. (Gr. νόχο-ς) (cp. Gr. ῥχος p. 417, Lat. modestu-s p. 418). Goth. veihs (gen. veihsis) n. 'borough, vicus': cp. Skr. vēśās- m. 'neighbour, vassal'. Goth. þeihs (gen. þeihsis) n. 'time' beside þeihan 'to thrive, grow', ✓ tereq- (I § 214 p. 181); it is usual to compare Lat. tempus, but I cannot think it proved that Lat. p is ever = Idg. q. Goth. þlahs-jan 'to fear', a denominative: Lat. locusta for ilocus-ta* (Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 412 f.). Goth. rimis (gen. -isis) n. 'rest', ✓ rem-. Goth. agis (gen. -isis) n. 'fear', O.H.G. egis-līh 'terrible' egis-o m. (A.S. eges-a m.) 'fear' egisōn 'to terrify': Gr. ἄχ-ος 'pain at heart, grief'. Goth. sigis n. O.Icel. sigr (gen. sigrs) m. A.S. sigor m. 'victory' O.H.G. sigir-ōn 'to conquer', Goth. sigis-láun § 40 p. 73: Skr. sáhas; see above, p. 415. Goth. hatis (gen. -izis) n. O.Icel. hatr n. 'hate', Goth. hatizōn 'to hate'. Goth. riqis (gen. -izis) n. O.Icel. røkkr n. 'darkness': Skr. rájas etc., see above p. 414. Goth. ga-digis n. 'building, work': Gr. τεῖχ-ος 'wall', with vowel-gradation in the root-syllable (p. 413). Goth. bariz-ein-s adj. 'of barley' O.Icel. barr n. 'barley': Lat. farr- for far-s-*; see above, p. 413. Goth. skapis n. 'harm', O.Icel. setr (gen. setrs) n. 'seat': Skr. sád-as etc., see p. 414 above.

No satisfactory explanation has been given of the variation between -s- and -z-, as Goth. gen. agis-is beside riqiz-is, Goth. valbis-ōn 'to roll oneself, wallow' O.H.G. egis-ōn beside Goth. hatiz-ōn O.H.G. sigir-ōn.

REMARK 1. Possibly it may be connected with the fact that in certain isolated uses some of the cases retained -es-, e. g. in the Skr. inf. in -ds-ē (p. 413). Furthermore side by side with the neuter substantives there may have been adjectives with the accent upon the formative suffix, say azēs-* 'fearing' beside āges-* 'fear', like Gr. φειδής beside φειδος, and the -s- may have been taken from them; compare further § 133 Rem. p. 424. Lastly in certain instances where the word was used as the first member of compound, -s- may have remained regularly voiceless even when the suffix -es- was unaccented. See von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 55.

In West-Germanic we find beside this another entirely different modification of the original declension, due to the syncope in final syllables. After a long root-syllable, the nom. acc. -oz was dropped (I § 661, 2 p. 517). This loss coupled with the influence of the o-declension, first established a paradigm such as O.H.G. sing. nom. acc. kalb (calf) gen. kalbires dat. kalbire, pl. nom. acc. kalbir gen. kalbiro dat. kalbirum. Then in the gen. dat. sing. -ir- was dropped, kalbes kalbe being formed on the analogy of wortes worte from nom. wort; hence -ir- naturally became the mark of the plural, especially in the nom. and acc. which had no other distinguishing sign. (A more remote consequence was that -ir-, Mid.H.G. Mod.H.G. -er-, was used for the sign of the plural in a multitude of words with which it had originally no connexion whatever). In the oldest period of West-Germanic this style of inflexion (kalb gen. kalbes, pl. kalbir) is commonest in animal names; cp. besides kalb e. g. O.H.G. lamb (A.S. lomb) 'lamb', and outside of this category ei 'egg' pl. eigir (A.S. ǣg pl. ǣzru), rīs 'sprout, twig', and other forms. Compare the use of these words as the initial members of compounds, § 40 p. 73. Other words however, through the same phonetic change in the form of the nom. acc. sing., entirely lost their ir-inflexion, e. g. O.H.G. mast n. 'mast, food, fattening': Skr. méd-as n. 'fat' (I § 591 p. 447 f.).

Remark 2. Certain substantives which follow the i- and the u-declension have also been regarded as representing original -es-stems; as O.H.G. sigi A.S. size m. 'victory', O.Sax. heti A.S. hete m. 'hate' A.S. ege m. 'fear', A.S. sife n. 'sieve' and O.H.G. sigu sigo m. = sigi, situ sito m. 'custom' (Gr. ἵθος). The nom. sigi is said to stand for siziz*, -os -az having been replaced by -es -iz because of the other cases, and the analogy of the m. f. i-stems having then come into play. This transference must have been complete before the beginning of the Christian era; for the i-stem appears in Strabo's Σηλ-μηρος (cp. Segi-mēru-s Segi-mundu-s in Tacitus, O.H.G. sigi-nomo). But I can see no satisfactory reason for the displacement of -az by -iz in these words and these only, and it seems more reasonable to assume that they are original i-stems; in fact we have such parallel forms as Skr. van-i-ś beside ván-as. It is perhaps less improbable that -os under certain conditions should have become -uz in proethnic Germanic, whence the form sigu (cp. O.H.G. angust § 101 p. 307); see Paul in his and Braune's Beitr. VI 187, and Bremer ibid. XI 3, who remarks: 'I see in -uz the representative of an Idg. sonant s (z), a subject which I hope to discuss in a systematic form at some future time'.

-nes- -tes-: O.H.G. lēhan n. 'loan', see above p. 415; A.S. hrō-ðor n. beside hrē-ð (m.?) 'glory'. Cp. also A.S. hæl O.Icel. heill n. 'favourable omen, happiness' for hailiz-* beside the adj. Goth. hái-l-s 'healthy' (§ 76 p. 206), A.S. hlæw n. 'grave-mound' for hlaiwiz-* beside Goth. hlái-v 'grave-mound' ground-form klōi-uo-* (§ 64 p. 137) and the like.

Adjectives like Gr. ψευδής δυσ-μενής do not seem to occur. It is a question whether they can be inferred from the appearance of -s- side by side with -z- in the oblique cases of the substantives and in derivatives. See Rem. 1 p. 420 above. O.H.G. mast 'mast, food' has also a secondary use as adj. 'fattened'.

Balto-Slavonic. Here we find only Substantives. In Lithuanian they have become masc. or fem. i- or io- stems: -es-i- and -es-ia-.

Lith. debes-i-s m. and f. 'cloud' (but we have the consonantal stem preserved in the gen. pl. debes-ū) O.C.Sl. nebo 'heaven': Skr. nābh-as etc.; see above, p. 414.

Lith. ėdes-i-s, gen. -io, m. 'food (for animals)': cp. Lat. eder-e. kalbes-i-s, gen. -io, m. 'phrase, proverb', beside which we have kalbes-ė f. 'speech'. Gen. mėnes-io and mėnes-ės 'of a month'; see above, p. 415. The original -es- is also seen in kalbes-ni-s 'talk', mōkes-ti-s 'payment' and the like: see § 101 p. 307.

O.C.Sl. slov-o 'word': Skr. śrāv-as etc., see above p. 414. uch-o 'ear': Mid.Ir. au; see above, p. 419. ok-o 'eye'. tělo 'body'. Gen. ličes-e 'of the face'; the nom. sing. liko*, is wanting, its place being taken by lice. In consequence of their similar termination in the nom. acc. sing. es- stems were often inflected like neuter o- stems; e. g. gen. slova instead of sloves-e. On the other hand some of the Slavonic es- stems were perhaps o- stems originally, and became es- stems only because of this same similarity of form, e. g. drěv-o 'tree', dělo 'work'. The suffix -os- is no doubt also to be traced in abstract nouns like qzos-ti 'strait', cp. Lat. angus-tu-s; see § 101 p. 307.

§ 133. 2. Substantives, masculine and feminine, with the suffix in the form -os-. Side by side with the neuters in -os- there existed in the original language a certain number of masculine and feminine substantives with -os- in the strong cases, -ōs in the nom. sing., -es -es-i in the loc. sing., and -s- in the weakest cases. It is only in Italic that this formation is at all fertile; and there the ō of the nom. sing. was carried through all the cases. The masculine or feminine form and the neuter form often appeared side by side, as Lat. decor: decus (cp. p. 411 f.).

Skr. uṣ-ās- f. Gr. ἡώς f. (for aus-ōs*)¹⁾ Lat. aur-ōr-a 'dawn'. The acc. sing. was originally -os-η*: Skr. uṣās-am, Avest. uṣārah-em, Gr. ἡῶ for *ἡόα; Skr. uṣās-am and uṣām were re-formations, the latter modelled on the nom. uṣās. Loc. -es-i: Skr. uṣās-i; Gr. ἡοῖ was a re-formation. Gen. Skr. Ved. uṣās instead of uṣ-ṣ-ās*, instead of which we find later uṣās-as, and a similar re-formation in Greek, ἡοῦς i. e. ἡόος. Does the accent of the Att. ἔως (acc. ἔω) indicate that the original accent was ausōs?

aiuos-* aiues-* aius-* (cp. aiuen-* aiun-* § 116 p. 362 f.): (Gr. acc. αἰῶ, a by-form of αἰῶνα, for aiFóa*, loc. αἰέ adv. 'always'; the weakest form of the stem is found in Sanskrit only as a neuter noun, ayuṣ- 'life'. Cp. also Ir. ais aes m. 'age' Mod.Cymr. oes § 108 p. 329.

Gr. αἰδώς f. 'shame, modesty', acc. αἰδῶ, and parallel to it αἰδέσ-, in αἰδέσθαι fut. αἰδέσσομαι and ἄν-αἰδέης.

Latin. Masculines. decor beside decus Skr. daśas-yá-ti 'honours, is at the service of'; tenor beside tenus Skr. tánas 'offspring' Gr. τέρος 'sinew, bond'; angor beside angus-tu-s anx-iu-s Skr. āhas 'distress'; tepor beside Skr. tāpas 'heat' and many other similar words. honōs honor (hones-tu-s), sūdor, ador, amor etc. Compare also rūmi-ficō beside rāmor § 34 p. 60. In the nom. sing. -ōr (-or) took the place of -ōs on the analogy of the other cases, where -r- regularly represented -s- between vowels

1) ἡώς proves that the law of vowel-shortening discussed in I § 611 p. 461 did not come into operation until after the loss of intervocalic α.

Remark. It is possible that all these nouns, excepting the word for 'dawn', were originally masculine; if so they kept their original gender in Latin, whilst Gr. αἰδώς became feminine, in the same way as the -tu- stems (§ 108 p. 323. 327).

It is uncertain how we ought to regard the Sanskrit masculine abstract substantives jardś- 'weakness of age' bhīdś- 'fear' īavās- 'strength'. They belong to this section if their acc. in -āsam is a re-formation like uśāsam. Further: were such Latin substantives as sēdēs mōlēs plēbēs pūbēs really, as is usually assumed, originally *s-*stems? Possibly we should assume a double class of masculine and feminine substantives in the parent language, corresponding to the two classes appearing e. g. in Greek, ἄκμων contrasted with ποιμὴν, δάκρυον contrasted with δορυφόρος, distinguished by a difference of accent and of vocalism in the suffix. The accent of ῥῶς αἰδώς would then have been shifted just as that of the forms in -ών -μῶν. Adjectives like Gr. πυρρός (§ 132 p. 412 f.) would then bear a nearer relation to these m. and f. substantives in -ēs than to the neuters in -os.

Side by side with the nouns formed with -es- (-os-), which have been discussed in §§ 131—133, we find nouns which have the same s-sound in the suffix, but which cannot be shewn with certainty to have ever had an e (o) before the s. And we must remember that although -es- was certainly used as a single and independent suffix at the time of the dissolution of the proethnic community, it may nevertheless have arisen from the fusion of two distinct elements (-e-s-, or rather perhaps as in gene-s-*, see p. 20).

The nouns here to be discussed may be arranged in four groups.

1. Skr. bhās- n. 'light, brilliancy' (nom. acc. bhās instr. bhāśā), Lat. fas n. (indecl.) originally 'utterance', ✓ bhā- (Bloomfield, Amer. Journ. of Phil. IX 19 compares Att. φῶς with Skr. bhās). Ar. dās-* 'gift' in Skr. dās-vant- 'rich in gifts' su-dās- 'giving richly' (acc. -dās-am- gen. -dās-as-) Avest. vanhu-dāh- 'giving good' (acc. -dānē-em gen. -dānē-ō), ✓ dō-. Skr. jñās- m. 'relative', cp. jñā-ti-ś. Lat. flōs flōr-is, Flōr-a Osc. Fluusai dat. Lat. spēr-r-are O.Lat. pl. spēr-r-ēs spēr-r-ibus beside spēr-s. Should we class here the Greek κρᾶς* καρᾶς* in κρᾶτα καρήτα

'head' (for κρᾱσ-η-* καρᾱσ-η-*, cp. § 114 p. 347)? There is nothing to prevent our comparing with these words Skr. mās- 'moon, month' O.C.Sl. mēs-ecŭ 'month' from $\sqrt{\text{mē-}}$ 'measure', see § 132 p. 415.

In these words it is possible that the e of -es- has been contracted with the preceding vowel, so that dōs-: bheres- = dōno-m*: bhereno-m*, see § 65 p. 138. In this case we might regard the Sanskrit stems draviṇḍ-dās- 'giving riches' vayō-dhās- 'bestowing life-power' candrā-mas- 'moon' (see Lanman, Noun-Infl. p. 555 f.) as the direct representatives of an original formation, and analysing them as -d-es-* -dh-es-* -m-es-. -d-es-: dōs-* = Gr. λίπ-ος: Skr. rép-as and the like; see § 132 p. 415. Lat. vī-r-ē-s beside vī-s vi-m cannot have suffered this contraction; but it is perfectly easy to assume that the s-inflexion in this word may be due merely to the analogy of older types.

2. -ə-s-. Skr. kravīṣ- n. 'raw flesh', Gr. κρέας n. 'flesh', cp. Lat. cruor. Gr. κέρας 'horn' beside Skr. śīras- 'head' (originally 'prominent point'); Lat. cere-brum may contain either keres-* or kerəs-*, γῆρας 'old age', γέρας 'gift of honour', δέμας 'bodily frame'. Skr. tāmis-rā tamis-ra-m 'darkness' beside tāmas; Lat. tenebrae instead of temebrae* (I § 570 p. 428 f.) and Mid.Dutch deemster 'dark' may contain either temes-* or teməs-*. Skr. rōcīṣ- n. 'light' beside sya-rōcas- and Avest. raocah- n. 'light, clearness', O.Pers. raucah- 'day'. Avest. hadiš- O.Pers. hadiš- n. 'seat' beside Skr. sádas-. As regards the Aryan forms, however, it must be borne in mind that -iṣ- may represent Indo-Germanic -i-s-.

To this class perhaps also belong Gr. masc. ἔρως 'love' and γέλως 'laughter'. According to Solmsen (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 109), there was the same ablaut-relation between these nominatives and the stems ἐρας- γελας- seen in Hom. ἐραν-νός ἡρώσ-σατο Pindar. γελᾶνής Hom. ἐγέλασ-σα, as between δω- dō-* and δα- dā-* 'give' (I § 317 p. 255 f.): γέλως γελασ-ος* γελασ-ι* etc., thence by qualitative assimilation of the vowel γελο(σ)-ος* γελο(σ)-ι*; later on they passed into the o-declension: acc. γέλο-ν ἔρο-ν and so forth.

3. -i-s-. Lat. cinis, pulvis, gen. cineris for cinis-is* cp. cinis-culu-s (I § 33 p. 33). Danielsson (Gramm. u. etym. Stud. I 51) compares, perhaps rightly, cinis with Gr. κόινος. The same scholar assumes a stem θεῖμος 'ordinance, right' in θεῖμος-κρέων θεῖμος-τ and so forth. Here might also be classed some of the Aryan neuters in -iš- (see under 2); I will add only Skr. arcīṣ- 'beam' jyōtīṣ- 'light'.

Was this -is- ever the weak form of an earlier -ies-?

4. -u-s-. Skr. dhānuṣ- n. 'bow' beside dhanū-ṣ m. dhānvan- n.; pāruṣ- n. 'knot' beside pārvan- n.; mādhūṣ- n. 'sweetness' beside mādhu- n.; mānuṣ- m. 'human being' beside mānuṣ m. Goth. mann- for manu-*. Lat. pecus n. beside pecu, genus m. n. 'knee' beside genu can hardly be deemed parallel examples; see § 104 p. 313.

In a few instances we find the ablaut -us-: -ues- (-uos-). Mention has already been made of Skr. āyūṣ- n. 'life' compared with Gr. αἰὲς αἰῶ § 133 p. 423. Another example is Skr. āruṣ- n. 'wound' beside O.Icel. orr n. 'scar' for arūiz-*.

135. The Suffix *-ies- -ies-*¹⁾.

This is a primary comparative suffix, side by side with the secondary -ero- -tero- (§ 75 p. 188 ff.). The fact that it is contained in the superlative suffix -is-to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.) indicates that its comparative meaning was wider then that of the sister suffix -ero- -tero-, which from the earliest period to which we can trace it was used only in comparing two things (e. g. Gr. πό-τερος 'which of two?'). So that originally the combination -is + tero- in Gr. ἀριστέρος Lat. sin-ister and the like (§ 75 p. 190 ff.) was probably not a mere pleonasm.

Even in the proethnic language the comparatives and superlatives containing this suffix had been brought into connexion with 'Positives' formed with all manner of suffixes (-u-, -o-, -ro- etc.), and were regarded as being derived from them, e. g. Skr. svād-īyas- Gr. ῥδ-ίων 'suavior' beside svād-ū-ṣ ῥδ-ύ-ς 'suavis'. Thus -ies- (-is-to-) acquired the character of a secondary suffix, which appears very clearly in the new formations which are so common in the separate languages, such as Skr. bráhm-īyas- Lat. amīc-ior. Compare § 58 p. 107, § 81 p. 243.

As regards the ablaut of the root-syllable, the general rule seems to have been that the comparative had the strong grade (e in the e-series), and the superlative the weak grade. Parallel to this there was always a difference of accent. The corresponding positive was generally a form in which the weak-grade was regular in the root-syllable. Thus lēn̥gh-ies-: lēn̥gh-istó-: l̥n̥gh-ú-* 'brisk, small, little' = Avest. renj-yah- Gr. ἐλάσσων for ἐλαγχ-ίων* (I § 459 p. 360, § 497 p. 365, § 618 p. 466) instead of ἐλεγχ-ίων* through the influence of the form ἐλαχ-: Skr. līgh-iṣṭha-s Gr. ἐλάχ-ιστο-ς (both with the accent shifted, see § 81 p. 243): Skr. lagh-ú-ṣ Gr. ἐλαχ-ύ-ς; Skr. práth-īyas-: pr̥th-ú-ṣ; Gr. κρέσσων: κράτ-ιστο-ς instead of κρατ-ιστό-ς*: κρατ-ύ-ς; ὀλείζων: ὀλίγ-ιστο-ς instead of ὀλιγ-ιστό-ς*: ὀλίγ-ο-ς; O.H.G. suoz-iro: Goth. sut-ista. These distinctions of ablaut were to a large extent lost through the influence of analogy; particularly as between the comparative and superlative. E. g. Skr. lāghīyas- instead of lān̥ghīyas-* or the true phonetic form lāh-īyas* (I § 454 p. 335 f.); and conversely práthiṣṭha- instead of pr̥thiṣṭhá-*, bāhiṣṭha- instead of bahiṣṭhá-* (compar. bāh-īyas- posit. bah-ú-); Gr. τάχ-ιον instead of θᾶσσον (τάχιστα, ταχύ-ς), and conversely ἐλέγγιστο-ς instead of ἐλάχιστο-ς; in μάσσων and μύκιστο-ς (μακ-ρό-ς) the vowel-grades have exactly changed places; Goth. sut-iza instead of svōt-iza* (O.H.G. suoz-iro), but conversely O.H.G. suōz-isto instead of suz-isto* (Goth. sut-ista).

In considering all such cases however it must be remembered that in the original paradigm of the comparative besides -ies- and -ios- the stem also appeared in the form -is-, before which the root-syllable must have had the weak-grade; e. g. dat. sing. l̥n̥gh-is-ái* like the superlative l̥n̥gh-is-tó-*; and this form of the root may also have appeared before -iēs- (see below). We have perfect right to assume if we choose that even in the proethnic language the strong form of the root (lēn̥gh-ios-) had prevailed in all cases of the paradigm of the Comparative, so that, e. g. l̥n̥ghisái had dropped out of use in favour of lēn̥gh-* isāi; but it is quite as easily conceivable that forms like həgh-isāi* descended into the separate languages, and there assisted in levelling the forms of the Comparative and the Superlative. The latter assumption would also make it easier to understand such instances as μάσσων: μῆκιστο-ς (Avest. mas-yah- O.Pers. maṣ-išta-).

There are some examples without vowel-gradation in the root: plē-īos- *plē-īs-: *plē-īs-tó-: plē-ro- = Skr. pra-yas Gr. πλέ-εϛ for πληχ-: Gr. πλεῖσ-το-ς: Lat. plē-ru-s Gr. πλη-ο-ης*.

As regards the different forms assumed by the comparative suffix itself in different languages many points are still obscure. The history of -ies- is in many ways parallel to that of the participial suffix -ues- (§ 136).

Remark 1. It is absolutely impossible to maintain that -iens- was the original form of this suffix. I attacked this view in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 54 ff., and J. Schmidt in the same periodical XXVI 237 ff. has again undertaken its defence. Schmidt imagines that -iōns (-iēns) in the nom. sing. masc. became -iōs (-iēs) in the proethnic language by a regular phonetic change (cp. I § 220 p. 188) and that the nasal was dropped in other cases by analogy. To say nothing of the fact that no certain examples of this proethnic phonetic law (-iōs coming from -iōns) have been adduced (cp. also p. 415)¹), the results which Schmidt's hypothesis involves are altogether incredible and inadmissible: see the Author in Iw. Müller's Hdb. II 55 and Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 83 (Collitz too declares against Schmidt, Bezenb. Beitr. X 65). I therefore still believe in -ies- (and in -ues- also; see p. 439).

-ies- and -iēs- stand side by side, just as -iō- and -iō-; and the form -iēs- which is represented by Skr. -iyas- Gr. Att. -io(σ)- may be compared with -iō-, see § 63 p. 122.

1. -iōs in the nom. sing. masc., -iōs in the nom. acc. sing. neut.: Avest. vah-yā vah-yō, Skr. vās-yas (n.), Lat. ma-jōr instead of -jōs (I § 569 Rem. 2 p. 426 f.) mā-jus, O.Ir. māo (m.), Goth. háuhis (n. adv.) for pr. Germ. -iaz, O.C.Sl. bol-je (n.) for pr. Slav. -jos.

1) R. Meringer (Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 134) derives the acc. pl. gōs* (Skr. gās Gr. βῶς) through gōns* from gōyns*. On p. 138, however, he assents to my view that the acc. sing. was gō(μ)m* before a sonant, but gōμn* before a consonant. I confess I do not see how to reconcile these statements. I must still regard Meringer's gōyns* as a monstrosity, and the view that gās βῶς are re-formations on the analogy of the acc. sing. as perfectly admissible.

2. -jos in the voc. masc.: Skr. rás-yas.

3. -iēs- in the loc. sing.: Skr. rás-yas-i (the accent has been shifted). Also in the fem. nom. -iēs-i, gen. -is-iēs etc.; levelling in different directions produced on the one hand Skr. rás-yasi rás-yasyās, on the other Goth. šut-izei šut-izeins, and O.C.Sl. bol-jūsi bol-jūšē (instead of bolješi* bolišē*). The suffix has also the -ies- form in Lith. sald-ēs-ni-s 'sweeter' with -es- for -iēs- (I § 147 p. 131), in the unique Pruss. gen. pl. muīs-ies-on 'maiorum' and perhaps in Lat. mā-jes-tās beside mā-jor (this may also be a new formation modelled on hones-tās: honor and the like) and pē-jer-āre beside pē-jor (cf. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 115).

4. -is- in the weak cases, e. g. dat. sing. -is-dī loc. pl. -is-sū. This form of the suffix has spread through the paradigm, wholly or in part, in Gr. πλες πλεας neut. πλεα (πλες-*), Goth. sut-iz-a gen. sut-iz-ins, māiz-a gen. māiz-ins, O.C.Sl. gen. boljīša 'maioris' for boljīs-iā* instead of bol-is-iā* (see below). There were moreover adverbs in -is-: mā-is* = Osc. mais 'magis' Goth. māis 'more', Lat. mag-is, Goth. vairs for uirs-iz*, Gr. περισ = Lat. pris- in περισ-γυ-ς περισ-βυ-ς pris-cu-s. Further -is- occurred in the fem., gen. -is-iēs etc., see 3. Cp. superl. -is-tō-, § 81 p. 242 ff.

Finally I regard it as probable.

5. That the strong cases of the masc. (except the nom. sing.) had -jos-: acc. Avest. vah-yānāh-em Gr. ἡλῆσσω for -ιο(α)-a. The fact that in Greek -ιοα- is confined to the strong cases (there is no such form as ἡλῆσσω-α-* in the gen., for example) may be regarded as an additional proof that in the other cases another form of the suffix prevailed; for if all the cases had originally had -ιοα-, they would surely have all been treated in the same way.

In Aryan, -iś- was displaced by -yas- in the weak cases: dat. sing. Skr. rás-yas-ē Avest. vah-yānāh-ē, gen. sing. Skr. rás-yas-as Avest. vah-yānāh-ō. Where -yas- is also found in the strong cases in the same group of languages, as Skr. kanīyas-am 'iuniorem' Avest. vañhanāh-em 'meliorem' (-ñh- = -hy-, I § 558 p. 415), it is not original, but due to a secondary change. Instead of -yas in the voc. sing. masc. -yan appears in the post-vedic language; this form is doubtless due to the analogy of -van (§ 136 p. 441).

In Latin the -iūs of the nom. sing. was carried through the whole case-system; later it became -iūr following the other cases, where -s- regularly became -r-; mā-jor -jūr-em -jūr-is etc.; cp. hon-or -ōr-em and so forth, § 133 p. 423.

The Old Church Slavonic nom. sing. masc. boljī boljī beside neut. bolje is probably not a compound word (boljī + jī), but a modification of bol-ījī* which had the suffix in the form -iies-; beside it we find novē-jī with -ies-. boljī owes its form to the influence of the neuter bolje, or of masculines like dobljī-jī, or of both together. The masc. terminations -ījī and -jī (instead of -ija* -ja* = Idg. -iūs* -iūs*) are due to the influence of the -iū- stems, such as dobljī; novē-jī bears to neut. novē-je the same relation as dobljī: doblje. From the nom. acc. sing. neut. and nom. sing. masc. -j- passed on to the other cases which had -īse- = -is-je-: gen. boljīša instead of bolīša* etc. See 3. above, fem. boljīše instead of bolīše*.

But what is the origin of the nasal in Skr. vas-yās- (nom. vas-yān acc. vas-yās-am) and of the Greek paradigm ἐλάσσων -ov-oc etc.? In § 63 p. 132 we regarded -ies- as an extension of the comparative -io- by -es-; compare Skr. nāv-yas- Lat. nov-ior beside Skr. nāv-ya- Goth. niu-ji-s, Lat. nim-is beside nim-iu-s. Now in some instances there may have been a form -ien- parallel to -io- and having the same force. The stems formed with this stood in Greek side by side with those which had -ies-, and were taken into more extended use because they had an easier and clearer inflexion than that of the -ies- comparatives, which had broken up into very dissimilar groups through the operation of phonetic laws within the case-system; thus arose ἡδ-ίων -lov-oc like κρον-λων -lov-oc (§ 115 p. 359), and χειρό-τερο-ς: χείρων = πιο-τερο-ς: *πίων*¹). In Sanskrit however -yās- and -yān- were contaminated, producing the form -yāṣ-, just as mahānt- (beside mahat-) seems to have arisen from the fusion of an n-stem and a t-stem. (§ 126 p. 399). Cp. Danielsson, Gramm. and etym. Stud. I 49. Thus we should have side by side e. g. (1) plē-io-* (Gr. πλέω-ς πλέο-ς Cret. πλίω, Armen. li, gen. lioy, 'full', Skr. prāyēṇa prāya-śaṣ 'for the most part, usually, mostly'), (2) plē-ies-* plē-īs-* (Skr. prā-yas, Gr. πλέω πλείστο-ς etc.) and (3) plē-ien-* plē-in-* (πλείων -ov-oc, neut. Att. πλείν, cp. with the latter Cret. πρείν Hom. πείν Att. πείν beside πρεῖσ-; πλείν: πλείον πλέον = Goth. māis: hāuhis). Compare further (1) Skr. kan-yā 'maiden' Gr. καινό-ς 'new' for kan-jo-ς*; (2) Skr. kān-īyas- 'younger' kan-iṣṭhā- 'youngest': (3) Avest. kain-in- f. 'girl'; Gr. (1) ἐα-ιο- 'easy' (ἐη-λδιο-ς, ἐη-ι-τερο-ς): (2) ἐη-ιω ἐήω, ἐήιστο-ς ἐήστο-ς; (3) ἐη-λων ἐήων (etymology doubtful, see Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 446 f.)). Compare the parallel forms āi-yo- (Lat. aevo-m Goth. div-s): āi-yes-* (Gr. αἰεῖς αἰῶ Skr. āyus-): āi-yen-* (Gr. αἰών αἰέν Skr. āyun-) § 116 p. 362, § 133 p. 423, Skr. ῥbh-va- ῥbh-vas- ῥbh-van- 'artistic' and other examples.

Indo-Germanic. lenagh-(i)ios- beside lenagh-ū-*: Skr. lāgh-īyas- Avest. renj-yah- Gr. acc. ἐλάσσων, cp. p. 427 above. suād-(i)ios-* beside Skr. svādú-ṣ Gr. ἡδύ-ς Goth. sut-s 'suavis': Skr. svād-īyas-, Gr. ἡδ-ίω -ίω, Lat. suāvior 'instead of suād-ior* through the influence of suāvi-s, O.H.G. suoz-iro Goth. sut-iza. ōk-(i)ios-* beside Skr. āś-ū-ṣ Gr. ὠκύ-ς Lat. acu-pediū-s: Skr. āś-īyas-, Gr. ὠκ-ίων (this is not actually found, but may be

2) In view of this it may not be rash to see a further group of old -io- forms in the Att. gen. sing. of the compar. in -ιον (ἀπὸ τοῦ μέλου, ἐχ θάπτου, Meisterhaus, Gramm. d. Att. Inschr. p. 67).

Arv., (O.Ir. lia, see p. 435), O.Icel. fleir-e (re-formed to correspond with meir-e). mō-īos-* mō-īs-* beside O.Ir. mā-r Gall. -māru-s (in proper names) 'great' Goth. -mēr-s 'great' (cp. § 81 p. 247): Osc. mais 'magis', O.Ir. māo mō, Goth. māiz-a adv. māis!); perhaps Gr. Μαίων should also be classed here.

Aryan. Skr. vās-yas- Avest. vah-yah- vaṣ-yah- (I § 558 p. 415) beside vās-u- vanh-u- 'good'. Skr. āś-īyas- Avest. as-yah- beside āś-ū- ās-u- 'swift': Gr. ὠκ-ίων etc., see above. Skr. māh-īyas- Avest. maz-yah- 'greater': Gr. Ion. μέζων, Lat. mājor (cp. I § 135 p. 122) mag-is mag-is-ter (cp. I § 469, 8 p. 346 f.). Skr. nēd-īyas- Avest. nazd-yah- 'nearer' for pr. Ar. na-zd-*; see I § 591 p. 447 and II § 4 p. 9.

Skr. vār-īyas- beside ur-ū- 'wide'. śrē-yas- beside śrī-lā- 'fair, glorious': should we compare Gr. κρείων 'noble, princely, ruler' (which has passed into the -vr- declension, like ῥεράπων etc., see § 114 p. 350)? kṣēp-īyas- beside kṣip-rā- 'quick'. dāv-īyas- beside dū-rā- 'distant'. tēj-īyas- beside tig-mā- 'sharp'. srāj-īyas- beside srag-vīn- 'crowned'. nāv-yas- nāv-īyas- beside nāv-a- 'novus': Lat. nov-ior, O.H.G. niw-iro niuw-iro 'novior'. prē-yas- beside priy-ā- 'dear'. jyā-yas- 'mightier'. As regards Skr. sthēyas- instead of sthā-yas-* beside sthi-rā-, sphēyas- instead of sphā-yas-* beside sphi-rā-, see § 81 p. 244.

Avest. mas-yah- 'greater' beside O.Pers. maṣ-išta- 'the greatest': Gr. μάσσων beside μακ-ρός 'long'. Avest. taš-yah- 'more warlike, stronger' ground-form tenaq-ies-* (I § 200 p. 168, § 473 p. 350), beside superl. tanc-išta-. In Avestic the metre often shows that the reading should be -iyah-, as renjiyah-, nazdiyah-, masiyah- (beside mah-) s.ya stems, as tíkṣṇ-īyas- from tíkṣ-ḥá- 'sharp', bráhm-īyas- like bráhm-iṣṭha-, drádh-īyas- like drádh-iṣṭha-; see § 81 p. 245.

Greek. -ιο(σ)- -ῖο(σ)- occurs only in the acc. sing. masc. and the nom. acc. plur. masc. and neut. By its side we find through all the cases -ιον- -ῖον- (-ιον- in πλεῖν, πρεῖν, ποῖν, ποῖν); in Rem. 1 p. 430 I have stated my conjecture that this form represents Idg. -iōn- and never contained s. -το(σ)- -ιον- occur in Attic.

The examples are given in the form of the acc. sing. masc. in -ῖω -ῖω for -ιο(σ)-α* -ῖο(σ)-α*.

πάσσω and παχ-ῖω beside παχ-ύ-ς 'fat, thick'. θάσσω for θαγγ-ιοσ-α* beside ταχ-ύ-ς 'swift' (we must compare Pol. dažyc 'to press forward, aspire, hasten', see Bezzenberger in his Beitr. XII 241; the favourite comparison of this with Avest. tašyah- has not been reconciled with phonetic law), cp. ἐλάσσω p. 427. βραδ-ῖω beside βραδ-ύ-ς 'slow': Skr. mrād-īyas-. γλυκ-ῖω beside γλυκ-ύ-ς 'sweet'. ὀλεῖζω beside ὀλιγ-ο-ς 'little' ὀλίγ-ιστο-ς, from which ὀλίζω was afterwards formed. κακ-ῖω beside κακ-ό-ς 'bad'. ἐχθ-ῖω beside ἐχθ-ρό-ς 'hostile'. ἥσσω 'inferiorem' beside ἥκ-α; ἡττᾶσθαι instead of ἡτιτοῦσθαι* follows νικᾶσθαι, and from the verb ἡττᾶσθαι the substantive ἡττα was itself formed (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 299 f.). ἀμείνω for ἀμεν-ιω* 'meliorem'. A form ἀγγ-ιοσ-* 'nearer' may be inferred from the adv. ἄσπον for ἀγγ-ιον (beside ἄγγ-ι): Skr. qḥ-īyas- O.H.G. eng-ir-o 'narrower'. μείω 'minorem' for μει-ιο(σ)-α* beside μι-νο-* μι-νου-*, Lat. mi-nus Goth. minniza for mi-nu-is-*, see below; the superl. μειστο-ς stands for με(ι)-ιστο-ς* (for the vowel-grade of the root cp. ἐλέγγ-ιστο-ς and the like p. 427) or else is a new formation in imitation of its opposite πλειστο-ς. πλείω πλέω 'more' instead of πληγ-(ι)ο(σ)-α* has been affected by the form of πλειστο-ς (like Skr. sthé-yas- instead of sthā-yas-* through the influence of sthéṣṭha-, § 81 p. 244), and perhaps also to some extent by μείω; by the side of it we find a form πλεισ- for plēis-*, belonging properly to the weak cases of the comparative, in Hom. πλέ-ες πλέ-ας Cret. πλί-ες neut. πλί-α (ι for ε, I § 64 p. 51¹): Skr. prā-yas etc.; see p. 431 above. κρείσσω κρείττω beside Ion. κρέσσω (: κράτ-ιστο-ς κρατ-ύ-ς 'strong' and μείζω beside Ion. μίζω (: μέγ-ιστο-ς μέγ-α-ς 'magnus') owe their ι to the analogy of χείρω ἀμείνων ὀλείζω, conversely Ion. ἔσσω beside ἤττω follows κρέσσω, cp. I § 639 Rem. p. 479 and Ber. d. sächs. Ges. d. Wiss. 1883 p. 193.

1) Here for 'in the Doric dialects' read 'in some Doric dialects'.

In rare instances we find nominal suffixes preceding the comparative -ισ-, as καλλ-ίω 'pulcriorem' beside κάλλος n., βελ-τ-ίω 'meliorem'. Compare the superlatives, § 81 p. 245.

In Cretan (Gortyn) we find πρείγω (πρείγωνα) beside πρείγυ-ς πρεῖσγυ-ς and κάρτω (καρτόνανς) instead of *κρέττω = Ion. κρέσσω, beside καρνύ-ς. It remains doubtful whether these forms are regular phonetic representatives of πρειωγ-ιω*, καρτ-ιω* (cp. Dor. κάρρων for καρσων*), or new formations with -ω instead of -ιω on the model of some one or more forms where the ι had regularly disappeared.

One example of an adverb in -is is πρεισ- ('before') found in the compound Cret. πρεῖσ-γυ-ς (whence πρεῖγυ-ς by assimilation). Thessal. πρεῖσ-βυ-ς (cp. I § 428 p. 316), which corresponds to the prīs- of the Lat. prīs-cu-s (beside prior prius), cp. Rem. 1 p. 429 and for -γυ-βυ-, § 91 Rem. p. 277. Obviously πρεις* is related to Cret. πρεῖν (Hom. πρίν Att. πρίν) as πλεισ- (in πλέες πλεῖσ-το-ς) to Att. πλεῖν and as πλείους (i. e. πλειουσ-ες*) to πλείον-ες, cp. Rem. 1 p. 430. If we start from an original prēi-ijos* pri(i)-is-* (by analogy pri-ijos-* and prei-is-*), Lat. prīs- may represent not only πρεις* but also prii-is* (cp. πρίν). It must be admitted that the forms πρέσγυ-ς πρέσβυ-ς are still obscure ¹⁾.

Italic. O.Lat. minerimu-s for minis-imo-s* (cp. plūr-imu-s etc.), minis-ter, Osc. minstreis mistreis 'minoris': cp. Goth. minniza

1) The student who believes that the doctrine of 'hyphaeresis' (κέσκετο = *κε(ι)εσκετο, σπέσαι = σπεεσαι) is not a mere midsummer madness, may find comfort in supposing that πρεσ- stands for an older form πρε(ι)εσ-, an analogical modification of an original loc. pri-iēs. It is simpler however to analyse πρες* into πε + -ες (the genitive ending), and to regard it as a by-form of πάρ-ος Skr. pur-ás (I § 294 p. 234): Prellwitz, De dial. Thessalica 1885 p. 11 takes a very similar view, but a different explanation may be found in Per Persson's Studia etymologica, Upsala 1886, p. 95.

'minor' for mi-nū-is-* O.C.Sl. mǫnjǫŕ 'minor' and the archaic Gr. μείω 'minorem' for μει-ιός-α* (p. 432); minus was a neuter like vol-nus Gr. δά-voς (see § 132 p. 415 and p. 418); it originally meant 'minority', and then like vetus came to be used as an adjective; when it had thus become the opposite of mājus, mājōris māior etc. gave rise to the analogous formations minōr-is minor etc.¹⁾. Umbr. mes-tru f. 'maior' (cp. § 75 p. 195), Osc. mais 'magis': O.Ir. māo etc., see p. 431 above. Osc. pústir-is 'posterius'.

Lat. ōc-ior beside acu-pediū-s: Skr. ḍṣ-iyas- etc., see p. 430 f. above. nov-ior beside novo-s: Skr. nāv-yas- etc., see p. 431 above. sen-ior beside senex: Skr. sán-yas- beside sán-a-s 'old', O.Ir. sin-iu 'older' sinser 'the elder, eldest' for senis-tero-s* beside sen, Lith. senēs-ni-s 'older' beside sēn-a-s, cp. also Goth. sinista 'eldest'. mel-ior. pē-jor. māior mājus with magis beside māgnu-s: Skr. māh-tyas- etc., see p. 431 above; the evidence of the Gr. μέγα-ς and the Goth. mikil-s shews that the root originally had e and hence it seems necessary to assume that the Latin word has been influenced by the pr. Ital. maīs-* = Idg. mā-īs-* (cp. Osc. mais beside Lat. magis, Umbr. mes-tru beside Lat. magister), which belongs to a different root.

plēōrēs and plīsima; see p. 431 above. It has not yet been clearly shewn what relation the forms plous plūs, plūr-ēs, plōer-a and plōirume (C. I. L. I 32) bear to plē-īos-* which we must assume as the ground-form of the comparative stem.

Remark 2. For a discussion of these latter forms see Stolz (Iw. Müller's Handb. II p. 164), Danielsson (Pauli's Altital. Stud. IV p. 164 and Osthoff (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 445 f.). Danielsson's proposal to assume a form plū-īos-* parallel to plē-īos-* is the simplest from the phonetic standpoint. We should start from a stem plāīs-, whence we should arrive at ploīs- (according to I § 612 p. 462)²⁾, and then at plūs-. In plous- ou would be merely a graphic representative of the sound ū.

1) It seems to me less probable that even at the time when minus was still a substantive, there was also a masc. form minor, like decor beside decus and the like (§ 133 p. 423).

2) In the third line of this paragraph read 'explosive or spirant' instead of 'sonant'.

Adverbs in -is-. Lat. mag-is beside major. nimis. satis. prīs in prīs-cu-s beside prior, see p. 433 above; is it also contained in prīdem?¹⁾ Osc. mais 'magis': Goth. máis.

There was in Latin a very great deal of levelling between the form of the comparative and that of the positive, which converted -ies- into a secondary suffix. suāvior instead of suād-iōr* follows suāv-i-s for suād-u-i-s*, cp. Skr. svād-tyas-. tenuior instead of ten-iōr* follows ten-u-i-s, cp. Skr. tan-tyas-. levior instead of leg-iōr* follows levi-s for legu-i-s*. sēr-iōr instead of sē-(i)ōs* follows sē-ru-s; in the same way, in old Irish, side by side with the regular sia there arose a form sīriu sīre on the analogy of the positive sī-r 'long'. jūn-iōr juven-iōr, cp. Skr. yāv-tyas-. audāc-iōr. facil-iōr. asper-iōr. doct-iōr. sapient-iōr.

Lat. super-iōr inter-iōr dexter-iōr Osc. pústir-is; see § 75 p. 195. Late formations are plūriōrēs proximior and the like.

Old Irish. Only the nom. sing. has been kept.

māo mō for mō-iōs*, beside mā-r 'great': Osc. mais etc., see p. 431. sin-iu beside sen 'old': Skr. sán-yas- etc., see p. 434. laig-iu 'smaller'.

It is often a secondary suffix, as in sīr-iu (see above), foills-iu from follus 'manifest', uaisl-iu from uasal 'high'.

Sometimes we find -u instead of -iu after consonants, as lug-u beside laigiu. This is perhaps a new formation modelled upon those forms in which i had been dropped between vowels, such as māo (māu*).

The forms in -a have not been explained: examples are with māa mā side by side māo; lia beside il 'much': Skr. prā-yas etc., see p. 431 above; sia beside sī-r 'long'; ōa beside ōac ōc 'young': Skr. yāv-tyas-; nessa 'nearer'.

-is-tero-: sinser ōser, see § 75 p. 196.

Germanic. As a rule, the suffix is extended by n-suffixes.

1) pridiē can only be regarded as prīs-diē* if it is assumed that postridiē stands for postris-diē* (cp. Osc. pústir-is) (Havet's explanation, in Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. IV 229, seems to me untenable). But postris may also be loc. sing. of postro-, and pridiē may have been formed later in imitation of postrudiē.

These are absent only in such adverbs as Goth. háuh-is 'higher' nēhv-is 'nearer', hald-is 'more gladly, potius, rather' fram-is 'further on'; the termination -is seems to be the original neuter termination -ios (Rem. p. 428 f.), while such adverbs as Goth. vairs O.H.G. wirs 'worse', for pr. Germ. wirs-iz*, Goth. mins O.H.G. min 'less', for minu-iz* represent Idg. -is (see loc. cit.).

Pr. Germ. -iz-en- (-iz-en-) m. n. (f. Goth. -iz-ein- O.H.G. -ir-ōn-). Goth. sut-iza O.H.G. suoz-iro 'sweeter': Skr. svād-īyas- etc.; see above, p. 430. Goth. máiza O.H.G. mēro 'greater': Osc. mais etc., see above, p. 431. Goth. hard-iza O.H.G. hart-iro hert-iro beside Goth. hard-u-s 'hard': Lith. kartės-ni-s beside kart-ūs 'bitter'. Goth. háuh-iza O.H.G. hōh-iro beside Goth. háuh-s 'high'. Goth. bat-iza O.H.G. bezz-iro 'better'. Goth. vairs-iza O.H.G. wirs-iro 'worse, wicked'. The forms have often been levelled to match the positive, and secondary formations have arisen: Goth. jūh-iza O.H.G. jung-iro and jūg-iro beside Goth. jugg-s O.H.G. jung, as contrasted with Skr. yáv-īyas- O.Ir. ōa, cp. O.H.G. jungisto § 81 p. 248; Goth. alp-iza O.H.G. alt-iro beside Goth. al-þ-ei-s O.H.G. al-t 'old'. The origin of Goth. minn-iza O.H.G. minn-iro for mi-nu-iz-*, compared with Gr. μείω Lat. minis-ter O.C.Sl. mŋnjŋ, is obscure.

-ōz- -ōz-en- appeared in proethnic Germanic side by side with -iz- -iz-en-; see § 81 p. 248. It is used only in the comparatives of o-stems in Gothic and (with rare exceptions) in Old High German. Adv. Goth. sniumundōs 'more hastily', aljaleikōs 'otherwise'. Goth. frōdōza from frōþ-s 'wise', svinþōza from svinþ-s 'strong, powerful', O.H.G. liobōro from liob 'beloved', liohtōro from lioht 'bright', gileganōro from gi-legan 'apt, suitable': hōhōro (also hōhiro) from hōh 'high', hērōro (also hēriro) from hēr 'grand, glorious'; this variation is frequent; tiurōro (and tiuriro) from tiuri 'dear, valuable'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian the only form of the suffix is -ies-, in the combination -ē-s-n-i-s -ē-s-n-ė; the origin of the second part (-n-īo-) is difficult to explain (an attempt may be found in Schmidt's paper in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 399 f.). In Slavonic in the nom. acc. sing. neut. -je = Idg. -īos; as regards -jīše- instead of -īše- = Idg. -is-īo- and nom. sing. masc. -jījī (later -jijī, no doubt by the rule in I § 36 p. 37) -jī, see p. 429 f.

Remark 3. For the Lithuanian comparative adverbs in -iaus, such as saldžiaūs 'more sweetly', whose suffix has nothing to do with -ies-, see § 81 p. 248 f.

Lith. sald-ēsni-s O.C.Sl. slazdījī, neut. slazde, beside sald-ū-s slad-ū-kū 'sweet'.

Lith. gerēsni-s beside gēra-s 'good', didēsni-s beside dīdi-s 'great'. It is clearly denominative in e. g. baltēsni-s from bāl-ta-s 'white' jaunēsni-s from jáu-na-s 'young'.

In Prussian a solitary example with -ies- is preserved (-ies- no doubt = Idg. -iēs-): muīs-ies-on 'maiorum'.

O.C.Sl. boljījī boljiī neut. bolje 'greater': Skr. bāl-īyas- 'stronger, more powerful'. gorjījī 'worse': Skr. gār-īyas- 'gravior', mñjījī 'smaller': O.Lat. miner-imu-s minis-ter, see pp. 433 f. 436 above. krēpljījī beside krēpūkū 'strong'. chuždījī beside chudū 'bad'. vysījī beside vysokū 'high'. As to the effects produced by the first j of -jījī upon preceding consonants, see I § 147 p. 132 ff.

This formation however is not so frequent in Slavonic as that in -ē-jīs-: nom. sing. masc. -ējī nom. acc. sing. neut. -ėje gen. -ējīša and so forth. novējī from novū 'new'. silnējī from silnū 'strong'. mūnožajī from mūnogū 'multus', for mūnogējī* according to the rule given in I § 76 p. 66. As the last example shows, the ē of -ējī was Idg. ē, and it can scarcely be doubted that this comparative formation arose from the addition of the suffix -iēs- to the instr. sing. in -ē of the o-stems; compare the Germ. comparative in -ōz-(en-), formed from the instr. sing. in ō. From the nom. sing. in -ē-jī -ē-je, j passed into the other cases; hence the gen. -ē-jīša instead of -ē-īša and so forth. The Prussian comparatives with -ais- seem to be of the same kind; e. g. maldaīs-in acc. sing. masc., from malda- 'young', cp. O.C.Sl.

mladě-ŕi beside mladŭ 'young', urais-in beside ura- 'old', massais adv. 'less' beside Lith. māža-s 'small'. It is doubtful however whether these forms come from the instrumental in -ē or from that in -ō, whether -ais- represents -ē-is- -ēis- or -ō-is- -ōis-.

§ 136. The Suffix *-ues-*¹⁾. This served to form the Perfect Participle Active.

In this participle as elsewhere the perfect stem was reduplicated; cp. Skr. ba-bha-vás- Gr. π-φv-ώς from $\sqrt{bhe\gamma}$ 'become'. Even such forms as Goth. pl. masc. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' Lith. fem. sėd-us-i (beside sėd-au 'I sit') contained reduplication, as we shall see when we come to discuss the verb.

Remark 1. It may be assumed that the syllable of reduplication had not come to be regarded as an integral element in the formation of the -ues- participle, until the latter had been associated with the perfect system (single forms with -ues- may very well have had the reduplicating syllable before that time, see § 52, 2 p. 93 f., and these very forms may have been the chief factors in cementing the connexion of this participle with the perfect-system). It is therefore a question whether the partic. Skr. vid-vás- Gr. φιδώς ειδώς has not descended as an unreduplicated form from a period older than the date at which this association had taken place; it is certain that the infinitive Avest. vid-van-ōi Gr. ειδ-εν-αι (§ 116 p. 363), whose connexion with the verb belongs to a comparatively late period, never had the reduplication. I conjecture that this participle of φριδ- was always unreduplicated, and being a word very frequently used banished the reduplication even in the forms of the finite verb (Skr. vēda Gr. οιδε etc.). Other participles without reduplication must be explained in the same way, e. g. Skr. sah-vás- viśi-vás-, Gr. ειx-ώς, ἄγναι (sc. ἡ ὁδός) αἰθναι (sc. δενε)²⁾, Lith. dėg-ęs O.C.Sl. žeg-ŭ, Lith. vėž-ęs O.C.Sl. vez-ŭ.

The root-syllable has generally the weak-grade of Ablaut; this is regular in Aryan, as Skr. ri-rik-vás- beside ri-rēc-a 'he Certain forms, however, seem to have originally had the strong grade, that is e in the e-series, ē in the ē-series and so forth. This is indicated by Gr. εἰδώς (: ιδ-νῖα, οἶδε), κεκλεβώς Messen. (: κέκλοφε), ἐρρηγεῖα Heracl. (: ἐρρωγε), λεληκώς (: λελακνῖα), ἀρηρώς (ἀραρνῖα), ἐστη-ώς (: ἐστᾱ-ώς) and the like; also by Goth. veitvōþ-s 'witness', if, as is probable, its ei = Idg. eĭ (see below)¹). It may be assumed, that originally this form of the root was proper to the strong cases of the masc. and neut., where the participial suffix appears in its -o- form (-μῶs- not -μΊs-): nom. sing. masc. μΊ̃d-μῶs* acc. μΊ̃d-μῶs-η*. Further explanation of the forms assumed by the root-syllable (e. g. Goth. bēr-us-jōs Lith. sĕd-ęs) must be reserved for the section dealing with the formation of the perfect-stem.

With respect to the phonetic variation in the character of the participial suffix, our enquiry into its original form or forms is met by the same difficulties as we encountered in dealing with the primary comparative suffix (§ 135). Much has still to be explained.

Rem. 2. In Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 69 ff. I have attacked the view (which J. Schmidt, ibid. XXVI 337 ff., has again undertaken to defend) that this suffix originally contained a nasal (-mens-). My criticism (§ 135 Rem. 1 p. 428) of the old view of the comparative suffix, applies equally well to this. It is absolutely untenable. The arguments on either side are on the whole the same, see loc. cit. I therefore still regard -mes- as the original form.

There is no record of a form -umes- parallel to -mes- (cp. -ies- beside -jes-). Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 401 ff., endeavours to shew that in Skr. forms like ḍkivās- paptivās- the termination -ivas- took the place of -uvas-.

If we disregard this question as to the initial part of the suffix and regard it simply as -mes-, the following assumptions may be considered as adequately established for proethnio Indo-Germanic.

1. The nom. sing. masc. ended sometimes in -μῶs, Gr. εἰδ-ώς, sometimes in -μΊs, Lith. dā-ves instead of da-vēs* (see below). The pr. Ar. -uās, Avest. vīd-vā, may represent either termination; here we must notice the

1) O.C.Sl. vlĕkü and brĕgŭ prove nothing. See O. Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjugation, 1886. p. 132 f.

Skr. compounds with á- dúṣ- sá, as á-vidvas- sá-vidvas- beside vid-vás-, as favouring the view that -uos and -uēs existed side by side in Aryan.

2. -uos in nom. acc. sing. neut.: Gr. εἰδ-ός. There was probably a parallel form -uēs, compare the masc. -uēs. It remains uncertain whether the Lat. neuter forms cadāver and papāver contained this suffix (-ver would have taken the place of the phonetically regular -ves*).

3. -uos, or (under other conditions) -ues, in the voc. sing. m.: Skr. vid-vas.

4. -uēs in the loc. sing.: Skr. -vas-i* (there is unfortunately not a single example of this case in our text of the Veda). We may again directly compare with this the feminine formation (cp. § 135 p. 429): nom. -uē-si gen. -us-iēs: Gr. -eia beside -via; an original γeyerēia: γeyer-uā*; became, by levelling, on the one hand γeyerēia: γeyerēias, on the other γeyeruā: γeyeruās; cp. also Laced. βιδεοι beside βιδυοι ιδυοι ιδυοι name of an official ('inspectors').

5. -us- in the weak cases: dat. sing. Skr. vid-úṣ-ē Avest. vid-úṣ-ē, gen. sing. Skr. -úṣ-as Avest. -uṣ-ō, gen. pl. Skr. -úṣ-ām Avest. -uṣ-am, instr. pl. Avest. -ūž-biš. Further in the fem. suffix -us-iē- and the corresponding masc. neut. -us-iō-: gen. sing. f. Skr. vid-úṣ-yās Gr. ιδ-υία, Gr. pl. ιδυιοι βιδυοι (see 4), Goth. bēr-us-jōs m. 'parents', gen. sing. f. Lith. vilk-us-ios O.C.Sl. vlūk-ūšę gen. sing. m. Lith. vilk-us-io O.C.Sl. vlūk-ūša. Cp. further the Ar. nom. sing. in -uṣ: Skr. vid-úṣ Avest. vid-úṣ maman-uṣ and other like forms, compare perhaps Osc. sipus 'sciens' and O.C.Sl. vlūkū (see below), and again the comparative formation Skr. vid-úṣ-tara- Avest. jāger^e-buṣ-tara-.

Lastly, I regard it as probable

6. That the strong cases of the masc. (except the nom. sing.) had -uos-, where the tense-stem bore the accent: acc. sing. Avest. vid-vānē-em.

It will be remembered that we have regarded -ies- as an extension of -iō-, and assumed the existence, side by side with -ies-, of a form -ien- with the force of a comparative suffix (§ 135 p. 430). In the same way, I regard -ues- as an extension of -uo- (cp. Skr. pak-vā Lat. ar-vo-s pas-cuo-s perspicuo-s residuo-s and the like, see G. Curtius, Ber. d. sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1885, p. 432)¹⁾, and I assume the existence of a parallel form -uet-, made by the addition of the -t- (-et- -ot-) discussed in § 123 p. 389 ff. This -uet- appears in Greek and Gothic: Gr. acc. sing. εἰδ-ότ-α gen. sing. εἰδ-ότ-ος etc., Hom. τεδν-ώτ-α, Goth. veit-vōd- 'witness'; veit-vōd-: uid-uēs* = Goth. mē-nōþ-: mē-nes-* (Lith. gen. mēnes-io), see § 123 p. 393 f. The form -uōt- was originally proper to the nom. sing. masc., and the phonetic coincidence of -uos and -uōt- in Greek produced there the contaminated declension. I doubt, however, whether this was also the origin of the Skr. -vat- in loc. pl. vid-vāt-su instr. pl. vid-vād-bhiṣ nom. acc. neut. vid-vāt. We saw in § 127 p. 405 that in proethnic Aryan these participles coincided with the vant-stems in the formation of the nom. and voc. sing. masc.: -rās and -yas. Now pr. Ar. -uś-śu* loc. pl. and -už-bhiš* instr. pl. (Avest. vid-ūž-biš) must have regularly become in Sanskrit -uśu* and -uḍbhiš*, and similarly, -yas-su* and -yaz-bhiš* (if -yas- had taken the place of -uś- before the phonetic change of ś and ž came into operation) must have become -vatsu and -vadbhiš (I § 557 p. 412, § 591 p. 448). In either case, especially in the latter, a new and closer phonetic relation to the vant-stems was established. If -uśu* -uḍbhiš* arose first, then it must have been just the association with the vant-stems that superseded these terminations by -vat-su *-vadbhiš*¹). The neuter form vid-vāt and the post-Vedic vidvattara 'wiser' vidvattā- vidvattva-m 'erudition' were further results of this connexion.

Now whence comes the nasal in Skr. -rās-? To explain this as we explained the nasal in Skr. -yās- (p. 431) as being derived from a form -yen- parallel to -yes-, is hardly probable, because there are no participial forms corresponding to the Greek comparative μεζωρ -oro-; and the like. I conjecture that in early Sanskrit the nasal passed from -vant-am -vant-as to the nom. sing. in -rās* (see § 127 p. 405), agni-vās* becoming agni-vās (-vān), and thence passed on to the participles, first vid-vās, then vid-rās-am and so forth; it is possible also that -vant-am had a direct influence upon -vās-am*.

And lastly, the vant-stems may have given rise to the later formation of the voc. sing. in -van instead of -vas, having first exchanged -ras for -van in their own system.

In Lithuanian we find vilk-ēs beside dā-vēs, Pruss. laipinn-ons beside klanti-wuns, O.C.Sl. vlūk-ū beside da-vū, similarly gen. vilk-us-io beside dā-vus-io, vlūk-ūša beside da-vūša. In the nom. sing. the consistent absence of v after the consonant may have been caused by the fact that this sound regularly disappeared after certain consonants (cp. I § 184 p. 160 f.)²); the form which the suffix took in these instances was then applied generally to all tense-stems that ended in a consonant. At the same time the absence of the v in the other cases (vilk-us-io vlūk-ūša etc.) may have helped in forming the type. In the case of Slavonic however, we have further to take into account the possibility that there existed a nom. in -us* (cp. Skr. vid-úš etc. p. 440): -ū may be the regular phonetic representative of this ending. Lith. -vens -ens, -vēs -ēs replaced -vēs -ēs* through the influence of the present form -ans -as (-ens probably arose first, on the model of -ans, then -vens likewise); and a further consequence was that the neuter of the preterite in -vę -ę was formed upon the neuter of the present in -q. The Prussian -wuns -ons (-uns -ons) is a similar analogical formation; but it remains an open question whether the original form here was -uēs*, whose e-vowel, after the insertion of the nasal, became o (u) because of the preceding u-sound, or whether we should take Idg. -uōs* as our starting-point. In Slavonic we have masc. -vŭ -ŭ and neut. -vŭ -ŭ, just as in the present -y serves for both genders: as here -y passed from the masc. to the neut., so probably did -vŭ -ŭ in the preterite, the old neuter form falling out of use. If now -ŭ = Idg. -us*, it is a very natural suggestion that -vŭ arose from a contamination of -us* and -uēs* or -uōs*. But -vŭ may have arisen in the same way as -ŭ (p. 429 f.): if so, there once existed side by side masc. -vā = Idg. -uōs* and neut. -vo* = Idg. -uos*; -vo* produced the masc. -vŭ and was itself afterwards driven out of the field by -vŭ. Gen. Lith. dā-vus-io O.C.Sl. da-vŭša owe their r to the nom. (we should expect d-us-io* d-ŭša*); Lith. būvusio O.C.Sl. byvŭša (beside bū-ves by-vŭ) are to be analysed as būv-usio byv-ŭšu (instead of būv-ŭša*), and thus these forms may have helped to give currency to the formations dāvusio etc. O.C.Sl. chvaljŭ chvaljŭša for chvaljŭ* chvaljŭša* (later chvalivŭ chvalivŭša) follow the type of the non-derivative verbs, ep. part. pret. pass. chvaljenŭ like vedenŭ (Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjug. 134).

1) This association prevented the development of forms parallel to the loc. pl. māhiyassu and the instr. pl. māhiyōbhiš (see I § 557 Rem. p. 412, § 591 Rem. 2 p. 448).

2) In l. 18 of this page read 'after initial s- (sz-)' instead of 'before'.

It is to be hoped that the explanations advanced here and on p. 429 ff. will not meet with the fate which has befallen J. Schmidt's attempt to elucidate the same difficult theme, and be regarded as 'final'. We are still, I think, some distance, perhaps a very considerable distance, from a final conclusion.

ἐ-γένε-το 'arose, became'; the parallel form γε-γα-ώς γεγώς γε-γα-νῖα, like με-μα-ώς (V men-) and βε-βα-ώς (V gem-), was a new formation suggested by γέ-γα-μεν (μέ-μα-μεν βέ-βα-μεν) etc. and modelled upon ἐ-στα-ώς: ἔ-στα-μεν. δε-δι-ώς beside δέ-δι-μεν 'we feared' 1. sing. δαίδω i. e. δέδω for *δέ-δω(ι)-α, V *du-ei-*πε-φν-ώς: Skr. ba-bhū-vās- etc., see p. 442 above. τε-τοκ-ώς beside ἔ-τεκ-ε 'he begat'. ἐ-στα-ώς ἐ-στώς and ἐ-στη-ώς ἐ-στεώς beside ἔ-στα-μεν 'we stand': Skr. ta-sthi-vās- etc., see p. 442 above. πε-πηγ-ώς beside πέ-πηγ-ε 'is fitted, fixed', V *paḱ- paḡ-*στε-σηρ-ώς σε-σαρ-νῖα beside σαίρω 'I sweep'.

The suffix is sometimes found in derivative verbs, as Hom. κχαρη-ώς beside κχαρή-μαι (aor. ἐ-χάρ-ην, pres. χαίρω 'I rejoice'), βεβαρη-ώς 'gravatus' beside pres. βαρῶ, Boeot. inscr. Fe-Fūxoro-μειόντων = Att. ῥκονομηκόντων beside οἰκονομέω 'I govern' (for -όντων instead of -ότων see below), all following the formation of τεθνη-ώς κε-κμη-ώς and the like. Cp. O.C.Sl. želě-vŭ.

It was further extended to the κ-perfect: δεδωκ-ώς beside δέ-δωκ-ε 'has given', ἐ-στηκ-ώς beside ἔ-στηκ-ε 'stands', τετίμηκ-ώς beside τε-τίμηκ-ε 'has honoured' and so forth.

It occurs in Homeric forms with -(f)ωτ- instead of -(f)οτς, whose ω was taken from the nom. sing. masc., e. g. πε-φν-ῶτ-α-, με-μα-ῶτ-ες -ῶτ-ος, τε-θνη-ῶτ-α. Cp. μήσ-τωρ-α formed on the pattern of μήσ-τωρ § 120 Rem. p. 380, § 122 p. 386.

These perfect participles, like the other forms of the perfect stem, were remodelled on the analogy of the presents in -ω in different dialects, especially in those of the Aeolic group: e. g. Lesb. πεπληρώκοντα ἐνεργέτηκοισαν, Thess. ἐν-οικο-δομεικόν-τεσσι, Boeot. FeFūxoroμειόντων (see above), Hom. κεκλήγοντες, Hesiod. ἐρρῆγοντι, Pind. πεφρῆκοντας, Delph. τετελευκᾶκούσας. Here it was a purely syntactic consideration, viz. the similarity of meaning (the Greek Perfect being a Present in point of time) that suggested this transfer to the system of the present-inflexion; the new feminine formations, on the other hand, such as Hom.

Att. βεβῶσα, Att. ἑστῶσα τεθιῶσα, Herod. ἑστεῶσα, with precisely the same endings as the pres. part. τιμῶσα and the like, were in part also determined by the contracted forms in -ωτ- (ἑστῶτ- for ἑστάωτ-, τεθνεῶτ- for τεθνήγῳτ-) of the corresponding masc. and neut.; the -ω- of these feminines in -ῶσα was taken from the corresponding masc. and neut., the -σα from the pres. part. fem. I do not believe that ἑστῶσα is derived from a hypothetical ἑστάουσα*.

Italic. An attempt has been made to trace this suffix in Lat. cadāver and papāver, the former being regarded as 'that which has fallen' (cadō cada-bundu-s, cp. πτῶμα 'corpse') or 'that which has been destroyed' (cadamītās cassu-s Skr. kad-, see Bersu Die Gutturalen und ihre Verbindung mit v im Lat. p. 170), the latter as 'that which is inflated' (papula pampinu-s), and both compared with participles like Gr. κεκαρῆώς (Curtius, Das Verb der gr. Spr. II² 250). The suffix has also been traced in Lat. perfects like sē-vī strā-vī amā-vī, which have been regarded as examples of a crystallised periphrastic formation of the same kind as the Skr. fut. dātāsmi 'I will give' ('dator sum, daturus sum') (Curtius, Ber. d. sächs. Ges. d. Wiss., 1855, p. 421 ff., Schulze, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 266 ff.). Lastly, the same suggestion has been made for Osc. sipus 'sciens' (vī), as compared with a Lat. perf. sēp-ī* equivalent to sapui (J. Schmidt, XXVI 372 ff.); its termination might have come from either ibid. Idg. -us* or -uōs* (cp. p. 440).

In Germanic only a few isolated examples have survived. Goth. bēr-us-jōs pl. m. 'parents' ('they that have brought forth'), ✓ bher-, cp. indic. 1. pl. bērum 1. sing. bar. Just as the Lithuanian participles dėjės and stójės follow the preterite in -jau, so do the forms mātės mācziusio (: pret. macziaũ pres. mataũ inf. matý-ti 'to see'), válgęs válgiusio (: pret. válgiau pres. válgau inf. valgy-ti 'to eat'); where it should be observed, that mātės válgęs, earlier mātiens válgens, according to the regular phonetic laws must be referred to matjens* valgjens*

(I § 147 p. 131). Further examples of the same sort are penējēs beside penējau 'I nourished, fattened', jēškójes beside jēškójau 'I sought'. On the other hand we find u in the Pruss. klantī-uuns 'having condemned' (klantī-t 'to condemn'), less correctly written klantūuns; and similarly signāuns (signā-t 'to bless'), teikūuns (teiku-t 'to form, make') as well as the form postāuns quoted above must have had the termination -uuns.

O.C.Sl. buždī for būd-jū* beside pres. bužda inf. budi-ti 'to wake' chvaljī beside pres. chvalja inf. chvali-ti 'to praise' etc., are like Lith. mātes māczyusio; later we have -ivū, as budivū chvalivū. Cp. p. 442. dēla-vū beside dēla-ja dēla-ti 'to work'. želē-vū beside želēja želē-ti 'wish'.

MEANING CONVEYED BY THE SUFFIXES: NOUNS CLASSIFIED FROM THIS POINT OF VIEW.

§ 137. In the foregoing account of the formation of noun-stems (§ 59—136) our classification has been based upon the phonetic character of the formative suffixes. It will be useful to re-arrange the facts of this chapter in the history of noun-formation from the point of view of their meaning.

Considered in this respect the different suffixes have many points in common and are connected in many ways; all of which can be exhibited more clearly and studied more directly by a fresh survey.

The original meaning of the proethnic Indo-Germanic formative suffixes is unknown; accordingly the method by which we are to consider them must be based upon the logical categories which they generally serve to denote. We need not concern ourselves with the question whether any given suffix in its very oldest usage was, or was not, capable of fully expressing the idea which it helps to represent in those periods of the history of language which we are able to observe.

It is only a small proportion of the formative suffixes in which we can trace from the beginning a simple and clearly defined function; as, for example, in the comparative -tero-. Most of them serve several purposes, and it is often impossible to reconcile the meanings of a particular suffix. It must be admitted, however, that it is far from certain whether in such cases we have really to recognise only one formative element. The same group of sounds may have more than one etymological origin, e. g. -mo- as a suffix of comparison (Lat. summu-s for sup-mo-*) may have a different origin from -mo- in substantives like Lat. fū-mu-s ani-mu-s (§ 72 p. 170 ff.).

In the following sections there is no need to do more than emphasise the most important points. I have not attempted to make the survey absolutely comprehensive from any point of view.

Adjectives.

§ 138. Variation according to gender (masc. neut. fem.), and the formation of derivatives to denote comparison (degrees of comparison), are usually assigned as the chief characteristics of adjectives as such in the Indo-Germanic languages. However these types of inflexion are all found in substantives also, so that no hard and fast line can be drawn between the two groups.

The suffixes which appear in adjectives in the proethnic and later periods are all found in substantives as well. The question then arises, whether the substantival or the adjectival use is the older. In some cases the latter is undoubtedly earlier, e. g. Lat. caprina in pellis caprina and the like, compared with caprina 'goat's flesh' (§ 154). In another group of forms, however, the substantival meaning seems to have been the older e. g. Skr. māhas- 'greatness' compared with mahás- 'great', Gr. ψεῦδες- 'deceit' compared with ψεῦδής- 'deceitful' (§ 155). In other instances again, no distinction is possible a priori, e. g. in Avest. per'na- f. 'plena' and 'plenitudo, plenitas' (§ 158).

Many Indo-Germanic adjectival suffixes have no definite meaning to distinguish their own class of adjectives from others. The most sharply defined are those with a comparative meaning. These we will consider first.

§ 139. Adjectives with Comparative meaning. The elements of meaning which are really distinctive of this class are first the idea of contrast by comparison, and secondly the idea that what is predicated by the adjective is only true in a relative and limited sense.

-io- in al-io-s* 'alius', medh-io-s* 'medius' me-io-s* 'meus' and the like simply helps to express the idea of contrast by comparison, which is given by the root itself. See § 63, 3 p. 132 f. It may be conjectured that -io- had etymologically nothing to do with the notion of comparison, but that in the earliest or some of the earliest of these adjectives the suffix came to participate in this idea, which was really expressed by the root of the word (cp. § 57 p. 104 f.); and that it was then used independently in other words with the same force.

-ies- (-ien-) which is probably an extension of -io-, expresses primarily contrast by comparison in the widest sense. The adjectives formed with this suffix came into close connexion with other adjectives of the same root and the same root-meaning, where the idea of relativity was wanting; hence they were applied to express not so much absolute contrast (as that of 'new': 'old') as limited contrast ('new in comparison with something else which must also be called new') A further limitation of meaning appeared with the to derivative -is-to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.). A distinction in usage sprang up between -ies- (-is-) and -is-to-, which is analogous to that between -ero- -tero- and -mo- (-mmo-) -tmmo-: whilst -is-to- denotes comparison with several other objects, -ies- (-is-) is confined to comparison with one other. E. g. comparative Skr. lāgh-tyas- Avest. renj-yah- Gr. ἐλάσσων and superlative Skr. lāgh-iṣ-ṭha-s Gr. ἐλαχιστος beside Skr. lāgh-ú-ṣ Gr. ἐλαχίς ('agile, small, little'). In formations like Gr. ἀριστερός 'left', as contrasted with 'right' (§ 75 p. 190 ff.), the notion of contrast with a single other thing is still further expressed by the addition of -tero-; for this suffix, as we shall see, was especially used in the Indo-Germanic period and later to express ideas which are contrasted absolutely. See § 135 p. 427 ff.

-ero- and -tero- seem to have been first used only in words expressing conceptions of space and time, and in certain pronouns of a different meaning. In these the comparison contains only one notion, that of strong contrast, like 'below': 'above'. ḡdh-ero-* 'lower': Skr. ádharma-, O.H.G. undaro; en-tero-* 'inner': Skr. ántara-, Armen. ender-ē, Gr. ἐντερο-ν, Lat. inter-ior, O.C.Sl. jětro. qo-tero-* 'which (of two)?': Skr. katará- Gr. νότερο-ς, Umbr. podruh-pei, Goth. hvaþar, Lith. katrà-s. Add certain examples found in single languages, as Armen. mer O.Ir. ar n- Goth. unsar 'our', Gr. ἡμέ-τερο-ς Lat. nos-ter 'our' (contrasted with 'your'), Gr. ἀγρό-τερο-ς 'dwelling in the open fields, wild', thus having the sense of ἄγριο-ς, but originally distinguished from it by the reference to its opposite ἄστυ. In Aryan and Greek -tero- then became a common comparative suffix for adjectives of any formation and meaning, like Skr. amá-tara- Gr. ωμό-τερο-ς compared with amá- ωμό-ς 'raw', and here there was comparison no longer with the absolutely opposite idea, but with the notion expressed by the so-called positive; probably this process was completed partly through association with the other group of comparatives formed with -ies-, such as Skr. sodd-iyas- Gr. ἡδ-ίω (acc. sing.). In the older stratum of comparatives, like en-tero-* ni-tero-*, it is seldom that the idea of relative contrast appears, as in Gr. πρότερον ἢ 'before that' Osc. pruter-pan 'prius quam'. See § 75 p. 188 ff.

-to- -is-to- -mo- (-ḡmo-) -t-ḡmo-. -to- and -mo- are found first in numerals, where they were used to express position in a numerical series, e. g. deḡḡto-* 'decimus': Gr. δέκατο-ς Goth. taihunda Lith. desziūta-s O.C.Sl. desetŭ, septmo-* septḡmo-* 'septimus': Skr. saptamá- Gr. ἐβδομο-ς Lat. septimu-s O.Ir. sechtm-ad Lith. sėkma-s O.C.Sl. sedmy-ŷi. Thus these suffixes were suited to set one particular idea in comparison with several others separately. Hence -is-to- was formed beside -ies- -is-, to express comparison with a number of objects, cp. e. g. Gr. μέγιστος ἐγὼ ὑμῶν 'I am greater than any one of you' (μεῖζων ἐγὼ ὑμῶν 'I am greater than you', ὑμεῖς being regarded as a single notion), πόλεμον ἀξιολογώτατον τῶν προγεγενημένων

'more remarkable than any one of the preceding wars' (Thucyd I 1). -mo- passed from the numerals to those stems which expressed ideas of space and time and contained the suffix of contrast -ero-, forming either (in contrast to -ero-) the true superlative, as up-mo-* up-ηmo-* 'uppermost, highest' (Skr. upamá- Lat. summu-s) beside upero-*, or, as in Gothic, a general expression of comparison, e. g. Phil. 2, 3 sis aúhuman 'se superiorem' (from which was derived the normal superlative aúhum-ist-s). In the same way, -ηmo- ranged itself beside -tero-, and in Aryan it proved quite as fertile a suffix. See § 72 p. 166 ff., § 73 p. 177 ff., § 81 p. 242 ff.

In Lettish -aka- became the usual suffix of comparison; sa'ld-ák-s 'sweeter'. See § 89 p. 273 f.

§ 140. Verbal Adjectives. Under this head I include all such adjectives as have a more or less participial character, cp. § 144. Here we may make several subdivisions.

1. Forms with Active Meaning.

-nt-. bhero-nt-* 'bearing': Skr. bhárant- Gr. φέρων Lat. ferēns Goth. batrand-s O.C.Sl. bery. See § 126 p. 396 ff.

-ues-, with the implied idea of a completed action (cp. 3 below). Skr. ririk-vás- Gr. λελοιπ-ώς Lith. lik-es 'having let free, left'. Goth. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' ('those who have brought us into the world'). See § 136 p. 438 ff.

Other forms, found in single languages, are: Skr. -vant-, in kytá-vant- 'factum habens, having done', see § 127 p. 406. Slav. -lo- in bi-lŭ 'having smitten', see § 76 p. 212 ff.

2. Forms with Medial and Passive Meaning.

-mno- -meno- -mono- had from the earliest period the same meaning as the medial personal-endings. Skr. yája-māna- Avest. yaza-mna- Gr. ἄζό-μενο-ς partic. of yája-tē yazai-tē ἄζεται 'he honours'. See § 71 p. 163 ff.

-mo- has the same meaning as -mno- in Umbro-Samnitic and Balto-Slavonic. Umbr. persnih-mu 'precamino' Osc. censa-mu-r 'censemino', Lith. vėža-ma-s 'being carried, fit to be carried'. See § 72 p. 166.

Ar. -āna- is used as a medio-passive suffix, as in Skr.

dūh-āna-s dūgh-āna-s, beside the act. indic. dōgdhi 'he milks'. See § 67 p. 151 f.

3. Forms expressing completed action and hence a state, chiefly passive.

-to-. klā-tó*- 'heard, famed': Skr. śrutá- Gr. κλυρό-ς Lat. in-clutu-s O.Ir. cloth O.H.G. Hlot-hari ('Lothair') hlūt ('loud'). gm-tó-*: Skr. gatá- 'gone, gone forth, come' á-gata- 'untrodden', Gr. παρό-ς 'trodden, passable', Lat. circum-ventu-s. See § 79 p. 218 ff.

-no- -yno- and in some of the languages also -eno-on o-. pľ-nó*- pľ-nó-* 'filled, full': Skr. pūrṇá- Avest. per'na- O.Ir. lān Goth. full-s Lith. pilna-s O.C.Sl. plünü; Gr. στυγρό-ς 'hated'; Lith. kiľ-na-s 'exalted'. Goth. fulg-in-s 'hidden'; O.C.Sl. vez-enü 'carried'. Goth. vaúrþ-an-s O.H.G. gi-wort-an 'become'. See § 65 p. 138 ff.

4. Forms expressing the feasibility, possibility, or necessity of the action; passive.

-io- -iio-. Skr. yáj-ya-s Gr. ᾱγ-ιο-ς 'venerandus'. Skr. dṛś-ya-s dārś-īya-s 'visible, worth seeing'. Gr. σύν-ιο-ς 'abominable, detested'. Lat. ex-im-īu-s 'eximendus, distinguished'. Goth. brūk-s (stem brūk-ja-) O.H.G. prūchi 'useful'. See § 63, 1 p. 123 ff.

-tno- -tyno-. Lat. dandu-s 'who is to be given'. Lith. sūk-tina-s 'torquendus'. See § 69, 2 p. 161 ff.

Further the words formed with -to- (3) seem to have sometimes implied this secondary meaning even in Indo-Germanic, primarily however in negative usages. It is found especially in Greek, as λυ-ρό-ς 'that may be freed or loosed'. See § 79, 1 p. 220.

Forms peculiar to single groups of languages: Skr. -tva-, kár-tva-s 'faciendus', see § 61 p. 116. Skr. -tav-ya-, kar-tavyà-s 'faciendus' see § 63 p. 126 f. Gr. -τεο- clearly for -τε-φο-, διωκ-τέο-ς 'who is to be pursued', see § 64 p. 135 with Rem. 1. Occasionally this meaning can be seen in the no- adjectives (3), as Gr. ἀγ-ρό-ς 'venerandus, deserving of honour, holy', σμερδ-ρό-ς

'timendus, terrible', ἔδανός-ς 'eatable'; similarly in Lith. -ma- (2), as vẽža-ma-s 'fit to be carried, transportable', sùka-ma-s 'capable of being twisted'.

§ 141. Denominative Adjectives. The relation to the noun from which they are derived may be any one of many different kinds: the word may mean 'made of the same material', 'belonging to the same species', 'derived from', 'possessing', 'being provided with' etc.

-ino- -īno- -a^oino-. This is especially used with the meaning 'made or consisting of', 'arising from', 'belonging to the same kind as' that which the original noun expresses. Gr. φῆγ-ινο-ς 'beechen' (φηγός-ς). Lith. áuks-ina-s 'golden' (áuksa-s). Avest. bawr-aēni-š Lith. bebr-īn-i-s Lat. fibr-īnu-s 'coming from the beaver' (e. g. fur). Skr. sat-īnā-s (sánt-) Gr. ἀληθ-ινό-ς (ἀληθής) O.H.G. wār-īn (wār) 'truthful'. See § 68 p. 155 ff.

-uent-. The chief meaning is 'provided with' that which the original word denotes; more rarely it means, 'of the same kind'. Skr. viśā-vant- 'poisoned, poisonous' Lat. vīrōsu-s 'poisonous' (viśā-m vīru-s 'poison'). Gr. οἰνό-εις 'made from or with wine', Lat. vīnōsu-s 'full of wine, like wine' (οἶνο-ς vīnu-m 'wine'). Skr. putrá-vant- 'having a son or sons' (putrá-s 'son'). Gr. χαρί-εις 'graceful, gracious' (χάρι-ς 'grace'). Lat. verbōsu-s 'full of words, diffuse' (verbu-m 'word'). See § 127 p. 404 ff.

-tno- -tyno-. This is found in adjectives formed from temporal adverbs. Skr. pra-tnā-s 'ancient, old', nū-tna-s nū-tana-s 'present'. Lat. diū-tinu-s, crās-tinu-s, Lith. dabar-tina-s 'present'. See § 69, 1 p. 160.

-go- occurs in adjectives derived from adverbs, which chiefly express ideas of space. Skr. nī-ca- 'low, going downwards', O.C.Sl. ni-c-ī 'pronus'. Lat. reci-procu-s orig. 'turned backwards and forwards'. Besides these, -go- and also -igo- are found in adjectives formed from substantives; the relation to the original word varies very widely. Skr. sūcī-ka-s 'pricking' (sūcī- 'needle'), śīndhu-ka-s 'arising from the Indus' (śīndhu-ś), Lat. amni-cu-s (amni-s), O.Ir. sūile-ch 'oculeus' (sūil n. 'oculus'), Goth. stáina-h-s O.H.G. steina-g 'stony' (Goth. stáin-s O.H.G. stein 'stone'). Skr.

paryāy-iká-s 'strophic' (paryāyá-s 'strophe'), Gr. νυμφ-ικό-ς 'bridal' (νύμφη 'bride'), Lat. bell-icu-s (bellu-m), O.Ir. cúimn-ech 'mindful' (cuman 'remembrance, memory'), O.H.G. wuot-ig 'furious' (wuot 'fury'). See § 86 p. 255 ff., § 87 p. 260 ff.

The following examples of the proethnic methods of forming adjectives will further serve to shew how widely the relation of the derived to the original word may vary in different cases.

-iō- -iġō-. pātr-iġō-s* 'relating to one's father, fatherly' (pāter-* 'father'): Skr. pātriya-s Gr. πάτριος Lat. patriu-s. Skr. uśas-ya-s 'dedicated to the dawn' Gr. ἠοῖος 'early, eastern' (uśás-ḥwós 'early light, dawn'). Skr. nāv-īya-s 'navigable', Gr. νήιος 'belonging to a ship, consisting of ships' (nāv- νη(f)- 'ship'). The adjectival usage is seen with special clearness in compounds like Gr. ὁμο-πάτρι-ος O.Icel. sam-feðr 'having the same father' compared with the Gr. ὁμο-πάτωρ O.Pers. hama-pitar-, with the same meaning. See § 63, 2 p. 125 ff.

-no-. Skr. strāṇ-ṇa-s 'feminine' (strī- 'woman'). Gr. ἀλγεινό-ς 'paining, painful' (ἄλγος 'pain'), Hom. ἐραυνός 'lovely' (ἔρως 'love'). Lat. aēnu-s (aes), ilīgnu-s (ilex), paternu-s (pater). Skr. purā-ṇá- 'ancient' (purā 'earlier, before'): Umbr. Osc. kom-no-* n. τὸ κοινόν (kom 'cum'); Lith. jáu-na-s O.C.Sl. ju-nŭ 'young' (jaŭ ju 'already, by this time'). See § 66 p. 139 ff.

-ro-. Avest. taḥ-ra (cp. § 74 p. 182 footnote). Mid.Dutch deemster O.H.G. dinstar 'dark' Lith. tams-ra-s 'bay-coloured' (Skr. támas- n. 'darkness'). Gr. οἰζυ-ρός 'mournful' (οἰζύς 'mourning'), φοβε-ρός 'fearful' (φόβος 'fear'), δρῶσε-ρός 'dewy' (δρόσος 'dew'). See § 74 p. 179 ff.

Particular uses in the separate groups of languages: Ar. -a- is especially frequent with the meaning of origin, as Skr. sāvitr-ás 'sprung from savitar', but also denoting every kind of relation, e. g. Skr. mānas-á-s 'mental' (mānas- n. 'mind'), see § 60 p. 112 f. Ar. -in-: Skr. cittin- 'intelligent' (cittl-ś 'intelligence'), parṇin- Avest. per'nin- 'winged'. (Skr. parṇá-m 'wing'), O.Pers. vīḥin- 'belonging to a clan (vīḥ-)', see § 115 p. 357 f. Skr. -nu-: rōciṣ-ṇú-ś 'shining' (rōciṣ- 'light'), kraviṣ-ṇúṣ 'greedy of raw flesh' (kraviṣ-), see § 106 p. 320 f. Gr. -ιμο-, especially with the meaning 'proportioned, suited to' that which the original word denotes; as νόμ-ιμο-ς 'suited to law, legal' (νόμω-ς 'law'), see § 72, 3 p. 174. Gr. -συνο-: δουλό-συνω-ς 'subject, in service' (δοῦλω-ς 'servant'), see § 70 p. 163. Lat. -ali- -eli- -ili- -āli: vīтали-s, fideli-s, hostili-s, idali-s, see § 98 p. 292. Kelt. -ako-, as O.Ir. marc-ach 'equester' (marc 'horse'), see § 89 p. 273. Germ. -iska- Lith. -iszka- O.C.Sl. -isko-: Goth. judaiv-isk-s 'Jewish' (Judaiu-s 'Jew') gud-isk-s 'divine' (guþ 'god') O.H.G. ird-isc 'earthly' (erda 'earth'). Lith. prūs-iszka-s 'Prussian' (Prūsas 'a Prussian'), dėv-iszka-s 'divine' (dėvas 'God'), O.C.Sl. kūnež-iskū 'princely' (kūnežŭ 'prince'), dět-iskū 'childish' (děti f. pl. 'children'), see § 90 p. 276.

§ 142. Amongst denominative adjectives, those with a diminutival meaning form a special group: they denote what merely approximates to the description given by the original adjective, what is only similar to it. This meaning has often disappeared, so that the derived adjective has acquired the meaning of the word from which it was formed.

-lo-. Gr. παχυ-λό-ς 'somewhat thick' (παχύ-ς 'thick'), ἡδύ-λο-ς 'sweetish' (ἡδύ-ς 'sweet'). Skr. bahu-lá- beside bahú- 'thick'. See § 76 p. 198 ff.

-qo-. sene-qo-* orig. 'oldish', beside seno-* 'old': Skr. sanaká- Lat. senex (Goth. sineig-s). Skr. anīyas-ka- beside anīyas- 'thinner, finer', Lat. prīs-cu-s compared with prior, melius-c-ulu-s with melior, nigri-cāre with niger. aṅghu-qo-* orig. 'somewhat narrow', from aṅghú-* 'narrow': Armen. ancuk anjuk- O.C.Sl. qzūkū 'narrow'. See § 84 p. 252 f., § 88 p. 262 ff. Cp. also Lith. -oka-, as saldoka-s 'sweetish, fairly sweet', see § 89 p. 273.

Compare the substantival diminutives, § 153.

-o- neṃ-o-s* 'new': Skr. nāva-s, Gr. νέω-ς, Lat. nov-o-s, O.C.Sl.

novŭ. says-o-s*: Skr. śō-śa-s 'drying, parching', Gr. Ion. avō-s; Lith. saŭsa-s O.C.Sl. suchŭ 'dry'. See § 60 p. 109 ff.

-u. gŕ-u-s* (gr-u-s*): Skr. gurŭ-ś 'heavy, violent, hard', Gr. βαρύς Lat. grav-i-s Goth. kaŕru-s 'heavy'. aŋgh-u-s* 'narrow': Skr. aŋhŭ-ś Armen. ancu-k anju-k Goth. aggou-s O.C.Sl. ažŭ-kŭ. syad-u-s* (sud-u-s*) 'sweet, pleasant': Skr. svādŭ-ś Gr. ῥδύ-s Lat. suāv-i-s Goth. sut-s. See § 104 p. 312 ff.

-ro -gro. rudh-ró-s* -gró-s 'red': Skr. rudh-irá-s Gr. ῥουθ-ρός Lat. rub-er O.C.Sl. rŭd-rŭ. spā-ró-s*: Skr. sphirá-s 'fat, large, rich', Lat. pro-sper, O.C.Sl. sporŭ 'rich'. Skr. cit-rá-s 'shining, glorious, wonderful' O.H.G. heit-ar 'shining, clear, bright'. See § 74 p. 180 ff.

-mo-, excluding its participial function. (§ 140, 2). Avest. gar'-ma Lat. for-mu-s O.H.G. war-m 'warm', Armen. jer-m Gr. θερ-μός 'warm'. Skr. tū-tu-má- Avest. tā-ma- 'strong'; Skr. tig-má- 'sharp', O.Ir. lua-m 'celox'. Goth. rū-m-s 'roomy'. Lith. sziř-ma-s 'gray'. See § 72, 3 p. 170 ff.

-yo-. gŭ-yo-s* 'living': Skr. jīvā-s Lat. vīvo-s Mod.Cymr. byw Goth. giu-s Lith. gyva-s O.C.Sl. živŭ. ǵdh-yo-s*: Skr. ūrdhvā-s Gr. ὀρθός 'upright', Lat. ardo-s 'steep', O.Ir. ard 'high, great, noble'. Skr. pūr-va-s 'former, earlier', Gr. πρω-fo*- in Dor. πράν 'of yore', and other words, O.C.Sl. prŭ-vy-jŭ 'primus'. See § 64 p. 133 ff. In Latin and Germanic this suffix is used in a considerable number of adjectives denoting colour; which must be explained as due to the influence of a few examples (as ǵhel-yo*-. Lat. helvo-s O.H.G. gelo), cp. § 57 p. 104 f.

The Relation of Adjectives to Participles.

§ 144. An adjective can be used to denote not only a quality inherent in the nature of a thing, but a transitory attribute, defined in regard to time according to the standpoint of the speaker; thus it comes to have somewhat of a verbal character, in other words it becomes a participle (μετοχή). Its verbal nature may include the power of governing a case, and of distinguishing different epochs of time, different kinds of action (momentary, continuous, inceptive), and Voice (diathesis, genus verbi). See § 140 p. 451 f.

In general the existence of adjectives as a class must necessarily precede that of participles. Where however we find purely nominal and purely participial values side by side in any one word, it would be incorrect to regard the former as in every case the older; for the participle may be again gradually reduced to a simple noun.

In many cases it is impossible to determine whether the nominal character of any given form dates from a time before the corresponding adjectival form had developed verbal uses, or whether a participle has been re-converted into a noun; e. g. in the case of Skr. śá-śvant- Gr. ᾗ-πᾱς 'complete, whole, every' Skr. bṛhánt- 'exalted, high, great' (§ 126 p. 397 f.), Skr. vid-vás- 'heedful, full of knowledge' compar. vidúṣṭara-vidvattara- (§ 136 p. 438), and in the Skr. and Lith. -to-participles constructed with an adnominal genitive, as Skr. ánuspaṣṭō id bhavaty eṣṭō asya 'conspectus est ille ab eo' (lit. 'eius'), Lith. arklys suėstas vilko 'equus devoratus a lupo' (lit. 'lupi'), cp. also Διός-δοτος (§ 79 p. 218 ff.).

The former transition, from a purely nominal to a participial use, may be assumed with certainty in a few instances in the separate languages; e. g. in the Sanskrit participles with -vant-, like kṛtá-vant- 'having done' (§ 127 p. 406), and in the Slavonic participles in -lo-, as bi-lŭ 'having smitten' (§ 76 p. 212). The connexion with the verbal system was established by the influence exerted on the meaning and usage of the adjectival forms in question by verbal forms derived from the same root, either those of the finite verb, or, sometimes, other participles previously formed. The process of transition was complete when analogous forms of the same kind could be made at will from other verbs in actual use.

Undoubted examples of the change from a participial to a purely nominal character are of frequent occurrence in later periods. Such are e. g. Gr. ἐκών 'willing' μέλλον 'future' Lat. ē-loquēns sapiēns Mod.H.G. reizend 'charming' (§ 126 p. 396 ff.), and the Gr. compar. ἁμην-έστερο-ς 'more glad' ἐρριμην-έστερο-ς 'stouter, stronger' (§ 71 p. 163 ff., § 75 p. 194).

§ 145. Distinction of Sex. The o-suffixes served to indicate male creatures, e. g. ekyo-s* 'horse, stallion': Skr. áśva-s Gr. ἵππο-ς Lat. equo-s O.Ir. ech. Female creatures were distinguished by the ā-suffixes and by -iē- -ī-, e. g. ekyā-* 'female horse, mare': Skr. áśvā Lat. equa Lith. aszva; ulq-iē-* ulq-ī-* 'she-wolf': Skr. vykī O.Icel. ylg-r O.H.G. wulpa. See § 59 ff. p. 107 ff., § 109 ff. p. 332 ff. It must, I think, be assumed, as I have already observed (in § 57 Rem. p. 104, cp. my essay on Gender there cited), that originally neither the o- and ā-suffixes nor even -iē- (-ī-) had any connexion with animal sex; it is far more probable that in one or two words, perhaps in genā-* 'woman' māmā-* 'mother' s-tr-i-iē-* s-tr-ī-* 'woman', the idea of female nature contained in the root of the word was imparted to the suffix, and that this led to the creation of such forms as ekyā-* beside ekyo-, ulqiē- beside ulgo-*, to describe the female as distinct from the male animal. It was only through being contrasted with -ā- and -iē- that the o-formation afterwards came to denote male sex. And it was still constantly and indeed primarily used to denote any given creature without reference to gender, e. g. ἵππο-ς 'horse'. See § 158.

§ 146. Names of kindred. The suffix most frequently used is -er- -ter-, as in daiyér-* 'husband's brother-in-law' (Skr. dēvár- etc.), syésor-* 'sister' (Skr. svásar- etc.), pā-tér-* 'father' (Skr. pitár- etc.). See § 119 ff. p. 376 ff. This suffix in its origin had certainly nothing to do with the notion of kinship. From its accidental use in one or other of these nouns it was taken to form a series of words in which its function was to denote that idea. pā-tér-* seems to have been originally a nomen agentis: 'protector'.

§ 147. Names of Animals. The use of -bho- in one or other of the words denoting animals, which had come down from the earliest times, led the Indians and the Greeks to employ this suffix in other instances to form animal-names; e. g. Skr. śarabhá-s a fabulous eight-legged creature, Gr. ἐλαφο-ς 'stag'. See § 78 p. 216 ff.

In Germanic are found bird-names with Idg. -go-, as Goth. ahak-s 'dove' O.H.G. habuh 'hawk', which follows cranuh 'crane' (Armen. krun-k). See § 91 p. 277 and Kluge Nom. Stammb. p. 29.

§ 148. Names of parts of the body. -en- is found in a large number of proethnic names for parts of the body, though to begin with the suffix had no such meaning. It follows however that this use of it must have developed in the proethnic period, although we cannot tell which of the words containing it, e. g. Skr. údh-an- Gr. οὔθ-α-(το-) 'udder' Skr. yak-án- Gr. ῥῆ-α-(το-) 'liver', formed the type for the rest. It was still a living suffix with the same sense in the separate languages, e. g. Skr. dōṣ-án- 'forearm', Avest. nāmh-an- 'nose'. See § 114 p. 344 ff.

§ 149. Nomina agentis.

-en-. Skr. tákṣ-an- Gr. τέκτ-ων 'carpenter, artificer'. Avest. spas-an- 'watchman', O.H.G. speh-o spy'. Lat. ed-ō O.H.G. egg-o 'glutton'. Gr. κρᾶνυ-ών 'screamer, wood-pecker'. Goth. nut-a 'fisher', O.H.G. bot-o 'messenger'. See § 114 p. 344 ff.

-ter-. Skr. dā-tár- dá-tar- Gr. δο-τήρ δο-τήρ δώ-τωρ Lat. da-tor O.C.Sl. da-tel-ī 'giver'. Skr. pā-tár- pá-tar- 'drinker', Gr. οἶνο-ποτήρ 'wine-drinker', Lat. pō-tor 'drinker, drunkard'. See § 119 ff. p. 376 ff.

-lo-. Gr. κάπηλο-ς 'huckster' δείκηλο-ς 'actor'. Lat. figulu-s 'potter' legulu-s 'gatherer, gleaner'. O.H.G. putil 'beadle' (summoner) brūt-pitil 'a wooer's best man, suitor's advocate', tregil 'bearer'. Lith. tekėla-s 'grindstone turning about an axle' (lit. 'runner'). See § 76 p. 198 ff.

We have an example of a suffix of this meaning occurring only in one group of languages in the Lith. -ika-, as szérika-s 'feeder' tupika-s 'sheaf-binder', see § 87 p. 262.

Many nomina agentis in the Indo-Germanic languages arose through the metaphorical use of nomina actionis for the doer of the action. Thus Skr. dhāti-ṣ m. 'shaker' (as f. 'a shaking', cp. Gr. θῦσις f. 'a raging, roaring'), Avest. rāiti-ṣ m. 'bestower' (as f. 'bestowal, alms', cp. Skr. rātī-ṣ f. 'alms, gift'), O.Ir. taid m. O.C.Sl. tatī m. 'thief' (orig. 'concealment, theft'), see § 99 f. p. 293 ff. Skr. mán-tu-ṣ 'counsellor' as well as 'counsel, advice', see § 108 p. 323 ff. Cp. § 157.

The nomina agentis may be used to denote an activity limited in point of time as well as one constantly repeated. It is especially in the former use that, like the participles, they have developed verbal constructions; for example those in -ter-, as Skr. vásūni dāta 'bona dator' beside vásūnā dāta 'bonorum dator' (cp. p. 378 f.), Lat. (rarely) dator divitiās, jūsta orator beside dator divitiarum, jūstorum orator, Gr. (Aesch. Prom. 612) πυρὸς βροτοῖς δοτῆρ' ὄρες Προμηθεΐα 'thou seest Prometheus, the bestower of fire upon men'. If the connexion between the substantive and the verbal meaning is relaxed, the former may by degrees lose the character of a nomen agentis altogether; there then remains only the notion of a concrete thing or person, Thus pā-ter-* at the time of the separation of the Indo-Germanic races had ceased to mean 'protector', which seems to have been its original signification, and meant simply 'father' (cp. § 146). uksen-* (Skr. ukṣān- Mod.Cymr. ych Goth. aúhsa) did not mean 'sower, begetter', but 'bull'. Gr. τρυγών 'turtle dove' orig. 'cooer' (τρυζώ 'I coo'), Lat. praetor orig. 'qui praeit', O.H.G. heri-zogo 'duke' orig. 'leader of a host'.

§ 150. Nomina instrumenti.

-tro- -tlo-. Skr. arī-tra-m arī-tra-s O.H.G. ruo-dar Lith. ir-kla-s 'rowing implement, oar'. Skr. kār-tra-m 'magic charm'. Gr. φέρετρον φέρτρον Lat. fer-culu-m 'framework for carrying, litter, bier'. See § 62 p. 118 ff.

-ro- -lo-. Avest. pata-ra- 'wing', Gr. πτερόν 'feather, wing' ('means of flying', √ pet- 'fly'). Lat. scalp-ru-m 'cutting instrument, knife', caelu-m 'chisel' for caed-lo-m*, prēlu-m 'press' for prem-s-lo-m*. See § 74 p. 180 ff., § 76 p. 198 ff.

-dhro- -dhlo- in the European languages. Lat. sū-bula in-sūbulu-m Czech ší-dlo 'punch, awl' (Lat. suere). Gr. κῆλη-θρο-ν 'magic charm', ἐπι-βάθρα 'means of climbing, ladder'. Lat. crī-bru-m, tere-bra, suscitā-bulu-m. Czech běli-dlo 'means of colouring white, white paint'. See § 77 p. 213 ff.

Gr. -τηριο- Lat. -tōrio- in neuter nouns. Gr. θελκ-τήριο-ν 'means of enchantment or delight' κρι-τήριο-ν 'means or ground of decision' καλλυν-τήριο-ν 'means of adornment, ornament' καυσ-τήριο-ν 'branding iron' σημαν-τήριο-ν 'seal, stamp', Lat. liquā-tōriu-m 'filtering vessel, strainer' scalp-tōriu-m 'instrument for scratching' circum-cīstōriu-m 'lancet'. See § 63 p. 128 f.

Lith. -tuva-: kosz-tūva-s 'strainer, sieve', min-tuvaī 'tool for tearing flax' and other examples see § 61 p. 117.

Nomina agentis (§ 149) are often used to denote an instrument, this being regarded as if it were a living performer of the action: cp. Mod.H.G. träger used both for the person who carries and for the means of carrying (beams and the like), feld-messer 'surveyor's instrument' and gas-messer 'gasometer' [Eng. shutter, fender etc.] and the like. Thus Skr. sē-tār- 'fetter, bonds' (si- 'enchain, bind'), Gr. ῥαιστήρ 'hammer' (ῥαίω 'I shatter, crush') ζευκ-τήρ 'yoke-strap' (ζεύγνυμι 'I yoke') ἀρν-τήρ 'ladle, spoon, scoop' (ἀρνύω 'I draw water, ladle') just like δο-τήρ 'giver'; Lat. runcō, -ōn-is 'hoe' like edō -ōn-is; O.H.G. meizil 'chisel' (Goth. máita 'I hew') sluzzil 'key' (lit. 'he who closes') slegil 'mallet' ('beater') just like putil 'beadle'.

We find also nomina actionis becoming names of instruments, see § 155.

§ 151. Nomina loci. The suffixes chiefly used to form names of places were those which also formed nomina instrumenti (§ 150). A locality may often be regarded as the means for the performance of an action, e. g. a hiding-place is a means of concealment. When a suffix has so acquired this function in a few words, it may then be used directly in other words as a suffix denoting locality.

-tro- -tlo-. Skr. kṣē-tra-m 'place of settlement, field' Avest. šōi-pre-m 'place of settlement, dwelling-place'. Skr. sthā-trá-m

'standing-place, position', janí-tra-m 'birthplace, home'. Gr. λέκτρον 'lying-place, bed', θέατρον 'place of exhibition, theatre'. Lat. cubi-culu-m, spectā-culu-m, hospitā-culu-m, ambulā-cru-m. Lith. bū-klà 'home', bū-klà-s (ū?) 'lair of an animal'. See § 62 p. 118 ff.

-ro- -lo-. Skr. mand-irā-m housing, chamber, house', Gr. μάνδρα 'fold, pen, stall'. Skr. aj-irā-m 'arena, courtyard'. Gr. ἔδρα O.Icel. set-r n. 'seat'. Gr.Lac. ἔλλα for ἔδ-λα* Lat. sella for sed-la* Goth. sit-l-s 'seat', O.C.Sl. selo 'fundus, habitaculum' Upper Sorb. sy-dlo 'dwelling-place'. Here no doubt should be classed Idg. aǵ-ro-s* 'common, meadow, field' (Skr. áj-ra-s, Gr. ἀγρός Lat. ag-er Goth. ak-r-s) as denoting 'a place for driving cattle', √ aǵ- 'agere', cp. Skr. ajirá-m; the word acquired the meaning 'arable land' only when pasturing gave way to tillage, and the greater part of the land was cultivated by the plough. See § 74 p. 180 ff., § 76 p. 198.

-dhro- -dhlo-. Gr. ἀλυνθή-θρα, 'wallowing-place', γενέ-θλη 'birthplace' ἔδε-θλον 'seat, site'. Lat. volatā-bru-m 'wallowing-place for swine', sta-bulu-m, nata-bulu-m, conciliā-bulu-m, lati-bulu-m, late-bra. Czech by-dlo 'dwelling'. See § 77 p. 213 ff.

Gr. -τηριο- Lat. -tōriu-. Gr. ἀγωνισ-τήριον 'place of battle', ἀκροᾶ-τήριον 'hall of audience', ἐργασ-τήριον 'place of work', βουλευ-τήριον 'council hall'. Lat. audi-tōriu-m dēversōriu-m condi-tōriu-m.

Other suffixes came in other ways to denote locality. Thus -μεν- in Greek, as οἰνεών οἰνών 'wine-bin', παρθενεών παρθενών 'maidens' apartment', ἱππών 'stable', λασιών 'place thick with bushes', see § 116 p. 364. -to- in Lat., as arbus-tu-m 'plantation' ('something provided with trees'), filic-tu-m 'place full of ferns', cārec-tu-m 'place full of reeds', see § 79 p. 231 f. and cp. § 152. Cp. further the nomina actionis which have become names of place, § 155.

§ 152. Collective Nouns. Under this head there is little to notice. The chief means which the Indo-Germanic languages possess of denoting groups of things collectively in the singular is the use of the neuter (e. g. Gr. ὑπήκοο-ν 'dependencies' compared with ὑπήκοο-ς 'subject, dependent') which cannot be properly considered in this section, although indeed the view of the distinctively neuter case-suffixes as having been originally used to form the stem of the noun to which they were added is one which has nothing against it and a good deal in its favour. Nor are we here concerned with the collective use of the singular in names of peoples and the like (e. g. Gr. ὁ Πέρσης = 'the Persians' O.Pers. mada = 'the Medes collectively, Media'), or with the later use of compounds in which the final member had become a kind of suffix, (e. g. O.H.G. liut-scaf 'natio' Mid.H.G. heiden-schaft 'heathendom, the Saracens and their country').

Notice first that denominative adjectives, denoting connexion with the word from which they are derived, are a very common means of representing the collective idea. It will be found, I believe, that the neuter is regular in all the cases which occur frequently, and this was a factor of importance in expressing the collective meaning. E. g. Gr. -ικό-ν: ἵππικό-ν 'body of horsemen', ὀπλιτικό-ν 'body of heavyarmed troops', συνμαχικό-ν 'alliance, host of allies', see § 87 p. 260. The Lithuanian collectives in -ýna-s also, such as aužųl-ýna-s 'a number of oaks standing together, grove of oaks', krūm-ýna-s 'thick underwood', akmen-ýna-s 'heap of stones', appear to have been originally neuter, see § 68 p. 159.

We must further observe that sometimes suffixes used in substantives denoting a quality are also used collectively; e. g. Skr. janá-tā 'company of people, community', Little-Russ. bidota 'proletariate' temnota 'ignorant people' (§ 80 p. 238 ff.), Gr. φρᾶτρία O.C.Sl. bratrŕja 'brotherhood' (§ 63 p. 125 ff.).

The collective nouns cannot always be clearly distinguished from the nomina loci (§ 151). A few of the group of Latin neuters in -tu-m mentioned in the previous section may be repeated here; e. g. arbus-tu-m 'plantation', virgul-tu-m 'bushes', salic-tu-m 'willow plantation, undergrowth of willows'.

§ 153. Diminutives and Pet Names. The sense of diminution (depreciation, detraction, endearment and so forth) often disappeared, partly even in prehistoric periods. Compare the diminutive adjectives in § 142.

-lo-. Skr. vṛṣa-lā-s 'mannikin, small man', śalaka-lā 'little shaving'. Gr. ὑρκινλος 'young bear'. Lat. porc-ulu-s porcil-ia O.H.G. farhel-i Lith. parszē-l-i-s 'little pig, sucking pig'. Lat. rot-ula Lith. ratē-l-i-s 'small wheel'. O.H.G. bendil 'little band'. See § 76 p. 198 ff.

-qo-. Skr. marya-kā-s 'mannikin', Gr. μειραξ 'girl' μειράκιον 'boy'. Skr. aśva-kā-s 'small horse'. Gr. βῶμαξ 'small altar'. Lat. homun-c-iō 'mannikin' (in the sense of a weak creature), ovi-c-ula 'little sheep'. Lith. parszūka-s 'little sucking pig', tėvūka-s 'little father', O.C.Sl. synū-kū 'little son'. See § 84 p. 252 f., § 88 p. 262 ff.

Usages confined to single groups of languages: Gr. neuters in -io-v: ὄρνιθ-ιο-ν 'small bird', ἐταυρίδ-ιο-ν 'little mistress', ἀσπίδ-ιο-ν 'small shield', ἀδελφ-ίδιο-ν 'little brother', see § 63 p. 128. Germanic neuters with -īna-: Goth. gait-ein O.H.G. geiz-īn 'little goat', Goth. gum-ein 'little man', see § 68 p. 158. In both these instances the intermediate stage was the idea of belonging to a species, which suggested that of incompleteness and inferiority. The developement was perhaps the same in the case of the suffix -ien- in Avest. kain-in- f. 'girl', Lat. pūs-iō 'little boy' pūmil-iō 'dwarf' senec-iō 'little old man' homunc-iō and others of the same sort, see § 115 p. 358. 359. Mention should also be made of the Germanic diminutives with Idg. -go-, such as O.H.G. armihha 'paupercula' snurihha 'little daughter-in-law', see § 91 p. 277.

Diminutive suffixes were often combined, as Gr. -x-io-, Lat. -c-ulo- -l-ulo-, Germ. -l-ina-, Lith. -lė-la- (nom. -lė-l-i-s). This was done partly to give a fuller and more emphatic expression to the idea of diminution, e. g. Lat. agellulu-s beside agellu-s, from ager 'field', Lith. mergelėle beside mergėlė, from mergà 'girl', partly in consequence of a complete loss of the diminutival sense in the first suffix, e. g. Lat. mus-c-ulu-s, Mod.H.G. ferk-el-chen.

-lo- and -go- were frequently employed in the proethnic and later periods in names of persons, especially to form 'pet names'. How far indeed the suffix retained its proper sense, is often hard to determine in any particular instance. Skr. bhānu-la-s, Gr. Θρασύ-λο-ς, O.Ir. Tuathal, Goth. Vulfi-la, Pruss. Butil. Skr. dēva-ka-s dēvika-s Gall. Dīvico Dīvic-ia, Skr. śuna-ka-s Gr. Κύναιξ, Skr. sana-ka-s Gall. Senicco Seneca O.H.G. Sinigu-s (the termination is Latin), O.H.G. Berhtung Berhting, Pruss. Tewiko Banduke.

Relation of Adjectives to Concrete Substantives.

§ 154. No distinction in form has ever been made in the Indo-Germanic languages between the adjective or participle on the one hand and the concrete substantive on the other.

Adjectives were used without change as substantives, just as substantives were often used without change as adjectives. Thanks to this usage the original adjectival or substantival character was often completely lost; thus Idg. dont-* 'tooth' (Skr. dānt- etc.), originally a verbal adjective meaning 'eating', became a simple substantive, perhaps even in the proethnic period (§ 126 p. 394. 398). The original character of a particular word however often appears side by side with the new sense, e. g. Lat. nātū-s 'born' and 'son', uber 'udder, exuberant fulness, abundance' and 'fertile, rich'.

The process of the change from adjective to substantive was frequently that the meaning of the adjective came to include the idea of some substantive to which the adjective was especially often applied. Thus ναῦς 'ship' was often left unexpressed Greek, as in the phrases ἡ τριήρης, ἡ πρόμνη. In many instances the different languages show a remarkable agreement, and there the usages in question may date from the Indo-Germanic period. Thus we have fem. Gr. δεξιὰ (sc. χείρ) Lat. dextra (sc. manus) 'the right hand', O.Ir. for deis (sc. laim) 'on the right', Goth. tathsva (sc. handu-s), Lith. deszinė (sc. rankà) 'the right hand', but on the contrary masc. Skr. dākṣiṇa-s (sc. hāsta-s) 'right hand'. Lat. capr-ina

'goat's flesh' Lith. ož-ėnà 'flesh of a he-goat' O.C.Sl. bībrov-ina 'beaver's flesh'; Lat. rāp-ina 'turnip-field' Lith. aviž-ėnà 'oat-field' O.C.Sl. nov-ina 'newly ploughed land, fallow land', see § 68 p. 156 ff.

But some formative suffixes acquired the special function of converting adjectives into substantives, being used as denominative suffixes to form names of persons or things possessing the attribute or quality which was expressed by the original word. -en- is very commonly so used, especially in Germanic; e. g. Avest. mar't-an- 'a mortal' beside mar'ta- 'mortal', Gr. σπαθ-ων 'squinter' beside σπαθό-ς 'spinting', Lat. Rūf-ō beside rūfu-s Goth. rāud-a 'red one' beside rāuþ-s 'red', Lith. rud-ũ 'autumn' beside rūda-s 'reddish-brown'. See § 114 p. 344 ff. Other suffixes of this kind are found only in single groups of languages, as -āgo- in Balt.-Slav., e. g. Lith. naujōka-s O.C.Sl. novakũ 'novice' beside naūje-s novũ 'new' (§ 89 p. 274), and Germ. -inga-, e. g. O.H.G. arming 'poor man, poor fellow' beside arm 'poor' (§ 88 p. 267).

Substantives denoting an activity or state (nomina actionis, verbal abstract nouns).

§ 155. To denote an activity or a state is in general the function of the verb. Substantives which express an action or a state owe their existence to a metaphor, as do those which denote a quality (§ 157), — action and state being regarded as belonging to the category of material objects.

It often happens that the nomen actionis does not express its own idea simply, but represents also, by a confusion, the notion of a person or thing that is in some way connected with the action; thus such substantives come to denote material objects. The designation of the action may be applied to its (grammatical) subject: e. g. Mod.H.Germ. rat (properly 'advice') = 'adviser, counsellor', strom strömung (properly 'a streaming') = 'streaming water', verzierung (properly 'an adorning') = 'something which adorns'. [Cp. Eng. counsel (in e. g. Queen's Counsel), a grief = 'something which grieves', a hindrance = 'something which hinders']. Or it may be further extended to denote the external (direct) object of the action, that which is in any way affected by the action, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. saat (properly 'a sowing') = 'what is sown', wohnung (properly 'the act of inhabiting') = 'the house a man inhabits' [cp. Eng. contrivance = 'what is contrived', belief = 'what is believed']. Or to the internal (cognate) object, thus giving rise to a term for the result of the action, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. riss (properly 'a rending') = 'a rent', wuchs (properly 'a growing') = 'the result of growing, growth, figure', vereinigung (properly 'a uniting') = 'the result of uniting, a united body' [cp. Eng. growth, union, a spelling = 'the method or result of spelling a word']. In the same way we have such words used as nomina instrumenti, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. verzierung = 'means of adornment', lösung (properly 'a setting free') = 'means of setting free, redemption-money' [cp. Eng. distinction = 'means of distinguishing', influence ('he will use his influence for me') = 'means of influencing', relief = 'means of relieving']; or as nomina loci e. g. Mod.H.Germ. wohnung = 'a dwelling-place', trift (properly 'a driving') = 'pasture-land' [cp. Eng. dwelling, pasture] etc. Cp. Paul Princ.² p. 81 f.

These various developements are generally difficult to separate clearly, and hence in what follows we shall not confine our attention to the nomina actionis in the strict sense but consider along with them those which show the secondary variations of meaning that have just been enumerated.

We will begin with the suffix which seems to retain the simple meaning of an action or state most regularly.

Other suffixes used in the formation of nomina actionis will be discussed in §§ 156 and 158.

When the nomina actionis had come to denote material objects, they were liable a still further extension of meaning, namely to be used as adjectives (cp. § 154). Here perhaps should be classed e. g. Skr. pū-ti-ṣ 'stinking' and tapya-tū-ṣ 'hot, glowing', originally 'stench' and 'heat, glow'.

§ 156. Since the nomina actionis denote not merely a continuous activity but also one which may be defined in point of time, they sometimes come to be used in verbal constructions. Here, as in the case of the adjective (§ 144), the connexion with the verb may include the power of governing a case, and of distinguishing differences of time, different kinds of action (such as momentary, continuous, inceptive) and Voice (diathesis, genus verbi).

This kind of assimilation to the character and construction of the verb appears e. g. in Gr. τὴν τοῦ θεοῦ δόσιν ὑμῖν (Plat.) 'the gift of God to you', περὶ δὲ σφίσι καταδουλώσειως (Thuc.) = περὶ δὲ τοῦ ἑαυτοῖς καταδουλωθῆναι (τοὺς Ἕλληνας), Lat. reditus Rōmam. But a still more complete identification is seen in what are called infinitives (and supines), which are crystallised cases (generally acc., dat., loc.) of nomina actionis. An infinitive may be said to be completely formed when the noun is no longer regarded as a case-form belonging to its own system, and its construction no longer follows the analogy of its original use as a noun; this is true, for example, of Gr. δόμεναι δοῦναι Lat. dare, at the earliest period of which we have record. Before, however, such forms were completely isolated from the nominal system, they passed through a number of intermediate stages, and hence it is often hard to say whether any particular form should be called an infinitive in the strict sense of the word¹⁾. The infinitives that least deserve the name are the Irish, because the nomina actionis used in Irish where other languages use the infinitive retained the construction of nouns, e. g. ar-dot-chuibdig fri sechem na m-bria-thar sin 'pledge thyself to obey these words' (literally 'to the obeying of these words'). In this latter respect (the power of governing an acc.) even the language of the Veda shews a further degree of development; e. g. we find not only ándhasaḥ pītáyē 'for the drinking of the soma-juice', but also ándhāsi pītáyē; the same double construction is found in the Avesta (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 12 f.). The infinitive reached its most characteristic development in Greek and Latin, the only languages in which we find a special expression for differences of voice.

The following formative suffixes are distributed amongst the infinitival forms (we may omit the Keltic infinitives). -tu- in Ar., Lat., Balt.-Slav., see § 108 p. 323 ff. -ti- in Ar., Balt.-Slav., see § 99 f. p. 293. -men- in Ar., Gr., see § 117 p. 365 ff. -uen- in Ar., Gr., see § 116 p. 362 ff. -es- in Ar., Lat., see § 131 f. p. 411 ff. In single groups of languages: -i- in Ar., see § 93 p. 279 f.; -lo- in Armen., see § 76 p. 202; -o- in Umbr.-Samn., see § 60 p. 114; -ono- in Germ., see § 67 p. 153. 154.

As the participle might again become a simple noun (§ 144), so also could the infinitive. In this case, however, the process was more difficult because it was not inflected. The approximation to the noun was easiest where there was least necessity for expressing its relations by means of inflexion, that is, in its use as subject or object; e. g. Gr. πάντεςσιν ἐπὶ ξυροῦ ἵσταται ἀκμῆς ἢ μάλα λυγροῦς ὄλεθρος Ἀχαιοῖς ἡὲ βιωῖναι (Hom. K. 173), πειρήσω ἀλαλχεῖν (Id. T. 30), Lat. habēre ēripitur, habuisse nun- quam (Sen.), hic verērī (= verēcundiam) perdidit (Plaut.). This led on to such constructions as Gr. τὸ λέγειν, Lat. tuom amāre (Plaut.), nostrum istud vīvere triste (Pers.), nīl praeter plōrāre (Hor.), quid hūius vīvere est? (Sen.)¹ and so forth. See Paul Princ.² 311 f.

1) Hence e. g. the objection urged by Brunnhofer against Ludwig and Wilhelm, that they had adduced as infinitives Vedic forms which were nothing but nomina actionis (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 330).

Substantives denoting a quality (Abstract Substantives in the strict sense).

§ 157. Substantives which denote a quality, owe their existence to a metaphor just as do the nomina actionis: an attribute or natural quality was regarded as belonging to the class of material objects.

Substantives denoting a quality often come to designate the person to whom the quality belongs, e. g. Mod.H.G. Jugend = 'youthful persons, young folk (collectively)' or 'a single youthful person', [Eng. youth]. But it is difficult to maintain any sharp distinction between the separate uses, and therefore the words which show this secondary developement of meaning will be treated along with the rest. It is important also to recognise the fact that no hard and fast line can be drawn between this class of nouns and the nomina actionis with their secondary shades of meaning. It is natural enough that the two divisions should often overlap.

The suffixes that most frequently appear in these abstract nouns are the following.

-tā-. Avest. cista- 'wisdom'. Gr. πινυτή 'prudence, understanding'. Lith. geltā 'yellowness'. Lat. juventa Goth. junda 'youth'. In Greek and Slavonic are found concrete nouns like ἀγρότης 'countrymen' junota 'youth'. See § 79 p. 220 ff., § 80 p. 238 ff.

-tati- -tāt- and -tūti- -tūt-. Skr. sarvātāti-§ sarvātāt- 'completeness' Avest. haurvatāt- 'safety' Gr. όλότης 'totality, entirety'. Gr. νότης 'youth', Lat. novitās 'novelty, strangeness'.

-es- -os-. reges*- 'gloom, darkness': Skr. rājas (Armen. erek) Gr. ἔρεβος Goth. riqis. Skr. māhas- 'greatness, size', yūśas- 'glory', Gr. εὐρος 'breadth', μήκος 'length', βέθυνος 'depth', μέγεθος 'size, greatness'. Lat. Venus 'charm of love', languor 'weariness', lēvor 'smoothness', dulcor 'sweetness'. See § 131 ff. p. 411 ff.

In single groups of languages: e. g. Lat. -tūdin-, fortitūdō 'fearlessness', lassitūdō 'weariness' (cp. § 128 p. 409), Lith. -ybė-, auksztỹbė 'height, highness', O.C.Sl. -ba-, zūloba 'wickedness' (§ 78 p. 217 f.).

The Relation of Adjectives to Abstract Substantives (nomina actionis and substantives denoting a quality) formed with the same suffixes.

§ 158. In conclusion we have to discuss another question which bears upon the origin of the substantives denoting an action or a quality and the general relation between adjectives and substantives in Indo-Germanic.

Many nouns formed with o-suffixes act both as adjectives and as abstract substantives; as a rule it happens that the feminine or neuter form, more rarely that the masculine form is the one which is used substantivally. If the adjective is a nomen agentis, we have a corresponding nomen actionis, e. g. Skr. srutá-s 'flowing': srutá-m n. 'a flowing, flood'. Or if it predicates an attribute, then the corresponding substantive denotes the attribute, e. g. Lith. gel̃ta-s 'yellow': gel̃tà f. 'yellowness'.

The following are examples.

Feminine. Avest. cistā- 'wisdom': Skr. cittā- partic., in the neut. 'observation, thought, intent, spirit'. Gr. πινυτή 'intelligence, wisdom': πινυρό-ς 'intelligent'; γενετή 'birth, origin': Lat. genitu-s; βροντή 'thunder'. Lat. offēnsa 'a striking against, offence': offēnsu-s; repulsa 'rejection': repulsu-s; impēnsa 'expenditure': impēnsu-s; multa 'punishment': mulsu-s instead of mol(c)tu-s* (the isolation of the substantive from the participle preserved it from the analogical change which affected the latter), Skr. mṛṣṭá- 'grasped, touched'. O.Ir. ed-part ed-bart 'oblatio': do-breth Mid.Ir. 'datum est', (Skr. bhṛtá-s Gr. φειρό-ς); loth 'filth': compare this and the Lat. lutu-m lutu-s 'mud' with Lat. -lūtu-s (ab-lūtu-s etc.) 'besprinkled, soiled'. Goth. skanda O.H.G. scanta 'disgrace': O.H.G. scant 'shamed'; O.H.G. forahta 'fear': Goth. faiúrht-s 'fearful'; A.S. zud 'battle': Skr. hatá- 'smitten'. Lith. gel̃tà- 'yellowness': gel̃ta-s 'yellow'; banktos pl. 'boisterousness, storm': bankta-s 'boisterous'. O.C.Sl. vr̃sta 'condition, state, position, stage': Skr. vr̃ttá- 'versus'. The secondary Idg. suffix -tā- in Lat. juventa Skr. pūr̃ṇatā etc. should be added here, see p. 238 ff.

Neuter. Skr. mṛtá-m 'death' O.H.G. mord 'murder': Skr. mṛtá-s 'dead'. Skr. matá-m 'meaning, opinion, intent' Lat. com-mentu-m 'idea, invention, design' O.Ir. der-met 'forgetfulness': Skr. matá- 'thought, intended'. Idg. kley-to-m* 'faculty of hearing' Avest. sraote-m Goth. hliup: Skr. śrutá-s 'heard'. Skr. srutá-m 'flowing, flood, stream': srutá-s 'flowing'; stutá-m 'laudation, praise': stutá-s 'praised, lauded'; mānita-m 'a doing of honour': mānita-s 'to whom honour is done, honoured'; Avest.

fra-āta-m 'help, success': fra-āta- 'helped, made'. O.H.G. ferid 'navigium'. O.C.Sl. paŭo 'fetter': partic. peŭū. Here we must also class Idg. -mŭ-to-, as in Skr. śrōmata-m 'a listening to' O.H.G. hlumunt 'repute, character', Lat. cōgnōmentu-m, see p. 249.

Masculine. Skr. ghā-ta-s 'blow, slaying'. Avest. stutō 'laudation, prayer', cp. Skr. n. stutā-m. Remark. With regard to the relation of the forms with vocalism of the strong grade to those with that of the weak grade (e. g. O.C.Sl. paŭo peŭo) see p. 221 above.

Lat. auguriu-m 'act of divination, prophecy': auguriu-s 'prophetic'. O.H.G. gi-fuori 'suitability, usefulness': gi-fuori 'suitable, useful'. Furthermore forms like Lith. kiṛti-s 'cut, blow' (: Skr. kartya-s 'to be hewn or cut off') etc. no doubt represent original neuters; see p. 124 f.

-tno- tyno-. Examples of neuter forms are O.Pers. cartana- 'action', loc. cartanaīy used as infinitive, Lat. gen. dandī 'of giving': Lat. dandu-s 'to be given', Lith. sūktina-s 'torquendus'. See p. 161 ff.

This brief list of examples is enough to justify the conclusion that the fluctuation between the adjectival and substantival value in the o-nouns dates from the proethnic period¹). Now in the case of the double usage of the es-stems (such as Skr. māhas- 'greatness': mahās- 'great', Gr. ψεῖδος 'lie': ψεῦδής 'lying, false'), which is also proethnic, it can scarcely be doubted that the substantival value is the older, and it would be natural to adopt the same view in the present instance. But no decision is possible until the original meaning of the a-suffixes as opposed to the o-suffixes has been established. In discussing these (p. 106, 458) we were led to the conclusion that except in a comparatively small group of words (e. g. Lat. equo-s equa), they had no connexion whatever with the distinction of animal sex. A further consideration may now perhaps be suggested. Is it not precisely in the variation of meaning we have just noticed that we must look for light on the original function of the o-and a- suffixes?

1) It is still a question for investigation how far this use has been extended in the separate families of languages apart from the direct influence of the original variation of meaning in similar cases which came down from Indo-Germanic (cp. e. g. B. H. Balser, De linguae Graecae participis in neutro genere substantive posito, Lips. 1878, p. 29 ff.).

NOUNS WITHOUT FORMATIVE SUFFIXES (ROOT-NOUNS)¹⁾.

§ 159. The term Root-nouns is applied to those nouns which do not admit of analysis into root and formative suffix, in the termination of whose stem no element can be recognised which is similarly used elsewhere to form noun stems. Whether, however, all the nouns that fall under this definition were from the beginning absolutely simple forms, must be left an open question. Many of them, e. g. Skr. div- 'heaven' and Lat. hiem- (see below), may have been originally compound forms.

Root-nouns are found in all divisions of Indo-Germanic; they have been preserved most frequently in Aryan and the classical languages. In many instances they lost the special character of their formation and passed into the analogy of some vowel declension (cp. § 56 p. 102 f.), and we may regard this change of declension as the chief cause of their comparatively rare appearance in Armenian and in Germanic²⁾, and of their almost complete disappearance in Balto-Slavonic. Here however we are bound to discuss all the nouns of this kind which occur in the separate languages, when the change of declension has made no difference in their meaning.

The Root-nouns have no simple, clearly marked function (such as that of denoting material things, actions or any other special idea). Even those which are demonstrably proethnic have meanings of different kinds. The uncompounded examples are mostly substantives, and amongst these the nouns denoting an action (fem.) and those denoting the agent preponderate; and in the former group we must include those that are used as

1) Leo Meyer, Die einsilbigen Nomina im Griech. und Lat., Kuhn's Ztschr. V 366 ff.

2) As far as the Germanic is concerned, this exchange of declension has been thoroughly discussed by B. Kahle, Zur Entwicklung der consonantischen Declination im Germanischen, Berlin 1887.

infinitives in Aryan, Greek and Latin. When they are the second members of compounds these nouns usually denote an agent.

This method of forming noun-stems was still in active use in the separate developement of Aryan, Greek and Italic.

§ 160. Root-nouns uncompounded.

We will begin with such examples as appear simultaneously in more than one group of languages.

1. Forms showing vowel-gradation.

uoik-* uik-* (√ueik- 'enter'): Skr. viś- f. 'settlement, house, community, stock', Avest. vis- O.Pers. viṣ- f. 'village community, clan'; Gr. oĩzaδε, better written, oĩzá-δε, 'homewards' (compare Hom. τορχά-ιx-εc?) ; O.C.Sl. vīs-ī 'village', which follows the i-declension. With Skr. acc. viś-am cp. dīv-am Gr. Δία beside dyām Zēn (see p. 481).

dork-* dŕk-* (√derk- 'see'): Skr. dṛś- f. 'seeing, perception, eye', adj. 'seeing, beholding', inf. dṛś-ē 'to see' (§ 162); Gr. δῶqξ δοqx-ός f. 'roe, gazelle' (named from its eye).

Avest. bar^ez- ber^ez- f. 'height', adj. 'high'. O.Ir. bri, gen. breg, 'mountain' (I § 288 p. 230, § 298 p. 236). Goth. baúrg-, gen. baúrg-s, 'fortress, city'. Avest. bar^ez- may stand for bhŕgĝh-* bhorĝh-* or bherĝh-; all the other forms represent bhŕgĝh-.

sem-*, sm- sm-. Gr. εἷς Cret. έιν-ς, gen. έιν-ός, 'unus', έιν 'unum' (έιν-ός substituted for έιμ-ος*, see I § 204 p. 170); μῶννξ 'with undivided hoof' for σμ-ωννξ*, fem. μία for σμ-ια*; ᾗμα 'simul' instr. sing., see I § 236 p. 199. Lat. sem-per 'in one unbroken sequence, always'; for -per see I § 658, 7 p. 504.

kred-* (kerd-) and kŕd- 'heart'. Skr. śrād dadhāmi 'I believe, trust' Lat. crēdō for crezdō* (I § 507 Rem. p. 372) O.Ir. cretim 'credo' (I § 521 p. 379), from the pr. Idg. phrase kred dhē-*. Lat. cor cord-is O.Lith. gen. pl. szird-u (now szirdžiū) from kŕd-*, cp. Gr. καρδ-ιά Ion. καρδ-ίη etc., where the root has the same vowel-grade (I § 292 p. 234). Gr. κῆρ no doubt for κηρδ¹*).

1) This shews that the law of vowel shortening discussed in I § 611 p. 461 f. was later than the loss of the d. Cp. p. 423 footnote.

Remark 1. Armen. sirt and Goth. hairsō 'heart' represent kērd-* or kērd-* (the ē being shortened, cp. I § 614 p. 464 f.). What relation does this form bear to kērd-? In view of this difference and of others, such as Lat. grax: Gr. γέγραφα (§ 52 p. 94), Gr. βέρεος: O.C.Sl. žrěbъ for *žerbъ, Gr. φλέγω O.H.G. blechen Skr. bhrājātē: Skr. bhārgas (cp. also Skr. drakṣyāmi and the like I § 259 p. 212), we may perhaps suppose that the metathesis — under certain conditions — occurred in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

ped-* m. 'foot'. Ar. pad-: Skr. acc. sing. pād-am dat. sing. pād-ē loc. pl. patsú, Avest. acc. sing. pāḍ-em pāḍ-em dat. pl. pad'byō instr. sing. pāḍ-a. Armen. pl. ot-kē; by its side we find otn gen. otin. Gr.Dor. πῶς (πῶς?) πός Att. πούς (the ou has not been explained), gen. ποδός etc., instr. sing. Lesb. Boeot. etc. πεδ-ά 'after, with', Heracl. ἑκατὶ-πεδ-ο-ς 'amounting so 20 feet'. Lat. pēs ped-is, Umbr. perī persi 'pede' du-purs-us 'bipedibus'. In Germanic ped-* occurs in O.Icel. fet n. 'step', pod-* in A.S. fæt 'step'; elsewhere pōd-*: nom. pl. O.Icel. fætr A.S. fēt = pr. Germ. fōt-iz*, loc. sing. A.S. fēt = pr. Germ. fōt-i*; Goth. acc. fōt-u fōt-uns (pr. Germ. -un -uns = -m -us, I § 244 p. 203), on the pattern of which was formed nom. sing. fōt-u-s etc. (thus the correspondence of the Gothic word with Skr. pād-ū-ṣ would be purely accidental). For the ablaut cp. I § 311 p. 249.

Skr. vāc- f. 'voice, speech', without vowel gradation (acc. vāc-am dat. vāc-ē), Avest. vāc- vac- m. 'speech, word, prayer' (nom. vāxš acc. vāc-em instr. vac-a). Gr. ὡψ f. 'voice'. Lat. vōx f. 'voice, word', all from √ueq- 'speak'. The original paradigm is uncertain, perhaps nom. uóq(-s)* acc. uóq-η* loc. uég-i* dat. uq-áj*. Cp. I § 314 p. 252 f.

Skr. bhrāj- f. 'brightness, gleam' instr. bhrāj-ā (cp. pres. bhrāj-a-tē). Gr. φλόξ φλογός f. 'flame' (cp. pres. φλέγ-ω). The root is bhleg- (bhelg-), cp. Rem. 1 above; the original paradigm of the noun is not clear.

nās-* nas-* 'nose'. Skr. du. nās-ā instr. sing. nas-ā, O.Pers. acc. nāh-am. Lat. nār-em, which has become an i-stem (nārium etc.). Cp. also A.S. næs-āyrlu, Lith. nas-rai nōs-i-s. Originally it formed acc. nās-η* dat. nas-áj*. Cp. I § 318 p. 257. We cannot regard as certain the often repeated conjecture that the -s- in Lat. nās-u-s O.C.Sl. nos-ŭ is explained by supposing nās(s)* to be the original form of the nominative, cp. I § 569 Rem. 3 p. 427.

2. Forms showing vowel-gradation, and the loss of the final consonant of the root before the -m which appears in the acc. sing. when a sonant follows. (Cp. I § 188 p. 162, § 192 p. 164).

dīey-* dīey* m. 'heaven, bright day'. Skr. dyāu-ṣ diyāu-ṣ acc. sing. dyām diyām div-am nom. pl. dyāv-as diyāv-as div-as loc. sing. dyāv-i div-i dat. sing. div-ē instr. pl. dyū-bhi-ṣ. Gr. Ζεῖ-ς for Zḡu-ς* (I § 611 p. 461) voc. Ζεῦ acc. Ζῆν (whence sprang the forms Ζῆνα Ζηνός Ζηνί) Δί(φ)-α gen. Δί(φ)-ός loc. Δί(φ)-ί. Lat. Umbr. Osc. Jov- (for Dīov-*, I § 135 p. 122, § 506 p. 371) and Di(i)ov-: Lat. Jov-em Jov-is, Jūpiter Juppiter voc. = Ζεῦ πάτερ (I § 612 p. 463), dat. O.Lat. Diov-ei Diov-e, Umbr. Iuve Osc. Iuv-ei 'Iovi' Osc. Diúv-ei 'Iovi'; the Ital. -ov- may in all the cases = Idg. ey (I § 65 p. 52)¹⁾; to these add Lat. diem for diēm*. Germ. gen. sing. in O.H.G. (Alemannic) Zios-tac A.S. Tīwes-dæg O.Icel. Týs-dag-r (Goth. Tius-dag-s*) 'day of Tiu (Zio), Tuesday'. The original paradigm seems to have been: nom. dīey-s* (beside this possibly a parallel form dīēs* before consonants and when it stood last in a sentence, cp. Gr. Ζῆς Lat. diēs) acc. dīēm* voc. dīey* (for the quality of the accent see I § 671 p. 536) loc. dīey-i* dat. diy-ái* loc. pl. dīu-sú*.

Remark 2. The analysis of diu-* into di-u-* is no doubt right. diu-* seems to bear the same relation to di-* dei-* as sru- (Skr. sru-tá- 'flowing') bears to sr- ser- (Skr. sar- 'go, flow'), see § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20 f. Then as we speak of a 'root' srey-, we may certainly add dīey-* to the root-nouns. However, if any scholar, in view of Avest. bāzāu-š O.Pers.

1) There is nothing to prevent our claiming for Italic the same double forms dīey-* and dīey-* as we find in Sanskrit; cp. also I § 120 p. 111 and § 153 p. 138 f., § 170 p. 150 (bi-dēns: dui-dēns). I am therefore unable to agree with Danielsson, who would separate etymologically Jov- and Diov- (Gramm. und etym. Stud. I. 49).

dahyāu-s and Gr. βουλιός (for -ηυς) should prefer to class this word amongst those containing suffixes, I should offer no objection. It is entirely a matter of convention.

gōu-s* m. f. 'ox, cow'. Skr. gāu-ś acc. sing. gām and gāv-am nom. pl. gāv-as loc. sing. gāv-i dat. sing. gāv-ē instr. pl. gō-bhiṣ. Avest. gāu-ś gao-ś acc. gaṃ gāum (i. e. gāv-em) gaom (i. e. gāv-em) instr. gav-a gāv-a. Armen. kov, gen. kovu (u-decl.). Gr. βοῦς for βωυς* (I § 611 p. 461) acc. Hom. Dor. βῶν, gen. βο(φ)-ός; the acc. βοῦν is a new formation following βοῦς. Lat. bōs bov-is (is this borrowed from some Umbr.-Samn. dialect? see I § 432 Rem. 1 p. 322), Umbr. bum 'bovem' buf 'boves' bue 'bove'; Ital. bov- may be Idg. gou-* or geu-* (I § 65 p. 52). O.Ir. bō gen. bō, cp. I § 174 p. 153; kelt. bov-* may be either Idg. gou-* or geu-* (I § 66 p. 56). O.H.G. chuo O.Sax. kō, A.S. cū O.Icel. ký-r; the relation of the vowels presents a difficulty; kō-* (O.H.G. O.Sax.) may perhaps have been developed out of the acc. pr. Germ. kōn* = Gr. βῶν, and kū-* (A.S. O.Icel.) may perhaps come from an Idg. stem of the form gū-* (cp. Skr. śata-gu- 'having a hundred cows' Gr. ἑκατόμ-βη = gu-ā*). The original paradigm may be conjecturally given as follows: nom. sing. gōu-s* (also possibly a parallel form gō-s* like dīē-s*, cp. Gr. βῶς beside βοῦς) acc. sing. gōm* nom. pl. gōu-es* loc. sing. gēu-i* dat. sing. guu-ái* gu-ái* loc. pl. gū-sú*.

Skr. rās 'property, treasure, riches' acc. rām and rāy-am instr. pl. rabhiṣ nom. pl. rāy-as dat. sing. rāy-ē, Avest. nom. pl. rāy-ō inst. sing. ray-a gen. pl. ray-am; cp. Skr. rē-vānt- 'rich' ray-t-ś 'property, treasure, riches'. Lat. rēs rem rēs 'property, thing'. Cp. I § 150 p. 136.

Skr. kṣām- f. 'earth': nom. kṣās acc. kṣām nom. pl. kṣām-as loc. sing. kṣām-i gen. abl. sing. kṣm-ás gm-ás jm-ás instr. sing. kṣam-ā jm-ā. Avest. zā acc. zam gen. z'm-ō instr. z'm-ā. Gr. χθών f., χθον-ός instead of χθομ-ος* (I § 204 p. 172), χθαυ-αλό-ς χαυ-αί (Maia for Xu-aia* Γu-aia*?). Cp. further Lat. hum-u-s, hom-ō O.Lat. hem-ō, hūm-anu-s (probably not for hūmin-ānu-s*, but formed immediately from hōm-* and only at a later period connected with homo), Goth. gum-a, Lith. žm-onā 'wife' (cp. p. 346 footnote 1), O.C.Sl. zem-lja. The original paradigm may be conjecturally given as follows: acc. ǵzhōm*¹⁾ nom. pl. ǵzhōm-es* loc. sing. ǵzhēm-i* dat. sing. ǵzhym-āi* (cp. Skr. kṣam-ā Gr. χθαμ-αλό-ς χαμ-αί Goth. gum-a) ǵhm-ai* loc. pl. ǵzhym-sú*.

Avest. zyā m. 'winter' acc. zyam gen. zim-ō. Gr. χιών f. 'snow', gen. χιόν-ος instead of χιομ-ος*, like χθον-ός (see p. 482). Lat. hiem-s hiem-is. O.Ir. gam 'winter' instead of gi(ǵ)am*- O.Cymr. gaem for geam-* gi(ǵ)am-, see I § 383 p. 288, § 392 p. 293. We may conjecture that the orig. paradigm was acc. ǵhiōm ǵhiōm* nom. pl. ǵhiōm-es* ǵhiōm-es* loc. sing. ǵhiēm-i* ǵhiēm-i* dat. sing. ǵhim-āi* loc. pl. ǵhiym-sú* ǵhiym-sú*. The word may be mentioned here, although it is certainly not a root-noun in the strict sense of the word, cp. Skr. hē-man Gr. χει-μῶν. But we find nowhere else an Idg. suffix -em-²⁾.

dem-* 'house', √ dem- 'build'. Gen. Skr. dán Avest. dērag = pr. Ar. dam-s*, Avest. loc. dam = pr. Ar. dām*. Gr. gen. δενς* = Skr. dán in δεσ-πότης 'lord of the house' (I § 204 p. 171); δα- = dṛ-* in δά-πεδο-ν 'house-floor', then 'ground' in general; here probably must be classed δάμαρτ- 'wife', which should be analysed into δαμ-αρτ- = Idg. dṛym-* (I § 236 p. 199); remarks

1) As regards the initial part of the word I assume the correctness of Bartholomae's hypothesis, see I § 554 Rem. 1. p. 407.

2) In view of the fact that words of contrasted meaning often influence each other in form (on this point cp. amongst others the Author, Ber. der kgl. sächs. Gesellsch. der Wissensch. 1883 p. 191 ff., W. Meyer, Die Schicksale des lat. Neutrums im Romanischen 1883 p. 12, Holthausen in Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 590, Wheeler, Analogy and the scope of its application in language, Ithaca N. Y. 1887, p. 19 sq.), it is not a very bold conjecture that there once existed in protoethnic Indo-Germanic a form gh(i)en-*, whose n gave place to m under the influence of the word sem-* 'summer' so often joined with it (Avest. ham- Armen. *am-ār*n O.Ir. sam O.H.G. sam-ar, cp. Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 111 f.). Even during the period of separate development the words for these two ideas have sometimes influenced one another; cp. e. g. O.Ir. gam : sam (see I § 392 p. 293), O.H.G. wintar : sumar (see Kahle, Zur Entwickl. der consonant. Decl. im Germ., 1887, p. 20).

on further examples from Greek may be found in R. Meringer's paper in the Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 152. Cp. also Avest. dm-āna- and Armen. tun gen. tan for tm-an-. We may conjecture therefore that the following was the original paradigm: acc. dōm, whence Gr. δῶμα, nom. pl. dōm-es*, loc. sing. dēm-i* gen. sing. dēm-s* (cp. gen. Skr. gōṣ Avest. gaoṣ, Skr. dyōṣ), dat. sing. dm-ái* dñm-ái* loc. pl. dñm-sú*.

As to the forms dīēm* gōm* rēm* see I § 150 p. 136, § 188 p. 162. I may now also refer the reader to Johansson, De derivatis verbis contractis (Upsala 1886) p. 117 ff., R. Meringer, Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 132 ff.

Obs. 3. Meringer's welcome 'Hints' shew very clearly that in the question he discusses there is much that still needs explanation. Here I can only add a few remarks (cp. p. 428 footnote). I regard the accusatives also (gzhōm* ghīōm* dōm*) as regular phonetic developments. What Meringer (in footnote 6 p. 139) offers as 'another possible solution' is distinctly preferable to that which is given in the text itself; for if there had ever been a nom. sing. dīēs* gōs* without u, it is certain that the u would never have been again inserted in these forms (Skr. dyāuṣ) without being at the same time restored to the precisely parallel acc. sing. (such a form as dyāum* is unheard of). Moreover, I do not feel convinced that u and i ever disappeared before consonants and at the end of a sentence in the nom. sing. as well as the acc. (Gr. Zḗ; Lat. diēs, Gr. βῶς, Skr. rās Lat. rēs); in all these we must allow the possibility of a re-formation on the model of the acc. sing. With regard to kšās I must here emphatically repeat what I have said elsewhere. Meringer's assertion (p. 132. 137), that J. Schmidt has 'demonstrated' the loss of n after ā ē ō before final s in pro-ethnic Indo-Germanic, does not agree with the facts (cp. § 135 Rem. 1 p. 428). Lastly, I would add that we are not justified in assuming the same Indo-Germanic inflexion for all monosyllabic stems of this kind, so as to construct e. g. an acc. nām* 'navem' simply on the model of gōm*. It is not necessary to suppose that all these monosyllables arose at the same period of the parent language. For example, nāu-* 'ship' may have been formed at a later stage, and so have been dealt with otherwise than the older stems were at the time when they came into existence.

3. Forms in which vowel-gradation cannot be proved.

rēg-* 'ruler, king'. Skr. rāj- 'prince, king', usually found as the second member of compound words. Lat. rēx rēg-is. O.Ir. rī rīg, Gall. Calu-rīg-es ('battle-lords'). Goth. reik- nom. pl. reik-s; the ei is remarkable (I § 74 p. 64).

Skr. ās- (instr. ās-ā) Avest. āh- (n.?) 'month'. Lat. ās n., ōr-is. Cp. also O.Icel. ōs-s 'river-mouth'.

Gr. φῶρ Lat. fūr 'thief'. $\sqrt{bher-}$ 'carry'.

Gr. χῆρ 'hedgehog', Lat. ēr hēr.

nāu-* f. 'ship'. Skr. nāu-§ acc. nāv-am dat. nāv-ē. Gr. ναῦς for νᾱῦ-*s, ναοί for νᾱῦ-*οί (Ion. νηῦς νηυσί are new formations), nom. pl. νη-ες gen. sing. νη-ός νεώς (I § 611 p. 464). Lat. nāv-em, which has become an i-stem, nom. nāv-i-s. Cp. also O.Icel. nōr (gen. nōs) m. from pr. Germ. nōu-a-z*.

mūs-* 'mouse'. Skr. mūṣ-, nom. pl. mūṣ-as. Gr. μῦς loc. pl. μῦσί; μῦν μνός instead of μῦ(σ)-α* μῦ(σ)-ός* follow ὀφρῦν -ύος and the like; μνός then produced μνοί beside μῦσί. Lat. mūs- mūr-is Germ. mūs- is kept e. g. in nom. acc. sing. O.H.G. mās, nom. pl. A.S. mȳs O.Icel. mȳs-s; beside which we find new formations following the vowel declension. O.C.Sl. mysi follows the i-declension. A by-form Idg. mus-* (the accentless form of the weak grade) is seen in Skr. muṣ-ká-s Lat. mus-culu-s (should we assume a parallel form mūsculu-s?) § 88 p. 262 f.

Skr. dtś- f. 'direction, region of the sky', Lat. gen. dic-is in dicis causa 'only in appearance, for form's sake', $\sqrt{deik-}$ 'point out, show'.

Gr. νίψ-α acc. 'snow', Lat. nix niv-is, go back to a common ground-form snigh-* (I § 423 p. 309, § 433 p. 322 f.), $\sqrt{sneigh-}$.

Gr. χῆν χην-ός Dor. χᾶν χᾶν-ός 'goose' for χανσ-*; the nom. χῆν is a new formation which has replaced χᾶς* as μῆν replaced μείς (stem pr. Gr. μηνο-*). In Germanic the same stem occurs in a few forms, as in A.S. loc. sing. ȝes = Gr. χην-ί, and also in the Lith. gen. pl. žas-ū, which elsewhere conforms to the vowel-declension. The -s- of the word however, may perhaps be an element of the nature of a suffix, cp. O.H.G. ganazzo 'gander'.

Gr. ᾗλ-ς ᾗλ-ός m. Lat. sāl sal-is m. n. 'salt', Umbr. salu 'saalem'; Lat. sal instead of sal* follows forms like pēs. Armen. αλ gen. αλ-ι and O.C.Sl. sol-ŭ are i-stems.

4. There is a special group of forms in which are found -ū -ī -ȳ- -ȳ- -ĭ- before case-endings which begin with a con-

bhrú-s* f. 'eyebrow' dat. sing. bhruy-ái*. Skr. bhrú-ṣ loc. pl. bhrū-ṣú acc. sing. bhrúv-am dat. sing. bhruv-é. Gr. ὀφρῦ-ς acc. ὀφρῦ-ν gen. ὀφρῦ-ος; loc. pl. ὀφρῦου instead of ὀφρῦου*. A.S. brū. The O.C.Sl. brūv-ī belongs to the i-decl. Compare the parallel forms Gall. brīva 'bridge' O.H.G. brāwa 'brow' whose common ground-form is bhrēu-a-*.

sū-s* 'sow' dat. sing. sny-ái*. Gr. ῥ-ς ῥ-ν ῥ-ός. Lat. sū-s sū-bus su-em su-is, Umbr. sim 'suem' (I § 57 p. 46). O.H.G. sū O.Icel. sý-r; suu-* is perhaps represented by A.S. suzu f. 'sow', see Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 509 f. Cp. the dimin. sū-go- § 88 p. 263.

Gr. ἰχθῦ-ς ἰχθῦν ἰχθῦ-ος m. 'fish'. Lith. gen. pl. dial. žuv-ū; elsewhere it follows the i-decl., žuv-ī-s. Cp. Armen. ju-k-n etc. § 88 p. 263.

Gr. ἰ-ς f. 'power, might' instr. ἰ-φι. Lat. vī-s vim for vī-m* (I § 612 p. 463, § 655, 4 p. 503). uii-* before sonants seems to have disappeared.

The other instances belong only to single groups of languages: e. g. Skr. gō-ṣā-s gen. -ṣaṇ-as 'gaining cattle' (-ṣ-), pūr gen. pur-ás 'fortress' (-f-).

5. Skr. jya-jīya- f. Gr. βλᾶ f. 'might'. Compare Skr. perf. jī-jyāu subst. neut. jyāna-m and perf. jī-gāy-a pres. jáy-a-ti. Cp. § 8 Rem. 1. p. 20, and Morph. Unt. I 6.

§ 161. Examples from single groups of languages. The largest numbers are found in Aryan, Greek, and Italic.

Aryan. When they denote an action these root-nouns are always feminine.

Skr. drúh- f. 'injury, enmity', concrete 'injurer, enemy', Avest. druj- f. 'lie', concrete 'fiend (f.)'. Skr. kṛp- f. 'figure, appearance', Avest. kehrp- f. 'figure, body': cp. Lat. corp-us. Skr. kṣáp- f. Avest. xšap- f. 'night'. Skr. Avest. ap- f. 'water': acc. Skr. áp-am Avest. ap-em, instr. Skr. ap-ā Avest. ap-a Skr. acc. kha-m f. 'source', finds its complement in Avest. xā f. 'source', both from pr. Ar. kh̥-s* kh̥-m*, beside Ar. khan- 'dig'. Skr. spáś- Avest. spas- m. 'spy, inspector', cp. Lat. au-spez, Gr. οἰώψ 'owl'. Skr. h̥d- n. Avest. zard- n. 'heart'. Skr. máh- Avest. maz- 'great'.

Skr. v̥dh- f. 'help, prosperity', adj. 'helping, strengthening'. v̥ft- f. 'host of foes, foe', adj. 'turned against anyone'. n̥ft- f. 'bearing, gesture'. yúj- 'yoked with, companion', cp. Gr. οὔ-ζυξ Lat. con-jux. īś- 'lord'. bhū- f. 'world', nom. sing. bhū-ś pl. bhūv-as. dh̥t- f. 'thought'. bh̥t- f. 'fear'. g̥r- f. 'praise, laud', adj. 'praising', nom. sing. g̥r ground-form g̥r-s* pl. g̥r-as ground-form g̥r-es*. j̥d- f. 'being, creature' adj. 'born, formed', nom. sing. j̥d-s acc. sing. j̥d-m loc. pl. j̥d-su, ground-form g̥d-*. sth̥d- 'standing', nom. sing. sth̥d-s acc. sth̥d-m. ps̥d- f. 'food' ni-dr̥d- f. 'sleep' vr̥d- f. 'host, troop' like jyā- § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 18. 43).

Avest. var̥z- ver̥z- 'work'. mas- 'great, wide', cp. Gr. μακρό-ς.

Armenian. The old root-nouns have passed into other declensions. See the examples in § 160. It is however possible that certain case-forms, such as ot-k̥ 'pedes' sirt-k̥ 'corda', still belong to the old consonantal inflexion.

Greek. στῦξ στυγ-ός f. 'hatred, awe', cp. ψενσι-στῦξ 'hating lies'. πρώξ πρωκ-ός f. 'drop, dew', ground-form p̥r̥k-*, see I § 306 p. 242. ἀλκ-ί loc. sing. beside ἀλκ-ή 'strength of body'. κρόκ-α acc. sing. beside κρόκ-η 'woof', compared with κρέκειν, which was also used of the noise caused by the striking of the web. φοῖξ φοῖτκ-ός f. beside φοῖτκ-η 'the shiver of the surface of the water'. Thus no doubt δίκ-η has replaced an older di̯k̥* = Skr. dīś-. λύγξ λυγγ-ός f. 'hiccough' beside λυγγάνομαι λίζω λύγ-δην (O.H.G. sluccho n. 'devourer'); for the nasal in the root-syllable cp. I § 221 p. 187 and Skr. yúnj- beside yúj- (acc. yúnj-am and yúj-am) Lat. con-junx beside -jux. θριξ τριχ-ός f. 'hair' (cp. I § 496 p. 364 f.). ᾠλαξ f. 'furrow' for ā-flax-*, with the by-forms ᾠλξ ᾠλοξ ᾠλαξ, seems to have sprung from an old doublet Flax-: Folx- with ablaut, from (s)uelq- 'draw, pull' (cp. Darbishire, Notes on the spir. asper in Greek, Cambridge 1888, p. 29). ῥῶξ ῥωγ-ός f. 'rift, cleft, split', beside ῥήγ-νῦ-μι. ὤψ 'countenance' acc. ὤπ-α; compare κύκλ-ωψ ἑλλκ-ωπ-εις and οἶν-οψ αἶθ-οψ, which probably shew an old gradation ὤψ ὤπ-α *ὀπ-ός etc. κροῖ n. 'barley' no doubt for *κροῖθ, cp. κροῖθή. θῶς, gen. θωός, 'jackal' beside θετ- 'run'. χροή 'necessity' (cp. also ὁμοκλή 'joint cry, loud cry', μεσό-δμη 'intermediate structure, cross-beam'), like βία § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 49. 64). κρέξ κρεκ-ός m. a bird, and also 'braggart', beside κρέκω, cp. κρόκ-α above. τρώξ τρογ-ός m. 'gnawer, worm' beside τρώγω. κῦς κ-ός m. 'a worm in the corn', like Skr. dhṛ-§ *dhīy-*ds. κλώψ m. 'thief' beside κλέπ-τω. Further examples are given by Bloomfield, Amer. Journ. of Phil. IX 7 ff.

Italic. Lat. lēx lēg-is f. 'law', Osc. ligud 'lege' ligis 'legibus' Marruc. līxs 'lex' or 'leges' Pelign. lex-e 'in leges'. Lat. vās vās-is n. 'vessel', Umbr. vas-us 'vasis' (the preservation of the voiceless s in all the cases is perhaps due to the analogy of the nom. acc. sing.). man- 'hand', Umbr. man f acc. pl., Lat. man-ceps malluviae for man-luviae*, with other exx. (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 189 f., Duvau, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 226 f.). The connexion between Lat. frūx frūg-is f. 'produce' and Umbr. frif acc. 'fruges, frumenta' (I § 57 p. 46) is doubtful, see Pauli Altital. Stud. V 114 f.

Lat. lūx lūc-is f. 'light'. nux nuc-is f. 'nut'. pix pic-is f. 'pitch'. vic- gen. vic-is f. 'change' (beside vincō, see Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 272). nex nec-is f. 'death'. prex prec-is f. 'prayer'. op-s op-is f. 'might, means, power'. pāx pāc-is f. 'peace'. dap-s dap-is f. 'feast', beside Gr. dan-árη 'expenditure'. arx arc-is f. 'citadel'. faex faec-is f. 'dregs'. faux fauc-is f. 'throat'. spē-s, acc. spe-m, f. 'hope'. re-quiē-s, gen. -quiēi, f. like Skr. jya- § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 10). strix strig-is f. 'horned owl'. dux duc-is m. 'leader'. vas vad-is m. 'surety'.

Osc. far n. 'far' and Umbr. far n. 'far' farer 'farris' appears to be a root-noun; far-: Lat. farr- (for far(e)s-*, see § 132 p. 413 and p. 420) = Skr. kṛp-: Lat. corpus.

Old Irish. bri 'mountain', rī 'king', bō 'cow', see § 160. This method of forming noun-stems seems to have died out in Irish. Cp. further the Gall. brog- 'district, neighbourhood, land' in allo-brox pl. allo-broges, parallel to which we find brogi- in Brogi-marus O.Ir. bruig and other exx. (Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. I 117 f. Thurneysen, Keltoroman. 50).

Germanic. The original root-nouns (§ 160) were all more or less completely transferred to the vowel declensions; e. g. out of the Goth. paradigm, sing. nom. baúrgs gen. baúrgs dat. (loc.) baúrg acc. baúrg pl. nom. baúrgs gen. baúrgē dat. baúrgim acc. baúrgs only the gen. dat. sing. and the nom.-acc. pl. belong to the original consonantal declension.

Even amongst the few root-nouns which do not recur in other languages there are none in which the simple root is used for the stem in all the cases. Examples of forms whose stems contain no suffix are: O.H.G. dat. sing. gi-nōz nom. pl. gi-nōz beside nom. sing. gi-nōz 'companion' (i. e. 'one who enjoys (geniesst) with another'), A.S. dat. (loc.) sing. bēc beside nom. sing. bōc 'book', O.Icel. nom. pl. hend-r beside nom. sing. hond (Goth. handu-s) 'hand'; see Kahle's essay cited on p. 478 footnote 2. As regards some of these nouns it is probable that they had at first a vocalic formative suffix, and that it was a secondary process, affecting even then only a certain number of their cases, which put them on a level with the root-nouns.

Balto-Slavonic. The root-nouns as a class have almost entirely disappeared, giving place to new formations on the model of the vocalic declensions; e. g. Lith. nós-i-s f. 'nose', O.C.Sl. vīs-ī f. 'village', see § 160. Besides these there are only a few traces preserved in the forms of the gen. pl. in Lithuanian: O.Lith. szird-u, Mod.Lith. žas-ū žuv-ū; we should add Slav. krŭv- f. 'blood' gen. sing. krŭv-e, beside which we have nom. sing. krŭv-ī instead of kry*.

§ 162. Nomina actionis used as Infinitives. Cp. § 156 p. 470 ff.

This usage is found in Aryan, Greek and Italic. In all three the dative is used as an infinitive; in Sanskrit other cases are used as well.

In Sanskrit the case-suffix had the accent, if the verb had no prefix; otherwise the accent fell on the root-syllable. dr̥ś-ē 'to see' bhuj-ē 'to enjoy', nir-ājē 'to drive forth' (Lat. ag-i) ni-námē 'to bend down'. Avest. sav-ōi 'to use' dar's-ōi 'to see'.

Lat. ag-i (: Skr. -ājē), dīc-i, sequ-i ūt-i, hence also tund-i posc-i mi-nu-i etc. in imitation of these forms. A difference in meaning was established between these and the locative forms agere etc. (§ 132 p. 418), the latter being distinguished as active, the former as deponent or passive forms; the origin of this process was probably an accidental preponderance of the use of the dative of root-nouns to serve as infinitives in deponent verbs.

-s- sometimes appears between the root-syllable and the dative termination. This is rare in Aryan: Skr. ji-ṣ-ē 'to conquer' -prāk-ṣ-ē 'to fill, satisfy', Avest. a nāṣē 'to bring near', root Avest. nas- Gr. ἐνεγχε-. Gr. γράφαι 'to write' δείξαι 'to show'. The -s- is identical with the element which is frequently found in the verb finite after the root-syllable, particularly in the sigmatic aorist, to which it gave its name (it is very possible that it is etymologically identical with the -s- which is used in the formation of noun-stems, § 134 p. 424 ff.; cp. Morph. Unt. III 42 f.); hence in Greek this kind of infinitive was confined to the sigmatic aorist. In Latin we may compare such forms as da-rī fer-rī.

Remark 1. There are difficulties in determining the relation of the Latin forms in -se -re to those in -sī -rī*; several different views are almost equally tenable. If we start by assuming that Latin inherited from an earlier period only forms in -es-i* (vivere amāre) -aī* (agī) -s-aī* (darī), we must suppose that the following are new formations: dare ferre on the model of vivere amāre, and on the other hand amārī following darī, ferī also instead of fiere. But perhaps even in the pre-Italic period there were parallel forms in -s-i* (da-re), cp. dixē scripsē and Skr. infinitives like dr̥ś-i (see below). Lastly it is also possible that on the analogy of indic. aget*: infin. agesi* (agit: agere) the infinitives es-si* fer-si* (esse and ferre respectively) were first formed to correspond to es-t fer-t and that then and not before ferri was formed on the model of agi.

Remark 2. In Old Latin and even later in poetic diction beside the forms in -ī and -rī we find equivalent forms in -ier and -rier, as agier darier. It has often been assumed that agier should be analysed into agie-r, -r being the sign of the passive as in agitu-r, and agie* being the ground-form of agī. This every one would admit if agīe* could be explained as an infinitive form¹⁾, and if the change from -ie to -ī could be shewn to be regular (it is not shewn by the voc. filī, for the -ī of this form may be the original weak-grade of -iō- -iē-, cp. § 63 p. 122). Other explanations of -ier -rier are equally unsatisfactory; see e. g. J. Stadelmann, De quantitate vocalium Latinas voces terminantium, Lucerne 1884, p. 73, V. Henry Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 62 ff. I conjecture that -er represents the preposition ar (ar-biter ar-vorsus), which appears to be of dialectic origin (I § 369 Rem. 1 p. 280). For the change of -ar to -er see I § 97, 3 p. 91, cp. in-ers arti-fex im-pertiō; and for the position of the word cp. quem ad beside ad quem and Umbr. asam-ař 'ad aram'. It need not surprise us to find at so early a stage of Latin the combination of the infinitive with a preposition which is established in the Romance languages (cp. ad before the infinitive, as Ital. ho a scrivere, Diez Gramm III⁴ 231 ff.), since even in Latin the infinitive had again approximated to the noun, and at least inter and praeter were used with it (see p. 471 ff.). Nor is there any difficulty in the assumption that agi-er, after the origin of the -er had been forgotten, had the same meaning as agī: the assimilation in usage was caused by the association of the final r of agier with the r of agor agitur etc. This entire class of infinitive formations, being like ar of dialectic origin, were allowed to drop out of use in classical prose, like so many other idioms that came from the same source.

In Sanskrit we find, besides the dative, the acc. in -am, the loc. in -i and the gen.-abl. in -as used as infinitives, e. g. ā-nám-am (ā-nam- 'incline or bend towards one'), dyś-ī sa-dyś-ī (cp. dyś-ē p. 490), abhi-śrīṣ-as (abhi-śrīṣ- 'make fast to').

In the Indo-Germanic and later periods we find compounds in which a root is the second member, and serves as a noun to denote the agent, as in the Skr. puru-drūh- 'injuring many'. There is no need to assume that the root was first used in the compound as a nomen actionis and that the whole word was subsequently epithetised (i. e. converted into an adjective, see § 50 p. 92), since in proethnic Indo-Germanic the root could be used alone to denote the agent; cp. Skr. rāj- p. 484, Skr. drūh- Avest. druj- etc. p. 486 ff. More rarely the compound has a passive sense, as Skr. sa-yuj 'joined by bonds of friendship or kinship', cp. yúj- 'yoked with, companion'. Compound words of this type were formed in Aryan, Greek and Italic.

1) Thurneysen's explanation seems to me improbable (Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -io, p. 46).

Indo-Germanic. Skr. sā-yuj-, see above, manō-yúj- 'yoked by thought, by mere will', Gr. σύνεξις ó-mó-ζυνεξις 'yoked together, united', especially 'joined in marriage', Lat. con-jux. Skr. viśva-vid- 'knowing everything', Gr. νῆ-ις acc. νῆ-ιδα 'not knowing, ignorant'. Skr. tri-bhúj- 'threefold, triple' Avest. qzō-bāj- 'freeing from distress', Gr. πρόσφυξις 'fugitive, client'. Skr. pr̥tandj- (pr̥tana-aj-) 'running in or to battle', Lat. rēm-ex. Skr. muhur-gír- 'devouring suddenly', cp. Gr. ὠμο-βρώς 'devouring raw' gen. -βρω-τ-ος etc., see I § 306 p. 242, § 312 p. 250, II § 123 p. 391.

I may add a few examples taken from the separate groups of languages.

Aryan. Skr. vr̥tra-hán- Avest. ver'pra-jan- 'slaying Vritra': acc. Skr. -hán-am Avest. -jan-em dat. Skr. -ghn-é Avest. γν-ε loc. pl. Skr. -há-su. Skr. upastha-sád- 'sitting in the lap', Avest. armaē-šād- 'sitting quiet'. Skr. úd-añc- 'turned or directed upwards' acc. sing. úd-añc-am loc. pl. úd-ak-šu, ny-àñc- Avest. ny-anc- 'turned or directed downwards', cp. Gr. ποδ-αν-ός 'coming whence?' Lat. prop-inqu-o-s long-inqu-o-s (cp. I § 228 p. 195); the Sanskrit and Avestic declension of words containing -añc- -anc- (Whitney Skr. Gr. § 407 ff., Bartholomae Handb. § 192, J. Darmesteter, Le suffixe -ac- en Iranien, Mém. de la Soc. de de lingu. III 302 ff.) shows many new formations, partly caused by a confusion with forms which had the suffix -qo- (see § 86 p. 256). Skr. satya-yáj- 'duly honouring, duly offering' Avest. daēva-yāz- 'honouring the demons, offering to them'. Avest. na-zd- Skr. nēd-, only in compar. and superl., see § 135 p. 431.

In Sanskrit, compounds of this kind are very common. Any root could be used in this way. We may add as further examples su-dṛś- 'seeing well', sahō-vṛdh- 'increasing strength', purō-yúdh- 'fighting before', purō-bhū- 'being in front, surpassing'. In Iranian too this kind of formation remained in active use, cp. vohu-var'z- 'working good', ahūm-mer'c- 'slaying, injuring the world' (also -mer'nc-, cp. Skr. yuhj- Gr. λύγξ p. 487).

Greek. ψευσί-στυξ 'hating deceit'. οινό-φλυξ 'drunken with wine, wine-bibbing' (cp. I § 427 p. 314, § 428 p. 316). χέρ-νιψ 'water for the hands' originally 'washing the hands', ὑπό-δρα for -δραx* neut. adv. 'looking from below upwards', cp. Skr. dfś- f. 'sight, aspect'. Here perhaps we may class δεῦρο (which hitherto has never been satisfactorily explained) if it stands for δε-φρον* 'inclined hither', compare ἐέπω 'I incline' ἐοπή 'inclination, sinking, direction'; v is regular, as in καλα-ῥοψ; δενίρω Hom. Γ 240 may be for δε-φρων*; more probably it is only a reformation on the model of ἄνω πρόσω and the like.

Italic. Lat. jūdex 'declarer of the law, judge' for jouz-dic-s* (I § 33 Rem. 1 p. 33, § 594 p. 450), Osc. med-díss med-dis 'meddix' (I § 501 p. 368); in spite of its abbreviated form metd. which occurs once, I should prefer not to separate the first part of the Oscan word from Umbr. meř-s mers 'ius, fas' (§ 132 p. 418). Lat. prae-ses -sid-is. tubi-cen -cin-is. libri-pēns -pend-is. redux -duc-is.

Remark. For arti-fex opi-fex see § 85 p. 254.

Germanic. O.H.G. ort O.Icel. odd-r 'point' may have been a compound of this kind, standing for ud+dhē-* 'upraise, lift on high' (I § 536 Rem. p. 392); it is however quite conceivable that the original form was ud+dh-o-*, with the suffix -o-, which in this position would date from a very early period.

VERNER'S LAW IN ITALY,

an Essay in the History of the Indo-European Sibilants.

'The method is rigidly scientific and Mr. Conway is fully entitled to the credit of a good working hypothesis. The essay deserves a cordial welcome, not only for what it contains, but also as a promise of excellent work in the future.'

Prof. A. S. Wilkins in The Academy.

'Mr. Conway has an excellent case, and an array of evidence admirably collected and marshalled.'

The Classical Review.

'Mr. Conway's book is worthy of all praise. In formulating his law he has shown a mind keenly sensitive to linguistic phenomena. In working up his material he shows thorough acquaintance with the most advanced German authorities and the conscientious painstaking of a true scholar. Aside from the main line of his investigations many questions are touched suggestively and helpfully. We predict many more papers of value from Mr. Conway's pen.'

The American Journal of Philology.

Gustav Meyer in Literarisches Centralblatt.

Victor Henry in the Revue critique.
